PREFACE.

I HAVE tried to make this edition of the Fourth Book of Thucydides complete in itself, though I am not without hope that it may be followed by other Books. The notes on the first forty-one chapters are substantially the same that have already appeared in the series of Elementary Classics. They have however been revised throughout: several errors have been corrected; and some explanations left out which seemed unnecessary for more or less advanced students. Possibly in these chapters, and indeed throughout the book, too much annotation has been given as it is. But twenty years' experience in teaching Greek has shown me that the most ordinary grammatical principles are again and again disregarded even by many candidates for Classical Honours, while more refined distinctions of scholarship which are not pointed out are almost invariably ignored.

PREFACE.

In preparing the notes I have consulted throughout the editions of recognized authority, Poppo and Classen being of especial service. Many obligations are also due to the great scholar who was at one time my private tutor, the late Mr Shilleto. Wherever it was possible I have referred to his edition of the first two Books; and I have derived much help, particularly in the difficulties of ch. 117, from his treatise Thucydides or Grote (Deighton, 1851). Some manuscript notes given by him have also been lent me by Mr Henry Jackson. The initials R. S. mark notes expressly due to Mr Shilleto, but I feel that the present edition owes more to him than I am able now to trace or acknowledge.

In revising the text I have admitted a few emendations from Cobet and Classen, and many suggested alterations are discussed in their place; but as a rule I have held aloof from the indiscriminate 'restoration' which would remove from a Classical work every accretion of harshness or redundancy, and destroys in the process many an original and characteristic feature.

NOTES

CHAPTER I

1. $\tau \circ \tilde{\upsilon} \delta^* \epsilon \pi i \gamma_i \gamma_i \circ \mu \epsilon \nu \circ \theta \epsilon \rho ous — the opening words intro$ $duced by <math>\delta \epsilon$ complete the sentence which ends the preceding book, $\tau a \delta \tau a \mu \epsilon \nu \kappa a \tau a \tau \delta \tau \chi \epsilon \epsilon \mu \delta \nu a \tau o \delta \tau \sigma \epsilon \tau \epsilon \sigma \epsilon \kappa . \tau . \lambda$. The third and fifth books begin in the same way. $\theta \epsilon \rho \circ s m s \to 0$ in the summer'; the genitive denotes the time within the limits of which a thing occurs, and is partitive in character (Madvig, § 66).

Thucydides divides his history into summers and winters, thus reckoning more accurately, as he points out (v. 20), than by the names of the archons or other officials of the year in different states.

ib. $\pi\epsilon\rho l \sigma(\tau \circ \upsilon \epsilon \kappa \beta \circ \lambda \eta \upsilon - \text{lit. 'putting forth (ears)'. Some time in April is probably denoted: see Arnold's note on <math>\tau \circ \tilde{\upsilon}$ $\sigma(\tau \circ \upsilon \ d\kappa \mu a \beta \sigma \tau \circ \sigma$, ii. 19; and Jowett on ii. 1. The latter holds that the terms $d\kappa \mu a \beta \epsilon \upsilon \ d\kappa \mu \eta$ $\epsilon \nu a \kappa \mu \eta$ $\epsilon \nu a \kappa \mu \sigma$ for harvest. In Attica this would be about May 10—June 10, harvest beginning about June 15.

2. $\pi\lambda\epsilon\dot{\nu}\sigma a\sigma a$.—the order of the sentence shews that this word belongs to $\Sigma\nu\rho a\kappa\sigma\sigma l\omega\nu$ $\delta\epsilon\kappa a \nu\eta\epsilon$ s: the Syracusans put to sea, and after being joined by the Locrians went to Messene.

4. κατίλαβον—' occupied', especially used of taking up a military position : cf. καταλαμβάνων, ch. 3, 18 : iii, 31, τών πόλεων καταλαβείν τινά: so Plato, Gorg. 455 B, speaks of χωρίων κατάληψις as a subject for military debate.

ib. αὐτῶν ἐπαγαγομένων—' the people themselves having invited them'; the preceding $M \epsilon \sigma \sigma \eta \nu \eta \nu$ shews to what αὐτῶν refers: cf. i. 136, φεύγει ἐς Κέρκυραν, ῶν αὐτῶν εὐεργέτης.

5. $\xi \pi \rho \alpha \xi \alpha \nu \delta \xi$ —the verb being placed first, the subject is divided into two parts, of $\mu \delta \nu \Sigma \nu \rho \alpha \kappa \delta \sigma \epsilon \sigma \delta$. . . of $\delta \delta \Lambda \sigma \kappa \rho \sigma \delta$, the respective motives of the allies being thus distinguished: cf. line 17.

7. δρώντες προσβολήν έχον...'sceing that the place commanded, or afforded (lit. contained), an approach, or point of landing and attack', i.e. it was the key of Sicily. So the Messenians are said èν προσβολη είναι της Σικελίας, vi. 48; and an Athenian squadron despatched to the straits of Messene is said περί την προσβολήν της Σικελίας ναυλοχείν, vii. 4. έχω is used in the same way in ch. 8, 40, άπόβασιν οὐκ έχουσαν, 'not admitting of a landing'. From the idea of 'containing in itself' it is often used in the sense of 'bringing with itself', and therefore of involving or implying, the equivalent English depending on the context; e.g. i. 97, ἀπόδειξιν ἕχει, 'affords a proof': ii. 41, ἀγανάκτησιν ἕχει, 'gives ground of complaint': ii. 61, alσθησιν ἕχει, 'causes perception'.

ib. της Σικελίas—objective gen. after προσβολήν: so ch. 83, 6, έπι τŷ έσβολŷ της Λύγκου, 'at the pass into Lyncus'.

 ξ αὐτοῦ ὀρμώμενοι—'making it a base of operations' against Syracuse, lit. 'starting from it': so ch. 3, 22. ποτέ —'sooner or later, some day': so ch. 60, 16. If the Athenians had possession of Messene, their command of the sea would enable them to collect forces and supplies there, so as to attack Syracuse at their own time.

Rhegium was on the Italian side of the straits of Messene. It was in alliance with the Athenians and Leontines (iii. 86). The Athenian ships under Pythodorus were apparently stationed there at the present time, but made no effort to save Messene. Pythodorus may have been crippled by a defeat he had lately sustained in an attack on a Locrian fortress (iii, 115).

11. ἀμφοτέρωθεν-by land and sea: so ch. 11, 9: iii. 18.

12. ἐς την 'Ρηγίνων-sc. γην: i. 44, τη άλληλων βοηθείν.

13. † (πιβοηθώσι—the subjunctive is more graphic than the optative, which according to rule should follow the pluperfect. 'The historians, especially Thucydides, seem often to have thrown themselves so completely into the past events which they recorded that those events became as present to them, and hence a form of the subjunctive group follows a historic tense. Sometimes indeed forms from both groups occur in a clause dependent on the same historical tense, as iii. 22, $\delta \pi \omega s \ d\sigma a \phi \eta \ \tau d$ $\sigma \eta \mu \epsilon a \ \tau \alpha \sigma s \ \pi \alpha \delta \epsilon \mu \log \sigma s$. In such examples the subjunctive form often expresses the more immediate or more certain contingency, and the optative form the more remote or more uncertain contingency' (Clyde's Greek Syntax, § 40, obs. 2). Apart from cases which can be thus explained, the subjunctive is constantly used after a historic tense by the best Attic writers, and in later Greek tends to supplant the optative altogether (Clyde, loc. cit.: Madvig, § 131 b).

14. $\xi vv \epsilon \pi a \gamma \delta v \tau \omega v - 'joining in promoting the invasion' ch. 84, 6, <math>\xi v v \epsilon \pi a \gamma o v \tau cs$: ch. 79, 11, al $\pi \lambda \eta \sigma \iota \delta \chi \omega \rho \sigma \iota \pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \iota s \xi v v \epsilon \pi \eta \gamma \sigma v$: so ib, line 7, $\ell \xi \eta \gamma a \gamma \sigma v \tau \delta v \sigma \tau \rho a \tau \delta v$: i. 107, $\ell \pi \eta \gamma \sigma v$. In such instances the active differs from the middle, the latter meaning 'to invite', i.e. bring in to one's self. The reasons of the Locrian invasion are given in two clauses of different construction, a final clause, $va \mu \eta \ldots$, and a genitive absolute introduced by $\ddot{a} \mu a \delta \ell$.

15. ἐστασίαζε—' had been for a long while in a state of faction'. The imperfect shews that the state of faction still continued: this corresponds to the well-known use of the present to denote what is still going on, as roceî πάλαι, 'he has been long sick'.

άδύνατα ήν—'it was impossible': so i. 59: ii. 72: iii.
 s6, εl δυνατά είη. Such neuter plurals are very common; see Shilleto on i. 7.

17. \mathring{y} kal µâllov imeri ϑ evro—' wherefore they attacked them the more', this was a further reason for choosing this time for their attack: cf. i. 11. \mathring{y} kal µâllor of $T\rho\hat{\omega}\epsilon\epsilon$ årreî χ or: iii. 13. \mathring{y} kal µâllor $\chi\rho\hat{\eta}$. With this may be compared the Homeric $r\hat{\psi}$, e.g. Il. i. 418, $r\hat{\psi}$ σε κακ \hat{y} aloy rékor. imeri ϑ evro—lit. 'set on them': cf. iii. 72. $i\pi\iota rl \vartheta\epsilon rrat r\hat{\psi} \delta \dot{\eta} \mu \varphi$, 'they attack the democracy'.

19. $\delta\lambda\lambda\alpha\iota$ at $\pi\lambda\eta\rhoo\delta\mu\nu\alpha\iota$ —lit. 'others. viz. those which were being manned', the definite article implying that such ships were in preparation, and contrasting them with those already afloat. Possibly at has got into the text from the end of $\delta\lambda\lambda\alpha\iota$.

ib. ξμελλον αὐτόσε ἐγκαθορμισάμεναι—' were intended to take up their position in the harbour of Messene', etc. αὐτόσε implies the idea of motion to the harbour: so iii. 76, ὀρμισάμενοι ἐs λιμένα: ch. 8, 26, ἐφορμίσασθαι ἐs. The place meant is here determined by the preceding $M\epsilon\sigma\sigma'\mu\gamma\nu$: cf. the use of air $\delta\sigma\epsilon$, ch. 2, 13. $\delta\rho\mu l\zeta\omega$ and its compounds mean to bring (ships) to anchor, and in the middle to come to anchor. $\epsilon\gamma$ - $\kappa a\partial\rho\rho\mu l\zeta\rho\mu a$, 'to come to anchor in' a certain station, is not found elsewhere in Thueydides.

CHAPTER II

2. Πελοποννήσιοι... έσέβαλον-The Peloponnesian forces had invaded Attica every year since the outbreak of the war, with the exception of 429 and 426. Their ravages caused much suffering to the Athenians, who were driven from the country and crowded within the city walls. The distress was especially great in 430, the year remarkable for the outbreak of the great plague. The Athenians usually retaliated by ravaging the coasts of Laconia with their fleet. The phrase Ile λοποννήσιοι κal of ξύμμαχοι is commonly employed for the allied forces. e.g. ii. 47, iii. 1, in which passages the invasion is described in almost the same words which are here used. The article is omitted before Iledonovvýgioi, as is not uncommon with proper names. Sometimes the omission has no particular force; at other times, as in ch. 10, 25, 'I call on you, who are Athenians', it calls attention to the particular characteristics of the people spoken of as bearing on the point in question. So we say, 'Is this worthy of Englishmen?' i.e. of men who, as being Englishmen, profess to be brave, humane, etc.

5. ἐγκαθεζόμενοι—' taking up their position in' the country.

6. τds τεσσαράκοντα ναῦς—' the forty ships which (as we have related) they were getting ready'; see iii. 115. The use of the definite article and of the imperfect tense has reference to presupposed knowledge in the reader.

11. Kepkupalaw...èmue $\lambda\eta\theta\eta\gamma\mu\alpha$ -'to see to the Corcyreans in the city'. Two years ago the popular party in Corcyra had overcome the aristocratical party and massacred most of them. Five hundred who had escaped established themselves with a few auxiliaries on Mount Istone, and carried on a plundering warfare against the democracy (iii. 70-85). mapamλéovras is put in the accusative before $i\pi_{\mu}\epsilon\lambda\eta\theta\eta\nu_{a}$, though $\tau o i\tau_{0}$ is to which it refers closely precedes it: cf. i. 53, $i\delta_0\xi\epsilon\nu$ airois $i\mu\beta_i\beta_{a} \sigma avras mpos m i upue a violation of strict grammatical$ principle is very common in Greek writers, who study aboveall things to avoid stiffness of expression.

15. $\tau_{i\mu}\omega\rho ol$ to help those in the mountain, and because they thought'. $\tau_{i\mu}\omega\rho ol$ is feminine, being a predicate in agreement with $\nu_{\eta\epsilon s}$: so iii. 36, $\nu_{\eta\epsilon s}^{2}\beta_{0\eta}\theta_{0l}$. After this νομίζοντες is introduced, in accordance with the sense of the passage, as if Πελοποννήσιοι had preceded and not Πελοποννησίων $\nu_{\eta\epsilon s}^{2}$: so i. 110, τριήρεις ές Αίγυπτον έσχον, ούκ είδότες τῶν γεγενημένων σύδέν.

16. κατασχήσειν τὰ πράγματα—' would get the control of affairs': cf. iii. 72, of ξχοντες τὰ πράγματα, 'those in power'. καταλαμβάνω : So get hold of' is used in the passive with τὰ πράγματα, iii. 30: and τὰ πράγματα ἐφαίνετο καταληπτά is found iii. 11.

17. δντι ίδιώτη—' who had held no command', lit. ' who had been (and was now) in a private position'. $t\delta\iota$ ώτηs in reference to any profession or business means a layman or non-professional person. Demosthenes had been sent round Peloponnesus with an Athenian force the year before. He met with a severe defeat in Actolia, but was more successful in Acarnania, where he headed the natives against the Peloponnesians and Ambraciots (iii. 94—98, 100—102, 105—114). avīr ϕ δεηθέντι—' at his own request'.

CHAPTER III

1. Is lylvouro $\pi\lambda$ loires - ' when they came in their voyage off the coast of Laconia'. The aorist gives the 'end-view' (Clyde) of their arrival off the coast, regarded as a single concluded fact; the imperfect $\ell \pi \nu \nu \theta \delta' \nu \nu \tau \sigma$ denotes the information which they went on to receive; it is followed by $d\sigma \ell$, more graphic than $\ell \epsilon \nu$: see note on ch. 1, 13. For the somewhat uncommon combination of verb and participle $\ell \gamma \ell \nu \sigma \tau \sigma \pi \lambda \ell \nu \tau \epsilon s$, cf. viii. 86, 9: Ar. Ran. 36, $f \delta \tau \beta \beta \lambda \ell \omega r \epsilon i$: Hdt. iz. 2, 1.

4. $\eta\pi\epsilon(\gamma ov\tau o-)$ were for pushing on', the proper course considering the news which they received. For the imperf. see Goodwin, § 11, n. 2.

5. ó δὲ Δημοσθένης—' but Demosthenes urged them to put in first at Pylos and carry out what was needful before continuing their voyage': cf. ch. 17, 10, τδ δέον πράσσειν. σχόντας—so ch. 25, 44, σχοῦσαι: cf. iii. 34, έσχε καὶ ἐς Νότιον: also with dative, iii. 33, γῷ σχήσων: so iii. 32, προσσχών Μυουνήσω.

8. $dv \pi \lambda \epsilon \gamma \delta \tau \omega v \delta \dot{\epsilon}$ —sc. $\tau \hat{\omega} v \sigma \tau \rho a \tau \eta \gamma \hat{\omega} v$, genitive absolute with subject not expressed: so $\delta \lambda \delta \omega \tau \omega v \delta \dot{\epsilon}$, ch. 16, 22: 21, 14. This construction is not uncommon when the subject is easily supplied from the context.

 κατήνεγκε—' drove the ships into Pylos'. The passive is more common; e.g. ch. 26, 26, ανέμω καταφέρεσθαι: i. 137, καταφέρεται χειμῶνι: κατά thus used in composition implies an approach to the coast from the sea or from inland; so iii. 49, ἐπικατάγεται, 'comes into port after'.

10. τειχίζεσθαι-probably mid. : so (aor.) i. 11: iii. 105.

ib. $\ell\pi$ τοῦτο γἀρ ξυνέπλευσε—'for he had joined the expedition for this purpose', a statement on the part of the historian. $\ell\pi$ τοῦτο is the reading of the best manuscripts, and the accusative is supported by έφ å ἀψιγμένοι, ch. 18, 5 : έφ å έξηλθον, iii.111: έπι τοῦτο, v. 87. $\ell\pi$ 1 τοῦτφ, 'with this object', is however read by many. Most editors adopt the reading ξυνεκπλεῦσαι, making the clause a statement by Demosthenes, expressed in oratio obliqua, έφη or a similar word being supplied from ήξίου: such a construction is common and presents no difficulty; ξινέπλευσε however has the best manuscript authority, and gives an excellent sense.

14. aπtxa yáp-the ancient territory of Messenia had been subdued by the Lacedaemonians, and the people driven from their country or reduced to serfdom. On the suppression of the final struggle for freedom in 455, the Athenians gave the Messenians a settlement at Naupactus on the Corinthiau Gulf (i. 101-3). Demosthenes had acted with the Messenians of Naupactus in his last year's campaign (iii. 94, etc.). He proposed now to employ them in the occupation of some post in Peloponnesus, where their hatred of the Spartans, and knowledge of the country and the dialect might best be turned to account. For such a purpose Pylos seemed especially fit. It was far from Sparta, the district was uninhabited, the position was easy to defend, and it commanded an excellent harbour. The harbour of Pylos is identified with the modern Bay of Navarino; but the description given by Thucydides in ch. 8 of the narrowness of the two entrances is not in accordance with their present state. The southern channel is now some 1400 yards in width, and the northern not less than 150.

See Grote, vol. iv. ch. 52, and Arnold: also Jowett on the present passage.

16. Kopv $\phi a \sigma to v$ -diminutive of $\kappa o \rho v \phi \eta = a$ little top or headland.

17. of δt to arraw—' they said that there were many desert capes in Peloponnesus, if he should wish to waste the city's resources by occupying them'. η^{ν} $\beta o \delta \eta \tau a trepresents in$ $oratio obliqua <math>\eta^{\nu}$ $\beta o \delta \eta p$, 'if you (shall) wish'; not et $\beta o \delta \lambda t$, which would become et $\beta o \delta \lambda t r a$, as in ch. 2, 11: so ch. 2, 18. The generals wished Demosthenes not to insist on occupying Pylos, as he would find plenty of places equally useless. Their object was to reach Corcyra, without being delayed by Demosthenes' schemes.

19. Samavay-commonly taken as governing The Tike, in the sense 'to use up, impoverish by expenditure'. In favour of this rendering a passage is quoted from Antiphon, de caede Her. 719, aropa or edamáryoar, 'whom they had exhausted with torture' (where however & Basárisar is also read), and the meaning is said to be common in late Greek. On the other hand it is simpler to retain the usual sense of damarar, 'to spend', and to make The molu the subject before the infinitive, Karaλαμβάνων, by a slight irregularity, being taken closely with βούληται. The sense will then be, 'if he wished, by occupying them, that the city should incur expense'. This view is supported by the fact that Thucydides uses damavar in other passages without an accusative following; i. 141, $d\pi \partial \tau \hat{\omega} r$ αύτων δαπανώντες: iii. 46, πως ού βλάβη δαπανάν; vii. 29, ού βουλόμενοι δαπανάν. Rutherford rejects την πολίν. The suggested construction has some support from Ar. Vesp. 720. βόσκειν εθέλων και μή τούτους εγχάσκειν σοι.

ib. διάφορόν τι-strengthened by the addition of έτέρου μάλλον, 'more than (any) other': so i. 138, διαφερόντως τι μάλλον έτέρου. τι is accusative 'of respect'.

ib. olkélous övras aùrŵ rð dpxalov: v. 80. 2, $\ddot{\eta}\nu$ δè kal aùrðs rð dpxalov $\dot{\xi}$ "Apyous. ὑμοφώνους—i.e. speaking Dorian Greek: for the same reason Demosthenes when he surprised the Ambraciots at Idomene placed the Messenians in front of his force as $\Delta \omega \rho l \delta a \gamma \lambda \ddot{\omega} \sigma a \nu l \dot{\epsilon} v r a s$ (iii. 112). We are not told that Demosthenes had any Messenians at Pylos as yet: the arrival of some is related in ch. 9.

23. $\pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma \tau' \ddot{\alpha} \nu \beta \lambda d \pi \tau \epsilon \iota \nu ... \dot{\epsilon} \sigma \epsilon \sigma \theta a t-there is a difference of meaning between the infinitive with <math>d\nu$, and the future infinitive: 'they would (be likely to) do the greatest injury to the Lacedaemonians, and would (be sure to) prove, etc.'

CHAPTER IV

2. บัตระคอง หลl รอเร รสรู้เล่คุมูอเร หองพ่อรลร— 'when he had afterwards communicated his plan to the taxiarchs also', หad, i.e. as well as to the $\sigma \tau \rho a \tau \eta \sigma \rho d$. This is in close connexion with odre rows $\sigma \tau \rho a \tau u \delta \tau a \sigma$, and explanatory. Demosthenes, finding that he could not convince Eurymedon and Sophocles, afterwards appealed to the army at large by the agency of the raflapxa (regimental officers, see Arnold), to whom he imparted his views. Kowáras—'having communicated (the matter)', without an accusative expressed: so v. 60: cf. viii. 48, $\tau \hat{\psi} \pi \lambda \eta \partial et$ kcdrwaar.

3. $\eta \sigma \dot{\nu} \chi \alpha \zeta \epsilon \nu - \epsilon$ he was detained in inactivity by stress of weather. The plural has been suggested as giving a better sense than the usual reading, which would apply to Demosthenes alone. Some editors, reading $\eta \sigma \dot{\nu} \chi \alpha \zeta \epsilon \nu$, place a comma after it and connect $\dot{\nu}\pi \dot{\sigma} \dot{\alpha}\pi \lambda \delta f as$ with $\sigma \chi \alpha \lambda \dot{\alpha} \zeta \rho \omega r$ in the following clause; but this is an awkward arrangement of the words.

5. $i\sigma \epsilon \pi \epsilon \sigma \epsilon - this reading has the best manuscript authority, but has been commonly altered into <math>i\pi \epsilon \pi \epsilon \sigma \epsilon$, on the ground that $i\sigma \pi (\pi \tau \omega)$ is not used by Thucydides with the dative or to denote emotions of the mind. $i\pi \pi \pi \tau \omega$ also is open to the objection that it is used by Thucydides not of mental emotions or ideas but of the attacks of disease or calamity. If an alteration be necessary, $i\nu \epsilon \pi \epsilon \sigma \omega$ would seem preferable: cf. ch. 34, 15, $i\kappa \pi \lambda \pi \xi s$ $i\epsilon \pi \pi \epsilon \sigma \epsilon \sigma \omega \pi \delta \tau s$; via 80, $a\lambda \tau \sigma s$; $i\omega \pi \pi \epsilon \epsilon \tau \sigma \omega \pi \gamma t$; cf. ch. 28, 25, $i\nu \epsilon \pi \epsilon \epsilon \epsilon \tau \kappa al \gamma \epsilon \lambda \sigma s$.

ib. $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota\sigma\tau\hat{\alpha}\sigma\iota$ - 'taking their stand round', stationing themselves at different points round the works: Hdt. i. 43, $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota\sigma\tau\dot{\alpha}\tau\tau$ s $\tau\delta$ $\theta\eta\rho\iota\sigma$, of hunters surrounding a wild boar. ekretx($\sigma\alpha\iota$ $\tau\delta$ $\chi\omega\rho\iota\sigma\nu$ - 'to complete the defences of the place': ch. 45, 13, éξετε($\chi\iota\sigma\alpha\nu$ $\tau\delta$ $\chi\omega\rho\iota\sigma\nu$.

7. $\lambda \circ \gamma \Delta \delta \eta v$ - 'picking out', again used with $\lambda \ell \theta o_i$, ch. 31, 15; vi. 60; $\xi \rho v \mu a \lambda \ell \theta o is \lambda \circ \gamma \delta \delta \eta v \quad \omega \rho \theta \omega \sigma a v$. It is an adverb derived from $\lambda \epsilon' \gamma \omega$ in the sense of picking out and setting in order; Hom. Od. xviii. 359, $a \mu a \sigma \iota \delta s \lambda \epsilon' \gamma \omega v$, 'picking (stones for) walls': so also $\lambda \circ \gamma \delta \delta s$ (in Thuc. etc. of picked men) is used by Pausanias of picked (unhewn) stones: hence $\lambda \iota \theta \circ \lambda \circ \gamma \circ s$ (vi. 44 etc.) means a mason generally.

8. kal foreriberar—' and they put them together as each piece happened to fit in': τ_{i} gives indefiniteness to favoror, 'each bit as it came, whatever it was'; the neuter seems to shew that other materials were used with the picked stones to fill in the interstices. Thucydides says of the walls of the Piraeus, i. 93, $\ell r r \partial s$ ofre $\chi d \lambda \xi$ ofre $\pi \eta \lambda \partial s$ $\eta \nu$, 'inside was neither clay (or mortar) nor rubble', but all was built of squared stones. fupfatives is the optative of indefinite frequency (Farrar, § 177. 6; Madvig, § 133), 'as each (from time to time) fitted in'. et now being equivalent to wherever; and $\mu \partial \lambda \lambda \sigma$ in line 11 is to be similarly explained, 'as (in each different case) it was likely to stay best on their backs'. Thucydides seems to have derived these minute details from an eye-witness, possibly from Demosthenes himself.

11. $\tau\dot{\omega} \chi\epsilon i\rho\epsilon$ —so $\tau\dot{\omega} \pi \delta \lambda\epsilon\epsilon$ is found twice, v. 23. According to Cobet there is in the dual only one form for all genders of the article, pronouns, adjectives, and participles, viz. $\tau\dot{\omega}$, τoir , $\tau o \tau \omega$, $\dot{\alpha} \lambda \lambda \dot{\eta} \lambda o \nu$, $\lambda \epsilon \gamma o \tau \epsilon$, etc.; $\tau \lambda$, $\tau a \prime \tau a \tau a \nu$, $\pi a \theta o \dot{\omega} \sigma a$, and the like, being the ill-advised corrections of grammarians and copyists (Var. lect. p. 69; Nov. lect. p. 695). Dual nouns are often found with plural predicates and verbs.

12. $\pi\alpha\nu\taui$ $\tau\epsilon$ $\tau\rho\delta\pi\omega$ —'and so in every way they were eager to anticipate the Lacedaemonians by having completed the most assailable parts before they could attack the place'. $\tau\epsilon$ sums up what has gone before and continues the account. ' $\beta \circ \eta \theta \epsilon \omega$ and its compounds', as Arnold points out, 'never losse their proper notion of defensive movement, even when the particular operation is offensive. Thus the Lacedaemonian attack on Pylos was in order to recover possession of their own country'. $\epsilon\pi(\mu\alpha\chi \circ s, 'open to attack', occurs ch. 31, 14.$

15. αὐτὸ καρτερὸν ὑπῆρχε—' was strong of itself to begin with'. Verbs thus compounded with ὑπὸ denote the ground or foundation on which is based what follows: e.g. ὑποτθημι (more frequent in mid.), 'to lay down as a premiss or basis of argument': Eur. El. 1036, τοῦδ ὑπόντος, 'with this condition to start with'; Ar. Vesp. 55, δλίγα ὑπειπών, 'after some prefatory words'; Dem. Pantaen. 973, ὑπογράψας ἐπιβουλεισαί με abr $\hat{\psi}$, 'after starting with the statement that I plotted against him'. oùôèv čốc $\tau\epsilon(\chi ovs -$ there was no need of a wall': the impersonal $\delta\epsilon\hat{\epsilon}$, 'there is need of', must be distinguished from the personal $\delta\epsilon\hat{\epsilon}_{\mu\mu}$, 'I am in need of'.

CHAPTER V

1. of $\delta t i op \tau \eta \nu$ - 'but the Lacedaemonians chanced to be keeping a certain feast, and withal when they heard the news accounted but lightly of it, thinking that when they had once marched forth either the Athenians would not stand their attack or they would easily take them by force'. So we find the Lacedaemonians remaining inactive during the Carneian festival (v. 54), and during the Gymnopaediae (v. 82). Herodotus (ix. 7) relates that in 479 they were prevented by the Hyacinthia from marching into Boeotia to aid the Athenians against Mardonius. 'They considered it of the greatest importance' he adds 'to perform their duties to the god; and meanwhile their wall across the isthmus was in progress, and the battlements were getting fixed'. Jowett also cites Hdt. vi. 106 (before Marathon), and vii. 206 (before Thermopylae).

2. $\ell \nu$ $\delta \lambda_1 \gamma \omega \rho (a \ell \pi o \iota o \tilde{\nu} \tau o - c f. v ii. 3: Hdt. ix. 42, <math>\ell \nu \ d \delta \epsilon l \eta \pi o \iota \epsilon \delta \sigma \theta a a.$ and many like expressions; the verb meaning to make for oneself, and therefore to account, reckon, etc.

3. η oùy ὑπομενοῦντας—this is the accusative absolute with is in the sense of thinking, 'in the belief that' (Madvig, § 182); with it is joined η ληψόμενο, in agreement with the subject of the sentence: cf. Dem. de Sym. 182, ἀπεβλέψατε πρόs ἀλλήλους ώς αὐτός μἐν ἕκαστος οὐ ποιήσων, τὸν δὲ πλησίον πράζοντα.

4. καί τι καὶ αὐτούς—'and in some part too their army being still before Athens detained them', i.e. the fact that a portion of their forces was still away with king Agis. $i\nu$ ταῖς 'Aθήναις—'in the neighbourhood of Athens': so ch. 25, 8, $i\nu$ τῷ 'Pη₂/ω: ii. 2, ή $i\nu$ Horičaia μάχη, 'the battle at (as we say of) Potilaea': Dem. Lept. 479, ὑμᾶς ἔχων παρετάξατο iνΘήβαις, 'at Thebes': Plat. Rep. 522 p, $i\nu$ 'Iλίω, of the Greeks before Troy. ἐπέσχε—'checked, held back': i. 120, καί σε μήτε νὸξ μήθ' ἡμέρα ἐπισχέτω: more often intrans. as ch. 31, 2.

10. $\tau \delta \nu \pi \lambda \delta \tilde{\nu} \dots \eta \pi \epsilon (\gamma \rho \nu \tau \sigma - \cdot \rho ushed on with their voyage to Coreyra and Sicily': so viii. 9, <math>\epsilon \pi \epsilon \epsilon \gamma \rho_0 \ell \epsilon \nu \sigma \nu \sigma \nu \sigma \lambda \sigma \tilde{\nu} \nu : 1i. 2, \tau \eta \nu \pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon \nu \eta \nu \epsilon \ell \gamma \rho \nu \tau a : usually intransitive, 'to hasten on', as in ch. 3, 4. Note the position of kal Eukellav, two words which are part of the epithet of <math>\pi \lambda \delta \tilde{\nu}$. When the epithet of a substantive consists of several words, a portion of these words may be placed otherwise than between the article and substantive; e.g. iii. 56, kard rdv $\pi \hat{a}\sigma i$ vbµov $\kappa a\theta\epsilon\sigma \tau \hat{\omega} \tau a$: vi. 31, $\tau \eta \nu$ $\tau \hat{\eta}$; $\pi \delta \lambda \omega \sigma i \nu$ $\delta \eta \mu o \sigma l a$. In ch. 24, 18, we have a similar order: see also note on ch. 90, 7.

CHAPTER VI

2. $\dot{\omega}s \ \epsilon \pi \dot{\upsilon} \theta \sigma v \tau \sigma \tau \eta s \Pi \dot{\upsilon} \lambda \sigma \upsilon \kappa a \tau \epsilon \iota \lambda \eta \mu \mu \dot{\upsilon} \eta s - \dot{\upsilon} when they heard of the occupation of Pylos'. Thucydides more commonly uses the accusative participial construction with <math>\pi \upsilon \nu \theta a$ - $v \sigma \mu a$: ch. 50, 17, $\pi \upsilon \theta \dot{\partial} \mu e \sigma \iota$ 'A $\tau a \xi \ell \rho \xi \eta r$ $\tau \epsilon \theta \tau \eta \kappa \dot{\sigma} \tau a$, etc.; in accordance with the principle that verbs of hearing take the accusative of the sound heard, and the genitive of that which produces it. As this however is not an invariable rule, so with $\pi \upsilon \nu \theta \dot{a} \sigma \rho \mu a$ the genitive of the thing heard of is not unfrequent, especially in poetry; $\sigma \dot{\upsilon} \delta' \epsilon \ell \kappa \epsilon r \tau \sigma \tilde{\upsilon} \pi a \tau \rho \dot{\delta} \epsilon \dot{\sigma} \alpha \phi \partial \iota \mu \ell r \sigma \sigma \tau \pi \upsilon \partial \dot{\sigma} \mu \eta r$, Hom. I. xix. 322.

4. $vo\mu(tovres \mu \ell v - the order of words is to be carefully observed. The reasons for the Peloponnesians leaving Attica at once are given in three clauses, <math>vo\mu(tovres \mu \ell v ..., \delta \mu a \delta \ell ... \delta cardvilor..., \chi equals <math>\tau \in x.r.\lambda$. The first of these clauses is limited in its application by the introduction of the words of $Aa\kappa \delta a(\mu o v o v \kappa a' A \gamma s, 'thinking, that is, Agis and the Lace-daemonians thinking'; the Lacedaemonians alone having a vital interest in Pylos. This is a construction of partial apposition, like ch. 38, 1, ol <math>\delta \epsilon$ akovarres $\pi a \rho \pi a r \delta s i a \pi \delta \epsilon \sigma s o, 'dropped their shields, that is, most of them did so': cf. i. 49, where <math>\delta \epsilon \delta t \delta r \epsilon s \sigma \delta a \lambda \delta r r \epsilon$, the finite verbs $\epsilon \sigma \pi \delta r t \rho r$ and $\epsilon \pi \ell \epsilon \sigma \epsilon$ giving the second and third reasons for retreat.

5. oktion $\sigma\phi(\sigma t)$ --- thinking that the matter of Pylos touched them nearly'. oktion, 'concerning one's self', is the opposite of $d\lambda\lambda\delta\sigma\rho\iotaos$: iii. 13, $d\lambda\lambda\sigma\rholas \gamma\hat{\eta}s \pi \epsilon\rho\iota$ oktion $\kappa lr\delta vror \xi \epsilon \epsilon \iota r$.

7. $\tau \sigma is \pi \sigma \lambda \lambda \sigma is$ —according to Classen 'for their large numbers'; but there is no reason to suppose that the expression has not its usual meaning 'for the greater part'. No doubt the want of supplies would be felt throughout the army; but the chiefs and officers would not suffer like the rest of the troops (of $\pi \sigma \lambda \lambda \sigma i$): see also vii. 84 fin.

ib. χειμών τε—'stormy, wintry weather': so iii. 21, χειμών νοτερός, 'stormy and rainy weather'. μείζων παρά—'with greater violence than was to be looked for at the time of the year then present'; lit. 'greater, going beyond'; nearly = $\mu \epsilon l_{\zeta} \omega \nu \ \eta \ \kappa a \tau a'$: so i. 23, $\pi \nu \kappa \nu \delta \tau \epsilon \rho a \iota \ \pi a \rho a'$. $\tau \eta \nu \ \kappa a \theta \epsilon \sigma \tau \eta \kappa \nu a \sigma \mu \omega \nu$ lit. 'the (then) settled season', i. e. the spring, when finer weather might be expected to set in.

 πολλαχόθεν — ' from many causes': Dem. Con. 1261, πολλαχόθεν δήλον: so i. 17, πανταχόθεν, ' from all causes', etc.

CHAPTER VII

2. 'Hióva—where this place was is disputed: it was not Eion on the Strymon, which had been held by the Athenians since its capture by Cimon in 476 (i. 98). The mothercity Mende was on Pallene, the most westerly of the three Chalcidian peninsulas, and Eion may have been in the same district, which is also indicated by the proximity of the Chalcidians and Bottiaeans. The name means 'shore'. $\tau \eta \nu$ $i\pi \partial \rho \alpha \kappa \eta_5 = so \tau \lambda i i \partial \rho \alpha \kappa \eta_5$, the usual form by which Thucydides denotes the 'Thrace-ward regions'.

3. $\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu (a\nu \delta \epsilon - but hostile', thus differing from Mende, which was now in alliance with Athens, though it revolted two years after, ch. 123: cf. vi. 62, <math>\pi \circ \lambda i \sigma \mu a \Sigma i \kappa a \nu i \kappa \delta \nu \mu \delta \nu ' \Sigma \gamma \epsilon \sigma \tau a loss \delta \epsilon \pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu i \nu$.

4. $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \tau \omega \nu \phi_{\text{poup}}(\omega \nu - \text{from the various points on the coast})$ which were occupied by the Athenians during the war.

προδιδομένην—the present, or rather, imperfect participle gives the meaning 'which was to be betrayed' in accordance with a previous understanding : so iii. 18, ἐπι Μήθυμναν ώς προδιδομένην ἐστράτευσαι.

 ξεκρούσθη—'was driven out and lost many of his men': ἐκκρούω is used to denote dislodging an enemy, iv. 102, 128, etc.

 ἀναχωρησάντων δὲ τῶν ἐκ τῆs 'Αττικῆs—this is called a pregnant construction, containing the two ideas 'when the Peloponnesians in Attica had retired from it': so ch. 16, 20: 19, 5, ἀratroῦντε τοὺs ἐκ τῆs νήσου ἀνδρας.

2. of $\Sigma \pi \alpha \rho \tau_1 \hat{\alpha} \tau_{\alpha \iota}$ —the fully-privileged citizens of Sparta itself, who alone were eligible to public offices: the $\pi \epsilon_{Pl} \delta_{\alpha \kappa_{0}}$ were the inhabitants of the townships of Laconia, who though free had no voice in the government. 6. περιήγγελλον... βοηθεῖν—'and they sent round word also over Peloponnesus to march': so ii. 10, περιήγγελλον στρατιἀν παρασκευάζεσθαι: also with an accusative of the thing demanded, vii. 18, σίδηρον περιήγγελλον, 'they sent round orders for iron': this corresponds to the use of impero with frumentum, pecuniam, obsides, etc.; and the English 'to order' supplies, etc.

10. $i\pi\epsilon\rho\epsilon\nu\epsilon\chi$ θείσαι— 'after being carried over the Leucadian isthmus': so iii. 81, $i\pi\epsilon\rho\epsilon\nu\epsilon\gamma\kappa\delta\nu\tau\epsilon\epsilon$ τον Λευκαδίων $l\sigma\theta\mu\delta\nu$ τὰς ràs: the same construction, viii. 7. Leucas (now Santa Maura) was afterwards turned into an island by cutting through the isthmus which connected it with the mainland. In 428 we find the Lacedaemonians preparing machines ($i\lambda\kappa oi$) to transport ($i\kappa$ $i\pi\epsilon\rhooi\sigma\sigma\nu\tau\epsilon$ s) a fleet over the isthmus of Corinth (iii. 15): and in 412 twenty-one ships were conveyed across it (viii. 7, 8).

11. $\tau ds i \sqrt{2} a \kappa i \sqrt{9} \omega$ —so far had the Athenian fleet advanced on the way to Corcyra. Zacynthus (now Zante) was much nearer than Leucas to Pylos. It was faithful to the Athenians throughout the war, and was an important link in the chain of naval stations which enabled the Athenians to command the coast of Peloponnesus (ii. 7, 80).

16. $\dot{\omega}s \tau \sigma \hat{\upsilon} \chi \omega \rho i \sigma \upsilon - \epsilon'$ since the place was in danger'; $\dot{\omega}s$ with the genitive absolute gives the ground on which Demosthenes called for speedy succour, stated as a fact; thus differing from the accusative construction, which expresses belief or opinion; see note on ch. 5, 3.

17. κal ai μèν $v\eta\epsilons...oi \delta \dot{\epsilon}$ —note the force of the imperfect tenses: the Athenian ships 'were on their way' to obtain help, the Lacedaemonians on their side 'were engaged in' preparations for the attack. Classen takes al μèr $r\eta\epsilon$ to mean the Athenian ships at Zacynthus, which 'were getting ready for the voyage' to help Pylos. This perhaps gives a greater force to $\kappa ar \dot{a}$ $\dot{r} \epsilon \epsilon \sigma r a \lambda \mu \dot{r} a$, 'in accordance with the orders of Demosthenes', i.e. his urgent demand for speedy aid.

21. Sid $\tau a \chi i \omega v i \rho \gamma a \sigma \mu i \nu v \nu - 'a$ work hastily constructed and occupied by a small force': after the passive participle agreeing with $o k c \delta \delta \mu \eta \mu a$ comes the genitive absolute with an active participle. For other variations of participial construction see the opening clauses of chs. 28, 29, and 32.

23. ἐν νῷ έἰχον—' they purposed': ch. 22, 7. ἐν νῷ ἐχοντας, ' intending': so Hdt. i. 27, ἐχοντες ἐν νῷ στρατεύεσθαι, ' intending to march': so in Latin, Liv. vi. 19, nobis in animo est. On the other hand $\nu \hat{\varphi} \, \xi \chi \epsilon \iota \nu$ without $\dot{\epsilon} \nu$ means to remember: Plat. Gorg. 490 A, $\epsilon l \nu \hat{\varphi} \, \dot{\epsilon} \chi \epsilon \iota s$, 'if you bear in mind': so Hdt. v. 92 (7), $\nu \delta \varphi \, i \sigma \chi \omega \nu$.

24. $\eta \nu$ apa $\mu \eta$ —'if they should fail to take it': apa with ϵl and $\eta \nu$ has the force of if after all, if, which I do not expect.

25. ὅπως μὴ ἢ-'that it might not be possible for the Athenians to enter and take up a position against them': έστι 'it is possible' is most commonly found with a negative: ch. 9, 8, οὐκ ἦν ὅπλα πορίσασθα. For the meaning of ὀρμί-ζομαι, and its construction with έs, see note on ch. 1, 19: the compound with iπi is only found here in Thucydides; it corresponds to the neuter verb iφoρμμεω, 'to lie at anchor over against, to blockade', and to the substantives iφόρμησιs and iφόρμos.

26. $\dot{\eta} \gamma \dot{\alpha} \rho \nu \eta \sigma \sigma s \dot{\eta} \Sigma \dot{\phi} \alpha \kappa \tau \eta \rho (\alpha - \text{the fortress of Pylos was at the northern extremity of the bay, the harbour being the bay itself, which was rendered secure by the island of Sphacteria. The island lay north and south across the bay, leaving two narrow entrances which the Lacedaemonians now proposed to block up. Sphacteria is almost certainly the Sphagia of ancient writers and of modern days: cf. Plat. Menex. 242 c, <math>\lambda \alpha \beta \delta \nu \tau \epsilon s a \dot{\nu} \tau \delta \nu \tau \sigma i s \dot{\eta} \gamma \ell \mu \sigma \nu \sigma s \Lambda \alpha \kappa \delta \alpha \mu \sigma \ell \omega s \tau \tau \dot{\eta} \Sigma \phi \alpha \gamma \ell a$. The description given by Thucydides is however not free from topographical difficulties: see note on ch. 3, 14.

παρατείνουσα... 'stretching along': τείνω and its compounds are sometimes used intransitively of geographical position. ἐγγύs ἐπικειμένη... 'lying close off': so ch. 44, 28, ἐs τàs ἐπικειμέναs νήσους.

29. $\tau \hat{\eta} \mu \epsilon \nu \dots \tau \hat{\eta} \delta \epsilon - \dot{t}$ at one point...at the other'. Siamabouv--'a passage for two ships (abreast)'; the accusative is in apposition to the preceding $\delta \sigma \pi \lambda o \nu s$. $\dot{\eta} \ \vec{a} \lambda \lambda \eta \ \vec{\eta} \pi \epsilon \rho o s$ is the main land on the south of the harbour, which was now occupied by the Lacedaemonians.

33. $\kappa \alpha l \mu \epsilon \gamma \epsilon \theta \circ \varsigma \cdots$ and in length was about 15 stades pretty nearly'; both $\pi \epsilon \rho l$ and $\mu \alpha \lambda \iota \sigma \tau \alpha$ are used in the sense of 'about' to give dimensions roughly. Fifteen stades would be about 3000 yards, whereas the modern Sphagia is said to be upwards of 24 miles in length.

34. $d\nu\tau\iota\pi\rho\omega\rhoois$ —'with the prows facing the enemy': so ch. 14, 4, $d\nu\tau\iota\pi\rho\omega\rhoois$: vii. 34, $\nu\eta\epsilons$ $d\nu\tau\iota\pi\rho\omega\rhooi$ $\ell\mu\betaa\lambda\lambda\delta\mu\epsilon\nuai$, 'ships struck bow to bow': vii. 36, $\tau\delta$ $d\nu\tau\iota\pi\rho\omega\rhooi$ $\ell\nu\eta\kappa\rho\delta\sigmaai$, 'ramming stem-on': Tac. Hist. ii. 14, conversa et minaci fronte. $\beta\delta(\eta\nu-\epsilon)$ closely' from $\beta\delta\omega$ 'to stuff full'. The entrances were so narrow that it was possible to close them by placing the ships side by side with their beaks pointing outwards. On the other hand in 413 the Syracusans closed the mouth of their harbour by anchoring their ships cross-ways ($\pi\lambda\alpha\gammai\alpha s$), having a much wider entrance to secure (vii. 59).

38. $ovv\sigma \gamma d\rho$ —'for so, they considered, both the island would be hostile to the Athenians and the main land, which did not admit of landing'. $\xi\sigma c\sigma\theta a$, like the subsequent $\xi\xi c\nu$ and $\xi\kappa \pi o\lambda co\rho\kappa \eta \sigma c\nu$, depends on the sense 'they hoped, they expected' supplied from the preceding sentence: see note on $\epsilon\pi i$ rooro $\gamma a\rho$ $\xi v \nu \epsilon \kappa \pi \lambda \epsilon v \sigma a$, ch. 3, 10. For $\xi \chi o v \sigma a v$ see note on $\pi \rho \sigma \beta o \lambda \eta \nu \xi \chi o \nu$ ch. 1, 7: similarly $o'\chi \xi \xi c \nu \delta v e \nu$, line 42, means 'would not present a point from which'.

40. τd yàp airis τis $\Pi i \lambda ou$ —the coast to the north of the bay, facing the main sea. This offered no harbour where the Athenians could establish a naval station, such as was occupied by the English at Balaclava. The island of Sphacteria was held by the enemy's troops, as was also the mainland to the south forming the shore of the bay. Thus the Athenian fleet would be unable to succour their countrymen in Pylos, and the garrison being unprovided must shortly surrender.

42. ώφελήσουσι τοὺς αὐτῶν—indic. fut. after ὅθεν: so i. 107, σκέψασθαι ὅτψ τρόπψ διαπορεύσονται, 'in what way they should cross'.

44. σ (row $\tau\epsilon$ oùk évóvros—'as there was no provision in the place, and it had been occupied with slender preparation'; the gen. abs. is here followed by the participle agreeing with $\chi \omega \rho low$; see note on line 21. I follow Classen in reading karet $\lambda \eta \mu \mu \ell v ov$ for the MSS. $\kappa a \tau \epsilon i \lambda \eta \mu \mu \ell v ov$, which would be gen. abs. agreeing with $\chi \omega \rho low$ understood. Si δλίγης παρασκευῆs is one of the many adverbial expressions with διά, like δια προφυλακῆs, ch. 30, 5.

46. ds 5' $i\delta\delta\kappa\epsilon\epsilon$... $\kappaal \delta\epsilon\epsilon\betai\beta a_lov - i$ as they determined, so they sent the men across, selecting them by lot from all the lochi', lit. iwent on to send'. The lochus was one of the larger divisions of the Spartan army: see Arnold's note on v. 68, where a calculation is made of the Lacedaemonian force present at the field of Mantinea in 418, when seven $\lambda\delta\chi o$ were engaged: see also Grote, vol. ii. ch. 8, on the military divisions of Sparta.

49. oi δè τελευταῖοι—' those who crossed last and were caught in the island', i.e. whose retreat was cut off by the Athenians; or those who were ' taken in it' on its capture, in which case the slain are included, cf. ch. 38, 30. $\epsilon \gamma \kappa a \pi a \lambda \eta \phi \theta \epsilon \nu \tau \epsilon s$ -ch. 116, 5, őσους $\epsilon \gamma \kappa a \tau \epsilon \lambda a \beta \epsilon$, 'all that he captured in the city': so iii. 33, $(\nu \eta \epsilon s) \epsilon \gamma \kappa a \tau a \lambda \eta \phi \theta \epsilon \bar{i} \sigma a \iota$, 'caught in a place'.

50. καl Είλωτες οἱ περl αὐτούς—' besides the Helots attached to their service', called $\theta\epsilon\rho$ άποντες ch. 16, 11; their number is not stated, possibly each Lacedaemonian had one in attendance on him. The Helots, or country serfs, the main body of whom were Messenian Dorians, were often employed in military service. Thus in 424 they furnished seven hundred heavy-armed men for the expedition led by Brasidas into Thrace (ch. 80).

CHAPTER IX

3. $\tau ds \tau p \iota \eta p e s$ —three in number, five having been left at first with Demosthenes, two of which he had despatched to Zacynthus. Classen suggests at $\pi \epsilon p \iota \eta \sigma a \nu a \nu \tau \hat{\mu}$, 'which he had remaining', instead of $a' \pi \epsilon p \eta \sigma a \nu$, there being no obvious reason for the use of $\delta \sigma \pi \epsilon \rho$ in the passage.

5. $dva\sigma\pi d\sigma as \dot{\upsilon}\pi \dot{\sigma} \tau \dot{\epsilon}(\chi_{1}\sigma\mu a - having dragged up under$ $the fortifications and secured with a stockade'. <math>\pi po\sigma \sigma \sigma \tau \dot{\rho} \rho \sigma e \nu - either 'put a stockade to' the ships, or 'added them by a$ stockade to' the line of defence, i.e. included them in an outwork of palisading. Thus the Greeks intrenched their fleet at $Troy, and the Persians at Mycale (Hdt. ix. 96, 7). <math>\pi \rho o \epsilon \sigma \tau a' \rho \omega \sigma \epsilon$, 'put palisades before', has been proposed as a correction: the word is used vi. 75, $\tau \dot{\eta} \nu \ \theta \dot{\alpha} \lambda a \sigma a \omega \ \pi \rho c \sigma \tau a' \rho \omega \sigma a \nu$, of the Syracusans who fringed their shores with stakes, to prevent the Athenians from landing near the city.

7. $d\sigma\pi'(\sigma\tau \tau\epsilon \phi a\dot{\gamma}\lambda a \cdot s - \cdot \omega \cdot the poor shields and for the most part wicker'. Here we must either regard <math>\tau\epsilon$ as out of place, $\tau\epsilon$ and kal coupling $\phi a\dot{\nu}\lambda a \cdot s$ and olovivas, or we must consider that the sentence is irregular in construction, beginning as if a second substantive were to be connected with $d\sigma\pi l\sigma\iota$. Similar irregularities in the position of $\tau\epsilon$ are common, e.g. ch. 10, 9, $\eta\nu$ $\dot{\epsilon}\theta \dot{\epsilon}\lambda \omega\mu \dot{\epsilon}\nu \tau\epsilon$ $\mu \dot{\epsilon}\nu a \cdot \kappa a \tau a \pi \rho o \delta o \hat{\nu} \sigma a$.

For a full discussion of the usage of $\tau\epsilon$ see Jowett on i. 9, $\kappa al rao \tau \kappa \hat{\omega} \tau \epsilon \tilde{a} \mu a$: also Shilleto on the same passage. Both authorities consider that the word sometimes bears in Thucydides the sense of too, which is found in lyric and dramatic poetry and in Herodotus.

 ἐκ ληστρικής—'from a piratical thirty-oared boat and a pinnace belonging to certain Messenians who happened to have arrived'; doubtless Messenians from Naupactus, who were plundering the Laconian coast. Both $\lambda y \sigma \tau \rho \kappa \hat{\eta} s$ and $\tau \rho \iota \alpha \kappa \rho \sigma \tau \rho \rho \sigma v$ are adjectives agreeing with $\nu \epsilon \omega s$ understood. A $\kappa \ell \lambda \eta s$ or $\kappa \epsilon \lambda \dot{\eta} \tau \iota \sigma r$ is mentioned as accompanying a trireme, ch. 120, 10.

11. $\delta \pi \lambda i \tau \epsilon - {}^{\circ} of$ these Messenians was made up a force of about forty heavy-armed men': $\gamma i \gamma r o \mu a \iota$ is very commonly used of numbers in the sense of amounting to: ch. 23, 18, ai $\pi a \sigma a \iota \delta \beta \delta \rho \mu \eta \kappa o \tau a \epsilon \gamma \ell r o \tau o$: cf. ch. 39, 1.

13. τούς μὲν οῦν πολλούς—' the greater part both of those without (full) arms and of those who were armed'. By ὅπλα is denoted especially the full equipment of a heavy-armed soldier (ὅπλ(της): so ὅπλα έχοντες, ch. 33, 17.

We are not told the total number of the men under Demosthenes, but we can make an approximate calculation. He had forty Messenians, and the crews of three triremes. A trireme was manned by about 170 rowers ($ra\hat{v}ra\hat{i}$), some half-dozen officers, and a certain number of $i\pi i\beta ara,$ heavy-armed men serving as marines. Of these last there were at this time 10 to each ship, according to Arnold's note on iii. 95: Classen says 20: see also Grote, vol. iv. ch. 49. When the two ships were sent to Zacynthus their $i\pi i\beta arai$ may have been left at Pylos. Thus the whole Athenian force amounted to about 600 men, the greater part hastily and imperfectly armed.

17. ἀπολεξάμενος—'having picked out for himself': the middle participle is similarly used with αὐτός, v. 8.

18. ξξω τοῦ τϵίχους—Demosthenes expected that the descent of the enemy would be made on the point beneath the walls of Pylos, outside the bay on the north and looking toward the main sea.

20. is $\chi \omega \rho i \alpha \mu i \nu \dots \sigma \phi i \sigma_1 \delta i$ —the two clauses with $\mu i \nu$ and δi give the pros and cons for attacking at the point in question; on the one hand $(\mu i \nu)$ landing was difficult, on the other (δi) the works were here incomplete: the clauses do not however correspond in construction, is $\chi \omega \rho i \alpha \mu i \nu$ being connected with $d\pi \sigma \beta a i \nu e \nu$, while in the second clause the finite verb $i \gamma \epsilon i r \sigma$ is introduced.

22. ἐπισπάσασθαι αὐτούs-these words present considerable difficulty. We have, dependent on mysiro, the aorist middle έπισπάσασθαι, followed by the future προθυμηθήσεσθαι. έπισπάoaobat is transitive in sense, meaning 'to draw to oneself, induce' with inf., as in v. 111: so $\epsilon \pi \iota \sigma \pi a \sigma \theta a \iota$ with inf. Xen. Cyr. v. 5. 10. The natural meaning of the construction is. 'he thought that he had drawn them on so that they would be eager'; but this is not satisfactory in sense. The meaning required is, 'he considered that it (the weakness of the works) would draw them on to be eager'. Besides the awkwardness thus involved in supplying the subject to $i\pi i\sigma\pi i\sigma a\sigma\theta a_i$ from the genitive absolute row relyous orros, this necessitates giving a future meaning to the aor. inf. following inveito. Whether it will bear such a meaning is by no means clear. The same question arises on ii. 3. ένόμισαν κρατήσαι; and perhaps on iii. 24, νομίζοντες ὑποτοπήσαι.

There is no doubt that the aor. inf. is used in reference to future things after phrases denoting expectation, such as $\lambda \pi i j \epsilon \nu$, $\epsilon \lambda \pi i s \epsilon \sigma \iota \nu$, $\epsilon l \kappa \delta s \epsilon \sigma \iota \nu$ etc.: but it does not follow that words which express merely a thought or statement, like $i \gamma \epsilon \epsilon r \sigma$ in this passage, can be used in the same way. Madvig (§ 172 R.) considers that instances of such construction 'undoubtedly rest upon a false reading, either $d\nu$ having been accidentally omitted, or the aorist written by mistake for the future'. Goodwin however (Greek Moods and Tenses § 32) points out that 'unless we decide to correct a large number of passages against the authority of the mss, we must admit even this anomalous construction; although it is to be considered strictly exceptional'.

In the passage before us it is perhaps best to cut the knot by reading the fut. $\epsilon \pi \iota \sigma \pi \delta \sigma \epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota$, passive in sense, with a $\delta \tau \sigma \delta \sigma s$ as its subject—'he considered that they would be led on to be eager', or possibly 'would be ready to be led on'. It may be that $\pi \rho \delta \theta \mu \mu \eta \sigma \sigma \theta a$ is only an explanation of $\ell \pi \iota \sigma \pi \delta \sigma \sigma \theta a \iota$, which has found its way into the text: on the other hand a redundancy of almost synonymous infinitives is by no means foreign to the style of Thucydides; while the future inf. is often found after words of thinking, wishing, etc. e.g. i. 27, $\epsilon \delta \epsilon \eta \theta \eta \sigma a \nu$ $\mu a \sigma l \sigma \delta \delta \xi \mu \pi \rho \sigma \ell \mu \psi \epsilon \nu$.

23. cvre yàp airol—'for as they themselves never expected to be overnastered at sea, and therefore had not been building the works with any strength, so if the enemy could force the landing, the place, he felt, was at once within their grasp'. ovre...te-lit. 'neither...and': so neque...et. $i\lambda\pi(fov-res-ilooking for, expecting': ii. 11, \ell\lambda\pi(four did udxyn livau dyrous...loxyupów-predicate agreeing with refixes...loxubar libration...loxubar li$ preceding our the negative our is of course redundant. The imperfect $i\pi\epsilon(\chi_{0})$ means either 'had been building', or 'had been for building', i.e. thought fit or purposed to do so.

25. ἐκείνοις τε—dativus commodi after ἀλώσιμον γίγνεσθαι. βιάζεσθαι with accusative, meaning 'to carry by force' occurs again ch. 11, 23 and ch. 36, 6: Thucydides uses it also without a case, meaning 'to act by force, force one's way', and as a passive. γίγνεσθαι, 'to come to be', here denotes what would follow as an immediate and necessary consequence: so ch. 10, 13, ξύμμαχον γίγνεστα. The infinitive depends on the sense continued from ήγεδτο in the previous sentence.

26. κατά τοῦτο—'at this point': so iii. S9, where it is the antecedent to $\frac{1}{2}$: or possibly 'on this plan', i.e. with this view and purpose: like v. 7, κατά θέαν τοῦ χωρίου,='to reconnoitre the place'.

29. $\pi a \rho \epsilon \kappa \epsilon \lambda \epsilon \acute{\sigma} \sigma a \sigma \tau \sigma \alpha \delta \epsilon$ -'exhorted them to the following effect': $\tau \alpha \dot{a} \delta \epsilon$, 'of this sort', in relating speeches, means as follows: corresponding to which we have $\tau \sigma c a \sigma \tau a$ 'so much' (as in ch. 11, 1) or $\tau \sigma c a \delta \tau a$, both equivalent to as a foresaid.

CHAPTER X

Speech of Demosthenes to the garrison. His address is brief and soldierlike. We must fight, he says, and fight at once. Nor is there any need for despairing of success, if only we hold our ground.

The place is difficult of approach, and the enemy can only bring a small part of his numbers into action at once. Besides, he is at a disadvantage, having to force the landing from his ships. There is therefore no need to fear an overwhelming onslanght, and a vigorous resistance will make us victorious.

 ξυναράμενοι— 'having taken part in': v. 28, ξυναράμενοι roῦ πολέμου: the genitive is partitive, as with προσξυμβαλλομαι, iii. 36: ξυλλαμβάνομαι, ch. 47, 4: so Eur. Ion, 331, πόνου ξυλλαβεῖν. On the other hand we have, ii. 71, ξυνάρασθαι τὸν κίνδυνον, 'to join in undertaking the danger'.

2. $\mu\eta\delta\epsilon ls \xi \nu\nu\epsilon\tau\delta \beta ou\lambda\epsilon\sigma \theta \omega \delta o\kappa\epsilon i \nu$ —'let no one desire to be esteemed a man of intelligence'. $\xi \nu \kappa\epsilon \sigma s$ and $\xi \nu \kappa\epsilon \sigma s$ denote especially natural sagacity and quickness of apprehension, qualities which eminently distinguished the Athenians. Now however what was needed was rather stolid determination. Demosthenes therefore calls on his men to repel their enemy first and argue afterwards. 3. ἐκλογιζόμενος—'reasoning out, calculating thoroughly': i. 80 with acc. τὸ περιεστὸς ἡμῶς δεινόν—'the danger that surrounds us': so ch. 34, 27: iii. 54, φόβος περιέστη τὴν Σπάρτην. The neuter form καθεστός occurs, iii. 9: elsewhere καθεστηκός, ch. 97, 7, etc.

4. $\mu\hat{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\sigma\nu$ $\hat{\eta}...\chi\omega\rho\hat{\eta}\sigma\alpha\iota-\mu\hat{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\sigma\nu$ δ' is read by nearly all modern editors, the best manuscripts omitting $\hat{\eta}$ and several giving $\delta\epsilon$. The sense is then 'but rather (let each one resolve) to close with the enemy, etc.', $\epsilon\kappa\alpha\sigma\tau\sigmas$ or $\pi\hat{\alpha}s$ ris being supplied from $\mu\eta\delta\epsilon s$, and $\chi\omega\eta\hat{\eta}\sigma\alpha$ of course being governed by $\beta\omega\lambda\delta\epsilon\theta\omega$. Classen however urges that not only is such an elliptic construction doubtful in the present sentence, but that a parallel can scarcely be quoted from Thucydides to this usage of $\mu\hat{\alpha}\lambda$. $\lambda\sigma\delta\epsilon$. On the other hand $\mu\hat{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\sigma\nu$ $\hat{\eta}$ is a frequent expression, and is more than once found in sentences which closely resemble the one before us: e.g. viii. 48, $\sigma\nu$ $\gamma\lambda\rho$ $\beta\omega\lambda\eta\sigma\epsilon\sigma\theta\alpha$ ($\epsilon\phi\eta$) $a\dot{\sigma}rois...\delta\sigma\nu\lambda\epsilon\dot{\epsilon}\epsilon\nu\mu\hat{\alpha}\lambda\sigma\nu$ $\hat{\eta}...\lambda\epsilon\nu\theta\dot{\epsilon}\rho\sigma\kappa\epsilon\pi\tau\sigmas$. $\epsilon\dot{\omega}\lambda\pi\kappa_s$ —'with sanguine hope which casts aside reflection': so ch. 108, 25, $\epsilon\lambda\pi is$ $a\pi\epsilon\rhoi\sigma\kappa\epsilon\pi\tau\sigmas$.

5. καl ἐκ τούτων ἀν περιγενόμενος—'confident that he will come out successful from this danger too': so i. 141, ἐκ τῶν κινδύνων περιγενέσθαι: ii. 49, ἐκ τῶν μεγίστων περιγενέσθαι, 'to escape the worst consequences (of the plague)'.

6. ὅσα γὰρ ἐς ἀνάγκην—'whenever matters have reached a point of necessity, as they have now with us, they least of all admit of calculation, etc.': so i. 124, νομίσαντες ές ἀνάγκην ἀφῖχθαι, 'convinced that you have no choice left'.

8. $i\gamma\omega$ $\delta i \kappa \alpha \ell$ —'but I see that most things too are in our favour'. $\kappa \alpha i$ couples the two ideas, that not only is it a time for action rather than consideration, but also consideration is encouraging rather than the reverse. $\pi \rho \delta s \dot{\eta} \omega \nu$ —so ch. 29, 13, $\pi \rho \delta s \mu \omega \nu$, 'in favour of the enemy'.

9. $\vec{\eta}\nu$ $(\theta\ell\lambda\omega\mu\ell\nu\ \tau\epsilon\ \mu\epsilon\hat{\nu}\alpha\iota-\ell\theta\ell\lambda\omega\ seems$ especially used of the alacrity and determination of a soldier: so Brasidas says to his men, when on the point of gaining his final victory, v. 9, $\nu\rho\mu - \sigma_{\alpha\tau}\epsilon$ $i\nu_{\alpha\tau}\tau\sigma\hat{\nu}$ $\kappa\sigma\lambda\hat{\omega}_{\sigma}\pi\sigma\lambda\hat{\omega}_{\tau}\tau\hat{\nu}$ $\epsilon\dot{\ell}\theta\ell\lambda\epsilon\iota\nu\ \kappa al\ alaccertain a constraint <math>\kappa al\tau\alpha\hat{\nu}$ $\nu\kappa\sigma\thetaa$ and $\kappa al\tau\alpha\hat{\nu}$ $\tilde{\sigma}\rho\chi\sigma\nu\sigma\iota\ \pi\epsilon\ell\theta\epsilon\sigma\thetaa\iota$. The sentence is slightly irregular, $\tau\epsilon$ following $\ell\theta\ell\lambda\omega\mu\epsilon\nu$ as if to couple it to another finite verb, while κal introduces instead a second infinitive $\mu\dot{\eta}\ \kappa a\tau a\pi\rhoo\deltao\partial\nu a\iota$. See note on ch. 9, 7.

10. τὰ ὑπάρχοντα ἡμῖν κρείσσω καταπροδοῦναι.... 'to sacrifice the advantages we have already'. καταπροδοῦναι, 'to betray utterly' implies a disgraceful and cowardly abandonment: i. 86, μήτε τοὺς ξυμμάχους καταπροδίδωμεν. 11. $\tau \circ \tilde{v} \tau \epsilon \gamma \dot{\alpha} p \chi \omega \rho (\circ v - followed by \tau \circ \tau \epsilon \pi \lambda \eta \theta \circ s, line 18, the words from <math>\delta \mu \epsilon v \circ v \tau \omega v$ to $l \sigma \omega \eta \delta \eta$ being explanatory and parenthetical. Demosthenes points out that two things are in favour of the Athenians, the difficulty of effecting a lodgement ($\tau \delta \delta v \sigma \epsilon \mu \beta a \tau o v$), and the fact that only a few ships can attack them at once. $\tilde{\tau} \mu \epsilon \epsilon \sigma e v = \pi \rho \circ \tilde{\eta} \mu \omega v$.

12. ô μενόντων ήμῶν—ö is absent from nearly all manuscripts, but is considered necessary by Poppo. If it be omitted, and a stop placed at $vo\mu lj\omega$, we have an abrupt, though not impossible sentence. The same question, under the same conditions, arises on iii. 37, ἀρχομένους (ol)...ἀκροῶνται ὑμῶν. Classen in both cases follows the manuscripts and omits the relative.

13. ὑποχωρήσασι δέ—'though if we once give way we shall find that, hard though it be, it is easy enough if there is no one to bar the road'. ὑποχωρήσασι, sc. ἡμῦν, is an ethical dative (dativus incommodi); the aorist= 'when we have once yielded'. Case and tense are similarly used in ii. 62, ἁλλων δ' ὑπακούσασι καl τὰ προσκεκτημένα φιλεῦν ἐλασσοῦσθαι, 'when men have once submitted to others (know that) they soon find that what they have gained diminishes'. ἑῦπορον—'affording an easy path (to the enemy)': ch. 78, 12, εὕπορον διιέναι 'easy to traverse'.

15. μη ῥαδίως οὖσης—the adverb has better manuscript authority than ῥαδίας: cf. ch. 13, 6, ἀποβάσεως μάλιστα οὖσης: so vii. 4, ῥαον ἐφαίνετο ἡ ἐσκομιδή ἐσεσθαι. Göller's note, quoted by Arnold, gives several instances of adverbs with sum in Latin. βιάζητα.—passive; this verb is passive or deponent indifferent'y, except in two tenses ἐβιασάμην (dep.) and ἐβιάσθην (pass.).

17. $i\pi$ yap raîs vaust.—'for while on board their ships they are easiest to repel'= $\dot{\rho}\hat{\rho}\sigma\tau\dot{\nu}$ is or $\dot{\sigma}\mu\dot{\nu}\nu\sigma\partial a$ adrows; so Hom. II. xii. 54, ráppos pytôly περήσαι, 'easy to cross': ið. xxiv. 213, pytrepoi évancµer: Plat, Rep. 283 B λόγοs προσήκων βηθήναι.

κατ' όλίγον γὰρ μαχεῖται—' it will fight in small divisions'; distributive use of κατά, of a whole divided into parts:
 9, τὸ κατ' όλίγον καl μὴ ἀπάντας κινδυνεύειν: vi. 34, κατ' όλίγον προσπίπτουσα: Hdt. vii. 104, οι Λακεδαιμόνιοι κατ' ἕνα μαχεόμενοι, 'man by man'.

21. $\kappa a l où \kappa i v \gamma \hat{\eta}$ —'aud it is not an army on land on equal terms with superiority of force, but an army fighting from ships, which require the concurrence of many fortunate circumstances (for success)'. $i \kappa \tau o \hat{\nu} o \mu o lou—i.e.$ with equal advantages of ground, facility of approach, etc. $\pi o \lambda \lambda a$ is of course predicative in construction, lit. 'the $\kappa a \rho i a$ occurring must be many'. $\kappa a l \rho o s$ means 'seasonable, suitable': here $\tau a \kappa a \rho a$

are the favourable conditions of wind, sea-room, good landing and the like, which must be combined if the ships were to act with effect. Similarly Nicias says that in the expedition to Sicily 'there is need of good counsel, and still more of good fortune' (vi. 23). Some take $\kappa a l \mu a$ here to mean accidents, on the analogy of $\kappa a \iota \rho l a \pi \lambda \eta \gamma \eta$, which means a mortal wound, as striking a vital part ($\kappa a \iota \rho s$ or $\kappa a l \rho \iota o \nu$). The clause would then be rendered 'to which many accidents must needs occur': but this does not give so good a sense; and we should expect $\epsilon l \kappa \delta s$ or $a \nu a \gamma \kappa \eta$ rather than $\delta \epsilon i$. $\xi \nu \mu \beta \eta \nu a \cdots$ 'to happen together'.

24. ἀντιπάλους τῷ ἡμετέρῳ πλήθει—'I consider their difficulties a counterpoise to our (small) numbers': so v. 6, ὑπεριδύντα σφῶν τὸ πλῆθος, 'despising their (small) force: Hdt. i. 77, Κροΐσος μεμφθείς κατὰ τὸ πλῆθος τὸ ἐωυτοῦ στράτευμα, 'having misgivings about his army in respect of numbers'.

25. καl ἐπιστάμενους—'and knowing from practical experience what landing from ships against others is, viz. that it could never be effected by force, if etc.' ἀπόβασιε is the subject of the following βιάζοιτο, the construction being similar to ἐπίσταμαι Κῦρον ὅτι τέθνηκε, 'I know that Cyrus is dead'.

27. et τις ὑπομένοι—ὑπομένω is especially used of standing one's ground in danger or alarm: it takes an accusative of the thing or person: vi. 68, ὑπερφρονοῦσι μὲν ἡμῶς ὑπομενοῦσι δὲ οῦ, 'they despise us but will not endure our attack'.

The omission of any article seems intended to give a somewhat contemptuous emphasis to the words; as in the speech of Hermocrates describing the motives of the Athenians in invading Sicily, vi. 33, $\pi\rho\delta\phi\sigma\sigma\nu\mu\,\mu\ell\nu$ 'Erecration zoundary and Acort- $\nu\omega\nu$ karoukleet, 'ostensibly by way of alliance with Egesteans and settling of Leontines'. So Demosthenes, in Nicostr. 1255, speaking of the artifices by which a criminal tries to beg himself off, says $\hat{\eta}$ yàp àpàpavàs $\hat{\eta}$ invahapous karaarkeudrarres, dziúcova i liceiodai, $\hat{\eta}$ yàpas kal daropías kal tropás µητρl léyovres, 'they will try to excite pity by getting up tales about orphans and heiresses, and destitute mothers that they have to keep'. 29. κal aiτois—' now that your turn has come' (Jowett). pax(a—lon. pηχίη (pάσσω, pήγνυμ), 'the place where the waves break': Aesch. Prom. 713, aλιστόνοις πόδας χρίματουα paxiaus. In Hdt.=the flood tide breaking on the shore. mapd—with acc. 'along the line of'.

CHAPTER XI

3. ἐπικαταβάντες—'marching down to the sea to face the enemy': vii. 23, προς τὴν θάλασσαν ἐπικαταβάντων.

4. apartes—'having set out': with acc., i. 52, apartes ras rass, 'having got the fleet under way': more commonly intransitive, of land or sea forces; ii. 12, apas $\tau \hat{\varphi}$ $\sigma \tau p a \tau \hat{\varphi}$: i. 29, apartes $\hat{e} \hat{\beta} \delta \rho u \hat{\eta} \kappa \sigma \tau a$ vauch.

6. $\tau\epsilon\sigma\sigma$ apákovra kal $\tau\rho\iota\sigma t$ —if the reading is right, the Lacedaemonians did not make the attack with their full force, as the fleet which had come from Corcyra numbered 60 sail, ch. 8, 10. The article with ravot seems to show that they used all their available ships. Some may perhaps have been disabled. Poppo suggests $\delta \epsilon j \kappa \sigma ra$ kal $\tau \rho \sigma t$.

7. $i\pi i\pi \lambda \epsilon_{\dots}$ was on board'; applied to the commander or any persons not belonging to the regular crew: as in ii. 66 to a force of 1000 heavy-armed men. In ch. 12, 15 $i\pi \iota\pi \lambda \epsilon_{\omega}$ means 'to sail up, sail against': so i. 51, iii, 79 etc.

11. κατ' όλίγας ναῦς—'in detachments of a few ships'. κατά, distributive: ch. 10, 19. διελόμενοι—'apportioning the work': sometimes used as in the present passage without a case, v. 114, διελόμενοι κατά πόλεις : sometimes with an accusative, ii. 78, διελόμενοι κατά πόλεις τὸ χωρίον, 'apportioning (the operations against) the place to the several contingent cities'.

12. oix $\eta \nu \pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma \sigma \pi \rho \sigma \sigma \chi \epsilon i \nu - \cdot it$ was not possible to approach the shore with more'. The place where the Athenians were posted was of no great extent, and triremes rowing to the shore would require 50 feet or so to clear each other. $\pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma \sigma$ is the dat. of the force with which the attempt was made.

13. ἀναπαύοντες ἐν τῷ μέρει—'relieving (each other) in turn': Arnold quotes Xen. Hel. vi. 2. 29, κατὰ μέρος τοῦς καὐτας ἀνέπαυεν: so id. Cyr. vii. 1. 4, ἀναπαύευν στράτευμα, 'to halt an army': cf. vii. 79, ἀναπαυομέτων αὐτῶν, 'while they were 'resting': ii. 75, διχρημένοι κατ' ἀναπαύλας, 'in relieving parties'. 15. εί πως ώσάμενοι—'if by any means they might force their way etc.': so ch. 35, 13, ώσασθαι έπειρῶντο: also with acc., vi. 70, ώσαμένων τὸ κέρας. εί πως—so ch. 37, 5.

ib. πάντων...Βρασίδας—The first mention of Brasidas by Thucydides is in the year 431, when his promptitude and energy in saving a fortress gained him public thanks at Sparta (ii. 25). We next find him in 427, as 'adviser' ($\xi \psi_{\mu}\beta \omega \lambda_{05}$) to Alcidas, whom the Lacedaemonians were about to send with a fleet to Corcyra (iii. 69). This expedition effected little, not from the fault of Brasidas, who had not an equal voice in its direction : B_µarlöw παραινοῦντος, looψήφου δε ούκ δυτος (iii. 79).

18. « τη και δοκοίη—'if at any point it did seem possible to land'; opt. of frequency, as in ch. 4, 9, « του δέοι.

19. $\phi v \lambda a \sigma \sigma o \mu i v o v s \tau \hat{\omega} v \dots$ being careful of their ships': verbs which denote caring for take the genitive, so $\phi v \lambda d \sigma \sigma o \mu a t$ 'to beware, be on one's guard' here takes the genitive of the thing about which the care is shown. There is however no other instance of the gen, with $\phi v \lambda d \sigma \sigma c \sigma \theta a$. Krüger therefore takes $\nu c \hat{\omega} r a s partitive gen.$: while R. omits $\tau \hat{\omega} r$. Europhywor.

21. $\xi i \lambda \omega v \phi \epsilon i \delta o \mu \epsilon v o v s - \epsilon s paring planks'; speaking con$ $temptuously. So Mardonius called the defeat at Salamis <math>\xi i \lambda \omega v$ $d \gamma \omega v$, Hdt. viii. 100. 'It is not timber', he said, 'which will give us success, but horses and mcn'.

22. $\pi\epsilon\rho$ iideiv $\pi\epsilon\pi\sigma$ inµkévovs—'to allow the enemy to have made'. The perfect participle points to the fact that the work had been actually constructed, and Brasidas calls on his soldiers to avenge the wrong: so ii. 18, $\pi\epsilon\rho$ iideiv $\tau\dot{\eta}v \gamma\dot{\eta}v \tau\mu\eta\theta\epsilon \sigma av$, 'to allow the ravaging of the land to be unavenged': ii. 20, $\pi\epsilon\rho\mu$ óψεσθαι τὰ σφέτερα διαφθαρέντα, (Clyde, § 46). $\pi\epsilon\pi\sigma$ inµένουs perf. partep. middle, 'having made for themselves, or caused to be made': Dem. Androt. 596, τὰs τριήρειs où $\pi\epsilon\pi\sigma$ olησαι; of the officials responsible for ship-building.

ib. ràs operépas vaûs—see note on $\sigma\phi(\sigma\iota$, ch. 9, 21. 'Smash our ships', cries Brasidas, 'and force the landing'. The sense is of course 'force the entrance, even if we destroy our ships': cf. Shilleto on i. 20, δρασαντές τι καl κινδυνεῦσαι. καl τοῦς ξυμμάχους—sc. έκλευε.

26. ἐπιδοῦναι—'to give freely', especially used of voluntary offerings for purposes of state or war: so ἐπίδοσις. This sense is common in Demosthenes. In Thucydides ἐπιδίδωμι is elsewhere intransitive, meaning 'to advance, increase'. ἀκείλαντας —'running (their ships) aground': so ch. 26, 29, ἐπώκελλεν τὰ πλοῖα: in ii. 91 ἀκέλλω is intransitive, al δὲ (τῶν νεῶν) ἐς βράχεα ὥκειλαν, 'grounded on shoals'.

CHAPTER XII

1. καl ὁ μέν-to this corresponds ol δὲ άλλοι, line 10. τοιαὐτα ἐπέσπερχε--'thus urged on'; cognate accusative, carrying on the idea of the verb, like τρανματισθεls πολλά, line 5, 'with many wounds'. ἐπισπέρχω is a poetical word, used in Aesch. Sept. 680 and in Homer.

4. την ἀποβάθραν—'the gangway' for landing from the ship. The Greeks when preparing to attack the Persian fleet drawn up on the shore at Mycale provided ἀποβάθραs κal τὰ ἀλλα ὅσων έδεε (Hdt. iz. 98).

6 $\tau_1^{\lambda}\gamma \pi \alpha \rho \epsilon_{5(2)} \epsilon \sigma(\alpha \nu)$ —the part 'clear of the rowing', at the bows or stern. The word occurs vii. 34 and 40, in both of which passages it means the bows, which are described as shattered by the beaks of the enemy's triremes. $\pi \epsilon \rho \epsilon \rho \sigma \rho' -$ 'slipped off his arm'; see Arnold's note. Xenophon, when his troops were in a difficulty, dreamed that he was in fetters, but that 'they slipped off him of themselves', $\alpha i \tau \delta \mu \alpha \tau \alpha$ $\pi \epsilon \rho \epsilon \rho \nu \sigma \gamma^{2} \alpha \alpha$ (Anab. iv. 3. 8). So ch. 51, 1 and 133, 1, $\tau \epsilon i \chi \circ \sigma \pi \epsilon \rho \epsilon \epsilon i \lambda \sigma$: cf. Plat. Rep. 519 A, $\pi \epsilon \rho \epsilon \kappa \delta \tau \eta$ with acc. 'was clipped of its surroundings'.

13. περιέστη-'changed, came round': i. 78, ές τύχας περιέστασθαι, 'to change in respect of fortune': i. 120, ές τούναντίον περιέστη, 'changed to the opposite'.

καl ταύτης Λακωνικής—'and that too Laconian land':
 ch. 55, 17, καl τούτφ: like κal ταῦτα 'and that too', a very common phrase, usually with a participle.

18. $i\pi l \ \pi o \lambda \dot{v} \dots \pi poi \chi \epsilon v - i$ it formed at this time a great part of the glory of the Lacedaemonians that they were chiefly mainlandsmen and most excellent in military matters, and of the Athenians that they were seamen and most eminent with their ships'. $i\pi l \ \pi o \lambda \dot{v} - i$ (to) a great extent' (see note on ch. 3, 13), is the object of $i\pi o (\epsilon_i)$, the subject of which is formed by the following infinitive clauses. $iv \ \tau \tilde{\omega} \ \tau \sigma \epsilon - i.e.$ at the time of which Thuc. is writing: so ch. 35, 13, $iv \ \tau \tilde{\omega} \ \pi \rho iv$: i. 32, $iv \ \tau \tilde{\omega}$ $\tau \rho d \ \tau \sigma i$, 'in former time'. 20. $\theta a \lambda a \sigma \sigma (ois - se. \epsilon l \nu a.$ The word implies seafaring habits and skill. In i. 7 we read of pirates assailing $\delta \sigma oi$ $\delta \nu \tau \epsilon s$ où $\theta a \lambda \dot{a} \sigma \sigma oi$ $\kappa \dot{a} \tau \omega$ $\dot{\omega} \kappa o \nu \nu$, 'all who, though not seamen, had their dwelling on the coast': so Aristotle Eth. Nic. iii. 6 (9), 11, says, on the subject of bravery, $\dot{\epsilon} \nu \ \theta a \lambda \dot{a} \tau \tau p$ $\dot{a} \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\epsilon} s$ \dot{s} $\dot{a} \nu \delta \rho \epsilon \bar{\epsilon} os$, $o \dot{\nu} \chi$ $o \tau \omega \delta \dot{\epsilon}$ $\dot{\omega} s \ ol \ \theta a \lambda \dot{a} \tau \tau ioi$, i.e. he has not the confidence which sailors have from experience.

CHAPTER XIII

2. προσβολάς ποιησάμενοι—'after attacking': ποιείσθαι with substantives is very commonly used by Thucydides instead of the simple verb; as φυγήν ποιείσθαι='to fly'. The article is often added to give further definiteness: ch. 11, 13, τους έπιπλους έποιοῦντο, 'they made their attack': i. 6, τήν δίαιταν έποιήσαντο, 'they passed their lives': i. 8, μάλλον τήν κτήσιν τῶν χρημάτων ποιούμενοι, 'increasing their wealth', etc.

ib. $i\pi i\pi avvro$ —the pluperfect shows that the Lacedaemonians had already given up the attempt to force a landing when they sent to Asine. Arnold has a good note on a similar pluperfect, ch. 47, 3, $\pi a \rho \epsilon \delta \delta \delta v r o$. This construction occurs, he says, 'when the writer wishes to describe the first in time of two events, as not only preceding the other, but as preparing the way for it; so that in describing the second event he may place the prior event before the reader's mind at the same time, as that without which the notion of the second event would be incomplete'.

3. $i\pi l$ $\xi i\lambda a$ is $\mu \eta \chi a \nu a s$ —meaning especially scalingladders (Poppo). $\pi a \rho i \pi e \mu \psi a \nu$ —'sent along the coast'. Asine appears to have been round the promontory of Acritas (cape Gallo) on the shore of the Messenian bay. It is mentioned again as a Peloponnesian port, vi. 93.

5. $i\lambda\pi i \zeta_{0} v\tau \epsilon_{S} ... i\lambda\epsilon i \nu \mu \chi \alpha \nu \alpha i s$ —'expecting that though the wall over against the harbour was of some height, yet as landing was here most practicable they could take it by means of engines'. In construction $i\lambda\pi i \zeta_{0} v\tau \epsilon_{S}$ governs both $i\chi\epsilon \nu$ and $i\lambda\epsilon \nu$, though in sense the idea of hoping refers only to $i\lambda\epsilon i \nu$ and $i\lambda\epsilon \nu$. So far as the connecting particles are concerned this is one of the sentences in which the clause with $\mu \epsilon \nu$ is subordinate in sense to that with $\delta \epsilon$: see note on ch. 80, 18. There is however a further difficulty, that $\tau \epsilon i \chi c_{S}$ is the subject of $i \chi c_{I\nu}$ and the object of $i \lambda \epsilon i \nu$. Classen adopts the reading $i \chi c_{I\nu}$ in agreement with $\tau \epsilon i \chi c_{I\nu}$ given by the second a generative second a generative absolute. There are no doubt instances of similar construction, but the run of the sentence is decidedly against the proposed change in the present passage.

ib. $i\lambda\pi i \zeta_{0\nu\tau ts}$; $i\lambda \epsilon i \nu - i hoping to take': for the aorist infini$ $tive see note on ch. 9, 22. <math>\mu \alpha \lambda_{1\sigma\tau a} \circ \nu \sigma_{1} \sigma_{2}$ —so ch. 10, 15, $\mu \eta$ $j \alpha \delta \omega s \circ \delta \sigma_{1} s$. To kard rov $\lambda (\mu \epsilon \nu a \tau \epsilon i \chi_{0} s)$ —that part of the fortress which faced south, inside the entrance to the harbour.

 παραγίγνονται πεντήκοντα—'arrive, to the number of fifty'. τεσσαράκοντα has the best manuscript authority, but fifty is the number required, for we find that the arrival of twenty ships made the fleet amount to seventy, ch. 23, 18.
 Thirty-five ships had sailed to Zacynthus (ch. 5) and two had been despatched thither by Demosthenes. Naupactus had been an Athenian naval station since its capture thirty years back, i, 103.

13. $d\pi opi \sigma arres \delta\pi y$ καθορμίσωνται—' finding no place in which to come to anchor': so i. 107, roulsarres $d\pi opeir \delta\pi y$ $\delta\iota \lambda \theta \omega \sigma\iota$. καθορμίσωνται is the subj. of doubt or deliberation. It is not uncommon after a past tense, as well as after a present: see note on ch. 1, 13.

15. ηδλίσαντο...' took up their quarters'; the Greeks if possible landing from their ships not only at night, but even to take their meals: see ch. 26, 11; 30, 4.

16. $\vec{\eta}\nu \ \mu \dot{\nu}\nu... \dot{\ell}\pi\epsilon\sigma\pi\lambda\epsilon v\sigma o \dot{\mu}\epsilon vot --- 'in case the enemy should$ be willing to sail out against them into the open sea, but ifnot, intending themselves to sail in to attack them'. After $<math>\epsilon \dot{\nu}\rho v \chi \omega \rho t a \nu$ is implied 'ready to fight there'; the former of the two alternatives not being expressed: so iii. 3, $\vec{\eta}\nu \ \mu \dot{\epsilon}\nu \ \xi \nu \mu \beta \ddot{y} \ \dot{\eta}$ $\pi \epsilon \dot{\rho} a$, $\epsilon i \ \delta \dot{\epsilon} \ \mu \dot{\eta} \ \kappa.r. \lambda$, if the attempt succeed (well and good), but if not, etc.'

19. ovite à Suvoj $\theta\eta\sigma av$ —'nor as it happened had they carried out what they proposed, viz. to block the entrances'; see ch. 8, 34. The Lacedaemonians seem to have been disheartened by the failure of their sea attacks; nor indeed were they ever much at home in naval operation, or ready to encounter an equal Athenian force. Moreover Brasidas, the soul of their enterprise, was now probably disabled by his wounds.

21. ην έσπλέη τις-so el τις υπομένοι, ch. 10, 27.

CHAPTER XIV

1. γνόντες —' seeing this': so ch. 38, 1, ακούσαντες: i. 91, ακούοντες: γνούς, ib.: i. 95, αίσθόμενοι, etc. The sense in such cases is supplied from the context.

2. τὰς μὲν πλείους—to this is opposed al δὲ καl πληρούμεναι έτι, line 8; ταῖς δὲ λοιπαῖς, line 7, being 'the rest' of the ships that were μετέωροι.

3. $\mu\epsilon\tau\epsilon\omega\rhoovs$ $\eta\delta\eta$ —'already under way': $\mu\epsilon\tau\epsilon\omega\rhoos$, lit. 'raised from the ground', when applied to a ship means 'separated from the shore,' i.e. at sea.

5. $i\pi\iota\delta\iota\dot{\omega}\kappa\omega\tau\tau\epsilons$ —'pursuing them hotly, following them up closely': so ii. 79: iii. 33 etc. $\dot{\omega}s$ $\delta\iota\dot{\alpha}$ $\beta\rho\alpha\chi\dot{\epsilon}\sigmas$ —'as (they could) being but a short way off'. $\delta\iota\dot{\alpha}$ $\beta\rho\alpha\chi\dot{\epsilon}\sigmas$, 'separated by a short interval': so iii. 94, $\delta\iota\dot{\alpha}$ $\pi\sigma\lambda\lambda\omega\hat{\nu}$, 'far apart' etc. The short distance between the Athenians and their foes enabled them to follow up the Lacedaemonians with effect: so Krüger and Classen. Poppo and others however take $\dot{\omega}s$ $\delta\iota\dot{\alpha}$ $\beta\rho\alpha\chi\dot{\epsilon}\sigmas$ to mean 'as (well as they could) considering the short distance from the land'. The meaning would then be that the Lacedaemonians would have suffered still more had not the shore with the protection of its friendly troops been close at hand. (For such uses of $\dot{\omega}s$ see note on ch. 84, 10.) $\check{\epsilon}\tau\rho\omega\sigma\alpha\nu$ —'damaged': so Hdt. viii. 18, $\tau\epsilon\tau\rho\omega\mu\dot{\epsilon}\tau\alpha$, of ships. Thucydides also uses $\kappa\alpha\alpha\taua\tau\alphau\mu\alpha\tau\ell_{1}^{*}\omega$ of ships, vii. 41: viii. 10, 42.

8. $\epsilon \nu \tau \hat{\eta} \gamma \hat{\eta}$ καταπεφευγυίαις—'which had taken refuge on the land', i.e. by running themselves ashore. The present καταφεύγω 'to fly for refuge' would require ϵ_3 , implying motion to; while the perfect, implying arrival and rest in the place of refuge, may be constructed with ϵ_{ν} . So iii. 71, of $\epsilon \kappa \hat{\epsilon}$ καταπεφευγότες, 'those who were in a place of refuge there': Plat. Sophist. 260 c, ϵ_{ν} roύτω τῶ τόπω καταπεφευγέναι: cf. Rep. 519 c, ϵ^{ν} μακάρων νήσοιs ζώντες έτι ἀπωκίσθαι. Thus βέβηκα, 'I have gone' sometimes='I stand', e.g. Soph. Ant. 67, ol ϵ_{ν} τέλει $\beta \epsilon \beta \hat{\omega} \hat{\tau} \epsilon_3$, 'those who stand in authority'.

Other instances of perfect participles so constructed in Thucydides are vii. 71, ol $\epsilon \nu \tau \hat{y} \nu \eta \sigma \psi \delta \iota \alpha \beta \epsilon \beta \eta \kappa \delta \tau \epsilon s$: ib. 87, $\epsilon \nu \tau \hat{\psi} \tau o \iota o \upsilon \tau \psi \chi \omega \rho \iota \psi \epsilon \mu \pi \epsilon \pi \tau \omega \kappa \delta \tau \alpha s$.

It is possible of course in the present instance, to take $\dot{\epsilon}\nu$ $\tau \hat{\eta} \gamma \hat{\eta}$ with $\dot{\epsilon}\nu \epsilon \beta a \lambda \lambda \rho \nu$ only, or to understand $\dot{\epsilon}s \tau \dot{\eta}\nu \gamma \hat{\eta}\nu$ with $\kappa a \tau a \pi \epsilon \phi \epsilon \nu \gamma \nu (as, and the other passages quoted might be similarly explained: there is however no need for this expedient.$ ib. $i\nui\beta\alpha\lambda\lambda\nu\nu$ —'dashed into', often used of ships: so in the account of a sea fight in vii. 36 $i\mu\beta\partial\lambda\eta$ is used of the act of ramming or charging the enemy's ship, while $\ell\mu\beta\partial\lambda\sigma$ means the actual beak or ram. In the present chapter the different tenses give a vivid picture of the scene. First we have the instantaneous rush of the Athenians and flight of the enemy— " $m\rho\mu\eta\sigma\alpha\nu..., \kappa\alpharior\eta\sigma\alpha\nu..., ir \rho\omega\sigma\alpha\nu....$ Then the changes of a protracted struggle are represented by the imperfects, $i\nui\beta\alpha\lambda$ - $\lambda\nu\nu..., i\kappa i\pi\tau \sigma v ro, etc. which depict not only the progress of the$ fight, but the details which occurred again and again at different points (see note on ch. 3, 1). Finally the description $closes with the aorist <math>\delta u\kappa\rho(i\theta\eta\sigma\alpha\nu$.

ib. και πληρούμεναι έτι- 'still getting their crews on board'. έκόπτοντο-so viii. 105, έκοπτον: ib. 13, (νήες) κοπείσαι, 'shattered, crippled'.

 ἀναδούμενοι - 'taking in tow': so ii. 90, τῶν νεῶν τινἀs ἀναδούμενοι είλκον κετάs. The expression occurs commonly in accounts of naval actions; as does κενός, 'without the crew', opposed to αὐτοῦ; ἀνδράσι, 'men and all'.

 περιαλγοῦντες—'sore distressed': so vi. 54, περιαλγήσας: cf. περιδείς (iii. 28), περιδείδω, περιοργής (ch. 130, 19), περιαλγής, περιχαρής etc.

ib. $\delta \tau_{i} \pi \epsilon_{P}$ - 'because as a matter of fact': like $\delta \pi \epsilon_{P} \kappa al e_{\gamma} \epsilon_{P} \epsilon_{\sigma}$, 'which in fact came to pass': viii. 92, $\delta \omega \pi \epsilon_{P}$ ($\delta' \delta \pi \epsilon_{P}$), 'for which reason in truth': $\pi \epsilon_{P}$ thus used emphasizing the word with which it is connected. Classen says that the combination of $\delta \tau_{i}$ and $\pi \epsilon_{P}$ is not elsewhere found in Attic Greek.

ib. $a\dot{v}\tau\dot{a}v$ —from its prominent position, the gen. has an emphatic force, like that of the ethical dative = 'they saw they should lose their men': so i. 30, $\dot{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\dot{\epsilon}$ $\sigma\phi\dot{\omega}v$ of $\dot{\xi}\mu\mu\alpha\chi oi$ $\dot{\epsilon}\pi\dot{\sigma}\nu\sigma\nu\nu$: cf. Buttmann on Dem. Meid. 520, $\tau o\dot{v}s$ $\sigma \tau e\dot{\phi}\dot{\alpha}\nu os$ $\chi\rho\nu\sigma\sigma\dot{v}s$ $\dot{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\beta\sigma\dot{v}\lambda\epsilon\nu\sigma\epsilon$ $\deltaia\phi\theta\epsilon\hat{v}\rho al \mu\sigma\nu$. $d\pi\epsilon\lambda\alpha\mu\beta\dot{\alpha}\nu\sigma\nu\tau\sigma$ —lit. 'were being cut off', i.e. this was evidently a necessary concomitant of the success of the Athenians.

13. $\pi \alpha \rho \epsilon \beta o \eta \theta o \nu - this compound is especially used of the movements of troops along the shore: so i. 47: ii. 90 etc. Here it refers to the land army of the Lacedaemonians, which came to save the ships. In ii. 90 the Peloponnesians are described in nearly the same words as rushing into the sea with their arms and rescuing some triremes which the victorious Athenians were already dragging off.$

15. καl έν τούτω κεκωλύσθαι—'and in this struggle each man thought things at a standstill, wherever he himself was not on the spot'. This shows at once the spirit and alacrity of the Lacedaemonians, and their confusion and want of order. In similar words Thucydides describes the enthusiasm with which the Lacedaemonian allies were animated at the beginning of the war, ii. 8, $e\nu \tau o i \tau \varphi \tau \epsilon \kappa \epsilon \omega \lambda \hat{v} \sigma \theta a i e \delta \delta \kappa \epsilon i \epsilon \kappa \delta \sigma \tau \varphi \tau a \pi \rho \delta \gamma \mu a \tau a$ $<math>\phi \mu \dot{\eta}$ ris a $i \tau \hat{s}$ a $\pi \rho \delta \tau \alpha a$. $e\nu \tau o i \tau \varphi \phi - i$ meanwhile, while this was going on'. $\kappa \epsilon \kappa \omega \lambda \hat{v} \sigma \theta a$. $e\nu \tau o i \tau \varphi - i$ meanwhile, while this was subject, or perhaps impersonal. $\phi \mu \eta \tau \tau \nu \dots \pi \alpha \rho \eta \nu$ —lit. 'at what so ever struggle he himself also (besides any others) was not present'. In the general conflict the fight at each point and for each particular ship was itself an $\epsilon \rho \gamma \sigma \nu$ or 'action'.

17. $\theta \circ \rho \nu \beta \circ s$ —also in i. 49 and viii. 10 of the 'confusion and tumult' of a hotly contested sea fight.

18. dντηλλαγμένος—'a complete reversal of' lit. 'interchanged for', agreeing with $θ \delta \rho \nu \beta \sigma s$ and governing $\tau \rho \delta \pi \sigma \nu$: cf. iii. 82, $\tau \sigma \tilde{s} \epsilon t \delta c \sigma t \delta \iota \eta \lambda \lambda \alpha \gamma \mu \dot{\epsilon} \nu \alpha$, 'varying in their phenomena' (Arn.). Classen reads $\dot{a} \tau \tau \eta \lambda \lambda \alpha \gamma \mu \dot{\epsilon} \nu \alpha$, gen. abs. with $\tau \rho \dot{\sigma} \sigma \nu$, 'the fashion of the two sides being counterchanged'; on the ground that it is not easy to speak of $\theta \delta \rho \nu \beta \sigma s$ as being itself 'taken in exchange' for the combatants' usual way of fighting. $\pi \epsilon \rho \mathbf{l} \tau \mathbf{d} \mathbf{s} \nu a \tilde{\mathbf{s}}$ —either with $\tau \rho \dot{\sigma} \sigma \nu$, 'in respect of their ships', i.e. in naval contests generally, or with $\dot{\epsilon} \gamma \dot{\epsilon} \mu \epsilon \tau \sigma \delta \theta \delta \rho \nu \beta \sigma s$, for the possession of these particular ships.

19. of $\tau \in \gamma d\rho \dots o'$ $\tau \in - \circ$ on the one hand.....on the other' etc. $\tau \in -\tau \in$ comparing and contrasting the two sides.

20. $\epsilon \kappa \pi \lambda \eta \xi \omega s$ —' dismay'; here it means the excitement of the Lacedaemonians in their alarm at the prospect of losing their men.

ib. $\dot{\omega}s \ \epsilon \ l\pi \epsilon \ v$ -like $\dot{\omega}s \ \epsilon \ \pi \sigma s \ \epsilon \ l\pi \epsilon \ v$, used to modify a statement which is too general or extensive, especially with $\pi \dot{a}s$ or $oi\delta \dot{c} \ s$. Here it modifies $oib \ \dot{c} \ \lambda \dot{c}$, 'nothing else, so to put it': cf. vi. 30, $\dot{o} \ \lambda \dot{c} \ \delta \ \lambda \dot{c} \ \lambda \dot{c$

ib. Łvauµáχουν...Łæśoµáχουν — the Lacedaemonian soldiers were rushing into the water, grappling the ships, and fighting against the crews of vessels which were actually afloat, while the Athenian sailors were pushing their advantage and assailing their enemies hand to hand on the shore. 22. $\tau_{\Pi}^{*} \pi a \rho o \acute{o} \sigma_{\Pi} \tau \acute{o} \chi_{\Pi} \acute{e} \pi \epsilon \acute{e} \epsilon \lambda \theta \acute{e} \iota v$ —' to prosecute their present good fortune': so Krüger, Poppo, etc. When however this verb governs the dat. it is used of a person, meaning to proceed against, e.g. iii. 38, $\tau \breve{a}$ $\delta \rho d\sigma \sigma r \iota$ $\acute{e} \pi \epsilon \acute{e} \rho c r a$, 'retaliates on the wrongdoer'. When it means to go through with a thing, it either takes the accus., as v. 100, $\pi \breve{a} \iota \acute{e} \pi \epsilon \acute{e} \epsilon \lambda \theta \acute{e} \iota$, or more commonly is used without governing a case, as i. 62, $\acute{e} \pi \epsilon \acute{e} \hbar \lambda \theta \acute{e} \iota$, 'to carry pushed the pursuit'. Classen therefore seems right in taking $-\tilde{\eta} \pi a \rho o \acute{o} \sigma \tau \acute{v} \chi_{\Pi}$ separately, and rendering $\acute{e} \pi \epsilon \acute{e} \hbar \partial \acute{e} \iota$, 'to carry out (their success), follow up (their victory)'. The clause thus means 'wishing, with their present fortune, to pursue their advantage as far as possible': v. 14, 1 confirms this view.

23. $\pi \circ \lambda i \nu \tau \epsilon$ 'so after etc.', summing up and concluding the account of the battle.

31. καὶ ἀπὸ πάντων... 'who were now present in full force': κal goes with πάντων, i.e. besides those from Sparta and its neighbourhood; see ch. 8, 3. κατὰ χώραν...'in their place', i.e. making no further movement: very common literally and metaphorically: Dem. Tim. 701, κατὰ χώραν δὲ μένειν τοὺs ἄλλους (νόμους) ἐῶν. ἐπὶ τῷ Πύλω...'οver against, watching': v. 7, ἐπὶ τῷ θράκῃ, 'commanding Thrace'.

CHAPTER XV

2. $\xi \delta_0 \xi v \dots \tau d \tau \ell \lambda \eta \kappa \alpha \tau \alpha \beta \acute{\alpha} v \tau \alpha s - it was determined that$ $the authorities should go down etc.' <math>\tau \dot{\alpha} \tau \ell \lambda \eta$, being equivalent to $\tau o \dot{v} \dot{v} \tau \ell \lambda \epsilon$, has the masculine plural $\kappa \alpha \tau \alpha \beta \acute{\alpha} \tau \tau \alpha s$: we have also the neuter construction, i. 58, $\tau \dot{\alpha} \tau \ell \lambda \eta \dot{\nu} a \ell \kappa \tau \sigma \delta s$: and a neuter participle in combination with a plural verb, ch. 88, 7, $\tau \dot{\alpha} \tau \ell \lambda \eta \dot{\omega} \delta c \alpha \tau \tau \alpha a \dot{\sigma} \tau \dot{\nu} \dot{\epsilon} \xi \ell \pi \epsilon \mu \psi \alpha s$. $d\rho \chi \dot{\eta}$ is similarly used for 'a proper authority' ($\dot{\eta} \dot{\alpha} \rho \chi \dot{\eta} = 0$ or $\dot{\delta} \ell \nu \tau \eta \dot{\alpha} \rho \chi \eta s$: so v. 47, al $\ell \nu \delta \eta \mu o \dot{\alpha} \rho \chi a l$; the (several) home authorities': cf. ch. 53, 10. By a similar usage we say the government, the church, the board, the great powers, etc. from a natural tendency to regard the office more than its incumbent in speaking of things which have an official rather than a personal bearing.

ib. $\omega_s i \pi l$ —'on the strength of, in circumstances of'.

4. βουλεύειν—'to deliberate', so often: in aor. 'to resolve'. In iii, 42, however, $\tau \hat{\varphi} \pi \lambda \hat{\epsilon} \hat{\sigma} \tau a \hat{\varepsilon} \hat{\beta} o u \lambda \hat{\epsilon} \hat{\sigma} \tau \tau$ means 'to him who advises best'. According to the general use of such words the active would mean to 'give counsel', the middle to 'take counsel', or deliberate; but Thuc, uses several verbs in the active in senses for which other writers employ the middle. $\pi \alpha \rho \alpha \chi \rho \eta \mu \alpha$ -'at once, seeing (the actual state of things)': $\pi \rho \delta s \tau \delta \chi \rho \eta \mu \alpha$ is also read, but on worse authority.

7. $\tau \tau \pi \alpha \theta \epsilon \tilde{\nu} - \dot{\nu}$ that anything should befall them', i.e. that they should die: cf. ch. 38, 11. Many manuscripts read $\dot{\eta}$ before $\kappa \rho \alpha \tau \eta \theta \eta \nu \alpha \alpha$, giving the sense 'that they should run the risk either of death from famine or in battle, or of being taken prisoners'.

10. τά περι Πύλον—'as concerns Pylos': an adverbial expression, cf. note on τά πρός τό πέλαγος, ch. 23, 15.

CHAPTER XVI

2. $\tau \delta v \lambda \delta \gamma ov$ —'the proposition': v. 37, $\delta \epsilon \chi o \mu \ell v ovs \tau \delta v \lambda \delta \gamma ov$. The plural 'propositions, terms' in general, is more commonly used. $\epsilon \gamma (\gamma v o v \tau o$ —'was made'; impf. because the writer now gives the terms which the contracting parties went on to arrange, a matter taking some little time; on the conclusion of which he uses the aor. $\epsilon \gamma \ell v o v \tau o$, line 25.

3. $\tau \sigma \iota \alpha (\delta \epsilon - \cdot \circ n)$ the following terms'. The conditions are given in the acc. and infin. construction, 'The Lacedaemonians to give up, etc.', 'it is agreed' being understood. The same construction is followed in citing laws, decrees of the assembly, etc.

5. $\mu \alpha \kappa \rho \alpha \ell$ —i.e. ships of war, opp. to $\nu \alpha \hat{v}_{S} \sigma \tau \rho \sigma \gamma \gamma \hat{v} \lambda \eta$ (ii. 97), 'a round ship', i.e. with a capacious hull, fit for conveying cargo. $\hat{o} \lambda \kappa \hat{a}_{S}$ and $\pi \lambda \hat{o} \hat{o} \nu$ are also terms applied to merchant ships.

6. ὅπλα μὴ ἐπιφέρειν—with dat.: ch. 78, 26, 'Αθηναίοις ὅπλα ἐπιφέρειν: v. 18, ἐπ' Άθηναίους.

9. $\tau \alpha \kappa \tau \delta \nu - \cdot fixed in quantity': ch. 65, 6, <math>\tau \alpha \kappa \tau \delta \nu \, d\rho \gamma \psi \rho \iota \sigma \nu$, 'a fixed sum'. $\mu \mu \alpha \gamma \mu \ell \sigma \nu - \cdot ' k neaded', i.e. prepared and probably ready baked. 'The amount specified is a day's allowance. <math>\chi \sigma \iota \nu \xi = \sqrt{3} \mu \ell \delta (\mu \nu \sigma s)$, about a quart; $\kappa \sigma \tau \delta \lambda \eta$, about half a pint. Two $\chi \sigma \iota \nu \kappa e s$ of meal and one $\kappa \sigma \tau \delta \lambda \eta$ of wine was the portion sent to the houses of the Spartan kings when they did not dine at the public table (Hdt. vi. 57): one $\chi \sigma \delta \iota \nu \xi$ of meal a day, according to commentators, was considered a slave's proper allowance. $\kappa \rho \ell \alpha s - \cdot ' meat'$; no particular quantity is specified. It may be conjectured that some words giving the measure have been omitted, or that $\kappa \rho \ell \alpha s$ means a portion of meat of definite size. Krüger quotes Xen. Cyr. ii. 2. 2, $\ell \gamma \ell \epsilon \nu \epsilon \ell \kappa \sigma \tau \nu$, $\ell \mu \omega r \rho \ell \alpha \kappa \rho \epsilon \alpha \cdot r$.

15. δσα μη ἀποβαίνοντας—' provided only they do not land', lit. 'in all (that they can do) not landing': i. 111, της γης έκράτουν δσα μη προώντες πολύ έκ τῶν δπλων, 'they were masters of the country except in so much as they could not advance any great distance from their headquarters'.

17. $\delta \tau_1 \delta' \delta \nu$ —' and whatsoever of these provisions (either of) the two contracting parties shall transgress in what respect soever, the truce be then and there at an end'. $\delta \tau_1$ and $\delta \tau_1 \circ \delta \nu_2$ are both acc. after $\pi a \rho a \beta a i w \sigma_0 r$, r a l not meaning 'and' but emphasizing $\delta \tau_1 \circ \delta \nu_2$. Either the construction is a species of apposition, or $\delta \tau_1 \circ \delta \nu_2$ is a determinant accusative denoting the part of the object to which the action of the verb extends (Madvig, § 31). Similarly we have in 123, 5, $\delta \sigma \tau v \hat{a} \pi a \rho a \beta a l vev \tau a \delta \sigma \pi o v \delta \alpha'$, 'to transgress the truce in certain particulars'.

The construction of $\tau \delta \tau \epsilon \lambda \epsilon \lambda \delta \sigma \theta a is slightly irregular, as if$ $<math>\eta \nu \tau_1$ had gone before instead of $\delta \tau t \delta \nu$. Such irregularities with $\delta \sigma \tau is$ are common: cf. Plat. Euthyph. 3 p, where we have $\delta \nu$ $\tau tra o d \omega \tau a t followed by <math>\delta^* \delta^* \delta \omega v d \omega \tau a t$ with no other change of constr.: also notes on Soph. Trach. 906, $\kappa \lambda a \tilde{\epsilon} \delta^* \delta p \gamma d \tau \omega \tau \delta \tau o \psi$ $\omega v \sigma \epsilon \tilde{\epsilon} \nu$. $\lambda \epsilon \lambda \delta \sigma \theta a$ gives the sense that on any violation of the terms the truce is to be considered as thereby terminated, the perfect inf. denoting the complete accomplishment of a thing, and the state produced by such complete accomplishment: ch. 46, 17, $\omega \sigma \tau \epsilon \tilde{\pi} a \sigma a \iota \lambda \epsilon \lambda \delta \sigma \theta a \tau \sigma \sigma \sigma \delta d s$: so $\epsilon \sigma \pi \epsilon i \sigma \theta a t$, line 19, 'the truce be (now considered as) concluded'. $\epsilon \sigma \pi \epsilon \tilde{\epsilon} \sigma \delta \mu a$)

19. $\mu \xi \chi \rho \iota \circ \tilde{\upsilon}$ —'until they shall have returned'. The subj. without $\tilde{\omega}^{\mu}$ after relatives and conjunctions of time, denoting present or future contingency, is usually regarded as a poetical construction. It is however far from uncommon in Thucydides : iii. 28, $\mu \xi \chi \rho \iota \circ \tilde{\upsilon} \tau \iota \delta \delta \xi \eta$, 'till something shall have been determined': i. 13, $\mu \xi \chi \rho \iota (\operatorname{conj.}) \pi \lambda \delta \hat{\upsilon} s \gamma \ell \epsilon \eta \tau a \iota$, 'till the ship shall have put to sea', etc.

CHAPTER XVII

Speech of the Lacolaemonian envoys before the public assembly on their arrival at Athens. It is marked by a tone of somewhat arrogant superiority. They invite the Athenians to secure peace by restoring the captives, and enlarge upon the uncertainty of fortune and the folly of trusting to it. They do not however suggest any concessions on their own part, but rather imply that an end of the war is a boon which the Athenians would gladly secure on any terms. 2. $\pi\rho\dot{a}_{5}^{2}$ ovras \ddot{o} τ ...olorew—'to effect such an arrangement as may at the same time prove acceptable to you from the advantages which it offers, and may be most conducive to our honour in the circumstances of our present misfortune'. The construction after \ddot{o} τ_{i} \ddot{a}_{i} is slightly varied, $\dot{v}\mu\hat{v}$ τc $\dot{a}\phi\ell\lambda\mu\nu\nu$ $\delta\nu$ $\pi\epsilon\ell\theta\omega\mu\epsilon\nu$ corresponding to κat $\dot{\eta}\mu\hat{v}\nu$ $\mu\ell\lambda\lambda\eta$ of $\sigma\epsilon\nu$. This modification is adapted to the sense of the passage. The first clause relates to the Athenians, who require to be convinced that the terms were good for them; the second concerns Lacedaemonian interests, which need not be pressed upon the audience. As the sentence stands \ddot{o} τ_{i} is acc. after $\pi\epsilon\ell\theta\omega\mu\epsilon\nu$, while it supplies the nom, to $\mu\ell\lambda\lambda\eta$: so ii. 84, $\pi\nu\epsilon\theta\mu a$ $\ddot{o}\pi\epsilon\rho$ $\dot{a}\mu\mu\dot{e}\nu\omega\nu$ $\tau\epsilon$ $\pi\epsilon\rhoi\epsilon\pi\lambda\epsilon i \kappa al \epsilon i \omega\theta\epsilon i \gamma i \gamma \nu\epsilon\sigma\thetaai$, 'which he was waiting for and (which) usually sprang up': cf. Madv. § 104; and see note on ch. 67, 6.

3. $\delta \tau i \delta \nu$.. $\pi \epsilon i \theta \omega \mu \epsilon \nu - i$ whatsoever we may persuade you of ': ch. 22, 4, $\delta \tau i \delta \nu \pi \epsilon i \theta \omega \sigma i$. $i \mu i \nu \tau \epsilon i \phi \phi \lambda \mu \rho \nu \delta \nu \tau \delta a v \tau \delta forms the predicate to <math>\delta \tau i$, '(as) being at the same time ($\tau \delta a \dot{v} \tau \delta$) advantageous to you'. For $\tau \delta a \dot{v} \tau \delta c$. iii. 47, $\tau \delta K \lambda \epsilon \omega \nu \sigma s \tau \delta a \dot{v} \tau \delta \delta k a i \omega \tau \kappa a \xi i \mu \phi \rho \rho \nu$, 'Cleon's coincidence of justice and interest': so Cic. de Off. i. 19, 63, viros fortes et magnanimos, ecosdem bonos et simplices esse volumus, 'at the same time'.

4. $i_S \tau_\eta \nu \xi \nu \mu \phi o \rho \dot{\alpha} \nu_{--}$ in respect of, in relation to'. $\dot{\omega}_S i_K \tau \dot{\omega} \nu \pi \alpha \rho \dot{\delta} \tau \tau \omega \nu$, 'as far as present circumstances will admit': vi. 70, $\dot{\omega}_S i_K \tau \sigma \dot{\omega} \tau \alpha \rho \dot{\delta} \tau \tau \omega \nu \sigma \sigma \nu \tau \pi a \dot{\xi} \dot{\alpha} \mu \nu \sigma \alpha$, 'forming their ranks as well as they could': ii. 3, $\dot{\omega}_S i_K \tau \dot{\omega} \nu \dot{\delta} \tau \omega \nu$. In such expressions ϵ_K gives the origin from which the result spoken of arises, and in accordance with which it is characterised. $\kappa \dot{\delta} \sigma \mu \sigma \nu_{--}$ honour, credit': i. 5, $\kappa \delta \sigma \mu \sigma \sigma_{-}$ such as $\tau \sigma \nu \tau \sigma_{-}$ by the could be the second and the could be the second and the could be a such as the could be a

6. $\mu\alpha\kappa\rho\sigma\tau\dot{\epsilon}\rho\sigma\nus$ —pred., with $\mu\eta\kappa\nu\nu\sigma\dot{\rho}\mu\epsilon\nu$, 'prolong to greater length (than is our wont)'. où negatives $\pi\alpha\rho d \tau \partial \epsilon i\omega\theta \delta s$ only, and does not affect the rest of the sentence; the sense of which is, 'our speaking at length will not be contrary to our custom'. Grote (vol. iv, ch. 52) misunderstands the sentence, saying that the envoys 'prefaced their address with some apologies for the brevity of speech which belonged to their country', whereas in fact they give reasons for departing from it. The laconic style of speech was proverbial. It was in accordance with the character of reserved and self-contained strength which the Spartans were careful to keep up.

7. $d\lambda\lambda^*$ $\ell\pi\iota\chi\omega\rho\iota\sigma\nu$ $\delta\nu$ —lit. 'but (we shall do so) it being our country's custom etc.', i.e. we shall be carrying out our principles by speaking at length on a due occasion. $\ell\pi\iota\chi\omega\rho\iota\sigma\nu$ $\delta\nu$ stands in opposition to $\pi\sigma\rho\lambda$ $r\partial$ $\ell\omega\theta\deltas$. The construction is accus. abs., like $\delta\xi\delta\nu$, 'it being lawful', $\epsilon\delta\rho\eta\mu\delta\nu\sigma\sigma$ 'it having been ordered', etc.; which construction is admissible in impersonal expressions with $\delta\nu$ and an adjective: so vii. 44, $d\delta\delta\nu\sigma\sigma$ - $r\sigma$, 'it being impossible'.

ib. οῦ ἀρκῶσι-subj. without ẩr : see note on ch. 16, 19.

8. $\pi \lambda \epsilon (\sigma \sigma \delta \epsilon)$ with this is probably to be supplied $\lambda \delta \gamma \sigma \iota s \chi \rho \tilde{\eta} \sigma \delta u$, 'but (to employ) more (words)'; the relative clause with $\delta r \phi \tilde{\omega}$ lasting to the end of the sentence, and $\pi \rho \delta \sigma \sigma \epsilon \iota r$ being dependent on karbs, 'whenever it is a proper time to effect our object etc.' It is however possible to make the relative clause consist simply of $\delta r \phi \tilde{\omega} r \kappa a \iota \rho \delta s \tilde{\eta}$, in which case $\pi \lambda \epsilon l \sigma \sigma \epsilon$ agrees with $\lambda \delta \gamma \sigma \iota s$ in line 10, and $\pi \rho d \sigma \sigma \epsilon \iota r$, like $\chi \rho \tilde{\eta} \sigma \delta a \iota$ in line 8, depends on $\delta \pi \iota \chi \omega \rho \iota \sigma \delta r$.

 27, 23, καιρόν παριέντας: iii. 13, καιρός δέ ώς ούπω πρότερον.

 ib. προύργου — 'of importance', contracted for πρό ξργου.
 A declinable comparative form is found iii. 109, προύργια/reρου ἐποιήσαντο, 'they considered of more importance'.

10. $\lambda \delta \gamma \alpha \iota \varsigma - \iota$ by the use of words', may be governed either by $\delta \iota \delta d\sigma \kappa \sigma r \pi s$ or by $\pi \rho d\sigma \sigma \iota v$. The run of the words seems slightly in favour of connecting it with $\pi \rho d\sigma \sigma \iota v$, but it may perhaps be affected by both: see note on ch. 40, 13.

ib. $\lambda \Delta \beta \epsilon \tau \epsilon \delta \epsilon^{-\epsilon}$ and listen to them, not in a hostile spirit, but etc.' $\mu \eta$ deprecates $\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu \omega_{\sigma}$, and must not be taken with $\lambda d\beta \epsilon \tau \epsilon$, the aor. imperat. not being used in prohibition, for which $\mu \eta \lambda d\beta \eta \tau \epsilon$ would be required.

 ὑπόμνησιν—'a reminder', with gen.: i. 72, ὑπόμνησιν ῶν ÿδεσαν. πρόξ είδότας—' to men who know (what good counsel is)': Pericles says he will not μακρηγορείν ἐν εἰδόσιν, ii. 36: so ch. 59, 7, τί ἅν τις ἐν εἰδόσι μακρηγοροίη; ν. 89, ἐπισταμένους πρός εἰδότας: Dem. Androt. 613, ὡς εἰδόσι μὲν Ισως, ὁμῶς δὲ ἐρῶ.

14. $\kappa \alpha \lambda \hat{\omega}_{S} \theta \delta \sigma \theta \alpha t \longrightarrow to make a good use of', lit. 'to order, arrange, dispose for yourselves'; used especially of good or bad fortune, and its resulting circumstances, sometimes with an idea of securing or investing: cf. ch. 18, 14: i. 25, <math>\delta r \ d\pi \delta \rho \omega e \ell \chi \sigma v \sigma \ d\delta \sigma \theta \alpha t \ \sigma \ a \rho \delta \sigma,$ 'they were at a loss how to settle the question' (see Classen's full note).

ib. $\xi \chi our...\pi por \lambda a \beta o \hat{v} \sigma \dots a greeing with <math>i \mu \hat{\nu} \nu$: note the difference of tense in these participles. $\mu \dot{\eta} \pi a \theta \hat{\epsilon} \nu \dots a f ter \xi \xi \sigma \tau_i$, = 'to avoid', lit. 'not to have that happen to you'; in sense but little different from 'not to do', but less harsh and direct. A Greek speaker avoids suggesting that his audience will do what is injudicious or foolish. He warns them lest arerror should bejall them. ὅπερ-5c. πάσχουσι: cf. vii. 61, οὐδὲ πάσχειν ὅπερ οἱ ἀπειρότατοι τῶν ἀνθρώπων.

έπ' ἀμφότερα—i.e. for the better or the worse: so i.
 83: ii. 11: Dem. Lept. 471, μετέπιπτε τὰ πράγματα ἐπ' ἀμφότερα.

ib. δίκαιοί είσι— 'have just reason to be most distrustful': so Hdt. ix. 60, δίκαιοί έστε lέναι, 'you are bound in justice to come': see the note on ch. 10, 17, βậστοί είσιν ἀμώνεσθαι. ὅπιστος, 'distrustful', is used with the dative, Plat. Apol. 26 E, ἅπιστος εί σαυτῷ: Dem. Fals. Leg. 349, ἀπιστος πρὸς Φίλιπτον.

CHAPTER XVIII

1. γνῶτε δέ—' and see (the truth of this)'. ἀπιδόντες lit. 'looking away at': ἀπό compounded with βλέπω etc. is especially used of looking at a standard or authority, e.g. of a painter looking at his model. οἶτινες—'we who', with ἡμετέραs.

4. πρότερον αὐτοὶ κυριώτεροι—' though we formerly thought ourselves more able to grant that for which we are now come, making our request to you': cf. ch. 20, 12, ὑμᾶs alrιωτέρουs ἡγήσονται: ib. 15, ἦs νῦν ὑμαῖs τὸ πλέον κόριοἱ ἐστε, 'which now rests with you in the greater measure'. νομίζον-res is imperfect in sense, 'we had been thinking' (till this happened).

6. οὐτε Συνάμεως ἐνδεία...οῦτε ὑβρίσαντες—' neither from deficiency of strength,...nor because we became arrogant'. ἐπάθομεν aὐτό—'it befell us', i.e. that we should be thus obliged to sue for terms. aὐτό and aὐτά are not uncommonly used in this way, to denote the circumstances, or state of things spoken of in the context: e.g. i. 69, οὐχ ὁ δουλωσάμενος ἀλλ ὁ δυ-νάμενος μὲν παῦσαι περιοῶν δὲ ἀληθέστερον aὐτὸ δρậ, i.e. is the true cause of the allies being enslaved. μείζονος—sc. δυνάμεως. προσγενομένης—'being added', opposed to ἐνδεία, 'falling short'.

8. $\dot{\alpha}\pi\dot{\sigma}\delta\dot{\epsilon}\tau\omega\nu$ $\dot{\alpha}\dot{\epsilon}\dot{\epsilon}\dot{\nu}\pi\alpha\rho\chi\dot{\epsilon}\nu\tau\omega\nu$ —sc. $\dot{\epsilon}\pi\dot{\alpha}\theta\rho\mu\epsilon\nu$ $a\dot{\nu}\tau\dot{\epsilon}$, 'going upon, starting from our regular resources': ii. 91, $\dot{\alpha}\pi\dot{\epsilon}\dot{\omega}\tau\tau\pi\dot{\epsilon}$. $\lambda\sigma\nu$ $\pi\alpha\rho\alpha\sigma\kappa\epsilon\nu\eta$. $\gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta$ $\sigma\phi\alpha\lambda\dot{\epsilon}\nu\tau\epsilons$ —'failing in our calculations'. $\gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta$, denoting generally 'what one has in one's mind', is used in various shades of meaning implying resolution, judgment, opinion, etc. Here it means the calculation which the Spartans had formed that they could easily recover Pylos; cf. ch. 5. For the dat. $\gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta$ Poppo compares vi. 73, $\gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta$ $\dot{\alpha}\mu\alpha\rho\tau\epsilon\dot{\nu}\nu$: on the other hand we have $\sigma\phi\alpha\lambda\epsilon\dot{\epsilon}\sigma\tau$ $\gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta$ s, ch. 28, 30: so $\sigma\phi\alpha\lambda\dot{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\epsilon$ $\delta\dot{\epsilon}\eta$ s, ch. 85, 6. Similarly we say disappointed in, or disappointed of, our expectations.

9. ἐν μ̃-·· in which matter', i.e. in the liability to fail. πâσι...ὑπάρχει-· ' the same (chance) awaits all alike'.

11. $\pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \omega \varsigma \tau \epsilon \kappa a l \tau \hat{\omega} v \pi \rho \sigma \sigma \gamma \epsilon \gamma \epsilon v \eta \mu \ell v \omega v -- \circ f y our city and$ its acquisitions', that is of the dominion which Athens hadgained during late years, perhaps referring also to the recent $success at Pylos. The omission of the article with <math>\pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \omega s$ is noticeable, especially with $\tau \eta \nu$ preceding. We have, i. 10, $\xi \nu \nu \sigma i \kappa \sigma \theta \epsilon \delta \sigma s$; ii. 72, $\pi \delta \lambda \nu \kappa \kappa a l \sigma k \epsilon s$, in each instance of a definite city. The explanation seems to be that words like $\pi \delta \lambda \epsilon s$ acquire in such cases a definiteness like that of a proper name, and therefore do not need the article to define them further. So we often have $\pi a \delta \delta \epsilon \kappa s a \gamma u \nu a \delta \epsilon \epsilon s$ without an article, as in i. 89: so iii. 50, $M u \tau \lambda \eta \nu a \delta \epsilon \kappa s a \gamma u \nu a \delta \epsilon \delta \lambda \sigma \kappa s a \nu a \delta \tau s \sigma s \sigma \delta \epsilon \sigma \kappa s a \tau \delta \sigma \sigma \tau \sigma \sigma \gamma \epsilon \gamma u \tau u \kappa \sigma k \epsilon to gether make$ up the idea ' of your present empire'.

 τό τῆς τύχης-'what belongs 'o fortune': also found vii. 61; ch. 55, 19, τὰ τῆς τύχης: ii. 60, τὰ τῆς ὀργῆς.

13. $\sigma\omega\phi\rho\delta\nu\omega\nu\delta\ldots\delta\nu\nu\epsilon = ``they are prudent men who'.$ This construction is probably a confusion between $\sigma\dot{\omega}\rho\rho\sigma\epsilon s$ $a\nu\delta\rho\epsilons \epsilon tolv o'trues \ell\thetaerro and <math>\sigma\omega\phi\rho\delta\nu\omega\nu\delta\epsilon' d\nu\delta\rho\omega'\epsilon\sigma t a defada,$ `it is the part of prudent men to secure': so iii. 45, $\pi\circ\lambda\lambda\eta$ s $\epsilon\dot{v}\eta\theta\epsilon a$, $\delta\sigma\tau s$ o'tera, 'it shows great simplicity when a man thinks': vi. 14, $\tau\delta$ $\kappa\lambda\delta\omegas$ $\check{a}\rho\check{a}u$, $\tau\delta\nu\sigma\tau$, 'this is a proper discharge of official duty, when': Xen. Anab. ii. 5. 21, $\dot{a}\pi\delta\rho\omega\nu\epsilon'\sigma\tau\ldots$, o'trues. The genitive in these phrases gives the characteristic which belongs to the persons spoken of (Madvig, § 54). This explanation of the passage, for which there seems fully sufficient support, is adopted by the majority of editors; Classen however considers that the gen. is partitive, and that $\sigma\sigma\tau c$ elsu is understood; the sense would thus be. 'they are of the class of prudent men who, etc.'

ib. $\tau \dot{a}\gamma \alpha \theta \dot{a} \dots \ell \theta \epsilon \nu \tau o$ —aor. denoting what is wont to happen (having happened in other supposed instances), to be translated by our present (Madvig, § 111, R. 3). It is a question whether $\ell \theta \epsilon \nu \tau o$ is to be taken in close connexion with $\dot{a}\sigma \phi a \lambda \hat{o}s$ or $\dot{\epsilon}s \dot{a}\mu\phi(\beta o\lambda o\nu)$. In the former case, $\dot{a}\sigma\phi a \lambda \hat{o}s \ \ell \theta \epsilon \nu \tau o$ is a phrase like $\kappa a \lambda \hat{o}s \ \theta \ell \sigma \theta a$, ch. 17, 14, and means 'to order safely', i.e. to secure, by making good terms; while $\dot{\epsilon}s \ a\mu\phi(\beta o\lambda o\nu)$ is 'in reference to, with a view to (a time of) doubt'. In the latter case, $\dot{\epsilon}s \ a\mu\phi(\beta o\lambda o\nu) \ \theta \epsilon \sigma \theta a$ means 'to reckon as doubtful', $\tau \iota \theta \epsilon \tau a$ is meaning 'to put down to, count among', while the middle gives the sense 'in their own case': so Hdt. iii. 3, $\dot{\epsilon}\nu$ $\tau \iota \mu \eta \tau \ell \theta \epsilon \tau a$, 'holds in honour'. The clause then means 'who safely reckon their gains as doubtful', i.e. know they may lose them again, and so run no needless risks.

14. $\kappa a l... \pi \rho o \sigma \phi \not \epsilon \rho o v \tau o - by most editors taken as a parenthesis, 'now these same men would, etc.' Others take it as a second clause with <math>o \not \tau v v \varepsilon$, 'and who would also, etc.' making oi a v rol a predicate like τa a $v \tau \delta$, ch. 17, 8. This however merely gives the somewhat feeble sense that prudent men would be more likely to act with prudence; and the former view is preferable. $\pi \rho o \sigma \phi \not \epsilon \rho \varepsilon \sigma \alpha u - \tau \delta$ to behave oneself towards, deal with': vi. 44, $\pi \rho \delta s \tau \delta$ $\pi \rho \alpha \tau \mu a \tau \rho o \sigma \delta (\sigma \sigma \tau \sigma \tau c)$: more commonly used of dealing with persons, either with dat., as v. 111, or with a prep., as v. 105, etc.

15. $\tau \delta \nu \tau \epsilon \pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \mu o \nu - \cdot \cdot$ and as regards war, are convinced, etc.' Instead of the aor. indic. to correspond to $\ell \theta \epsilon \nu \sigma o$, we have $\nu o \mu (\sigma \omega \sigma \tau, as if o \ell \tau \nu \epsilon s \omega \cdot had gone before. Such a subj.$ $with <math>d_{\nu}$ is equivalent to the Latin 2nd future, 'shall have taken the view', i.e. once for all. The position of $\pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \mu \sigma \nu$ is in favour of regarding it as the subject to $\xi \nu \nu \epsilon \ell \nu a$: in which case $\tau \circ t \tau \omega$ must refer either to τs or to $\mu \epsilon \rho o s$, the meaning being either 'that it abides with this man', or 'that it restricts itself to this part'. The former gives the better sense, that $\pi\delta\lambda\epsilon\mu\sigma$ is a potent thing, which when once called up, can not be got rid of at pleasure. So war is as it were personified in such expressions as i. 78, $\mu\eta\kappa\nu\sigma\dot{\mu}\epsilon\nu\sigma$ ($\pi\delta\lambda\epsilon\mu\sigma$) $\phi\lambda\lambda\epsilon$ i ϵ_{3} $\tau\dot{\sigma}\chi\sigma$) $\tau\dot{\sigma}$ $\tau\dot{\sigma}\lambda\lambda\dot{\sigma}$ $\pi\epsilon\rho lorardeat: i. 122, <math>\pi\delta\lambda\epsilon\mu\sigma$ i $\pi\sigma r$ $\tau\dot{\sigma}\kappa\sigma\lambda\dot{\sigma}$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma$, $\tau\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma$, some editors take τs as the subject of $\xi\nu\nu\epsilon\ell\nu\alpha a$ and $\tau\dot{\sigma}\tau\nu\phi$ as referring to $\pi\delta\lambda\epsilon\mu\sigma\sigma$ or $\mu\dot{\epsilon}\rho\sigma\sigma$, 'that a man can deal with this', viz. with war, or a particular part of it: but this is more than doubtful in construction, though it gives a reasonable sense.

17. $d\lambda\lambda'$ ώς $d\nu$ --'but (that it abides with him, τούτφ ξίνεστε) just as, etc.' al τύχαι---'the phases of fortune'; as in the passage from i. 78 cited above. $a^{i}\tau \omega\nu$ --neut, governed by τύχαι, referring either to the different stages of the war (μέρη) or generally to τὰ τοῦ πολέμου: cf. note on line 6. ἡγήσωνται---'may have led the way'. By some aἰτῶν is taken as masculine, governed by ἡγήσωνται, 'may have led them (those engaged in war) on', the sense of aἰτῶν being supplied from τε,

18. καl έλάχιστ' άν—in this sentence we have metaphors derived from stumbling (πταίοντες), standing upright (τῷ ὁρθουμένφ), and being lifted up (ἐπαίρεσθαι). ἄν, which in construction goes with καταλύοιντο, is placed, as is often the case, at the beginning of the sentence, to show its contingent character, and repeated later on; so i. 36, βραχυτάτῷ δ' ἀν κεφαλαίψ...τῷδ' ἀν μάθωτε, etc. ἐλάχιστα πταίοντες—'making the fewest trips'. καταλύοιντο ἄν—'would make terms': so i. 81, etc.: we have also καταλύειν πόλεμον, 'to give up fighting', vii. 31, and καταλύειν without a case (in the words of a treaty), v. 23, viii. 23.

 5-viz. to make terms while successful. κal μή... νομισθήναι-dependent on καλῶs ἔχει, ' and (so) to avoid being thought, etc.'

23. $\eta \nu$ ápa—'if, after all, you reject our terms and meet with failure': for dpa cf. note on ch. 8, 24. a $\pi \sigma \lambda \lambda d$ $\ell \nu \delta \ell \chi \epsilon \tau a \iota - d$ is cognate acc. after $\sigma \phi d \lambda \lambda \epsilon \sigma \theta a$, which is understood after $\ell \nu \delta \ell \chi \epsilon \tau a \iota : \pi \sigma \lambda \lambda \dot{a}$ is predicative, 'failure which is possible in many ways'.

24. και τα νύν προχωρήσαντα κρατήσαι—' to have won even your present successes'; κρατήσαι governed by νομισθήναι. Such words often take a neut. acc. carrying on the idea of the verb: so ch. 19, 10, έπικρατήσαι τα πλέω. προχωρήσαντα—cf. i. 109, ώς αὐτῷ οὐ προῦχώρει, 'when his design did not succeed': v. 37, τούτου προχωρήσαντος, 'when this was secured'. δόκησις —'credit, reputation': ii. 35, ή δόκησις τῆς άληθείας.

CHAPTER XIX

1. Λακεδαιμόνιοι δέ—'now the Lacedaemonians invite you'; δέ introduces the terms actually proposed, after the general observations with which the speakers had begun. So, in other speeches of envoys, after some preliminary words, we have the question at issue brought in with δέ: i. 32, Κερκυραΐοι δέ..., ἀπέστειλαν ἡμῶ; iii. 10, ἡμῶρ δὲ...ξυμμαχία ἐγένετο.

2. διάλυσιν πολέμου-cf. line 10, διαλύεσθαι: iii. 114, διαλύειν πόλεμον. κατάλυσις πολέμου is found ch. 118, 60 and viii. 18 (in the words of treaties).

3. $\delta_i \delta_{\delta' \tau \tau \epsilon}$ offering': so ch. 21, 4, $\delta_i \delta_{\delta \mu \ell \nu \eta \epsilon}$: i. 85, $\ell \pi \ell$ $\tau \delta_{\nu} \delta_i \delta_{\delta' \tau a} (\delta_{i \kappa a s})$, 'against him who is ready to give satisfaction'. The inf. $\nu \pi d \rho_{\kappa \epsilon \nu}$ is added to define the result looked for, 'for this to subsist between us': Xen. Anab. i. 6. 6, $\tau o \hat{\nu} \tau \sigma \nu \ell \delta \omega \kappa \epsilon \nu$ $\nu \pi \eta \kappa \sigma \rho \kappa \epsilon \mu \sigma \ell$. $\vec{a} \lambda \eta \nu$ 'in general, in other respects': i. 2, $\sigma \tau \epsilon \mu e \gamma \ell \delta \epsilon \epsilon \pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \omega \nu \ell \sigma \chi v \sigma \delta \tau \epsilon \tau \hat{\mu} \, \delta \lambda \lambda \eta \pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon \nu \hat{\mu}$. okaciót nta-'friendly understanding'.

6. rois in -cf. ch. 8, 1. Stakivouveier0ai -- 'that the hazard should be risked to the utmost', lit. risked out (did), passive impersonal: so i. 73, $i\pi'$ is $\phi \epsilon \lambda la \epsilon \kappa u \delta u \kappa e v \epsilon \sigma$, etc. (mid. Cobet).

 ξως άν τις παρατύχη διαφυγή, 'till some means of escape offer': so παραπέσοι, ch. 23, 21.

9. $\mu \hat{\alpha} \lambda \lambda \sigma v$ $\tilde{\alpha} v \chi \epsilon \rho \omega \theta \epsilon \tilde{\iota} v$ "they might be likely to be still more reduced within your power". The construction is slightly changed by the introduction of $\tilde{a} v$ with the optative; the Lacedaemonians not choosing to speak of the capture of their countrymen except as a matter of contingent possibility.

11. avraµvvóµεvos-cf. line 17: iii. 84.

12. $\ell \pi \kappa \kappa \rho a \tau \eta \sigma a \tau \lambda \ell \omega$ —'having proved victorious in most points of the war'. For $\tau a \pi \lambda \ell \omega$, cf. ch. 18, 24: so vii. 63, $\tau a \pi \lambda e \ell \omega \ell \pi \kappa \kappa p \pi \epsilon \ell \omega$. Instead of $\pi \circ \lambda \ell \mu o \omega$ Classen reads $\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu \ell \omega \omega$, 'having got the better of his enemy', thus supplying an object to $\ell \gamma \kappa \pi a \lambda a \mu \beta \omega \omega \omega$ and defining $a \nu \sigma \omega$ in line 15. 13. ἐγκαταλαμβάνων—'binding his foe down in (an agreement)', with κατ' ἀνάγκην and ὅρκοις: so ch. 86, 3, ὅρκοις καταλαβών: i. 9, ὅρκοις κατειλημμένους. μη ἀπὸ τοῦ ἴσου ξυμβη̃— 'shall make peace on unequal terms': iii. 11, ἀπὸ τοῦ ἴσου ὁμιλοῦντε, etc.

15. καl άρετῃ αὐτὸν νικήσας—'having also conquered him in generosity'. Arnold quotes Eur. Herc. Fur. 339, ἀρετῆ σε νιῶ, θνητὸι ῶν, θεὸν μέγαν. αὐτόν—his adversary; even if we do not read πολεμίου with Classen, there seems no difficulty in supplying this sense, as the enemy is certainly to be understood as the object of ἐγκατ. Krüger reads αὐτὸν νικήσαι, 'having subdued himself'. The reading of most manuscripts is aὐτὸ νικήσαι, which would give the sense, 'having got the better of it', i.e. of his wish to insist upon severe terms.

ib. παρά ἅ προσεδέχετο—'contrary to what (his enemy) looked for'. Poppo regards προσεδέχετο as passive, but admits that there is no similar example in good Greek; Krüger suggests the plpf. προσεδέδεκτο in pass.sense. μετρίως ξυναλλαγῆ—'shall agree upon moderate terms': viii. 90, ξυναλλαγῆπαι πρός τούς Λακεδαμωνίους: in act., v. 45, 'to settle differences'.

16. δφείλων—'being bound, being under obligation'. ἀνταποδοῦναι ἀρετήν—'to show generosity in return': cf. ii. 40, ές ὀφείλημα την ἀρετήν ἀποδώσων, 'as an obligation'. atoχύνη—the 'sense of shame' which makes a man shrink from doing what would be dishonourable: it may sometimes be rendered honour or self-respect.

19. $\pi \rho \delta s$ rovs $\mu \epsilon \zeta \delta \nu \omega s \epsilon \chi \partial \rho \sigma \delta s$ 'in dealing with those who are more deeply their enemies'. rovs $\tau \partial \mu \epsilon \tau \rho a \delta \epsilon \epsilon \nu \epsilon \chi \partial \epsilon \nu - \tau a s$ 'those who quarrelled with them in small things', a construction like $\tau a \pi \lambda \epsilon \omega$, line 12. $\delta \iota a \phi \epsilon \rho s \sigma \partial a \iota$ 'to be at variance with'; v. 31, $\delta \iota a \phi \epsilon \rho \delta \mu \nu \rho \sigma \tau \sigma \delta r \lambda a \kappa \epsilon \delta a \mu \rho \sigma \delta s$.

22. ἀνθησσῶσθαι—'to make connter-concessions', a rare word, which here, like other verbs of giving way to, takes the dative of the person in whose favour the concessions are made.

In the same sense we have in ch. 64, 8, $\delta\sigma\sigma\sigma$ elkds $\eta\sigma\sigma\tilde{\alpha}\sigma\thetaa\iota$: so i. 77, $\epsilon\lambda\alpha\sigma\sigma\sigma\dot{\mu}\mu\epsilon\sigma\sigma$, 'abating our strict rights'. $\eta\sigma\sigma\dot{\alpha}\rho\mu\alpha\iota$ usually means 'to be worsted', or with gen. 'to yield to': cf. ch. 37, 7. The dat. iii. 38, $\dot{\alpha}\kappa\sigma\eta$'s $\eta\delta\sigma\sigma\eta$ $\eta\sigma\sigma\sigma\dot{\mu}\mu\epsilon\sigma\sigma$, is 'overcome by your delight in listening'.

ib. πρός τὰ ὑπεραυχοῦντα— 'against overweening arrogance', neuter instead of masculine: so ii. 45, φθόνος τοῦς ζώσι πρὸς τὸ ἀρτίπαλον, jealousy is felt by living men against rival claims', etc. καl παρά γνώμην— 'even against their better judgment': i, 70, παρὰ γνώμην κινδυνευταί: vi. 9, εἶπον παρά γνώμην.

CHAPTER XX

2. ή ξυναλλαγή-'the (proposed) agreement'.

3. $\tau t \, d\nu \eta \kappa c \tau \tau \nu$ —'some irremediable thing', a euphemistic expression for the death of their countrymen. So the Lacedaemonians hesitated in the case of Pausanias $\beta ou \lambda e \tilde{v} a a \tau t$ $a \nu \eta \kappa e \sigma \tau \nu$, i.e. to decree his death (i. 132), where also we have another euphemism, $\nu e \omega \tau e \rho \nu \tau \tau \sigma c \tilde{v} \ell s a \sigma \tau \nu$, i.e. to slay him. $\delta \iota d \mu \ell \sigma \sigma \nu \gamma e \nu \rho \mu e \nu \sigma -$ 'intervening'; v. 26, $\eta \delta a \mu \ell \sigma \sigma v \xi \nu \mu \beta \sigma \sigma$. $\kappa a \tau a \lambda a \beta \epsilon v -$ ' befall us', with acc., a common constr. in Herod.; e.g. ii. 66, $\theta \epsilon \tilde{a} \pi \rho \eta \gamma \mu a \tau a \kappa a \tau a \lambda a \mu \beta d \nu \epsilon \tau \sigma \delta s a \ell \kappa \delta \rho \rho \sigma s$, 'wondrous things befall the cats': in Thuc. it is elsewhere found without a case, as in ii. 18, $\delta \pi \sigma \tau \epsilon \pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \mu \sigma s \kappa a \tau a \lambda \delta \beta \sigma s$, 'whenever war befell'.

4. ℓ_{ν} $\tilde{\psi}$ —'in which case'. $i\mu\hat{\nu}\nu$ —'against you', after $\ell_{\chi}\ell\rho_{\rho\alpha\nu}$ $\ell_{\chi\epsilon\nu\nu}$: Classen reads $\eta\mu\hat{\nu}\nu$, 'it would be necessary for us to have'.

5. $\pi\rho\delta \tau \hat{\eta}$ κοιν $\hat{\eta}$ καl $\delta(\alpha\nu)$ —the 'private hatred' which would thus be caused is usually understood as the feud which the individual families of Sparta would cherish against the Athenians for the death of their relations, in addition to the national ($\kappa\omega\nu\dot{\eta}$) hostility already felt. Grote however considers the $1\delta(\alpha \xi_{\lambda}\theta\rho\alpha$ to be 'a new and inexpiable ground of quarrel, peculiar to Sparta herself', while the $\kappa\omega\nu\eta \xi_{\lambda}\theta\rho\alpha$ is that of the Peloponnesian confederacy, the whole war having been begun in consequence of the complaints of the allies, and to redress their wrongs, not those of Sparta individually (Grote, vol. iv. ch. 52).

Jowett observes that the speaker is attracted by a connexion of sound, and perhaps by a fancied connexion of sense or etymology between $dt\partial \omega r$ and $l\partial dur$: so ch. 63, 9: 87, 28. 7. Ett S' Svrwv dxp(τwv — 'while matters are still undecided', nent. gen. abs.: so i. 7. $\pi \lambda \omega \iota \omega \tau \ell \rho w$ for wr, 'when navigation was advanced': Hdt. vii. 37. $\ell \pi \iota r \epsilon \rho \ell \lambda \omega r \ \ell \sigma \tau \omega r$, 'the sky being cloudy'. The number and variety of instances of the gen. abs. in this chapter is remarkable.

9. ξυμφοράς μετρίως κατατιθεμίνης—'our disaster being settled on tolerable terms' (Arn.): so i. 121, καταθησόμεθα πόλεμων, 'we will settle or conclude the war', opposed to έγείρωμεν: Dem. Fals. Leg. 425, τδν πόλεμων κατέθεντο. We have vi. 11, τδ σφέτερων άπρεπε's εὐ θήσωνται='they will retrieve their honour': see also note on ch. 17, 14, καλῶς θέσθαι. κατατίθεσθαι commonly means to 'lay up in store for oneself', e.g. ch. 57, 22, and iii. 72, of depositing hostages in a place of safety: i. 128, of bestowing a favour or benefit, etc.

 διαλλαγώμεν—'let us be reconciled ': in act. vi. 47, Σελικουντίους διαλλάξαι αυτοῖς, 'to reconcile the men of Selinus to them'.

13. $\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu o \hat{v} v \tau a \cdot - according to Classen from <math>\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu \delta \omega$, 'they are made enemies': i. 36, $o l \kappa \epsilon i \hat{v} \tau a l \pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu o \hat{v} \tau a l$, 'becomes your friend or your enemy': i. 57, $\Pi \epsilon \rho \delta l \kappa \kappa a \epsilon^2 \pi \epsilon \pi \sigma - \lambda \epsilon \mu \omega \tau o$, etc. So far as form goes it might equally well come from $\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu \epsilon \omega$, which is often used in the passive: e.g. i. 37, $\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu \omega v \tau a$, 'they are attacked'.

14. $d\sigma a \phi \hat{\omega} s \delta \pi \sigma \tau \epsilon \rho \omega \nu d p \xi d \nu \tau \omega \nu$ without knowing clearly which of us began', lit. 'from which of the two sides having begun (they are thus at war)'. With the adverb $d\sigma a \phi \hat{\omega} s$, which is used emphatically as is common in Thuc., is connected an indirect question expressed by the gen. absolute with a verb implied, the phrase being equivalent to $d\delta \eta \lambda or \delta r \delta \sigma \sigma \tau \epsilon \rho \omega r$ $d p \xi d \sigma \tau \omega r$ (sc. $\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu \omega \delta v \tau a$). The following is a somewhat similar construction with gen. abs., Dem. Aph. i. 829, $dr \epsilon \chi \epsilon w \rho$ $e \phi \hat{p}$, $\tau l v os \pi a \rho a \delta \delta v \tau os \epsilon \rho w \tau a \tau \epsilon a v \tau \delta r$, 'if he says I have it, ask him who paid it me', lit. 'by whose payment (I have it)'. The statement of the envoya seems somewhat at variance with facts, as it could hardly be supposed by any that the Athenians had begun the war.

15. την χάριν-' the gratitude which they will feel for peace'. προσθήσουσι-' they will put down, ascribe, pay'.

16. $\eta \nu \tau \epsilon \gamma \nu \hat{\omega} \tau \epsilon \dots \epsilon$ so if you decide to accept our proposals'; $\tau \epsilon$ sums up and resumes the argument. Aakebaupovious if $\epsilon \tau \nu \dots \epsilon$ it is in your power to become friends to the Lacedaemonians'; $\phi l \lambda o v$ refers to $\dot{\nu} \mu \hat{\nu}$; see note on ch. 2, 11; here this construction avoids confusion. In the following clauses $a\dot{v}\tau \hat{\omega} \nu$ $\tau \epsilon \tau p \sigma \kappa \lambda \epsilon \sigma \mu \epsilon \nu \omega v$ (gen. abs.) refers to the Lacedaemonians, while x apura $\mu \epsilon \nu \omega s$ and $\beta L \omega \sigma \mu \epsilon \nu \omega s$ belong to $\dot{\nu} \mu \hat{\nu}$. 19. rd $\ell \nu \delta \nu \tau a$ $\dot{a} \gamma a \theta \dot{a}$ —' the advantages involved'. Note the position of $\tau \dot{a}$ $\ell \nu \delta \nu \tau a$ $\dot{a} \gamma a \theta \dot{a}$, and $\tau \delta$ $\delta \lambda \lambda o$ 'E $\lambda \lambda \eta \nu \kappa \delta \nu$: the most important words being put early in the clauses for the sake of emphasis.

21. $\tau a\dot{v}\tau \dot{a} \lambda\epsilon\gamma \dot{o}\nu\tau\omega\nu$ 'holding the same language', i.e. pursuing the same policy: so v. 31, $\tau \dot{a} a\dot{v}\tau \dot{o} \lambda\dot{\epsilon}\gamma o\nu\tau\epsilon s$. 'That the jealousy of the other Hellenes was speedily aroused by a temporary combination of the Lacedaemonians and Athenians, which they regarded as a conspiracy against their liberties, we learn from v. 59: cf. Ar. Pax, 1082, $\dot{\epsilon}\xi \dot{o}\nu \sigma \pi\epsilon i\sigma a\mu\dot{\epsilon}\nu ois \kappa oi\nu \tilde{p} \tau \hat{\gamma}s$ 'Eλλάδοs $\check{a}\rho\chi\epsilon\mu\nu$ ' (Jowett).

CHAPTER XXI

3. $\ell\pi\iota\theta\upsilon\mu\epsilon\iota\nu$ —imperfect, 'had been desiring'. In construction all the infinitives in this sentence depend on $\nu\rho\mu\ell$ forres, but in sense the idea of thinking belongs particularly to $\delta\xi\ell\epsilon\sigma\thetaa\iota$ and $d\pi\sigma\delta\delta\sigma\epsilon\iota\nu$. The meaning is 'the Lacedaemonians thought that, as the Athenians had all along been desirous of peace, they would now be glad to make it': cf. note on ch. 13, 5, $\ell\lambda\pi\ell$ forres $\tau\delta$ $\tau\epsiloni\chi$ os $\dot{\psi}$ os $\mu\ell\nu$ $\xi\chi\epsilon\iota\nu$, $d\pi\sigma\betad\sigma\epsilon\omega$ s $\delta\epsilon$ où $\sigma\eta\epsilon$ $\ell\lambda\epsilon\bar{\nu}$. $\sigma\phi\bar{\omega}\nu$ Sè $\ell\nu\alpha\nu\tau$ couféveu—so in vii. 18 we find the Lacedaemonians admitting that they had forced on the war, and incurred the guilt of refusing negotiations. In 430, the second year of the war, the Athenians had made fruitless proposals for peace (ii, 59).

7. $i\tau o(\mu ovs$ -according to Poppo, Classen, etc. fem. agreeing with $\sigma \pi \sigma v \delta as$, 'ready for them'. There is good authority in viii. 26 for $v \eta s \epsilon t r o (\mu o, and \epsilon t r o (\mu o, s) for which reason$ $Kriiger takes <math>t r o (\mu o, s)$ as agreeing with $\Lambda a \kappa \epsilon \delta a \mu o t o v$ understood. In this view $\pi \sigma v \epsilon \delta r \sigma (\mu \sigma)$ is to be taken after $t r o (\mu \sigma v, s)$ 'thinking that the Lacedaemonians were ready to make the truce etc.' Besides the difficulty of thus supplying an object to $t r o (\mu \sigma v, t)$ is involves the further awkwardness that $\pi \rho \delta s$ $a v r \sigma v s (as well as \sigma \phi (\sigma))$ must then be taken as referring to the Athenians.

9. $i\nu\eta\gamma\epsilon$ 'urged on': ch. 24, 5, note. K $\lambda\epsilon\omega\nu\delta$ K $\lambda\epsilon\alpha\nu\epsilon'\tau\sigma\nu$ —Cleon is first mentioned by Thucydides in iii. 36, where he urges the necessity of putting to death the whole of the revolted Mytileneans (n.o. 427). He is then described in vary similar words as $\omega\nu$ kal ės $\tau\dot{a}$ $\lambda\lambdaa\beta$ subtratos $\tau\omega\nu$ $\tau\phi$ $\tau\epsilon$ $\delta\eta\mu\omega$ $\pi a\rho\dot{a}$ $\pi\delta\lambda\delta$ $\ell\nu$ $\tau\phi$ $\tau\sigma\epsilon$ $\pi\iota\thetaa\nu\omega\tau a\tau\sigmas$. It appears from Plutarch (Nicias ch. 2) that he had already come into notice during the lifetime of Pericles. It is difficult to form a just estimate of the character of Cleon. He is known to us almost entirely through Thucydides and Aristophanes, the former certainly not his friend, the latter his bitter enemy. There can be little doubt that he was lond, overbearing, and violent; but he seems to have been by no means without patriotism and political ability. At the present time he was undeniably right in insisting upon substantial concessions before giving up the advantage which the Athenians had gained; though his conduct was such as to render successful negotiation almost hopeless.

10. $\delta\eta\mu\alpha\gamma\omega\gamma\deltas$ —'leader of the people', a word not used elsewhere by Thucydides. It is not necessarily used in a bad sense, but merely implies that ascendancy in the popular assembly which Cleon had acquired by his confidence, readiness, and power of speaking. In the same sense Pithias $\tau\omega$ $\delta\eta\mu\omega\nu$ $\pi\rho\sigma\sigma\tau\sigma\gamma\kappa\epsilon\iota$ at Corcyra (ii. 70); and Athenagoras is called $\delta\eta\mu\omega\nu$ $\pi\rho\sigma\sigma\tau\sigma\gamma\kappa$ at Syracuse (vi. 35). Such influence being readily open to abuse, the word demagogue has not unnaturally come to mean, as defined by Johnson, 'a ringleader of the rabble; a popular and factious orator'.

11. τῷ πλήθει πιθανώτατος—'most influential with the people'; so iii. 36, τῷ δήμψ πιθανώτατος. Similarly Athenagoras is called πιθανώτατος τοϊς πολλοϊς, vi. 35. πιθανός—'persuasive', is also applied to arguments: Dem. Lacr. 928, λόγους θαυμασίως ώς πιθανούς δλεγεν.

13. 'Aθήναζε—According to Liddell and Scott the forms 'Aθήναζε, 'Aθήνηθεν, 'Aθήνησιν 'are more Attic than eis 'Aθήνας, etc.' Thucydides sometimes uses 'Aθήναζε, as in ch. 46, 15, μέχρι οῦ 'Aθήναζε πεμφθώσυν: v. 32 (twice). 'Aθήνησι occurs v. 25: v. 47, in the words of a treaty. On the other hand we have 's ràs 'Aθήνας (ch. 16, 27): ἐκ τῶν 'Aθηνῶν (ch. 16, 20: 22, 17): ἐν ταῖs 'Aθήναις (ch. 5, 5: 27, 1) repeatedly occurring.

14. $\partial t \partial \delta \phi \tau \omega v \delta \dot{\epsilon}$ for gen. abs. see note on $d \tau \tau \partial \epsilon \gamma \delta \tau \tau \omega r \delta \dot{\epsilon}$, ch. 3, 8. $d \tau \sigma \delta \delta \delta \sigma \tau a s^{-1}$ let the Lacedaemonians restore Nisaea etc., and then receive back their men'. In construction $\Lambda a \kappa \epsilon \delta a \mu \omega r b \omega r s$ subject to $\kappa o \mu b \sigma \sigma \theta a$, line 18.

ib. $d\pi o \delta \delta v \tau a s... A \chi a t a v$ —these places were given up by the Athenians in accordance with the terms of the thirty years' truce concluded in the year 445 (i. 115). Nisaea and Pegae were the chief ports of the territory of Megara. Troezen was the capital of a district in the E. of Argolis. What is meant by 'restoring Achaia', is however not so clear. The country of Achaia was an independent state, which in no intelligible sense belonged to the Lacedaemonians or Athenians, or could be 'given up' by the one to the other. In i. 111 we find certain Achaeans accompanying an Athenian force as allies: and possibly alliance and influence with Achaea may have been the point at issue. Otherwise either 'Axatav is corrupt, which is improbable, as it occurs in two similar passages; or some particular town is meant, the situation of which we do not know.

16. $\dot{a}\pi\dot{o}\tau\eta s \pi\rho\sigma\tau\epsilon\rho as - \epsilon$ from the previous convention', i.e. the thirty years' truee of 445. $\dot{a}\pi\delta$ gives the origin, from which a result follows: cf. ch. 30, 1: vii. 21, $\dot{a}\pi'$ $a\dot{v}\tau\delta\hat{v}$, 'therefrom'.

17. $\xi v \gamma \chi \omega \rho \eta \sigma a \nu \tau \omega \nu - \cdot \cdot having agreed to these concessions'. <math>\kappa a \tau a - \cdot i n$ accordance with, on the strength of '. The thirty years' truce was concluded after hostilities had gone on for three or four years (i. 103-115).

19. $\delta \pi \delta \sigma ov \, \delta v - {}^{\circ}$ for so long a time as may seem good to both parties': v. 18, $\xi \tau \eta \, \delta' \epsilon l \nu a \iota \tau \Delta s \, \sigma \pi ov \delta \Delta s \, \pi \epsilon \nu \tau \eta \kappa ov \tau a$, 'to be for fifty years'.

CHAPTER XXII

2. $\xi uv \ell \delta \rho o u \ldots \ell \lambda \ell \sigma \theta a \ldots$ but requested that commissioners might be chosen to confer with them'. $\ell \lambda \ell \sigma \theta a \ldots trans.$, the usual construction with words like $\kappa \ell \omega \omega \ldots \sigma \phi \ell \sigma \ldots g o verned$ by $\xi u \kappa \ell \delta \rho \omega v_s$, cf. ch. 23, 5: ch. 93, 21, of $\xi \nu \mu \rho \rho \rho a v \sigma \delta v$. When the Athenians invaded Melos their envoys were not brought before the general assembly $(\pi \rho \delta r \tau a \lambda \eta \delta \sigma)$, but heard before the authorities and officials $(\ell \nu \tau a \tilde{u} s \delta \chi a \tilde{v} s \delta \lambda (\gamma \omega s)$, who are afterwards called of $\tau \tilde{\omega} \nu M \eta \lambda (\omega \nu \xi \ell \nu \epsilon \delta \rho \omega (v. 85)$.

3. οίτινες ξυμβήσονται—future in final sense: iii. 16, καυτικόν παρεσκεύαζον δ τι πέμψουσιν. κατά ήσυχίαν—as opposed to the tumult and hurry of the assembly: i. 85, μηδ' έπειχθέντες έν βραχεί μορίψ ήμέρας βουλεύσωμεν άλλά καθ' ήσυχίαν.

6. πολὺς ἐνέκειτο—' fell on them vehemently', like a mighty tempest or torrent: Hdt. vii. 155, Γέλων πολλός ἐνέκειτο: Eur. Hip. 443, Κύπρις γὰρ οὐ φορητόν, ῆν πολλή ἐνῆ: 80 Sal. Hug. 84, multus atque ferox instare. ἐγκειμαι=incumbo, used of pressing an enemy hard, or pursuing an object, with dat. or without a case: ii. 59, ἐνέκειντο τῷ Περικλεῖ, 'assailed Pericles': v. 43, εὐθὺς ἐνέκειντο, 'at once urged on their purpose strenuously'. 7. iv $v\hat{\omega} \notin \chi ovras -$ intending': ch. 8, 23, note. oltrives - 'seeing that they'; = qui, quippe qui, with subj. 'inasmuch as you'.

εt τι ύγιès διανοοῦνται—' if they have any honest purpose': iii. 75, οὐδἐν ὑγιἐs διανοουμένων.

12. $\sigma\phi(\sigma_i\nu \ oldsyre \ \delta\nu$ —'possible for them', i.e. consistently with their interest, as is explained afterwards. $i\nu \pi\lambda\gamma\theta\epsilon_i$ —'in a public assembly'. $\epsilon t \tau i \kappa al...\xi \nu\gamma\chi \omega\rho\epsilon i\nu$ —'even if they were ready to make any concession'; τ_i acc. with $\xi \nu\gamma\chi \omega\rho\epsilon i\nu$, the two words forming the subject of $i\delta\delta\kappa\epsilon_i$ 'seemed good'. It does not appear what the Lacedaemonians were willing to concede, as they did not get a hearing.

14. $\mu\eta$... $\delta\iota\alpha\beta\lambda\eta\theta\omega\sigma\iota\nu$ -' lest they should be represented injuriously to their allies'. $\delta\iota\alpha\beta\lambda\lambda\lambda\omega$, to set cross or wrong, means to slander or represent prejudicially: iii. 109, $\Pi\epsilon\lambda\sigma\sigma\nu$ - $\eta\sigma\sigma\sigma\nu$, $\delta\tau\sigma\lambda\omega$ ' is row' E $\lambda\lambda\eta\nu\alpha$ s, 'to raise a prejudice against the Peloponnesians in the eyes of the Greeks', is denoting those to whom the report reaches and among whom it spreads: ii. 18, $\dot{\eta} \sigma\chi\alpha\lambda\alpha\delta\sigma\eta$, $\delta\iota\beta\lambda\lambda\epsilon\nu$, $\alpha\dot{\sigma}\sigma\dot{\sigma}$, 'his slowness did him injury': also with dat, viii. 88, $\beta\omega\lambda\delta\mu\omega\sigma\alpha$ a $\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\eta$ fields $\tau\sigma\sigma\sigma\eta\sigma\alpha$ is $\delta\iota\beta\lambda\lambda\epsilon\nu$. We have too the passive with dat, meaning lit. 'to be set wrong with': viii. 81, $\iota\nu\alpha$ $\tau\phi$ $T\iota\sigma\sigma\alpha\phi\ell\rho\nu\epsilon$ $\delta\iota\alpha\beta\lambda\lambda\alpha\nu\sigma\sigma$, 'that they might be set against Tissaphernes': Plat. Phaced. 67 z. $\delta\iota\alpha\beta\ell\beta\lambda\eta\nu\sigma\alpha\iota$ $\tau\phi$ $\sigma\omega\mu\alpha\tau\iota$: common in Dem. with $\tau\rho\delta$ s.

15. εἰπόντες καὶ οὐ τυχόντες—' having made proposals and failed': ii. 74, προκαλεσάμενοι πολλά καὶ εἰκότα οὐ τυγχάνομεν.

17. $dvex \omega \rho \eta \sigma av \Delta \pi \rho a \kappa \tau o i withdrew without effecting$ anything'. Little else could be expected from the temper ofboth sides, and the way in which matters were managed.Cleon and the democracy are scarcely to be blamed for demanding more than the Lacedaemonians seemed prepared togrant, while on the other hand a delicate negotiation couldnot be carried on before the popular assembly. The conductof affairs at this time seems to have rested chiefly with Niciasand his adherents, but they were powerless to force their viewsagainst the will of the people. According to Plutarch (Niciasch. 7) it was from personal enmity to Nicias that Cleon per $suaded the assembly to reject the truce, <math>\pi \rho o \theta i \omega r o i \rho i \omega r do$ $row m párrora <math>\tau o \tilde{r}$. Aax $\delta a \omega \rho i \omega r \delta s$. Thueydides says nothing of the efforts of Nicias on this occasion, but he relates that in 422 he was most eager for peace, from his anxiety to preserve his own good fortune and name as a safe and successful general (v. 16). The impression which we form of his character is that he was a brave and careful commander when actually in the field, but disposed to magnify dangers and difficulties, and deficient in confidence and in a spirit of enterprise. He was also rich and prosperous, and 'had given hostages to fortune'. It is therefore probable that if he had been one of the proposed $\xi i \nu \epsilon \delta \rho o i$ he would willingly have agreed to one-sided terms; and Cleon showed both courage and statemanship in opposing such an arrangement.

CHAPTER XXIII

2. $\delta\iota\lambda\dot{\upsilon}\upsilon\tau\sigma$ —the imperfect refers to the going on of the arrangements for ending the truce, or else the meaning is 'was to come to an end', i.e. according to the agreement. Cobet proposes $\delta\iota\epsilon\lambda\ell\lambda\upsilon\tau\sigma$ 'was at an end' that is, was terminated there and then by the arrival of the ship from Athens. This agrees with the words in ch. 16, 22, $\epsilon\lambda\theta\delta\sigma\tau\omega\tau$ $\delta\epsilon$ $\tau\dot{\epsilon}$ $\tau\epsilon\sigma\pi\sigma\tau\delta\dot{\epsilon}$ $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\dot{\omega}\tau\sigma$.

4. ξυνέκειτο—'had been agreed': ch. 68, 20, ξυνέκειτο abroîs: iii. 70, κατὰ τὰ ξυγκείμενα, 'in accordance with the terms': viii. 94, ἀπὸ ξυγκείμενο λόγου. κείμαι is virtually the perfect passive of τίθημι: ol νόμοι κείνται, 'the laws have been enacted': cf. vi. 62, ἐσέκειτο πάντα, 'had been put on board'. ξύγκειμαι therefore=the perf. pass. of ξυντίθημι. So Thucydides says of his history, i. 22, ξύγκειται, 'it has been composed'. Here ξυνέκειτο is pass. of ξυντίθσθαι, 'to make a compact, agree to terms', as in ch. 19, 19: vi. 65, ξυνέθεντο ηξειν, 'they agreed to come'.

5. ἐγκλήματα—'as grounds of complaint', in apposition with the following accusatives. ἐπιδρομήν—'a sudden attack', probably made with a small body: ch. 56, 8, ἐφόβησεν ἐπιδρομῆ. τῷ τειχίσματι—dat. after verbal subst. ἐπιδρομήν: cf. notes on Plat. Euthyph. 14 c, ἐπιστήμη δόσεωs θεοῖs: so Rep. 439 D, πόλει διακονίαν. δοκοῦντα—sc. to the Lacedaemonians, who were therefore indignant.

7. $l\sigma\chi\nu\rho\iota_1^{\ell}\delta\mu\nu\nu\iota$.—'insisting, maintaining': iii. 44, $\tau\sigma\vartheta\tau\sigma$ $\delta \ K\lambda\ell\omega\nu \ l\sigma\chi\nu\rho\iota_1^{\ell}\epsilon\tau a\iota$. $\delta\eta$, a particle giving emphasis to the particular words to which it is attached, gives the reason urged by the Athenians: iii. 108, $\kappa a\tau \lambda \ \chi\rho\eta\sigma\mu\lambda\nu \ \delta\eta \ \tau\nu\nua$, 'in accordance, as they alleged, with a certain oracle'. Thus used it often conveys the idea that the alleged reason is a mere pretence. 10. $d\delta(\kappa\eta\mu a \ \epsilon \pi \kappa \alpha \lambda \epsilon \sigma \alpha \nu \tau \epsilon s - \epsilon \operatorname{expostulating}$ against the (detention) of the ships as an act of injustice': v. 59, $\epsilon \ell \tau \iota \ \epsilon \pi \kappa \alpha - \lambda \alpha \delta \sigma \alpha' \ A \rho \gamma \epsilon loss, ' if they have any ground of complaint against the Argives'; the full construction being with dat. of person, while the thing complained of is expressed by the acc. or an inf. clause.$

 τd περί Πύλον-nom. to ἐπολεμεῖτο: iii. 6, τὰ περί Μυτιλήνην ἐπολεμεῖτο: v. 26, τὰ ἔπειτα ἐπολεμήθη. We must render 'hostilities went on at Pylos'.

13. 'Athvaiou $\mu \ell \nu$ -construction in accordance with the sense, as if $a\mu\phi\delta repoi \ell\pi\sigma\delta\ell\mu\sigma\nu\nu$ had gone before: see note on ch. 2, 15: cf. v. 70, $\dot{\eta}$ $\dot{\xi}\nu\sigma\delta\sigmas$ $\ddot{\eta}\nu$, 'Apycia $\mu\ell\nu...\chi\omega\rho\sigma\bar{\nu}\pi\epsilon$, Aake- $\delta a\mu\delta\nu\omega\sigma\delta\epsilon$ $\kappa.\tau.\lambda.$, 'the encounter took place, the Argives etc.', an exact parallel to the sentence before us. $\ell\nu\alpha\nu\tau(a\nu-\epsilon)$ in opposite directions', so used of two waggons, i. 93. If Cobet's rule, given in the note on ch. 4, 11, is universally applicable to adjectives, this should be $\ell\nu\alpha\nu\tau(a\nu$, but no editor that I know of reads it. $\nu\epsilon\sigmai\nu$ is absent from the best μ ss, but is inserted by modern editors, as there is an awkwardness in understanding it from $\pi\epsilon\rho\mu\pi\lambda\delta\sigma\tau\epsilons$.

15. καί ἄπασαι—'all without exception', καί emphasizing απασαι: v. 71, τὰ στρατόπεδα ποιεῖ καὶ ἀπαντα τοῦτο: vii. 28, καὶ ξύμπαντε, opposed to κατὰ διαδοχήν. περιώρμουν, 'lay at anchor around'. τὰ πρὸς τὸ πέλαγος—either, 'on the side of the open sea', accusative of reference used adverbially: cf. iii. 96, τὰ πρὸς Halcras: ch. 108, 7, τὰ πρὸς Hióra: or acc. governed by περιώρμουν. είη—opt. of indefinite frequency with ὁπότε.

σκοποῦντες καιρόν—a similar construction to ch. 8, 35:
 ch. 10, 25, = σκοποῦντες εί τις καιρός παραπέσοι. παραπίπτω, 'to occur', is used with καιρός by Xenophon and Polybius (Krüg.):
 cf. ch. 19, 8, παρατυχούσης.

CHAPTER XXIV

The account of the operations in Sicily is now resumed from ch. 1; some of the statements there given being recapitulated here.

 ἐν τῆ Σικελία—in construction the epithet of Συρακόσια, but belonging in sense to the whole passage, marking the change of scene from Greece to Sicily: cf. iii.88, oi ἐν τῆ Σικελία Ἀθηναΐοι, etc.

παρισκευάζοντο--- 'were (as we have told) getting ready ': see ch. 1, 19. προσκομίσαντες--- 'having taken to (Messene)'.

5. $\epsilon \nu \eta \gamma o \nu$ "urged on' the intruders, or the invasion. Sometimes of persons, as in ch. 21, 9, a $\delta \tau o \delta s$ is $\epsilon \nu \eta \gamma \epsilon$: sometimes of things, i. 67, $\epsilon \nu \eta \gamma o \tau \delta \nu \pi \delta h \epsilon \mu o \nu$: sometimes as here, with no object expressed: so vi. 61, $\epsilon \nu a \gamma \delta \sigma \tau \omega \nu \tau \delta \nu \epsilon \delta \rho \delta \nu$.

6. Kal aurol $\delta \ell$ —'and they themselves too': i. 132, Kal $\eta \nu$ $\delta \ell \circ \delta \tau \omega s$, 'and so too was the case': ii. 36, Kal $\pi \rho \ell \pi \circ \nu \delta \ell d \mu a$. Kal $\delta \ell = and also$ (Madv. § 229 a). This seems to be the same invasion as that related in ch. 1.

 αποπειράσθαι—elsewhere Thuc. uses the active: e.g. vii. 17, with ναυμαχίας.

9. τὰs μἐν παρούσας—'seeing that the ships they had were few'; the emphasis falling upon $\delta \lambda$ (γαs, which in its construction is the predicate. For a similar order of words cf. v. 10, ol δ' αὐτοῦ ξυστραφέντες ὁπλῖται ἐπὶ τὸν λόφον: v. 41, ol πρέσβεις ἀφικόμενοι αὐτῶν : Ar. Rhet. 1. 5. 17, ol ἄλλοι αἰσχροὶ ἀδελφοί, ὁ δὲ καλόs : Ar. Vesp. 839, τοῦτ' ἀρα πρῶτον τἀδίκημα εἰσακτέον : the spaced words being predicative.

12. έφορμοῦντες—'blockading': the word belongs more especially to ναυσίν; the sense of invading or attacking being supplied with $\pi \epsilon_{ij}$.

13. $\chi \epsilon \rho \omega \sigma \alpha \sigma \theta a \iota$ they hoped to subdue', aor. inf. after $\eta \lambda \pi \iota \beta \sigma \nu$, referring to the result immediately looked for. The following $\gamma (\gamma \nu \epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota$ either depends directly on $\eta \lambda \pi \iota \beta \sigma \nu$, the present inf. indicating a lasting result, or its construction, like that of $\epsilon \iota \sigma a \iota$, line 17, corresponds to the general sense of the sentence—'we hope to take Rhegium, and (we think) our position thereby becomes ($\gamma (\gamma \nu \epsilon \sigma a)$ strong'. $\gamma (\epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota = \nu a s s u re to b e : ch. 9, 26, a \lambda \omega \sigma \iota \sigma \nu \gamma (\gamma \nu \epsilon \sigma \theta a .$

15. $d\kappa\rho\omega\tau\eta\rho(\omega\nu)$ —in apposition with 'P $\eta\gamma$ for, 'a projecting point on the Italian coast'. It seems plain that the passage refers to the advantageous position of Rhegium itself, not to some promontory near the city.

16. 'Aθηναίοις τε οἰκ—Classen omits τε, which however is found in the best manuscripts. If we retain it, we must either consider that it is out of place, and in sense follows $e\phi o \rho \mu e \hat{\nu}$, coupling it to τοῦ πορθμοῦ κρατεῦν; or we must suppose that Thuc. was going to speak of the Syracusans in the second part of the sentence, but altered its construction.

17. ἕστι δέ— 'consists of, is formed by': so, in a similar topographical description, iii. 112, έστον δε δύο λόφω ή Ίδομένη. τοῦτο—'this channel'. βραχύτατον ἀπέχει—so iii. 104, ἀπέχει δλίγον. The strait is not narrowest between Rhegium and Messene, nor are these places exactly opposite cach other.

Thucydides is speaking of the strait generally, which at its narrowest point is not much more than two miles across, and would be entirely commanded by Rhegium and Messene.

20. 1 'Οδυσσεύς—the passage of Ulysses is related in the twelfth book of the Odyssey. Charybdis, the whirlpool monster, was more terrible than Scylla, the monster of the rock, and Ulysses escaped with the loss of some of his men by keeping nearer to the side on which Scylla dwelt.

21. Sid στενότητα δè κα(- 'owing to the narrowness of the passage, and as it rushes in, etc.'; two reasons given with different verbal construction. $ig a\dot{v}to$ -into this channel, = $ro\partial ro$, line 20. Note that in this passage $\theta a \lambda a \sigma \sigma a$ is used of the zea generally, $\pi \ell \lambda a \gamma os$ of a particular 'sea', as a geographical description. The 'Tyrsenian (Tyrthenian) sea' is that on the w. coast of Italy, the 'Sicilian' z. and s.z. of Sicily.

24. $\epsilon l \kappa \delta \tau \omega s \chi a \lambda \epsilon \pi \eta$ loop ($\sigma \theta \eta$ —' naturally got a dangerous name'. The way in which Thuc, speaks shows that the terrors of the strait were entirely a thing of the past.

CHAPTER XXV

3. $\eta \nu \alpha \gamma \kappa \dot{\alpha} \sigma \eta \sigma \alpha \nu$ —though they wished to fight (ch. 24, 8), the action, late in the day and in the narrow strait, was forced upon them by the danger of a friendly ship. $\dot{\alpha} \nu \tau \epsilon \pi \alpha \nu \alpha \gamma \dot{\alpha} \mu \epsilon \nu \alpha -$ 'putting out to see against', $\dot{\epsilon} \pi i$ implying that the Syracusans made the attack.

8. $i\nu \tau \hat{\omega}$ 'Pηγ $i\omega$ -'in the territory of Rhegium', i.e. at some point on the coast where the Locrians had established themselves, Rhegium itself being the headquarters of the Athenians. The Syracusans and allies had thus two naval stations, to which they now fled, $\dot{\omega}s$ is $\kappa \alpha \sigma \tau \alpha \delta$ irv $\chi \circ \nu$, i.e. each ship made for the nearer point. Classen however points out that there is no mention of any such naval station friendly to Syracuse near Rhegium, and thinks it possible that Thucydides means that the Syracusans returned to Messene, and the Athenians to Rhegium, the sentence to which of $\Sigma \nu \rho \alpha \kappa \sigma \tau \alpha$ is the nominative expanding in meaning at this point, and applying to the combatants on both sides: 'they departed, each combatant making for his own headquarters at Messene and Rhegium respectively'.

For similar cases of what may be called expanded apposition see note on ch. 80, 18, kal $\pi \rho o \kappa \rho (\nu a \nu \tau \epsilon s \delta \sigma \kappa (\lambda lovs..., ol \mu e \nu \tau a lept <math>\pi \epsilon \rho (\eta \lambda \theta o \nu, ol \delta e \kappa. \tau. \lambda)$. In the sentence before us however ώs ἕκαστοι seems more applicable to the beaten Syracusans only, who fied as they best could in different ways. Moreover $d\pi o \lambda \dot{\epsilon}$ σαντες certainly refers to the Syracusan side alone.

9. ἐπεγένετο τῷ ἔργω—'closed upon the action': so ch. 48, 20, νύξ ἐπ. τῷ παθήματι: iii. 112, νυκτός ἐπιγενομένης, etc. ἔργον— 'action', i.e. fight: v. 67, ἐν τῷ ἐκείνων τὸ ἔργον ἐγίγνετο, 'the action was to be fought in their country'.

10. of $\mu \ell \nu \Lambda \delta \kappa \rho \circ t$ —in ch. 1 we are told that the Locrian army withdrew from Rhegium. They may not have finally evacuated the territory till now, or possibly there may have been two invasions. The land and sea forces were now concentrated at Peloris, the N.E. promontory of Sicily.

15. χειρί σιδηρậ—' a grappling iron': vii. 62, χειρῶν σιδηρῶν ἐπιβολαί. αὐτοὶ ἀπῶλεσαν—' they themselves (the Athenians) lost'. This is plainly right, because of ἐτέραν ναῦν ἀπολλύουσιν, line 21, and οὐκ ἐλασσον ἔχοντες, line 23. Otherwise aὐroîs, which has the better authority, might stand, meaning ' they destroyed for the enemy'. Jowett suggests that aὐroîs may mean ' they lost at the hands of the enemy' = dat. commodi.

19. $\dot{a}\pi\delta \kappa \dot{a}\lambda\omega$ —'with a rope', i.e. being towed. They kept as near to the shore as possible to have the support of the land forces.

20. $\dot{a}\pi\sigma\sigma\iota\mu\omega\sigma\dot{a}\nu\tau\omega\nu$ 'got their ships into the open sea', according to the scholiast. $\sigma_{i\mu}\dot{\sigma}s$ means 'snub-nosed', and when applied to ground signifies sloping up hill, as in Xen. Hell. iv. 3, 23: see Lidd. and Scott. Hence the meaning seems to be that the Syracusans cast off their tow-ropes, and made an oblique movement at an obtuse angle to their former course, thus getting into the open and attacking the Athenians first. The Athenian fleet seems to have been in very incompetent hands since the arrival of Pythodorus (iii. 115).

26. προδίδοσθαι—'news being brought that Camarina was to be betrayed'; impf. like προδίδομένην, ch. 7, 5. Camarina was a Syracusan colony, but friendly to the Athenian allies (iii, 86).

29. Νάξον την Χαλκιδικήν—colonized by the Chalcidians from Euboea, and the first Greek settlement in Sicily (vi. 3).

31. τειχήρεις ποιήσαντες—'having confined them within their walls': so ii. 101: Hdt. i. 162.

32. περιπλεύσαντες—round a headland which lies to the s. of Naxos. κατά τὸν 'Ακεσίνην—' by way of': iii. 7, κατὰ τὸν 'Αχελῷον ἔπλευσε (opp. to κατὰ γῆν): ch. 14, 1, καθ' ἐκάτερον τὸν ἔσπλουν. For the order cf. ch. 43, 3, ἐπὶ τὴν Σολύγειαν κώμην. 34. πρὸς τὴν πόλων ἐσεβάλλον—if the reading be right, this probably means 'made an inroad in the direction of the city', ἐσβάλλω being used of invading a country, not of attacking a place. (When used with έs of cavalry attacking a body of troops, as ii. 100: vi. 70, it possibly means 'shooting darts into' though the meaning of charging seems more appropriate in the former of these passages.) Poppo and others would here read προσέβαλλον, 'made an attack': in viii. 31 ἐσβολὴν ποιησάμενος τŷ πόλαι is the manuscript reading, for which also προσβολήν is proposed as a correction.

ib. $\Sigma_{i\kappa\epsilon\lambda\circ\ell}$ —the non-Greek inhabitants, called $\beta d\rho\beta a\rho \alpha_i$, line 42. $\Sigma_{i\kappa\epsilon\lambda\circ\ell}$ was the general name for the Greek colonists. In vi. 2 we are told that the $\Sigma_{i\kappa\epsilon\lambda\circ\ell}$ crossed originally from Italy, and being numerous and powerful they gave their name to the island, of which they still possessed the centre and northern portions. $\hat{\nu}\pi\epsilon\rho$ $\tau\hat{\nu}\nu$ $\hat{\alpha}\kappa\rho\omega\nu$ —with $\kappaar\epsilon\beta a_{ir}\sigma_r$, 'came down in numbers over the heights'. Possibly of $\dot{\nu}\pi\epsilon\rho$, 'who dwell beyond the heights', should be read. $\beta\rho\eta\theta\hat{o}\hat{\nu}\tau\epsilon\hat{\epsilon}$ ' $\hat{\kappa}\pi($ —to attack the Messenians: iii. 110, $\beta\sigma\eta\hat{\epsilon}\hat{\nu}$ $\hat{\epsilon}\tau'$ autors.

45. $i\pi'$ of $\kappa o v$ -'homewards' (with $i \kappa a \sigma \tau a u$). The allied fleet was broken up, and the contingents returned to their several ports.

47. κεκακωμένην—' having received a severe blow': ch. 87, 7, κακούμενοι, 'sustaining injury'. προσβάλλοντες applies to the whole allied force, which is divided into oi μέν 'Αθηναΐοι..., $\delta \delta t πεξός. t πείρων—' made their attempt': ch. 43, 24, t πl κώμην$ πειράσειν: vii. 72, άλλη πειράσειν: usually with gen., i. 61,πειράσαντες τοῦ χωρίου. For κατά and πρός see note on line 32. $<math>\delta$ πεξός—(adj.) sc. στρατός, 'the land army': i, 47, etc.

49. ἐπεκδρομήν ποιησάμενοι—' having sallied out against them'; a similar compound to ἐπεκθεῖν, ch. 34, 3.

51. $\tau \circ \hat{\nu} \Delta \eta \mu \circ \tau \hat{\lambda} \Delta \upsilon s$ —there seems no reason for the article, which as a rule is used only with names which are well known, or have been mentioned before. The rule however is not invariably observed. $\mu \epsilon \tau \dot{\sigma} \tau \dot{\sigma} d \sigma s$ —i.e. after their disastrous attempt on Naxos. $\dot{\epsilon} \gamma \kappa \alpha \tau \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\epsilon} \phi \partial \eta \sigma \alpha \nu \phi \rho \upsilon \rho \dot{\epsilon}$ —that been left behind in the city as a garrison', on the separation of the combined forces.

57. τροπαίον στήσαντες—the infinitesimal success thus commemorated seems to have satisfied Pythodorus, who now returned to his headquarters at Rhegium, the Athenians having this year lost Messene and gained no compensating advantage.

CHAPTER XXVI

1. ξτι έπολιόρκουν... ξμενεν—the imperf. denotes the continuance of the state of things described at the end of ch. 23.

6. ὅτι μή—also written ὅ τι μή, 'except': ch. 94, 10, οὐ παρεγένοντο ὅτι μὴ δλίγοι: cf. ch. 16, 15, ὅσα μή.

 διαμώμενοι τὸν κάχληκα—'scraping away the shingle'; see Annold's note. Eur. Bacch, 709, describes the Bacchae as finding milk, ἄκροισι δακτύλοισι διαμώσαι χθόνα. οἶον εἰκός—sc. πίνειν αὐτούς, such water as could be thus procured.

10. $\sigma\tau\epsilon\nuo\chi\omega\rho\iotaa$ —cf. ch. 8, 35—9. The Athenians held only Pylos itself, the mainland and the island being occupied by their enemies. There was therefore no anchorage or harbour ($\delta\rho\mu\sigma$) where the ships could lie, nor could the men land with safety except under the walls of the fort. The trircme was plainly a vessel for fighting only, with but little accommodation for the crew.

11. σῖτον ὑροῦντο—' took their food', al μέν in this clause implying the crews. Cobet (Var. Lect. p. 451) would read ol μέν: but cf. i. 110, where τριήρεις is followed by οὐκ εἰδότες. κατὰ μέρος —' in turn, in divisions': iii. 49, ol μὲν ὕπνον ὑροῦντο κατὰ μέρος ol δὲ ὅλανγον.

ib. oüş $\phi o \nu \tau o$ for they thought they should reduce them'. ov means the enemy, as the sense shows, though the antecedent is not expressed. Such a sentence is elliptical, and would be completed by inserting 'as they were besieging men, whom' etc. So ii. 44, $\chi a \lambda \epsilon \pi \delta \nu$ olda $\pi \epsilon (\partial \epsilon \nu \delta \nu, \omega \nu \kappa a i$ $\pi \circ \lambda \lambda \dot{\alpha} \kappa s \xi_{\xi \tau \tau} \dot{\nu} \pi o \mu \nu \dot{\eta} \mu a \tau a$, 'I know it is hard to persuade you, when you will often be reminded of them', i.e. of the sons slain in war, of whom Pericles is speaking.

ib. ήμερῶν ὀλίγων – 'within a few days': Ar. Vesp. 260, οὐκ Ἐσθ' ὅπως οὐχ ἡμερῶν τεττάρων ὕδωρ ἀναγκαίως ἐχει τὸν θεὸν ποιῆσαι, 'it can not be but rain must needs fall within four days': cf. note on θέρους, ch. 1, 1.

16. at too Sè $\eta \nu$ ol- the cause was the Lacedaemonians having given notice', i.e. the fact that they had done so: so viii, 9. at too S' éyévero ol $\mu e \nu$ πολλοl oux eldores κ.τ.λ. 18. τόν βουλόμενον—' any who wished', subj. to έσάγειν: i. 26, οἰκήτορα τὸν βουλόμενον ἰέναι κελεύοντες, 'directing that all who chose should go as settlers'. ὁ βουλόμενος is the usual phrase employed when a duty or privilege is open to all: Dem. Tim. 720 (quoting a law), κατηγορείν 'Δθηναίων τὸν βουλόμενον ofs ξξεστι, ' any duly qualified Athenian may be accuser'.

ib. dληλεσμένον- 'ground': Hdt. vii. 23, σίτος πολλός έφοίτα έκ της 'Ασίης άληλεσμένος. For the form see Veitch's Greek Verbs. Cobet would read άληλεμένον. εί τι- 'any', lit. 'if (they could send in) any': i. 14, 'Αθηναΐοι και εί τινες άλλοι.

19. olov $av...\xiu\mu\phi\epsilon\rho\eta$ —'of whatever kind might (lit. may) be useful for a siege', i.e. for besieged men. The rel. with $a\nu$ is commonly used in thus defining quality or character. The subj. construction is not unusual after a past tense, e.g. ii. 74, $\delta \delta ou k \epsilon' \sigma a r \sigma ... a \epsilon' \chi c \sigma \delta a ... \delta \tau t a k u \mu \beta a' r y.$

olor är ξ uµ¢ipot is also read, and gives a good but different sense, 'such as might be likely to prove serviceable', är being then connected with the verb and not with olos: cf. vi. 36, $\xi\xi$ är är är är θ_{μ} arot δ_{μ} ar or trian what men would be likely to do': so vii. 48, $\xi\xi$ är är τ_{15} ev $\lambda\epsilon_{\gamma}$ ar $\delta_{\alpha}\beta_{\alpha}\lambda_{\lambda}\omega_{t}$. This construction is common, and requires notice. It is often liable to be misunderstood, from är standing next the relative, though not belonging to it.

ib. τάξαντες άργυρίου—'having rated' the service or the provisions 'at a high price': so line 30, τετιμημένα χρημάτων, gen. of price.

23. $d\pi a (povres-'putting off': ch. 46, 2, <math>\ell\kappa \tau \eta s \Pi b o u$ $d\pi \eta pav$. The converse of this is $\kappa a \tau a \ell p \omega$, 'to put in': viii. 39, ℓs $Ka v v \kappa a \tau \eta p \alpha r$: cf. $\kappa a \tau d \rho \sigma c s$, 'landing-places', line 31. $\delta \pi \delta \theta v$ $\tau t \chi o (\epsilon v - t r o m a n y point they chanced', opt. of indefinite$ $frequency: cf. ch. 25, 7, <math>\omega s \ell \kappa a \sigma \tau o \ell \tau v \chi \sigma v$, 'as each happened'. $\ell \tau v v \kappa \tau \delta s - t while it was still night': so ch. 31, 2, r v \kappa \tau \delta s$, lit. at a time of or within the night.

25. ἐτήρουν...καταφέρεσθαι—'looked out for (a chance of) making the land'; usually with subst. as ch. 27, 11: i. 65, άνεμον τηρήσασι, etc.; or partic. i. 134, ἕνδον ὅντα τηρήσαντες aὐτόν, etc. For καταφέρω see note on ch. 3, 9: in the present chapter we have various compounds with κατά in the sense of coming to the coast.

28. $\tau \circ \tilde{s} \delta t \dot{d} \epsilon t \delta \eta s$ —lit. 'the landing was made unsparing', i.e. they ran to shore at the risk of wrecking their boats. $\dot{d} \epsilon t \delta \eta s$ —'unsparing, reckless': Eur. Iph. T. 1354, $\dot{\eta} \mu \epsilon \tilde{s} \delta' \dot{d} \rho \epsilon \delta \eta s \sigma r \epsilon s$, 'made reckless'. $\kappa a \theta \epsilon \sigma \tau \eta \kappa \epsilon$...' was made or established'; the word implies a more or less permanent state of things; i.e. this reckless landing was secured by the Lacedaemonian arrangements: cf. ch. 78, 14: ch. 34, 21, καθίστατο.

29. $\ell\pi\omega\kappa\epsilon_{\lambda}\lambda\sigma\nu$ —cf. note on $\delta\kappa\epsilon\ell\lambda\alpha\nu\tau\alpha s$ ch. 11, 26. This sentence gives the two reasons for risking the landing—the government paid for the boats, and the troops on the island were watching $(\epsilon\phi\lambda\alpha\sigma\sigma\sigma\nu)$ to save the provisions. $\kappa\dot{\alpha}\tau\alpha\rho\sigma s$ —a rare word, except in late Greek.

32. κατά τον λιμένα—as opposed to πρός το πέλαγος: cf. ch. 25, 32, κατά τον 'Ακεσίνην.

34. $\mu\eta\kappa\omega\nu\alpha$ $\mu\epsilon\mu\epsilon\lambda\tau\omega\mu\epsilon\nu\gamma\nu$ —'poppy seed mixed with honey and pounded linseed'. Krüger quotes a scholiast to the effect that poppy seed mixed with honey was a preventive of hunger, while linseed kept off thirst. The commentators cite Athenaeus and other authorities to show that such substances were sometimes smeared on bread or mixed with it.

35. $\delta v \dots \lambda a v \theta a v \delta v \tau \omega v - objective gen. after <math>\phi v \lambda a \kappa a l$. of $\delta t \mu \eta$ $\lambda a v \vartheta a \kappa \epsilon v \sigma \phi a s - \epsilon a n d the others to detect them', <math>\mu \eta$ $\lambda a v \vartheta a \kappa \epsilon v$ after $\epsilon \tau \epsilon \chi v \omega r \tau_0$, lit. ϵ that it should not escape them'.

CHAPTER XXVII

1. $\epsilon_{V} \delta_{t}$ rais 'Aθήνaus... $\epsilon_{k\pi}\lambda\epsilon_{v}\sigma\epsilon_{\sigma}\theta_{a1}$ —the subject of this sentence is the people at Athens; there are two principal verbs, $\dot{\eta}\pi\delta\rho_{\sigma}\nu_{r}$ and $\dot{\epsilon}\delta\epsilon\delta\delta\epsilon\kappa\epsilon\sigma_{r}$, and the participle $\dot{\delta}\rho\dot{\omega}\nu_{res}$ is in agreement with the subject of those verbs; $\ddot{\alpha}\mu a...\kappa_{\rho}\iota r\epsilon^{i}\mu\kappa_{euv}$ being parenthetical. A difficulty is however caused by the words $\epsilon_{V}\chi_{\omega\rho}i\omega$ $\dot{\epsilon}\rho\dot{\eta}\mu_{\omega}$. The troops at Pylos were those who were $\dot{\epsilon}_{V}\chi_{\omega\rho}i\omega$ $\dot{\epsilon}\rho\dot{\eta}\mu_{\omega}$, while old $\tau\epsilon$ $\ddot{\delta}\nu\tau\epsilon_{S}$ $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota\pi\epsilon^{i}\mu\kappa_{ev}$ certainly refers to the people at Athens. In order therefore to complete the sense we must understand either of σ_{V} governed by $\kappa_{0\mu}\dot{\delta}\dot{\eta}\nu$ (or $\mu\epsilon\taua\pi\epsilon^{i}\mu\kappa\epsilon_{V}$), 'for men who were', or $\delta\nu\tau\omega_{V}$, gen. abs., 'the troops being' in a desolate position. Poppo gives a different explanation, that there is a confusion between the Athenians at Athens and those at Pylos, or that they are as it were identified, in which case $\delta\nu\tau\epsilon_{S}$ is understood with $\dot{\epsilon}\nu\chi\omega\rho_{U}\omega$ $\dot{\epsilon}\rho\dot{\eta}\mu\omega$. ταλαιπωρείται— 'suffers hardships', mid.: ch. 35, 15, ταλαιπωρούμενοι: 50 iii. 3, τεταλαιπωρημένοι, etc. και σίτος nom. to έσπλει placed emphatically. έσπλει—cf. ch. 39, 6, έσπλέουσι, note.

4. μη σφών—'lest they should have winter stopping their blockade'; see note on αντών ch. 14, 12. χειμών—here 'the winter season', in line 11 it means stormy weather. $im\lambda \Delta \beta \sigma_{i}$, — 'come upon' and stop: ch. 96, 37, νυκτός έπιλαβούσης το έργον: in ii, 51 it is used of the attack of disease.

5. $\delta\rho\hat{\omega}\nu\tau\epsilons$ —governs the two clauses $\tau\hat{\omega}\nu \tau\epsilon...\epsilon\sigma_{0\mu}\epsilon_{\nu}\eta_{\nu}$, $\tau\delta\nu$ $\tau\epsilon...\epsilon\sigma_{0\mu}\epsilon_{\nu}\sigma_{\nu}$. $\tilde{\alpha}\mu\alpha...\pi\epsilon\rho\iota\pi\epsilon_{\mu}\pi\epsilon_{\nu}\nu$ is parenthetical, see note on line 1. The meaning is clear—'the soldiers withal were in a desert place, and not even in summer could the Athenians send them adequate supplies'. $\sigma\dot{\nu}\kappa\epsilon'\sigma\dot{\sigma}\mu\epsilon_{\nu}\sigma_{\nu}$ -'would not be practicable': see note on ch. 8, 25, $\delta\pi\omega_{\sigma}\mu\dot{\eta}\dot{\eta}$.

 άλλ' η... ἐκπλεύσεσθαι—the infinitives are governed by ¿pῶπτες, or by the idea supplied therefrom, 'they expected, they feared'. ἀνέντων—'having given up, slackened': Eur. Suppl. 1042, ψυλακάs ἀνῆκα. περιγενήσεσθαι—'would pull through', i.e. would escape being reduced by hunger.

12. ἐφοβοῦντο τοὺς Λακεδαιμονίους—'they feared with regard to the Lacedaemonians'; an extension of the common construction by which the subject of a subordinate sentence is made the object of the principal verb, as ch. 1, 8, $\phi_0\beta_0\psi_{\mu}\epsilon_{\nu o}$ τοὐς 'Aθηναίους, μή. ὅτι ἕχοντας—'because they thought they must have some strong point in their favour, as they made no further overtures to them'. τι Ισχυρόν—a source or point of strength: iii. 6, δρῶντες οὐδἰν Ισχυρόν ἀπὸ τῶν Λεσβίων. ἐπικηρυκείεσθαι is need especially of making conciliatory overtures, in which sense it is common.

19. κατασκόπους—'commissioners of inspection', Grote: so vi. 41, ές κατασκοπήν, of a commission sent by Syracuse to the towns in Sicily.

23. $\phi av \eta \sigma \epsilon \sigma \theta a - grammatically dependent on <math>dra\gamma \kappa a \sigma$ $\theta \eta \sigma \epsilon \tau a \iota$: in sense however it seems rather connected with the notion of knowing or thinking which is the main idea of the sentence. We might in fact have expected η $\dot{w} a \gamma \kappa a \sigma \theta \eta \sigma \epsilon \tau a \iota$..., η $\phi a r \eta \sigma \epsilon \tau a \iota$. Poppo indeed suggests that $\phi a r \eta \sigma \epsilon \sigma a \iota$ may follow $\gamma rois$ directly, $\delta \tau \iota$ only affecting the first clause (as in i. 87, etc.), and η being out of place, as in vi. 24 init.

24. ώρμημένους τι τὸ πλέον... 'somewhat the more eager': so ch. 21, 18, τι μάλλον, note. τῦ γνώμῃ... 'in mind', with ὑρμημένους. 29. $d\pi\epsilon\sigma\eta\mu\alpha\nu\epsilon\nu$ -'pointed at'; $d\pi\delta$, as in $d\pi\iota\delta\delta\nu\tau\epsilon$ s, ch. 18, 1, implying that he glanced aside from the immediate question to attack his enemy. $\epsilon\pi\iota\tau\iota\mu\hat{\omega}\nu$ -'reproaching him'; possibly 'saying to his reproach', with $\dot{\rho}\dot{q}\delta\iota\sigma\nu$ $\epsilon \ell\nu\alpha\iota$, which otherwise depends on $d\pi\epsilon\sigma\eta\mu\alpha\nu\epsilon\nu$.

31. $\kappa a l a \dot{v} \tau \delta s \gamma' \ddot{a} \nu$ —'and he himself, he said, would have done this had he been in office', i.e. had he been $\sigma \tau \rho a \tau \eta \gamma \delta s$. From this passage it is plain that Cleon had no official standing, but derived his power merely from his personal influence in the assembly. The conduct of the war rested with the board of strategi, of whom Nicias was the most prominent. Here again Cleon was undeniably right in urging an energetic attempt on the Spartan position.

CHAPTER XXVIII

1. ὑποθορυβησάντων—'having raised some clamour', ὑπό thus compounded having, like sub, the sense of somewhat. The word is not elsewhere found in classical Greek, on which account Cobet suggests ὑπό τι θορυβησάντων. ἐş τὸν Κλέωνα— 'at Cleon': ἐs is very generally used by Thucydides in phrases denoting relation, such as i. 38, ἐs ἡμῶs τοιοίδε, 'of such character towards us': iii. 14, τὰs τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἐs ὑμῶs ἐλπίδαs, 'the hopes of the Greeks in regard to you': cf. note on ch. 22, 14, δαβάλλειν ἐs: so i. 128, εὐεργεσίαν ἐs βασιλέα καπέθετο='he began to bestow services on, or win favour with, the king of Persia': ii. 60, τὰ τῆs ὀργῆs ὑμῶν ἐs ἐμὲ γεγένηται.

2. $\delta \tau \iota \circ \dot{\upsilon} - \dot{\upsilon}$ because he did not sail even now. $\delta \tau \iota$ is read by Krüger and Classen and explained as 'why', an indirect question corresponding to $\tau \iota$ direct; Jowett also approves of this: cf. i. 90, $\delta \pi \delta \tau \epsilon \tau \iota s \xi \rho \iota \tau \circ \delta \tau \epsilon \pi \epsilon \rho \chi \epsilon \tau \alpha \iota$.

3. $\pi \lambda \epsilon \tilde{\iota}$ —Krüger takes this to refer to Nicias, and makes és $\tau \delta \nu$ K $\lambda \epsilon \omega \nu a$ mean 'on hearing Cleon'. It seems however plain that the Athenians called out to ask why Cleon did not sail, if he thought it an easy task. Plutarch (Nic. ch. 7) says that the Athenians called out, $\tau i \delta \epsilon$ obx $i \kappa al \nu \delta \nu$ advos $\sigma \delta$ $\pi \lambda \epsilon i s \epsilon \pi l$ robs $\tilde{a}\nu\delta\rho a$;

5. $\tau \delta \epsilon \pi l \sigma \phi \hat{a}_s \epsilon l \nu a \iota$ -Nicias says 'so far as concerns us', $\sigma \phi \hat{a}_s$ meaning himself and his colleagues: ch. 9, 21. For elvat cf. i. 21, $\omega_s \pi a \lambda a i \delta \epsilon l \nu a_i$, 'so far as their ancient date allows': ii. 89, $\epsilon \kappa \omega r \epsilon \epsilon \nu a_i$, 'so far as my will goes': see also note on ch. 14, 20, $\omega_s \epsilon l \pi \epsilon \hat{\nu}$.

7. λόγω μόνον aφιένaι-'only pretended to give up'. λόγω is opposed to έργω or τῶ δντι; i. 128, τῶ δὲ λόγω ἀπέδρασαν αὐτόν, 'he pretended that they had escaped from him': ii. 65, $\lambda \delta \gamma \omega \mu \delta r$ δημοκρατία, ξργφ δέ ύπο του πρώτου ανδρός άρχή, of Athens under Pericles.

8. παραδωσείοντα _'wished to hand over the command'. The termination $\epsilon i \omega$ is a desiderative formed from the future: i. 33, $\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu \eta \sigma \epsilon l \omega$, 'I wish for war', from the future of $\pi o \lambda \epsilon \mu \hat{\omega}$: i. 95, απαλλαξείω, from fut. of απαλλάσσω: viii. 79, ναυμα-. yngelowres, from fut. of raumaxŵ, etc.: Ar. Vesp. 168, Pax 62. Soagelw. The Latin termination urio has the same force. e.g. esurio, formed from esum supine of edo. avex wper-'he began to draw back'. Kal ouk ton-'and said Nicias was general, not he': avros subj. to orparnyeiv, nom. because referring to the subject of Edn.

9. our av olouevos-'and never supposing that Nicias could have brought himself to withdraw in his favour'. τολμώ, used according to the context, of audacity, fortitude, hardness of heart, condescension, etc. implies in every case an overcoming of natural weakness or inclination. It may often be rendered 'to have the heart' to do something, oi, sibi, means Cleon, autor Nicias. av-with Tolungar

11. ξίστατο-'renounced': ii. 63, ής (άρχης) ούδε εκστήναι tri ύμιν čστιν, 'which moreover you can not now give up'. Notice the force of the imperfects in this passage: Nicias 'was ready to renounce' the command, Cleon 'tried to back out' of it, the people 'kept calling upon' Nicias to hand it over, etc.

14. υπέφευγε-'shrunk from'. έξανεχώρει τα είρημένα-'backed out of what he had said'. Though the verb is compounded with 25 it governs the accusative, since it represents the active idea 'to evade': cf. iii. 34, uneterdoures rourous, 'withdrawing from these': i. 128, antéopasar avror: so Dem. Lept. 460, ούδένα πώποτε κίνδυνον έξέστησαν, 'they never shrank from any danger', etc. Similarly in Latin we have, Tac. Ann. xii. 35, evadere 'to pass' with acc.: so ib. ii. 38, egredi relationem. 'to go beyond the question': ib. xi. 36, evecta insulas.

15. τόσφ—'so much (the more)': viii. 24, ὄσφ—τόσφ: so i. 37, τοσφδε. The more usual prose form is τοσούτφ.

16. καl ἐκείνω ἐπεβόων πλειν-'and shouted at Cleon to sail': so v. 65, Αγιδι έπεβόησεν: vi. 16, τα ίδια έπιβοώμενος, 'cried out at in respect of my private life'. The shouts in the assembly seem to have come from supporters of Cleon, who hoped that he would succeed

18. $\pi \alpha \rho \epsilon \lambda \theta \omega \nu$ —the usual expression for 'coming forward' to address the assembly: iii. 41, $\pi \alpha \rho \epsilon \lambda \theta \omega \nu \kappa a l \tau \delta \tau \epsilon$. Note over ϵ ... $\tau \epsilon$. An $\mu \nu \delta \sigma \omega \kappa a l' \mu \beta \rho \delta \sigma \omega$ —usually mentioned together: as in iii. 5, where they remain faithful to Athens on the occasion of the revolt of Lesbos: v. 8, where they form a part of the force with which Cleon attempted to recover Amphipolis.

21. Of $\eta \sigma av \xi \kappa \tau \epsilon A' vou-for \pi \epsilon \lambda \tau a \sigma \tau ds \tau \epsilon of \eta \sigma av \xi A' vou...$ $<math>\kappa a(\kappa,\tau,\lambda)$. $\tau \epsilon$, which is grammatically out of place, connects in sense $\xi \kappa \tau \epsilon A' vou and a \lambda \lambda o \theta \epsilon v$, as the two sources from which the auxiliaries came.

22. $\tau a \tilde{\nu} \tau a$ —'this force'. $i \nu \ell \pi \epsilon \sigma \epsilon$ —see note on ch. 4, 5. $\tau \iota \kappa a l \gamma \ell \lambda \omega \tau o s$ —'something even of laughter': i. 5, $\phi \ell \rho o \nu \tau \delta s \tau \iota \kappa a l \delta \delta \ell \tau s$, of piracy, 'even bringing some honour'. $\tau \tilde{\eta} \kappa o \upsilon \phi o \lambda o \gamma \iota q$ —'at his vain and boastful speaking', an unusual word.

This is the first mention of laughter on this occasion, and it was excited simply by Cleon's boastful manner. There is no warrant whatever for the idea that the Athenians committed the incredible folly of forcing the command upon him by way of a joke. Plutarch (Nic. ch. 7) says τοις δε 'Aθηναίοις έπηλθε γελάσαι μέγα μάλλον η πιστευσαι, when Cleon 'added his limit' $(\pi \rho o \sigma \delta i \omega \rho (\sigma a \tau o))$ of twenty days. Still the majority of the assembly seem to have believed that the attempt ought to be made, and that Cleon would succeed in it. Nicias and his colleagues are however open to grave censure for entrusting the conduct of an expedition, from which they appear to have shrunk themselves. to a man of no military experience or capacity. If this was done merely in the hope of discrediting a political opponent, it would not be easy to find a more disgraceful party manœuvre. Possibly they may have considered the enterprise feasible. but were not upwilling that its risks should fall upon Cleon, while they knew that Demosthenes would be at hand to advise and direct.

27. ἀσμένοις ἐγίγνετο-'sober-minded men were not ill pleased': so ii. 3, τῷ πλήθει οὐ βουλομένῷ ἦν ἀφίστασθαι, 'the multitude did not wish to revolt': ch. 85, 15, βουλομένοις ἕσεσθαι.

 τοῦ ἐτέρου τεύξεσθαι—' would gain one of two blessings'. ἀπαλλαγήσεσθαι and χειρώσασθαι are dependent on this clause. The former of these is in the future, implying a state of subsequent continuance, 'being rid for the future of Cleon': while Yeinwaadai refers to one definite point. 'subduing the Lacedaemonians'. There is no difficulty in the aor. following an expression which denotes expectation: see notes on ch. 9, 21 and 24, 12. The subject to xeipwoaobai is Kitwa: cf. v. 63, "Ayır er altla elyor où yespwoaueror oplos "Apyos, 'blamed Agis for not subduing Argos for them'.

There is no doubt an awkwardness in this change of subject: Cobet, who says of the passage misere laborat, proposes the passive fut. perfect rexcipioceobai.

30. ήλπιζον-'expected'; as is plain from the following σφαλείσι γνώμης: cf. 18, 9, γνώμη σφαλέντες. Jowett's rendering, 'which they would have greatly preferred', is unnecessarily hard on the oudpores.

CHAPTER XXIX

1. καl πάντα διαπραζάμενος- having had all arrangements made'. Note the construction; the gen. abs. is placed between two participles in agreement with the nom. to the verb: see Goodwin, § 111. ψηφισαμένων—so vi. 25, ηντινα αὐτῷ παρασκευὴν ψηφίσωνται, 'what force they are to vote him'.

4. avaywyn'y-'putting to sea', a reading adopted by Krüger, Classen, etc., here and in vi. 29 for aywynr, which has the better manuscript authority. aywyn means 'bringing', as v. 85, n is rows oblyous aywyn, and might possibly mean the conveyance of Cleon's forces and supplies, and therefore his voyage in general: so Xen. Cyr. vi. 1, 24, in rais aywyais, 'on marches'.

6. την απόβασιν διανοείσθαι-'to contemplate the descent'. This is the only instance in Thuc, of Starociofat being followed by a substantive. Usually it takes the infinitive, or an adverb, as ώσπερ διενοοῦντο. We have however, ch. 22, 10, εί τι ὑγιές διανοοῦνται, and iii. 75, οὐδὲν ὑγιές διανοουμένων: cf. 13, 19, å διενοήθησαν. It does not therefore seem necessary to adopt Cobet's view that $\pi \alpha \epsilon i \sigma \theta \alpha \iota$ has been accidentally omitted.

It has been suggested that some secret communications had already passed between Demosthenes and Cleon, which made the latter ready to undertake the expedition. It is at any rate clear that he did not take a leap in the dark, but had full information as to the state of things at Pylos. Thus he took with him a force of suitable character, and secured the help of Demosthenes, a brave and competent officer.

10. $\dot{\rho}\dot{\omega}\mu\eta\nu$ —'confidence': vii. 18, τοῖς Λακεδαιμονίοις έγεγένητο $\dot{\rho}\dot{\omega}\mu\eta$: so ii. 8, ξρρωντο ές τὸν πόλεμον, 'were confident and eager for the war'. ή νήσος ἐμπρησθείσα—'the island having caught fire': cf. ch. 26, 16, οι Λακεδαιμόνιοι προειπόντες: so iii. 20, τῶ σίτω ἐπιλιπόντι ἐπιέζοντο, etc.

11. $\pi\rho \delta \tau \epsilon \rho \sigma \nu \mu \epsilon \nu$ —corresponding to this is $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu \delta \epsilon \sigma \tau \rho a \tau i \omega \tau \hat{\omega} \nu$, ch. 30, 3, a long parenthetical passage being inserted, which gives the reasons of the previous hesitation on the part of Demosthenes. The island is described in similar words in ch. 8.

14. πολλῷ γὰρ ἄν—either 'if he landed with a large army', or στρατοπέδψ agreeing with ἀποβάντι. προσβάλλοντας—'they could fall on him from an unseen position and do him injury'; ἄν goes with βλάπτειν. The acc. and inf. depend on ἐνόμιζε, or the sense supplied from it, the same construction lasting to the end of the chapter.

16. $\tau \dot{\alpha}s$ —note one article with two nouns of different number: so i. 143, $\tau \dot{\eta}\nu \mu \dot{\epsilon}\nu \gamma \dot{\eta}\nu$ kal oklas $\dot{\alpha}\phi \hat{\epsilon}\rho a$. Note also neut. plural $\delta \hat{\eta}\lambda a$ in agreement with the general idea of 'the enemy's situation'.

20. $\frac{1}{3}$ βούλοιντο—'wherever they chose', represents after a past tense $\frac{1}{3}$ $\frac{1}{\alpha\nu}$ βούλωνται; 'wherever they may choose'. $\frac{1}{\alpha\nu}$ ' έκείνοις γάρ—'for the initiative would rest with them': ii. 84, την έπεχείρησιν έφ' έαυτῷ ένόμιζεν είναι.

24. λανθάνειν τε—'and so their force though numerous would get cut to pieces unawares', lit. 'would find itself being cut to pieces': so i. 141, ώστε λανθάνειν το κοινον φθειρόμενον.

25. oùx où or s-'it being impossible to see at what point they ought to help each other': so ii. 89, $\mu\hbar \xi\chi\omega\nu \tau\lambda\nu \pi\rho\delta\sigma\sigma\psi\iota\nu$ $\tau\omega\nu \pi\sigma\lambda\epsilon\mu\omega\nu \epsilon\kappa \pi\sigma\lambda\lambda\sigma0$, 'not being able to sight the enemy at any distance'. Some editors in both passages write $\pi\rho\delta\sigma\psi\iotas$ in the sense of 'seeing in front': the word occurs v. 8, where it means 'seeing beforehand'.

ib. $\chi\rho\eta\nu$ —the general sense of the passage deals with what Demosthenes had been thinking up to the time of the fire, the imperfect infinitives with $a\nu$ throughout the passage representing what in his view would have been happening if the attack had been made. We have therefore the imperf. $\chi\rho\eta\nu$ corresponding to $e\nu\delta\mu\mu$ in line 23: so ii. 51, $e\nu$ δ' ouble $e\nu$ kareform tama δ τi $\chi\rho\eta\nu$ mpossible power to be service able ': v. 35, $\chi\rho\delta\nu\sigma\sigma$ so $\pi\rho\sigma\delta\thetae\nu\tau\sigma \ e\nu$ of κ $\chi\rho\eta\nu$. (The present $\chi\rho\eta$ is often used in a similar way, as in ch. 34, 28.)

CHAPTER XXX

1. $d\pi \delta \delta t \tau \omega^2 A t \tau \omega \lambda t \kappa \omega^2$ —the disaster which Demosthenes sustained the year before, as related iii, 97, 98. The Athenians were deficient in light-armed troops, and after holding out for some time against an enemy who could not be brought to close quarters, but harassed them at every point, they finally took to flight. Many lost their way in a wood, and were destroyed by fire. The Athenians lost many of their allies, and 120 of their best heavy-armed men. It is not a little remarkable that Cleon (ch. 28) at once announced his intention to bring troops of the very kind which Demosthenes had lacked in Aetolia, and which had operated against him with fatal effect. This certainly suggests the probability of some understanding between the two commanders.

 μέρος τι—'in a great measure', an adverbial use of the determinant accusative: cf. ch. 16, 17, note. οὐχ ἥκιστα— 'mainly'. These are instances of μείωσιs: cf. ch. 13, 22.

3. ἐσήει—' occurred to him': vi. 30, μαλλον αυτούς ἐσήει τὰ δεινά.

 τής νήσου τοῖς ἐσχάτοις—' on the edges of the island' after προσίσχοντας.

διά προφυλακής — ' with a guard posted in advance':
 81, διὰ φυλακής ξχουτες.

6. κατά μικρόν τῆς ὕλης—these words are the object of έμπρήσαντος, κατά μικρόν forming as it were a single word: cf. note on ch. 3, 13, $i\pi l$ πολύ.

7. aκοντος—' unintentionally', aκων implying sometimes the absence of will, sometimes its contravention: Plat. Rep. 520 B, of philosophers, αύτόματοι ἐμφύσται ἀκοίστις τῆς πολιreίas. ἀπὸ τούτου, if the text be right, goes with ἐπιγενομένου, meaning 'after this' or ' thereupon'. It usually means ' from this cause'. Classen therefore omits καί, and takes ἀπὸ τούτου with ἐλαθε κατακαυθέν. ἐπιγενομένου—' having sprung up after', see note on ch. 26. 14. ἐλαθε κατακαυθέν=' got burnt down accidentally'.

8. $\delta \tilde{\tau} \sigma \delta \eta$ —this sentence extends to $\epsilon \tau \sigma c \mu d j \omega r$, line 15. As it stands in the text there is one principal verb, $\pi a \rho \epsilon \sigma \kappa \epsilon \upsilon d \epsilon$ [ero, line 13; the participle $\kappa a \tau \delta \tilde{\omega} v$, in agreement with the subject of this verb, governing the two clauses $\tau \delta s \tau \epsilon \Lambda a \kappa \epsilon \delta a \epsilon \mu \rho v l$ $over...\delta \tau \tau a s, and <math>\tau \eta v \tau \epsilon v \eta \sigma \sigma m ... \delta \sigma a r$. The clause $\vartheta \pi \sigma v \sigma \tilde{\omega} r ... \epsilon \sigma \tau \epsilon \mu \pi \epsilon v$ is parenthetical. 9. $\pi\lambda \epsilon (ovs \ ov\tau as - to be more numerous' than he had thought.$

10. $\dot{\upsilon}\pi\sigma\nu\sigma\dot{\omega}\nu$ $\pi\rho\dot{\sigma}\tau\epsilon\rho\sigma\nu$ —this refers to the arrangements for provisioning the island in the truce, ch. 16. $i\lambda\dot{\alpha}\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma\tau$ —for a smaller number than was stated, or than now appeared. Demosthenes had been under the impression that the enemy had overstated their numbers in order to get a store of provisions. $\dot{\upsilon}\pi\sigma\nu\sigma\dot{\omega}\nu$ and $i\sigma\pi\mu\pi\epsilon\nu$ are imperfect.

11. $a\dot{v}\tau o\dot{v}$ —the invariable MSS reading. Professor Kennedy considers it to be the genitive, referring to $\tau \delta \nu \sigma \tilde{v} \tau \sigma \nu$ and governed by $\delta \lambda d\sigma \sigma \sigma \sigma \tau$, and translates 'suspecting that he (Dem.) was sending in the corn for a smaller number than the corn itself', i.e. smaller than corresponded to the rations imported according to the terms of the armistice. It is true that in ch. 16, lines 9 and 13, the words $\delta \kappa \pi \delta \mu \pi \epsilon \nu$ and $\delta \sigma \pi \delta \mu \pi \epsilon \nu$ are used of the Lacedaemonians, which is an argument in favour of their being here also the subject of $\delta \sigma \pi \delta \mu \pi \epsilon \nu$. The Spartans however would not be allowed by Demosthenes to convey the corn into Sphacteria themselves, and so to have constant intercommunication with their men on the island. Whatever the particular arrangements were, the rations would be delivered by the agency of the Athenians, and therefore $\delta \sigma \pi \delta \mu \pi \epsilon \nu$ is here used of Demosthenes, who actually 'sent in ' the corn.

airboe, airois, airois, and airois $\pi\ell\mu\pi\epsilon\nu$ have been suggested as emendations. Of these airois, which is read by Classen, gives the best sense and supplies a subject to $\epsilon\sigma\pi\ell\mu$ - $\pi\epsilon\nu$: though it is open to the objection that its meaning must be gathered from the context, those who sent in the corn not being identical with rows Aacedauparlous, line 9. (See Appendix.)

It must however be noted that according to manuscript authority the clause τότε...ποιείσθαι follows ἐσπέμπειν. If this order be retained, the inf. $\pi \sigma \iota \epsilon \tilde{\sigma} \sigma a$ depends on $i \pi \sigma \sigma \sigma \tilde{\omega} r$ or the sense of thinking implied therein and it is necessary to insert δt after $\tau \delta \tau \epsilon$ (Poppo). We thus get the meaning, 'thinking that the Athenians were now the more eager, as for a prize worthy of their efforts'. Arnold reads $\tau \delta \tau \epsilon \dots \tau \sigma \iota \tilde{\epsilon} \sigma \sigma a$ dependent on $\kappa a \tau \iota \delta \omega r$, but the arrangement is extremely awkward.

ib. εναποβατωτέραν—the island was 'easier to land on' because the fire had destroyed the cover in which the enemy could have posted themselves.

12. τότε ώς ἐπ' ἀξιάχρεων — following τὴν ἐπιχείρησιν παρεσκευάζετο, 'as for a prize worthy of a more earnest effort on the part of the Athenians', or perhaps 'a risk which called for 'such an effort. ἀξιάχρεων, 'worthy, adequate', is here followed by an infinitive clause. We have, v. 13, ἀξιάχρεων ὅντων δρᾶν, in the sense of 'competent': also Hdt. iv. 126.

 μεταπέμπων — 'sending for'. In this sense the middle would be expected; Thucydides however uses active and middle indifferently: cf. ch. 15, 4, note on βουλεύειν.

 προκαλούμενοι εἰ βούλοιντο... 'proposing, if they would, etc.' sc. that they should agree to these terms: the force of βούλοιντο extends to the end of the sentence, which is partly elliptical: cf. ch. 37, 8, ἐκήρυξάν τε εἰ βουλοίντο.

21. $\sigma\phi$ ($\sigma \iota$ —the Athenians, referring to subject of $\pi \epsilon \mu \pi \sigma \nu \sigma \iota$, ='to us'. $\sigma\phi$ as a $\nu \tau \sigma \nu$'s $\epsilon \nu \tau \tau \eta \nu \eta \sigma \varphi$.

22. $\dot{\phi} \, \dot{\phi} \dots \tau \eta \rho \dot{\eta} \sigma \sigma \nu \tau a \iota$ on condition that they shall be kept': i. 113, $\dot{e} \phi' \, \dot{\phi} \, \tau \sigma \dot{v} s \, \dot{a} \sigma \delta \rho a s \kappa \sigma \mu \sigma \delta \nu \tau a \tau a$, 'on condition that they shall have their men restored': so i. 103, $\dot{e} \phi' \, \dot{\phi} \, \tau e \, \dot{e} f a \sigma u \tau$. For this use of $\dot{e} \pi i$ cf. ch. 16, 24, al $\sigma \pi \sigma \sigma \delta a l \, \dot{e} \pi l \, \tau \sigma \sigma \tau \sigma s$ it gives the ground or understanding on which the truce was based. For fut, indic, see Goodwin, § 65, especially beginning and note 5.

ib. $\phi \nu \lambda \alpha \kappa_U^2 \tau_U^2 \mu \epsilon \tau \rho (\alpha - \alpha n \text{ order not uncommon in Thuc.;}$ cf. ch. 10, 8, $\kappa \nu \delta \nu \nu \sigma \nu \tau \sigma \tau \alpha \chi (\sigma \tau \sigma \nu)$. The definite article here seems to imply a particular kind of imprisonment, which would be called $\mu \epsilon \tau \rho (\alpha, the conditions of which were supposed to be$ known to the Lacedaemonians.

23. τως αν...ζυμβαθη̂ — 'till terms should be arranged concerning the general issue'. τοῦ πλέονος — the question of the war in general, as opposed to the smaller part of it which concerned Pylos in particular: so ch. 117, 7, ξυμβήναι τὰ πλείω, 'to make general terms', as opposed to a temporary truce: cf. note on ch. 17, 17, τοῦ πλέονοι. ξυμβαθη̂ — aor. pass. of ξυμβαίνω (so ch. 23, 8, παραβαθη̂): the perf. pass. inf. ξυμβεβάσθαι occurs viii. 98.

ξπέσχον- 'delayed', often used with the acc. of time:
 ch. 73, 29, χρόνον δὲ ἐπισχόντες: cf. ch. 5, 4, note.

2. $i\sigma\tau\epsilon\rho a(a-sc. \eta\mu\epsilon\rho a$: ch. 25, 32. The termination -acos is especially used of a day; so i. 61, $\tau\rho\iota\tau aios a\phi |\kappa o \nu \tau o$, 'they came on the third day'.

ib. $i\pi' \delta\lambda(\gamma as vaves—the heavy armed men were landed$ first, the rest of the force following at daybreak, ch. 32, 6. $<math>\tau\eta s \nu\eta \sigma ov i \kappa a \tau i \rho \omega \theta \epsilon v - \cdot \circ n$ both sides of the island', = ab utraque parte. So words like inde are used of the quarter on which a movement is made: cf. line 13, $i\kappa$.

8. $\delta\delta\epsilon$ yàp $\delta\iota\epsilon\tau\epsilon\tau\dot{a}\chi\alpha\tauo$ —'the enemy were disposed as follows': $\alpha\tauo$, an Ionic form, = $\nu\tauo$ as seen in $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\lambda\nu\tau\sigmao$: so v. 6 and vii. 4, $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\tau\dot{a}\chi\alpha\tauo$: iii. 13, $\tau\epsilon\tau\dot{a}\chi\alpha\taua\iota$: ib. $\epsilon\phi\beta\dot{a}\rho\alpha\taua\iota$ i.e. $\epsilon\phi\theta\alpha\rho-\nu-\tau a\iota$. In Plat. Rep. 533 B we have $\tau\epsilon\tau\rho\dot{a}\rho\alpha\taua\iota$ from $\tau\rho\epsilon\pi\omega$. These forms are not found in the orators, the substantive verb, as infr. $\tau\epsilon\tau\alpha\gamma\mu\epsilon\nu\sigma\iota$ $\eta\sigma\alpha\nu$, being the usual periphrasis for an unpronounceable third person plural.

9. $\mu\epsilon\sigma\sigma\nu$ $\delta\epsilon$ —the absence of articles in this clause is remarkable. $\mu\epsilon\sigma\sigma\nu$ is indeed often used without $\tau\delta$ for 'the centre' of an army, and here is similarly used of the centre of the island or of the Lacedaemonian position. On the same principle the definite sense is to be supplied with $\delta\mu\alpha\lambda\omega\tau\alpha\tau\sigma\nu$ and $\pi\epsilon\rho t \tau\delta$ $\delta\delta\omega\rho$. There seems to have been only one spring, and that was brackish $(\dot{a}\lambda\mu\nu\rho\delta\nu)$, ch. 26, 16.

14. κal γάρ τι—'for indeed there was also, etc.'; this explains why it was less $\epsilon \pi t \mu a \chi or$. $\lambda(\theta a \nu - \cdot made of stones';$ i. 93, ol $\theta \epsilon \mu \epsilon \lambda i o in \pi a \nu \tau o l a \nu \lambda i d a \nu v i n \delta \kappa \epsilon \epsilon \nu \tau a i, 'the lower courses consist of stones of all sorts'. Krüger quotes some other instances. For <math>\lambda_0 \gamma a \delta \eta$ see note on ch. 4, 7.

17. εἰ καταλαμβάνοι—'if they should be hard pressed': for καταλαμβάνω see note on ch. 20, 4. ἀναχώρησις βιαιοτέρα a retreat unusually hard pressed: v. 73, ἡ φυγὴ καὶ ἀποχώρησις οὐ βίαιος οὐδὲ μακρὰ ἦν: so ii. 33, βιαιότερον ἀναγαγόμενοι, after the failure of a naval attempt.

CHAPTER XXXII

 Εν τε ταῖς εὐναῖς—τε couples this clause with its aco. participle to the nominative λαθόντες τὴν ἀπόβασιν, which is in agreement with οι ᾿Αθηναῖοι. Classen quotes from Tac. Hist. i. 45, vinciri iussum et maiores poenas daturum afirmans praesenti exitio subtraxit. Demosthenes now repeated the manoeuvre by which he had surprised the Ambraciots the year before; iii. 112, dua $\delta\rho\theta\rho\rho$ deministration definition of the second seco λαθόντες την ἀπόβασιν—' having landed without being seen'. ἀπόβασιν is a determinant accusative, 'in the landing': a strange construction. Rutherford inserts ποιησάμενοι.

6. ές ξφορμον-because all the ships lay round the island at night; ch. 23, 14.

8. ἐκ μὲν νεῶν ἰβδομήκοντα—seventy ships were already at Pylos, ch. 23, 18, and Cleon had brought a small number besides. θaλaμίων—the carsmen of the lowest bench, usually called θaλaμίται. They were left to look after the ships, probably as being less able-bodied than the θρaxiτaι and ζυγiται, who had to work longer cars.

According to the calculation on ch. 9, 13, each ship would furnish upwards of 100 men, giving a total of about 8000 sailors. Besides these there were 800 heavy-armed, at least 1600 archers and targeteers, and Messenians and others from the garrison. Demosthenes and Cleon had therefore a force of more than 10,000 men to attack the 420 Lacedaemonians with their attendant Helots.

9. ús čkaoroi čorkvaorµćvoi — 'equipped as they severally were', i.e. as well as could be managed in each case. In this phrase, which is far from uncommon, the participle suggests the verb which is to be supplied with ús: vi. 17, ragú ð' år ús kraroi rporgupõiev, 'they would speedily join us severally', lit. 'as each (would be inclined to do so)'. rofórai $\tau \epsilon$ —corresponding to $\epsilon \star \mu \dot{\epsilon} r \epsilon c \dot{\epsilon} c$: so i. 144, $\tau \epsilon$ answers to $\mu \dot{\epsilon} r$, where Poppo cites other instances. Krüger writes $rofórai \dot{\epsilon} \epsilon$. Three divisions of the force are noted, the sailors ($\mu \dot{\epsilon} r$), the archers etc. brought by Cleon ($\tau \epsilon$), and besides these ($\tau \epsilon$) the Messenians and others on the spot.

12. $\kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon i \chi \circ \nu - \cdot$ were posted', lit. 'held (their quarters)': viii. 28, $\ell \nu \ j$ ' $A \mu \delta \rho \gamma \eta \cdot \pi \circ \lambda \ell \mu \omega s \ \omega \nu \kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon i \chi \epsilon$, 'was maintaining (his position)': so $habito = \cdot$ to live'; and so 'to keep' is sometimes used in English.

13. Δημοσθένους δὲ τάξαντος — Demosthenes, who appears to have directed the entire attack, brought to bear on the Spartans the same tactics that had overthrown his own army in Aetolia (iii. 98, 90). διέστησαν — 'were divided'; elsewhere nsed of taking different sides in a quarrel, as ch. 61, 8, κατά πόλεις διέσταμεν. κατά — distributive, 'in bodies of two hundred or more'; τε and $\kappa \alpha t$ have here a disjunctive force, implying that there were bodies answering both descriptions, some of the stated size, some larger.

14. $\xi\sigma\tau\iota \delta' \dot{\eta}$ —'and at some points': so i. 93, etc.: we have also $\xi\sigma\tau\iota\nu$ $\ddot{\sigma}\tau\epsilon$, 'at times', i. $2\bar{\sigma}$, etc.; and various similar expressions with the relative, as $\xi\sigma\tau\iota\nu$ $\dot{\omega}\nu$, $\xi\sigma\tau\iota$ $\pi\alpha\rho'$ ofs, $\epsilon l\sigma l\nu$ of, this last phrase being always plural.

15. τὰ μετεωρότατα-'the highest points'.

17. πρός δ τι ἀντιτάξωνται—for subj. see note on καθορμ σωνται, ch. 13, 13. ἀντιτάξωνται— so vi. 102, ἀντετάξαντο πρός robs 'Aθηναίους, 'faced, drew up against': cf. ch. 11, 3 ἐτάξαντο: ch. 35, 10, etc. The aor. middle not having a passive force we must understand 'themselves' or 'their forces' in all these cases; indeed an object is expressed after ἀντιτάξασθαι in ii. 87 and iii. 56.

18. $d\mu\phi$ (βολοι—' exposed on all sides, between two fires': so ch. 36, 19: ii. 76, $\ell\nu \ d\mu\phi$ (βόλφ: from βάλλω in the sense of 'to shoot at, hit with a missile', as in line 19, and often in this description. τῷ πλήθει—'from the number' of their assailants; dat. of instrumental cause.

22. $\hat{\mathbf{\eta}} \chi \omega p \hat{\mathbf{\eta}} \sigma \epsilon \iota a \nu$ —opt. because of $\xi \mu \epsilon \lambda \lambda \sigma \nu$, 'wherever they went the foe were sure to be in their rear'; it corresponds to $\hat{\mathbf{y}}$ a $\hat{\mathbf{x}} \chi \omega \rho \hat{\mathbf{\eta}} \sigma \omega \sigma \iota \nu$ after a present. Classen is perhaps right in taking of $\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu \iota \circ \iota$ as nom. to $\chi \omega \rho \hat{\mathbf{\eta}} \sigma \epsilon \iota \sigma \nu$, as $\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu \iota \circ \iota$ is used in line 16 of the Lacedaemonians. In most editions the comma is placed after $\chi \omega \rho \hat{\mathbf{\eta}} \sigma \epsilon \iota \sigma \nu$ and $\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon \mu \iota \circ \iota$ is nom. to $\xi \mu \epsilon \lambda \delta \nu$.

ib. ψ Nol kal of $d\pi o \rho \omega \tau a \tau o \dots = \tilde{d} \pi o \rho o s$ is taken by nearly all commentators as meaning in this passage 'hard to deal with', of those against whom a $\pi \delta \rho o s$ or 'means of acting' can not be found. The sense then is 'light armed troops and those the most difficult to cope with'. The words kal of come in very awkwardly with $d\pi o \rho \omega \tau a \tau o t$, and kal is bracketed by Classen, who takes $\psi t \lambda o l$ of $d\pi a \rho \omega \tau a \tau o t$ as subst. before adj. like $\kappa u \kappa \delta \psi \rho o v$

Probably however kal of $d\pi o p \omega \tau a \tau o t$ means 'even the worst provided', being in partial apposition with $\psi i \lambda o l$ and closely connected with ξ_{XOFTCS} a $\lambda \kappa \eta \nu$. This view avoids any difficulty as to the construction of kal ol, and gives the excellent sense that even the least efficient combatants proved in the circumstances very effective focs.

It is to be noticed that adjectives which, like aropos, admit of both an active and a passive meaning, have usually an active sense when used of persons, and a passive sense when used of things: e.g. Soph. Ant. 79, $\beta i_a \pi \sigma \lambda \iota \tau \hat{\omega} \nu \delta \rho \hat{a} \nu \xi \phi \nu \nu \dot{a} \mu \eta' \chi \alpha \nu \sigma_s$, 'I am unable to do', compared with ib. 90, $\dot{a} \mu \eta \chi \dot{a} \nu \omega \nu \dot{\epsilon} \rho \hat{a} s$, 'you are enamoured of what can not be done'. So $\dot{a} \pi \sigma \rho \sigma_s$ of persons would naturally be 'without means', as i. 9, $\eta' \lambda \delta \epsilon \nu \dot{\epsilon} s \dot{a} \pi \delta \rho \omega \tau s$: Soph. Ant. 360, $\ddot{a} \pi \sigma \rho \sigma_s \dot{\epsilon} \pi' \dot{\omega} \dot{\delta} \dot{\epsilon} \nu \dot{\epsilon} \rho \chi \epsilon \tau a.$ It is however certainly used sometimes of persons in the passive sense, e.g. Plat. Apol. Socr. 18 p: Eur. Bacch. S00.

24. ἐκ πολλοῦ ἔχοντες ἀλκήν—ἀλκή. 'prowess, spirit for fighting': ii. 84, ἐs ἀλκήν τρέπεσθαι opposed to φεύγει»: ib. 87, τέχνη ἀνευ ἀλκῆι σὐδὲν ὡφελεĩ. The meaning is that the light troops proved valiant and formidable foes with missiles from a distance (ἐκ πολλοῦ): cf. iii. 30, (θἀλασσαν) ỹ ἡμῶν ἡ ἀλκή τυγχάνει μάλιστα οὐσα='where our main strength lies'. So Aristotle, Eth. Nic. iii. 6 (9). 11, says the ἀσδρεῖοs is brave, ἐν cfs έστιν ἀλκή, 'in circumstances where a man can strike a blow for life and honour'.

25. ols $\mu\eta\delta\dot{\epsilon}$ inclusion—The neg. $\mu\dot{\eta}$ implies such that, like qui with the subjunctive.

ib. φεύγοντές τε γάρ-explains ois μηδέ έπελθεϊν. ἐκρά τουν- 'got the better', i.e. in speed. ἀναχωροῦσιν-dat. participle: ii. 79, ἀναχωροῦσιν ἐνέκειντο.

27. γνώμη- 'plan' or 'design' as formed in the mind. τό τε πρώτον...καί-cf. ch. 103, 15. ἐπενόει- 'planned'.

CHAPTER XXXIII

2. $\delta \pi \epsilon \rho \, i_{\nu} \pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma \tau o \nu - ' what was in fact the main portion of the troops': ii. 4, <math>\tau \delta \pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma \tau o \nu$, 'the main body': i. 73, $\tau \delta \pi \lambda \epsilon o \nu$.

έs χείραs έλθειν—' to come to close quarters': so ch. 96, 9: ch. 43, 9, ην η μάχη έν χερσί πάσα.

ib. έξ έναντίας—' opposite, in face': ch. 35, 13, etc.: so iii. 92, ἐκ καινῆs: i. 77, ἀπ∂ τῆs πρώτηs, etc. A fem. noun is supposed in these expressions, but it is not always clear what noun.

9. τη σφετέρα έμπειρία—'their special skill' as heavy armed infantry: il. 89, διά την έν τω πεζώ έμπειρίαν τα πλείω κατορθοῦντες.

12. y μαλιστα-lit. 'wherever especially', i.e. at any particular point where: so τί μάλιστα; 'what in particular?' The Latin use of maxime with tum, cum, etc. corresponds to this. The opt. and imperf. are frequentative. 13. kal oi $i\pi\sigma\sigma\tau\rho\dot{\epsilon}\phi\sigma\tau\tau\epsilon$ and those who retired : for the use of the article cf. ch. 46, 19, $\tau\sigma\deltas\dot{\epsilon}\lambda\theta\delta\nu\tau\alphas$: v. 5, $\tau\sigma\delta\tau\alphas$ $\dot{\epsilon}\nu\tau\nu\chi\dot{\omega}\nu$ $\tau\sigma\hat{c}s$ $\kappa\sigma\mu\iota\dot{\epsilon}\sigma_{\ell}\epsilon\nu\alpha$ s, etc. In the present passage many editions read of demonstrative, as in ch. 68, 30. (See Jowett's note; and Lidd. and Scott on $\dot{\sigma}$ and δs .)

14. $a\nu\theta\rho\omega\pi\sigma\iota$ κούφως $\tau\epsilon$ —two reasons are given for the success of the light troops; their equipment enabled them to elude the enemy, and the ground was in their favour. The first reason is expressed by $\epsilon\sigma\kappa\epsilon\nu\alpha\sigma\mu\epsilon\nu\sigma\iota$ and $\pi\rhoo\lambda\alpha\mu\beta\acute{a}\nu\sigma\tau\tau$ s in agreement with $a\nu\theta\rho\omega\pi\sigma\iota$, the second by the dat. $\chi\omega\rho\iota\omega\nu$ $\tau\epsilon$ $\chi\lambda\epsilon\pi\sigma\tau\eta\tau\iota$ $\kappa.\tau.\lambda$. It is therefore the $\tau\epsilon$ after $\chi\omega\rho\iota\omega\nu$ which corresponds to $\kappa\sigma\epsilon\omega\sigma\nu$. It is however possible to take $\tau\epsilon$ and κa as merely connecting $\epsilon\sigma\kappa\epsilon\nu\alpha\sigma\mu\epsilon\nu\sigma\iota$ and $\pi\rhoo\lambda\alpha\mu\beta\acute{a}\nu\sigma\tau\epsilon$ s.

ib. προλαμβάνοντες τῆς φυγῆς—' getting the advantage in their flight': vii. 80, προύλαβε πολλῷ, 'got far ahead'. φυγῆς is explained as a partitive genitive: so ch. 47, 17, ἐπετάχυνον τῆς όδοῦ, 'quickened on their road': Hdt. iii. 105, προλαμβάνευ τῆς όδοῦ.

15. χωρίων τε χαλεπότητι-'and from difficulty of ground': χωρία, various spots where a struggle took place.

16. $\kappa a l... \delta \nu \tau \omega \nu$ —either this means 'which also were', or $\kappa a l$ connects the dative $\chi a \lambda \epsilon n \delta \tau \eta \tau \iota$ with a gen. abs. $\tau \rho a \chi \epsilon \omega \nu$ $\delta \nu \tau \omega \nu$. In the latter case the construction is confused between $\chi \omega \rho l \omega \nu \tau \epsilon \chi a \lambda \epsilon n \delta \tau \eta \tau \iota$ kal $\tau \rho a \chi \dot{\upsilon} \eta \tau \iota$ and $\chi \omega \rho l \omega \nu \tau \epsilon \chi a \lambda \epsilon n \hat{\omega} \nu$ kal $\tau \rho a \chi \epsilon \omega \nu \delta \nu \tau \omega \nu$. A somewhat similar irregularity is noticed on ch. 9, 20.

CHAPTER XXXIV

2. ήκροβολίσαντο—'skirmished': iii. 73, etc. The aor. implies that this skirmishing is now to be considered at an end.

3. $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \kappa \theta \epsilon \tilde{\iota} v$ —' to run out against': used in v. 9 of a sally from Amphipolis. The variety of words used in these chapters for attacking an enemy is worthy of notice.

4. $\gamma \nu \delta \nu \tau \epsilon_s a \delta \tau a \delta s = a \log sentence loosely strung together, consisting chiefly of participial clauses in agreement with of <math>\psi \iota \lambda o t$. The verb does not come till line 12.

5. τῷ ἀμύνασθαι—with βραδυτέρουs, either 'from defending themselves', i.e. from keeping up the struggle so long; or, with var. lect. ἀμύνεσθαι, in defending themselves. The latter view gives the better sense in a similar passage, vii. 43, ὅπως τỹ παρούση ὁρμỹ μὴ βραδεῖς γένωνται. ib. κal aύτοl...εληφότες, 'and having themselves derived the greatest confidence'. τη δψει—lit. 'from their seeing', i.e. the sight of their overwhelming superiority in numbers: iii. 39, ού τδ δρασθέν πιστότερον δψει λαβόντες, 'from having seen it'.

 ξυνειθισμένοι—lit. 'having become more habituated to the enemy's no longer appearing equally formidable to them', i.e. having learned by now to dread their enemy less.

 άξια τῆς προσδοκίας—' corresponding to their expectation': v. 60, οὐδἐν άξιον τῆς παρασκευῆς : so vi. 21, άξιον τῆς διανοίας.

δεδουλωμένοι—'cowed', like slaves before their masters (Arnold): ii. 61, δουλοϊ τὸ φρόνημα. ὡs ἐπὶ Λακεδαιμονίους —'considering that they were going against Lacedaemonians':
cf. note on ch. 2, 1.

 άθρόοι-with ἐμβοήσαντες : ch. 112, 3, στρατόν ἐμβοήσαντα ἀθρόον : ii. 92, ἀπὸ ἐνὸς κελεύσματος ἐμβοήσαντες.

έχώρει πολύς άνω—' rose up in clouds'. τό πρό αύτοῦ—
 ' what was before one's self', τινί or τινά being implied: ch. 62, 12, τὴν αὐτοῦ τινά σωτηρίαν προϊδεῖν.

20. φερομένων—'pouring on them': Plat. Rep. 496 D. έν χειμώνι κοιορτοῦ καl ζάλης ὑπὸ πνεύματος φερομένου. φέρεσθαι often=to move, as of the heavenly bodies, ib. 529 D: Cie. Acad. ii. 26. 82, sol tanta incitatione fertur: so η φορά, motion, Ar. Eth. Nic. x. 3 (4). 3.

ib. τό τε έργον χαλεπόν—'so now the struggle began to go hard with the Lacedaemonians': cf. ch. 25, 42, χαλεπῶς ἀπεχώρησαν. καθίστατο—stronger than ἐγίγρετο, as implying a more fixed result: cf. ch. 26, 29, καθεστήκει.

οῦτε—the next τε corresponds to this. oi πίλα.—'felt cuirasses', or according to others 'felt helmets'. ἔστεγον...'were proof against'; στέγω in this sense='to keep out': ii.
 94, νῆες οὐδὲν στέγουσαι, of leaky vessels.

 ἐναποκέκλαστο—the broken spears were sticking in their cuirasses and shields, and impeding their movements. βαλλομένων—gen. abs. 'as they got hit'.

23. $\epsilon l \chi \acute{o} \tau \epsilon - \dot{\epsilon}$ and they could do nothing with themselves', not knowing which way to turn, or how to act. Subordinate to this sentence and explanatory of it are the three following clauses introduced by $\mu \acute{e}$, $\delta \acute{e}$, and $\tau \epsilon$.

24. τῆ ὄψει—lit. 'in respect of seeing', as in line 6: iii.
 112, οὐ καθορωμένους τῆ ὄψει.

26. παραγγελλόμενα—'orders': so ii. 11, etc.: v. 71, παρ $\dot{\eta}\gamma\gamma\epsilon\lambda\lambda\epsilon\nu$, 'passed the word', or gave orders. κινδύνου...περιεστῶτος—'being surrounded by danger on every side': cf. note on περιεστός, ch. 10, 4. καθ' ὅτι—'as to how', with ἀμυνομένους σωθῆνα.

CHAPTER XXXV

1. $\tau \ell \lambda os \, \delta \ell$ but at last', an accusative used adverbially; sometimes in the middle of a sentence: ii. 100, $\omega \sigma \tau \epsilon \tau \ell \lambda os$ $\eta \sigma v \chi (av \eta \gamma ov : cf. the adverbial use of <math>d \rho \chi \eta v$, 'to begin with'. $\tau \rho a u \mu a \tau (\delta \rho \mu v v - imp.)$ lit. 'were being wounded'.

ib. ξυγκλήσαντες— 'closing up', or locking their shields together': v. 71, ή πυκνότης τῆς ξυγκλήσεως, 'locking up closely'. With the act. aor. is to be understood 'their shields' or 'their ranks': cf. note on ch. 32, 17, ἀντιτάξωνται.

5. $i\nu\epsilon\delta\sigma\sigma\alpha\nu$ —' gave in' or 'gave ground', so ch. 37, 2, etc.: cf. ch. 19, 21. $i\sigma\chi\omega\rho\sigma\sigma\nu\tau\epsilons$ $i\gamma\kappa\alpha\tau\epsilon\lambda\alpha\mu\beta\alpha\nu\sigma\sigma\sigma$ —' were caught in making their retreat,' or 'on the field' (cf. $i\gamma\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\lambda\eta\psi\nu$ v. 72 fin.).

11. περίοδον...είχον—' could not surround and hem them in from the strength of the position'. αὐτῶν—objective gen. with περίοδον and κύκλωσιν: so σφῶν, line 19. Words in ωσιs have an active force; κύκλωσις, 'encircling', ἐλευθέρωσις, 'setting free', etc.: iii. 78, φοβούμενοι τὴν περικύκλωσιν, 'fearing that the foe would surround them'. οὐχ είχον—i.e. had not the power of effecting.

13. woaobai-cf. ch. 11, 15.

14. $\kappa al \tau \eta s \eta \mu \epsilon \rho as - \cdot and in fact for the greatest part of the day '. <math>\kappa ai$ not uncommonly thus gives a further definition or explanation, sometimes even a correction, of what has gone before. It may then be translated by some such expression as 'in fact', 'that is to say', etc.; cf. ch. 33, 2, $\kappa al \delta \pi \epsilon \rho \eta p$.

 17. οἱ μὲν ἐξελάσασθαι—' the one to dislodge (the enemy) from the hill, the others to maintain their ground': vii, 5, ἐξελάσασθαι ἐκ τῆς χώρας.

CHAPTER XXXVI

1. $d\pi \epsilon p_{\alpha\nu \tau \sigma\nu}$ 'when it proved endless'; sc. the struggle ($\tau \delta \epsilon p_{\gamma \sigma\nu}$) or the matter generally.

 άλλως ἔφη πονεῖν σφâς—'said they were wearying themselves to no purpose': i. 109, τὰ χρήματα άλλως ἀναλοῦτο. πονεῖν more commonly means 'to be in distress': i. 30, ol ξύμμαχοι ἐπόνουν: or 'to be hard pressed' in battle: ch. 96, 25, ἐπόνει τὸ εὐώνυμαν.

ib. $\sigma\phi\hat{a}_{3}$ —see note on ch. 9, 21. The Messenian said $\hat{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\omega_{5}$ $\tau\sigma\sigma\sigma\hat{\nu}\mu\epsilon$, which is thus represented in oratio oblique. As the subject of $\tau\sigma\epsilon\hat{\nu}$ is not identical with the subject of $\ell\phi\eta$, but much more extensive, the former is naturally put in the accusative; and this is no violation of the principle by which $\delta\lambda\lambda\omega_{5}$ $\tau\sigma\epsilon\hat{\epsilon}$ becomes in orat. obliq. $\hat{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\omega_{5}$ $\ell\phi\eta$ ($a\dot{\nu}\tau\dot{o}_{5}$) $\tau\sigma\epsilon\hat{\nu}$: cf. Krüger on iii. 111, $\nu\rho\mu lars$ $\kappa a\tau a\tau\rho\delta\delta\delta\sigma\sigma\theta a <math>\sigma\phi\hat{a}$, where he cites a large number of similar instances, e.g. vi. 49: vii. 4 and 48: viii. 32. (See however ch. 114, 31.)

6. δοκείν βιάσασθαι—'he was resolved to force the approach'. δοκῶ and δοκῶ μοι take an aor, or present inf. in the sense 'I have a mind to, am determined': Ar. Av. 671, έγῶ μὲν aὐτὴν κal φιλῆσal μοι δοκῶ, 'I mean to kiss her': id. Vesp. 177, τὸν ὄνον ἐξάγειν δοκῶ: cf. Wayte's note on Plat. Protag. 340 A, δοκῶ μοι παρακαλεῦν. βιάσεσθαι (Cob.) is tempting.

7. $i\kappa \tau o \hat{v} d\phi a v o \hat{v}_s$ —so ch. 96, 24: i. 51, $i\pi \epsilon \pi \lambda \epsilon o v \epsilon \kappa \tau o \hat{v} d\phi a v o \hat{v}_s$. $i\kappa$ either means 'starting from where he could not be seen', like ii. 19, $\delta \rho \mu \eta \sigma a v \tau s d a ' a \dot{v} \tau \eta s$, or is used adverbially with $\tau o \hat{v} d\phi a v o \hat{v}_s$, meaning 'so as not to be seen': so $\epsilon \kappa \tau o \hat{v} \phi a \kappa \epsilon \rho o \hat{\rho}$, $\epsilon \kappa \tau o \hat{v} \pi \rho \sigma \rho a v o \hat{v}_s$, etc.

8. κατά τὸ ἀὲ παρείκον—the meaning is that he made his way as he could find a passage from place to place along the cliffs. κατά—'along, by way of', as in ch. 26, 33. παρείκον— 'affording an opportunity or chance' of getting along: iii. 1, öπy παρείκοι 'wherever a chance offered'. ἀεί—'from time to time', i.e. from point to point.

9. $\pi \rho o \sigma \beta a (v \omega v -$ 'making his approach': also in iii. 22: ch. 129, 24, etc. Some manuscripts have $\pi \rho o \beta a (v \omega v,$ 'advancing'.

14. ἐπέρρωσεν—'gave fresh confidence to': cf. note on ῥώμη, ch. 29. 10: in pass. vii. 17, πολλῷ μάλλον ἐπέρρωντο. ἐπί in comp. implies sequence, as in ἐπισκευάζω, to repair, ἐπιβιώω, to survive, ἐπιγαμέω, to marry a new wife: cf. ch. 38. 9. ἐφηρηαένον. 16. $\xi \nu \mu \pi \tau \dot{\omega} \mu a \tau i - a$ (rare) substantive from $\xi \nu \mu \pi i \pi \tau \omega$, 'to fall out, happen' or 'to happen together'. It means therefore 'a chance' or 'coincidence of circumstances'. Dem. in Dionys. 1295, dxobicor σύμπτωμα = an unavoidable mischance: Ar. Rhet. i. 9. 32 (where see Cope's note), $\sigma \dot{\nu} \mu \pi \tau \omega \mu a$ = 'an accidental coincidence': as applied to disease it is our symptom. In ch. 68, 10, we have the verb $\xi \nu \nu \ell \pi \epsilon \sigma \epsilon$, 'it fell out at the same time'.

18. $\epsilon \kappa \epsilon \tilde{\nu} ol \tau \epsilon \dots \tilde{v} \tau ol \tau \epsilon \dots taken by the majority of editors$ as a parenthetical sentence. In some editions, however, there $is no stop after <math>v \tilde{\nu} \tau ol \tau \epsilon$, which is taken as nom. to $v \tilde{\kappa} \epsilon \tau i a \tau \epsilon \tilde{\tau} \chi_{OP}$. According to this latter view the words ol $A \alpha \epsilon \tilde{v} \tilde{\alpha} \iota \mu \tilde{\sigma} \iota \omega$ $\kappa \tau \lambda$. are by a change of construction left without a verb.

ib. $\epsilon\kappa\epsilon$ ivoi — the Lacedaemonians at Thermopylae. $\tau\hat{\eta}$ $i\tau\rho a\pi\hat{\psi}$ — by the path', known to all Greeks: see Hdt. vii. 213, seq. obrol $\tau\epsilon$ —sc. $\delta\iota\epsilon\phi\theta d\rho\eta\sigma a\nu$, though as a matter of fact they were not all slain but compelled to surrender.

20. πολλοΐς τε—two reasons for their giving ground, the one expressed by part. μαχόμενοι, the other by dat. ἀσθενεία. διὰ τὴν σιτοδείαν gives the reason for ἀσθενεία.

CHAPTER XXXVII

1. γνούς...δτι-followed, after an intervening clause, by the participial construction διαφθαρησομένους, as if δτι had not preceded: so v. 46, είπεῖν τε ἐκέλευον ὅτι...ἤδη ἀν πεποιῆσθαι. See Madvig, § 159 R. 4, for similar irregularities.

2. $\delta\pi\sigma\sigma\sigma\nu\hat{v}\nu$ —'ever so little', lit. 'how much soever': vi. 56, et val $\delta\pi\sigma\sigma\sigma\omega\delta\nu$ $r\partial_{\lambda}n'\sigma\epsilonuar$, 'if ever so few should make the venture': $\delta\nu$ added to a rel. pronoun or adverb having the same force as the Latin cumque.

6. ἐπικλασθεῖεν τῆ γνώμη—'they might be shaken in their resolution'. Here γνώμη is the 'determination' to resist to the last: in iii. 59 the same phrase is used of a 'fixed purpose' to do justice without mercy: in iii. 67 ἐπικλασθῆναι by itself means 'to be softened'. τα ὅπλα παραδοῦναι—explanatory of what the Athenians hoped for. Classen brackets these words, believing them to have been inserted from the following line.

8. ἐκήρυξάν τε—'so they made proclamation': ch. 4, 12.
εἰ βούλοιντο κ.τ.λ.—se. that they should do so: cf. ch. 30, 18:
iii. 52, προπέμπει κήρυκα λέγοντα εἰ βούλονται παραδοῦναι τὴν πόλιν: ν, 115, ἐκήρυξαν εἰ τις βούλεται 'Αθηναίους ληίζεσθαι.

10. ῶστε βουλεῦσαι—'on condition that the Athenians should decide', lit. 'so that': ch. 46, 11, ξυνέβησαν ώστε, 'they made terms on condition that': Xen. Anab. ii. 6. 6, ἐξὸν ῥαθυμῶν, βούλεται πονεῖν ῶστε πολεμεῖν, 'when he might live at ease, he prefers labour provided he may be at war'.

ib. $i\kappa\epsilon(vois$ —the Athenians, though just spoken of, are called $i\kappa\epsilon\hat{i}\nu\sigmai$, 'those yonder', because in place and in interests alike they are remote from the Lacedaemonians, with whom this part of the sentence deals: iii. $52, \pi a \rho a \delta \delta \hat{v} a i \tau \eta^{2} \pi \delta \lambda \nu \tau \delta \hat{v}$. Aakedaµ $\omega los \kappa a \delta \delta \kappa a \sigma \tau a \hat{s} i \kappa \epsilon l \nu \sigma i s \chi \rho \delta \sigma \sigma^{2} a i : ii. 11, \delta \tau a \epsilon \epsilon \tau \hat{y}$ $\gamma \hat{y} \delta \rho \delta \omega \nu \eta \mu a \delta \delta \eta \omega \delta \nu \tau \delta s \kappa \epsilon l \nu \sigma i s \chi \epsilon \ell \nu \sigma i s \chi \delta \ell \rho \delta \sigma \sigma^{2}$, when (the Athenians) once see us in their country ravaging and wasting the possessions of our enemies yonder', i.e. of the Athenians. So in the orators a person just named is often called $i \kappa \epsilon \hat{v} \sigma s$, when not present in the court or immediately concerned in the case: ille is similarly used.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

2. $\pi a \rho \hat{\eta} \kappa a \nu$ dropped', or 'lowered', shewing that they ceased to resist: so Hdt. iii. 128, $\mu \epsilon \tau \hat{\eta} \kappa a \nu \tau \delta s a l \chi \mu ds$, 'dropped their spears', or 'lowered their spear points', in token of submission. of $\pi \lambda \epsilon \hat{\sigma} \tau \sigma \iota$ for the most part'; partial apposition; see note on ch. 6, 4.

3. δηλοῦντες προσίεσθαι—δηλῶ is commonly followed by a participle, but here by the infin., to avoid the concurrence of two participles: so ch. 47, 8, κατάδηλοι δντες...μη αν βούλεσθαι. προσίεσθαι—'to accept, approve of', with acc.: so ch. 108, 26, ά μη προσίεσται. The literal meaning is 'to take, draw to oneself', hence 'to admit, adopt'. It is also used with nom. of thing and acc. of person, meaning, 'to bring over, attract': Ar. Eq. 350, & δ' οὐ προσίεταί με, 'one thing pleases me not': Hdt. i. 48, οὐδὲν προσίετό μιν. 'With this, and the former signf., may be compared the double idiom, I like it not,—it likes me not' (Lidd. and Scott).

6. incivor-'on the part of the Lacedaemonians'.

 τοῦ δὲ μετ' αὐτόν—with ἐφηρημένου, 'the officer who had been chosen to succeed after him'. So when the first and second in command had fallen at Olpae the leadership devolved on Menedaeus (iii. 109). $\dot{\epsilon}\phi\eta\rho\eta\mu\dot{\epsilon}vo\nu$ is the pluperfect participle, the appointment having been made beforehand in view of a possible future contingency: for $\dot{\epsilon}\pi l$ in comp. implying sequence, see note on ch. 36, 14. For the position of the words cf. note on ch. 5, 10.

11. $\epsilon t \tau i \epsilon \kappa \epsilon t voi \pi d\sigma \chi o i \epsilon v - ' i f anything should befall them'$ a frequent euphemism, meaning if they should fall=si quidillis accidisset (Suetonius uses evenio in the same way): cf. $Ar. Vesp. 385, <math>\tilde{\eta} \tau \iota \pi d\theta \omega' \gamma \omega$: Eur. Iph. T. 753, $\tilde{\eta} \tau \iota v \omega \delta \pi d\theta \eta$: Dem. Lept. 472, $\epsilon d \omega \tau \iota \sigma \nu \mu \beta \tilde{\eta} \pi \sigma \tau \epsilon$. The opt. with ϵl in orat. obliqua in a sentence referring to past time, often represents $\tilde{\eta} \nu$ with subj. in orat. directa in a sentence referring to present time (Madvig, § 132 a).

12. διακηρυκεύσασθαι—'to send a message across': like $\delta\iota a\pi\lambda \epsilon i\sigma as$, line 17: $\delta\iota\epsilon\beta i\beta a \sigma v$, ch. 8, 46. In such words the mid. voice is used of those who employ the herald or get the message sent.

14. ikéívov µév—i.e. of the Lacedaemonians; put first in the sentence for emphasis, in construction governed by oidéva. $\dot{a}\phi \ell v \tau \omega v$ —sc. $\tau \hat{\omega} v A \theta \eta v a \ell \omega v$, 'the Athenians allowing no Lacedaemonians (to pass over)'.

17. δ τελευταίος διαπλεύσας...ἀνήρ—'the messenger who crossed last'. All the words between the article and the substantive form the epithet of ἀνήρ, while τελευταίος especially belongs to and qualifies διαπλεύσας: so ch. 8, 49, of τελευταίοι (sc. διαβάντες) και ἐγκαταληφθέντες.

19. $5 \tau_{1-}$ not uncommonly introduces the actual words: v. 10, λέγει $5 \tau_{1}$, ol άνδρες ήμας où μένουσι. This is a well-known usage in New Testament Greek.

20. $\mu\eta\delta\iota aloxpour \pi oio \hat{v} \tau as$ —'provided you do nothing dishonourable'. Possibly implying, as the scholiast says, that death was more noble than surrender: at any rate thrusting all possible responsibility on their unfortunate countrymen.

26. Sterkeudjouro—this verb is only found here in Thucydides, who elsewhere prefers $\pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa e u \delta \rho a \rho a$. The preposition probably denotes the different arrangements of the Athenians for disposing their force or distributing their prisoners, as in the following $\delta t = \delta l \delta \sigma a \mu$.

28. Sueconforarro- $\kappa o \mu l_j o \mu a \iota$ is the word commonly used for recovering or obtaining the restoration of the bodies of the slain: compounded with $\delta \iota \dot{a}$ it means 'conveyed across to themselves' or 'got conveyed across': so in i. 89 it is used of the bringing back of the women and children to Athens from Salamis, where they had been placed during the Persian invasion. τοσοίδε—' the following number '; see note on τοιάδε, ch. 9, 29. δκτώ άποδέοντες τριακόστοι—' three hundred all but eight', lit. 'failing, falling short of eight'. δκτώ is genitive:
 ii. 13, τριακοσίων αποδέοντα μύρια = 9700.

 χρόνος δὲ ὁ ξύμπας—the same order is found i. 1, κίνησις γὰρ αῦτη μεγίστη ἐγένετο, the substantive being put first in such instances in order to shew at once what the sentence is about. ἐγένετο—'amounted to': see note on 9, 12.

 άπῆσαν—'were away 'a correction of Cobet's for ἀπήσαν 'went away', the proper form of writing which is ἀπήσαν (Nov. Lect. p. 346): the same correction is made ch. 42, 20.

τοῖς ἐσπλέουσι-nenter, 'by the provisions thrown in':
 ch. 27, 3, σῖ ros ἐσπλεῖ. The Athenians had a blockading squadron at Salamis, ii. 93, τοῦ μη ἐσπλεῖν Μεγαρεῦσι μηδ' ἐππλεῖν μηδέ, 'to prevent imports or exports'.

ξγκατελήφθη—i.e. were found in the island on its capture: note on ch. 8, 49.

η πρός την έζουσ(αν—' than he might have done';
 lit. 'than (was possible) looking at, having regard to, his ability'.

12. $\mu a \nu \omega \delta \eta s$ —this refers to the mad and reckless manner in which Cleon asserted that he would perform a dangerous military enterprise in a given time. There was nothing insane in the attempt itself. Platarch (Nic. ch. 7) says that the Athenians were wont to indulge Cleon's κουφότηs and μανία. He shewed no μανία in carrying out his undertaking, but succeeded (ib. ch. 8) τύχη χρησάμενος άγαθη και στρατηγήσας άριστα μετà Δημοσθένους.

13. $d\pi\ell\beta\eta$ —'was fulfilled, came off': iii. 26, oùder $d\pi\ell$ - $\beta_{aiver} avroîs wr \pi posedé xorro, 'none of their expectations were$ $realized': iii. 93, <math>\pi apd$ dof a virois $d\pi\ell\beta\eta$: ch. 104, 11, ouder $d\pi\ell\betaaurer$. $d\pi\delta$ thus used in composition signifies a result corresponding to what goes before; thus $d\piod(d\omega\mu)$ often=to give in the proper quarter, e.g. to deliver a letter, to pay due honour, etc. 14. ὑπέστη—'undertook'; the lit. meaning of ὑφίσταμαι in this sense being to place oneself under an engagement: viii. 29, ῶσπερ ὑπέστη: Hom. Il. iv. 267, ὡs ὑπέστην: also with inf. and with acc.

CHAPTER XL

5. $\eta\xi(ovv-\cdot$ 'expected', lit. 'thought it worthy of them': i. 136, oùr àξιοῖ φεύγοντα τιμωρεῖσθαι, 'he calls on him not to avenge himself on an exile': iii. 44, oùr ἀξιῶ ὑμῶs τὸ χρήσιμον ἀπώσασθαι, 'I would not have you reject'. In such instances the negative is placed as with oö φημι=I deny or refuse: i. 28, πόλεμον δὲ οὐκ είων ποιεῦκ, 'they urged them not to make wur'

6. $d\pi \iota \sigma \tau \sigma \tilde{\upsilon} \nu \tau \epsilon s$ this nominative has no verb, the construction being altered after the introduction of the clause with gen, abs. $\tau \iota \nu \delta s \epsilon \rho o \mu \epsilon \nu o v$.

9. δι' ἀχθηδόνα—' for the sake of annoyance', i.e. in order to insult or mortify. διά with acc. usually means 'in consequence of'; sometimes however it is used, like ἕνεκα, of the object or purpose; ii. 89, διὰ τὴν σφετέραν δόξαν, 'for the sake of their honour': ch. 102, 20, διὰ τὸ περιέχειν αὐτήν, 'for the sake of enclosing it': v. 53, διὰ τοῦ θύματος τὴν ἕσπραξιν, 'for the sake of exacting payment of the sacrifice': so Plat, Rep. 524 c, διὰ τὴν τούτου σαφήνειαν, 'for the sake of making this clear': Dem. Boeot. 1004, δι' ἐπήρειαν, 'for spite': Ar. Eth. Nic. iv, 3 (8), 31, δι' ὕβριν.

10. $\kappa \alpha \lambda o k \alpha' \gamma \alpha \theta o' - A'$ title', says Arnold, 'corresponding, in the union which is expressed of personal qualities with a certain superiority of birth and condition more nearly with our word gentleman than with any other. The Spartans prided themselves on being all $\kappa \alpha \lambda o t \kappa' \alpha' \gamma \alpha \theta o'$; and the question, put probably by a democratical seaman, was intended to sneer at once at the pretension and the name'. The term is only found here and viii, 48 (also as a quotation): see Neil, Ar. Eq. Ap. II.

11. ἄτρακτος—a word meaning some kind of reed, or thorn, and thence applied to anything made thereof. In prose it means a spindle, and is used by the poets for an arrow. Probably the Laconians used the word in the latter sense; though some suppose that the heavy-armed soldier called darts and arrows spindles in contempt.

13. δ έντυγχάνων-διεφθείρετο-Classen takes έντυγχάνων absolutely, 'he who came in the way, he who chanced', governing τοις τε λίθοις και τοξεύμασι by διεφθείρετο. For this use of έντυγχάνω cf. ch. 132, 20, τοις έντυχοῦσιν ἐπιτρέπειν. Here however the run of the words seems to connect $\ell \nu r \nu \gamma \chi d \nu \omega \nu$ with what follows. Thucydides in fact often adopts such an order that the intermediate words may be governed either by what precedes or what follows, or may indeed depend upon both; cf. ch. 17, 10. Note the force of the imperfect tense in $\ell \nu r \nu \gamma \chi d \nu \omega \nu$ and $\delta \iota e \phi \theta e l \rho e r o$, 'he who (from time to time) came in the way was slain (on each occasion)'.

CHAPTER XLI

1. Bouleuray - 'resolved'; see note on ch. 15, 4.

3. µtxp: ov-with subjunctive without ar : ch. 16, 19.

7. $\dot{\omega}_{s} \dot{\epsilon}_{s} \pi \alpha \tau \rho \ell \delta \alpha \tau \alpha \dot{\nu} \tau \eta \nu$ —lit., 'as into their native country in this',= $\dot{\epsilon}_{s} \tau \alpha \dot{\nu} \tau \eta \nu \dot{\omega}_{s}$ ($\dot{\epsilon}_{s}$) $\pi \alpha \tau \rho \ell \delta \alpha$. In prose obros without the article is always predicative in force: $\dot{\epsilon}_{\chi}\omega\nu$ roûro $\dot{\epsilon}\pi (\gamma \rho \alpha \mu \mu \alpha$ 'having this as an inscription', not 'having this inscription'.

ib. fort yap η Π úλos κ.τ.λ.—nearly similar words are used in ch. 3, 15, where we have the reasons for which Demosthenes wished to occupy Pylos.

9. ἐληίζοντο—Classen reads ἐληίζοντο instead of ἐλήίζον τε, on the ground that the word, which occurs six times in Thucydides, should always be in the middle voice: so iii. 85, εληίζοντο τούς ἐν τŷ νήσφ και πολλὰ έβλαπτον.

13. καl φοβούμενοι—'fearing lest they should have some of the institutions in the land still further revolutionized'; fearing, that is, a new insurrection of the Helots, or some other rising against their aristocratic rule: cf. ch. 55, 8, φοβούμενοι μη σφίσι νεώτερόν τι γένηται των περί την κατάστασιν, 'relating to their constitution'.

16. ἕνδηλοι είναι—sc. οὐ ῥαδίως φέροντες, ' to betray their uneasiness': ii. 64, μὴ ἕνδηλοι ἕστε βαρυνόμενοι, 'do not shew your distress'.

19. φοιτώντων- ' though they often came': for gen. abs. see ch. 3, 8.

CHAPTER XLII

The Athenians, in the warlike and hopeful temper caused by their success at Pylos, now begin a series of attempts to occupy points on the enemy's coast. The command is taken by Nicias, who was both encouraged to action and incited to rivalry by the glory which Cleon had gained.

1. εύθύς-with μετά ταῦτα: i. 56, μετά ταῦτα δ' εὐθύς.

4. $i\nu \ l\pi\pi a\gamma \omega\gamma ois \ \nu a \omega c l - in horse-transports'; first men$ tioned by Thuc. in 430, when they were made by the Athenians $out of old ships (ii. 56): <math>l\pi\pi a\gamma \omega\gamma d$ $\pi\lambda oia$ were used by the invading Persians under Xerxes (Hdt. vii. 79). Aristophanes, lauding the services of the cavalry in this expedition to Corinth, says of the horses (Eq. 599), els ràs $l\pi\pi a\gamma \omega\gamma ois$ elsen $\dot{\eta}$ - $\delta\omega\nu \ dx\delta\rho_{LK}\hat{\omega}$.

8. $\pi\lambda \ell ov\tau\epsilon s$ —'in their voyage', imperf. part., as in ch. 3, 1, referring to the progress of the whole enterprise: the aor. $\ell \sigma \chi ov$ denotes the first operation attempted. $\[mathbb{a}]\mu a \[mathbb{a}]\varphi$ goes with $\ell \sigma \chi ov$: if it referred to the departure from Athens $\pi\lambda e \dot{\nu} \sigma a v \tau \epsilon s$ would be required.

ib. $\mu\epsilon\tau a\xi$ ù X $\epsilon\rho\sigma\sigma\nu\eta\sigma\sigma\nu\kappa a$ l 'P $\epsilon\tau\sigma\nu$ —see the map in Arnold's edition. The Chersonesus, or peninsula, was a promontory formed by a low ridge of mount Oneion, which intercepted the view between Cenchreae and the beach where the Athenians landed. Rheitus, 'the beck', was not quite two miles to the south.

10. $\tau\delta \pi a (\lambda a)$ —at the time of the Dorian conquest of Peloponnesus, known as 'the return of the Heraclidae'. The legend is that the Dorians under Aletes reduced Corinth by incessant attacks, expelled the Acolian dynasty of Sisyphus, and became thenceforth the dominant race. $\delta\rho u\theta (\tau \tau s) - that her selections (\delta\rho u\theta (\tau s)) + \delta (\delta\rho u \theta s)$ to $\delta (\delta\rho u \theta s) + \delta (\delta\rho u \theta s)$.

12. $i\pi^{2}$ airoù—note the demonstrative form of the second clause in a relative sentence.

14. κατέσχον-80 κατασχόντες, ch. 54, 1; 57, 13.

16. $\delta \delta^2$ I $\sigma \theta \mu \delta s$ et k $\sigma \tau$ -reckoning to the extreme south of the isthmus where Cenchreae stands.

17. $\ell \kappa \pi \lambda \epsilon (ovos - \epsilon from some time back': ch. 103, 15,$ $<math>\ell \pi \rho a \xi \dot{a} \nu \tau \epsilon \ell \kappa \pi \lambda \epsilon (ovos: so v. 82: viil, 88. The order of the sentence will admit of taking <math>\ell \kappa \pi \lambda \epsilon (ovos either with the words which follow it or with those which go before, while in sense either connexion is right. Timely warning enabled the Corinthians to take timely precautions. <math>\tau \hat{a} \nu \, \ell \xi \omega \, I \sigma \theta \mu o \hat{\omega} - i. e.$ those on the north towards Megara, who had their own coast to watch. Note the absence of the article with $I \sigma \theta \mu o \hat{\omega}$: cf. ch. 18, 11 note.

20. $d\pi\hat{\eta}\sigma a\nu$ —a correction for $d\pi\dot{\eta}\epsilon\sigma a\nu$: cf. ch. 39, 5. Poppo retains $d\pi\dot{\eta}\epsilon\sigma a\nu$ $\epsilon\nu$ as being equivalent to $d\pi\hat{\eta}\lambda\theta\sigma\nu$ kal $d\pi\dot{\eta}\sigma a\nu$ $\epsilon\nu$.

22. νυκτός καταπλεύσαντες—the Athenians made the coast (κατά) while it was still night, and landed at daybreak, line 8. τό σημεία—if it was still night these were fire-signals raised by the watchers on the coast: so ii. 94 and iii. 22, φρυκτοί \tilde{p} ροντο πολέμιοι: iii. 80, έφρυκτωρήθησαν έξήκοντα νήςs: cf. ch. 111, 4. σημεία ήρθη is used i. 49; i. 63; vii. 34, of a signal for battle: and viii. 95 of a signal for embarkation.

24. Κεγχρειά-sing. as in ch. 44, 16: viii. 10 etc. Κεγχρειαί. ην άρα-cf. ch. 8, 24.

3. ήλθεν έπ(-'advance upon'; not in a hostile sense.

5. $\tau \sigma i s$ allois—' with the rest', sc. under his command: dat. of the force with which the attack was made, a regular and common construction: cf. ch. 42, 3: Madvig, § 42.

ib. $\xi v \nu \epsilon \beta a \lambda \lambda \epsilon v$ —'was to encounter' the enemy, or 'went on to encounter': the imp. is read by most editors on good manuscript authority; Arnold has $\xi v \nu \epsilon \beta a \lambda \epsilon$.

7. Exerce $\delta \epsilon$ in the second place', corresponding to $\pi \rho \tilde{\sigma} \sigma \sigma \mu \epsilon \sigma$. In this connexion Thucydides uses $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \epsilon \tau a$ either with or without $\delta \epsilon$, while other Attic writers usually omit $\delta \epsilon$: cf. ch. 44, 1, $\chi \rho \delta \sigma \sigma \mu \epsilon r \sigma \delta \sigma \sigma$... $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \epsilon \tau a$.

9. $\ell\nu$ xepol mâra—'hand to hand throughout': vi. 70, $\gamma\epsilon rou \ell\nu \eta s$ $\ell\nu$ xepol $\tau \eta s$ $\mu a \chi \eta s$: cf. ch. 33, 6, ℓs $\chi\epsilon \ell \rho a s$ $\ell h \theta \ell \nu$: cf. ch. 96, 9. $\ell \omega r a \nu \tau$ —'repulsed', lit. 'drove from themselves': so ch. 96, 22: in ch. 11, 15, and 35, 13, it is used of assailants forcing their way.

 alμασιάν—a stone wall or fence, the usual meaning of the word. τοῖς λίθοις—the stones of which the wall was made λογάδην: cf. note on ch. 4, 7.

17. $\tau \hat{\varphi} \epsilon \vartheta \omega \nu \imath \mu \varphi \kappa \epsilon \rho_2 \epsilon \delta \omega \tau \hat{\omega} \nu$ —the position of $\epsilon \delta \omega \tau \hat{\omega} \nu$ is to be observed. It is admissible because of the epithet $\epsilon \vartheta \omega \nu \imath \mu \varphi$ standing where it does: otherwise $\tau \delta \epsilon \delta \omega \tau \hat{\omega} \nu \kappa \epsilon \rho_{\alpha}$ is the right order: cf. note on ch. 5, 10.

20. $d\nu i\sigma \tau \rho \epsilon \psi a \nu - \cdot wheeled round'; the only instance of the active used intransitively by Thucydides: in ii. 49 it is trans.: the middle is found in a somewhat different sense, ch. 35, 2, etc.$

23. κατά τὸ εὐώνυμον- 'opposed to': v. 71, κατά τὸ τῶν ἐναντίων εὐώνυμον.

24. ήλπιζον...πειράσειν—' they expected the enemy would make an attempt towards the village of Solygeia': cf. note on ch. 25, 48, κατὰ τὸν λιμένα ἐπείρων.

3. ξυμμαχόμενοι—pred. 'by fighting with them', i.e. their help was of service in the action.

6. έθεντο τα δπλα-' halted', or 'took up their position'. The literal meaning of the phrase $\tau l \theta \epsilon \sigma \theta a \tau a \delta \pi \lambda a$ is to ground, or put down one's arms, the Greeks being accustomed to lay down their shields and spears when they halted for any time, for instance to listen to an address from their commanders. The converse expression is αναλαμβάνειν τα όπλα (ch. 130, 19: Hdt. vi. 78: Xen, Hel. ii, 4, 19, etc.). From the idea of taking up a position thus implied, the phrase $\tau l \theta \epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota \tau \dot{a} \, \ddot{o} \pi \lambda a$ is often used, as in the present passage, when the idea of actually putting down the arms would be out of place. Thus the Thebans, after making their way by surprise into Plataeae, established themselves in the public place ($\theta \in \mu \in \nu \circ i$ is $\tau \eta \nu$ a $\gamma \circ \rho a \nu \tau a$ $\delta \pi \lambda a$), and made proclamation for any one who chose $\tau l\theta \epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota \pi a \rho' a \iota \tau o \iota s \tau a \delta \pi \lambda a$ i.e. to join them (ii. 2). So $\tau \dot{a} \ \ddot{o} \pi \lambda a$ is used for the camp or position occupied by troops i. 111; iii. 1. Such phrases are especially common in the military language of Xenophon; see Shilleto on ii. 2.

8. ol $\pi\lambda\epsilon i\sigma\tau o \ldots d\pi\ell a \nu o \nu$ —i.e. their chief loss was at this point. ol $\pi\lambda\epsilon i\sigma\tau o$ must mean the greater part of those who fell, not of their whole force, for we see afterwards that their total loss only amounted to 212: so vii. 30, $d\pi\sigma\sigma r\epsilon \ell \nu o \nu \sigma r \nu \sigma \nu \sigma \nu \tau \tau \tau$ $\epsilon\kappa\beta\delta\sigma\epsilon\iota$ rows $\pi\lambda\epsilon i\sigma\tau o v$, where the total loss was 250 out of 1300. Classen takes the meaning to be that the greater part of the Corinthians on the right wing were slain, their allies escaping better.

οἱ ἐκ τῆς πόλεως πρεσβύτεροι—cf. ch. 8, 1, τῶν ἐκ τῆς ᾿Αττικῆς. The πρεσβύτεροι had remained to guard the city.

26. $i\gamma\kappaar(\lambda)\pi\sigma\nu$ —'left on the field', more commonly used of leaving a garrison etc. in a town, as in ch. 25, 51.

28. ἐπικηρυκευσάμενοι...ἀνείλοντο—asking leave to remove the dead was an admission of defeat, which is also implied by the use of ἐπικηρυκεύεσθαι. Thus Plutarch (Nic. ch. 6) says that Nicias preferred to sacrifice his victory and his glory rather than leave two Athenian citizens unburied.

CHAPTER XLV

8. Meθώνην—'the place is now called Melava, as the name is written by Pausanias and by Strabo, with this remark on the part of the latter, that in some copies of Thucydides it was written $Me\theta \omega \eta$, like the town so called in Macedonia. As the Macedonian town was the more famous, the reading $Me\theta \omega \eta$ probably prevailed more and more, and is now found in every Ms. of Thucydides at present in existence' (Arnold).

9. $\dot{a}\pi o\lambda a\beta \delta \nu \tau \epsilon s$ —'cutting off' from the mainland by a wall and trench. We are told (i. 7) that the maritime Greeks thus established themselves on peninsulas ($\tau ds \ la \theta \mu o \nu s \ \dot{a} \tau \epsilon \lambda \dot{d} \mu - \beta a \nu o \nu$) for the sake of security and convenience. The peninsula of Methana, which is of considerable size, is connected with the mainland by a very narrow neck.

10. $\ell v \tilde{\phi}$ —i.e. on the isthmus or neck itself; but perhaps $\ell v \tilde{y}$ should be read, in agreement with $\chi \epsilon \rho \sigma \sigma r \eta \sigma \sigma v$: cf. Classen's critical note. Pausanias (ii. 34) applies the term $l\sigma \partial \mu \delta s$ to the whole peninsula when he says $\tau \eta s$ Troifyelas $\gamma \eta s$ $\ell \sigma \tau l = l \sigma \partial \mu \delta s$ $\ell \tau a \sigma \lambda b$ $\delta \ell \epsilon \chi \omega r \ell s$ $\delta \delta a \Delta \sigma \sigma \sigma x$, $\ell v \delta \ell a \omega \tau \tilde{\omega} \pi \delta \lambda i \sigma \mu \omega \mu \ell \gamma a$ $\ell \pi l \partial \Delta \Delta \sigma \sigma y$ Médara.

 τὸν ἔπειτα χρόνον—till the peace concluded in 421. In v. 18 we find Methone named as one of the places which the Athenians agreed to give up.

CHAPTER XLVI

1. $\chi\rho\delta\nu\sigma\nu$ $\delta\nu$ —so edited by Poppo and others as being in accordance with other passages, such as iii. 18, κara $\tau d\nu$ advide $\chi\rho\delta\nu\sigma$ $\delta\nu$ of $\Lambda a\kappa\epsilon\delta a\mu\delta\nu\omega\sigma$ $\kappa\epsilon\rhol$ $\tau\delta\nu$ $l\epsilon\theta\mu\delta\nu$ $\eta\sigma\alpha\nu$, and as best accounting for the variation of reading here found. Others have $\kappa a\theta'$ $\delta\nu$: while the manuscript authority is in favour of omitting $\delta\nu$, and reading $\tau a \delta\tau a$ $\epsilon'\gamma \epsilon'\nu\epsilon \tau \sigma$, $\kappa al...$ In this last case we have κal connecting two statements of time, as is very common in New Testament Greek, e.g. Mk. xv. 25, $\eta\nu$ $\delta\epsilon$ $d\sigma\mu\alpha$ $\tau\rho t \eta$ κal $\epsilon\sigma\tau a \delta\nu\sigma\sigma a d\tau\delta\nu$. So in Thuc. we have, iii. 110, $\tau\phi$ $\delta\epsilon \Delta \eta\mu\sigma <math>\sigma\theta\epsilon\nu\epsilon a$ $\epsilon\gamma\epsilon\lambda\lambda\epsilon ra...\kappa al$ $\pi\epsilon\mu\pi\epsilon c$: cf. Soph. Phil. 355, $\eta\nu$ δ' $\eta\mu\rho\rho$ $\delta\epsilon'\tau\epsilon\rho\sigma\nu...\kappa al$ $\kappa a \tau \eta\gamma \delta\mu\eta\nu$. In the present passage $\delta\nu$ might have been omitted by a copyist from confusion with the last syllable of $\chi\rho\delta\nu\sigma\nu$ and $\kappa a\theta'$ $\delta\nu$ subsequently added as an explanatory gloss.

6. τῆς 'Ιστώνης-subjective gen., as we say the city of London. Thucydides elsewhere uses the appositional construction, as iii. 85, ἐs τὸ ὅρος τῆν 'Ιστώνην: so line 14. τότε, lit. 'at that time', refers to the events described in iii. 85, and may be rendered 'as we have related': viii. 20, καταδιωχθείσαι τότε.

προσβαλόντες — ' having made their assault', without a following case. το τείχισμα—called τείχος iii. 85, a fortified position on Istone, held by 600 men.

11. ξυνέβησαν ώστε-cf. ch. 37, 10: infr. line 16.

15. μέχρι οδ—cf. ch. 41, 3, note. $\ddot{a}\nu$ —for $\dot{\epsilon}\dot{a}\nu$, rarely used by Thucydides, though $\eta\nu$ is common. Possibly $\ddot{\omega}\sigma\tau$ ' $\dot{\epsilon}\dot{a}\nu$ should be read. λελύσθαι—ch. 16, 18.

17. oi τοῦ δήμου προστάται—so iii. 75: cf. ch. 66, 12, of Megara. The term appears to be a general one, sometimes implying a particular office and sometimes not: vid. Arnold on vi. 35.

19. τούς ἐλθόντας—' those who were sent'. Poppo suggests aύτούς ἐλθόντας, certainly a more usual form of expression: see however the note on και οι ὑποστρέφοντες, ch. 33, 13.

20. πείθουσι...έτοιμάσειν — there is a slight irregularity in this sentence. The clause with πείθουσι is lost sight of after the introduction of the participial clause ὑποπέμψαντες φίλους, and ὅτι κράτιστον εἴη depends upon λέγειν.

ib. $\tau_i \nu ds \delta \lambda(\gamma_o vs_i)$ some few': i. 63, $\delta \lambda(\gamma_o vs_i) \ell^{i} \nu \tau_i \nu as d\pi_o \beta a \lambda \delta \nu$. It was stipulated that any attempt at escape ended the treaty. $\kappa a\tau' \epsilon^{i} \nu_{\nu_i 0} av \delta \eta'_i$ —ch. 23, 8. $\delta \tau_{1...} \epsilon^{i} \eta_{...} \epsilon^{i} \sigma_{0...} \ell^{i} \sigma_{0...} \sigma_{0...} \delta \sigma_{0...} \sigma_{0...} \delta \sigma_{0...} \sigma_{0...} \delta \sigma_{0...$

1. $\dot{\omega}_{s} \delta i \xi \pi \epsilon_{i} \sigma \alpha_{v} \dots i \lambda_{i} \dot{\eta} \phi \theta_{\eta} \sigma \alpha_{v}$ —the change of subject in this sentence is noticeable: for $\mu_{\eta} \chi_{\alpha \eta \sigma} \alpha_{\mu} \xi_{\omega v}$, gen. abs. without subject expressed, see ch. 3, 8. $\lambda i \lambda \delta v \sigma \sigma$ $\pi \alpha_{\rho} \delta \delta \delta v \sigma \sigma$, for the force of the pluperfect, see Arnold's note quoted on ch. 13, 2: $\pi \alpha_{\rho} \delta \delta \delta \sigma \sigma \sigma$ must be taken with $\pi \alpha_{\rho} \alpha_{\lambda} \alpha_{\beta} \delta \sigma r \epsilon \sigma$... $\kappa \alpha \theta \epsilon i \rho \xi \alpha_{\gamma}$, a few lines below, as if the sentence ran—you are now to suppose the treaty broken, and the prisoners delivered up to the Corcyreans. Upon their having been so delivered, the Corcyreans took them, etc.'

4. ξυνελάβοντο—parenthetical, 'helped, contributed to', with the partitive gen. like ξυναράμενα, ch. 10, 1: Hdt. iii. 49, συνελάβοντο τοῦ στρατεύματος, 'took part in'. The subject of this sentence is of στρατηγοί κατάδηλοι δυτες, κ.τ.λ., 'the obvious fact that the Athenian commanders would not wish'; the predicate having the same force as in ch. 5, 5, ở στρατός $\xi_{\tau t}$ έν ταῖs 'Aθήναις ών. Thucydides does not assert that the Athenians were in the plot; though it seems plain that they made no effort to save the captives. 5. $d\kappa\rho_i\beta\eta$ —the strict force of this word is 'exact, complete in its details'. The meaning is that the $\pi\rho\phi\phi\alpha\sigma_i$ s, 'ground, or reason' for escaping, urged on the captives was made fully convincing by the known feelings of the Athenians; so Poppo, Krüger, etc., in agreement with the Scholiast. Arnold however takes $\pi\rho\phi\phi\alpha\sigma_i$ s as 'the pretence for killing them' and $d\kappa\rho_i\beta\eta_i$ s as 'going to the very letter of the bond'.

 μη αν βούλεσθαι—such phrases as δήλός είμι usually take a participial construction; and possibly καταδηλοῦντες should be read: see however note on ch. 38, 3, δηλοῦντες προσίεσθαι.

10. προσποιήσαι—' to add, attach': lit. ii. 2, τhν πόλιν Θηβαίοις προσποιήσαι, ' to make over the city': so i. 55. The word is more common in the middle, meaning to win or claim for one's self.

11. $\pi a \rho a \lambda a \beta \acute{v} \tau \epsilon s$ —corresponds to $\pi a \rho \epsilon \delta \acute{\delta} \acute{o} \tau \tau \sigma$ line 3: $\pi a \rho a \lambda a \mu \beta \acute{a} \tau \omega = traditum accipere$; cf. v. 95, where it is used of a traditional policy.

12. $\kappa\alpha\theta\epsilon_{i}\rho\xi\alpha\nu$ —so in all uss. Classen however reads $\kappa\alpha\tau$ - $\epsilon_{i}^{2}\rho\xi\alpha\nu$, on the ground that this is the form found elsewhere in Thucydides, and that he also invariably uses $\delta\pi\epsilon_{i}^{2}\gamma\omega$. Buttmann considered that $\epsilon_{i}^{2}\rho_{i}\omega$ meant to shut out, $\epsilon_{i}^{2}\rho_{i}\omega$ to shut in. Poppo says the word having here the literal force of 'shutting in' is properly written with θ . It is to be observed that the other instances of $\kappa\alpha\tau\epsilon_{i}^{2}\rho_{i}\omega$ in Thuc. are metaphorical in meaning and in the pres. or imp. tense, e.g. vi. 6, $\kappa\alpha\tau\epsilon_{i}^{2}\rho_{i}\omega$ $\alpha\delta\tau\sigma\delta\tau$, $\tau\omega\lambda\epsilon_{i}\omega$. For ϵ_{3} cf. ch. 57, 10, ϵ_{3} rd $\tau\epsilon_{i}\chi_{03}$ $\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\lambda\gamma\epsilon$ $\sigma\theta\alpha\iota$: and note on $\alpha\delta\tau\delta\sigma\epsilon$ ch. 1, 20. Dem. de Cor. 258, has ϵ_{r} $\alpha\delta\kappa\delta\kappa\kappa\kappa\kappa\alpha\delta\epsilon_{i}^{2}\rho_{i}\omega$.

13. κατά είκοσιν—ch. 10, 19. εί που...tδοι—frequentative, like εί που δέοι ch. 4, 9. τῆς όδοῦ—partitive gen., like τῆς φυγῆς ch. 33, 15. προσιόντας—'coming up' to receive the blows of the executioners; there is no manuscript authority for the suggested alteration προσύντας, though such words might easily be confused.

 ἐş μὲν ἄνδρας ἐξήκοντα—' to the number of'; these words form the object of ἐξαγαγώντες: so ch. 80, 18, προκρίναντες ἐς διαχιλίους: as subject, iii. 20, ἐς ἄνδρας διακοσίους και είκοσι ἐνέμειναν.

5. μεταστήσοντάς ποι άλλοσε—' in order to remove them elsewhere'. The fut, participle is a correction for μεταστήσαντας, to retain which necessitates taking ποι άλλοσε with άγειν the enclitic more naturally belongs to the word which it follows, while άγειν corresponds to the preceding ξ_{2n} αγόντες.

7. $\sigma \phi \hat{a}s...a \dot{v} \tau o \dot{v}s$ —the former of these words is governed by $\delta \iota a \phi \theta \epsilon \iota \rho \epsilon \iota v$, of which $a \dot{v} \tau o \dot{v}s$ is the subject; 'kill us yourselves', is the appeal which the captives make to the Athenians.

9. ούδ' ἐστέναι...ούδένα—the inf. follows περιόψεσθαι, as in v. 29: i. 35, προσλαβεῖν περιόψεσθε. κατὰ δύναμιν—'to the best of their power', οὐ περιόψεσθαι being equivalent to 'will prevent': so i. 53, οὐ περιοψόμεθα κατὰ τὸ δυνατόν.

10. κατά μέν τὰς θύρας—cf. note, ch. 25, 48. οὐδ' αὐτοί lit. 'neither themselves', i.e. they had no more intention of entering than the prisoners had of letting them in. οὐδέ means 'also not', as in this sentence, more commonly than 'not even'.

13. τὴν ὀροφήν—so iii. 68, ὀροφαῖε ἐχρήσαντο: but i. 134, τὸν ὅροφον. τῷ κεράμῷ—'with the tiling': so ii. 4, λίθοις τε καὶ κεράμῷ βαλλόντων.

14. καl ἅμα...διέφθειρον—the rest of the sentence, as far as ἀπαγχόμενοι, describes the ways in which the captives destroyed themselves. It has two main divisions, oloroós τε... καθιέντες and καl...ἀπαγχόμενοι, the latter being again divided into two clauses of somewhat different construction. The imperfect participles καθιέντες and ἀπαγχόμενοι denote what went on during the night, while the concluding aor. διεφθάρησαν regards the work of death as ended and complete.

16. ἐs τἀs σφαγάs—'into their throats'. σφαγή is the spot where the victim is struck for sacrifice: Eur. Or. 291, τεκούσης ἐs σφαγάς ὦσαι ξίφος.

17. ἐκ κλινῶν τινῶν...ἀπαγχόμενοι—they strangled themselves either with bed girths or with strips of their garments. ἐκ κλινῶν goes with τοῖς σπάρτοις alone, which is governed by ἀπαγχόμενοι. In the next clause instead of another dative of the instrument we have the active construction παραιρήματα ποιοῦντες, which must be rendered 'with strips made'. This use of the act. participle is a common way of varying the construction in the concluding clause of the sentence : Dem. Lept. 496, και τοιούτους τινἀς ἐξειλεγμένοι, 'and such specimens': Eur. El. 496, ταλάρων τ' ἐξελῶν τυρεύματα, 'and cheeses taken from their baskets'.

19. $\pi a \nu \tau l$ $\tau \epsilon \tau \rho \delta \pi \varphi$ —'and so in every fashion'. $\tau \epsilon$ is not found in the MSS, but is inserted by Poppo. We have in this book frequent instances of its use in summing up and concluding an account, e.g. ch. 4, 12. If $\tau \epsilon$ be not read, $\delta \iota \epsilon \phi \partial \epsilon_{\rho \eta \sigma a \nu}$ is redundant, being added as if there had been no such main verb as $\delta \iota \epsilon \phi \partial \epsilon_{\mu \rho \rho \sigma}$.

20. ἐπεγένετο τῷ παθήματι-'closed on the scene': ch. 25, 9.

23. φορμηδόν—'like matting', some lengthways, some across: ii. 75, φορμηδόν τιθέντες: so Hdt. ii. 96, πλινθηδόν, 'brick-fashion'.

25. $\eta \nu \delta \rho a \pi o \delta (\sigma a \nu \tau o - \cdot enslaved': the middle, as Classen points out, possibly implying that the Coreyreans kept them in their own service. In all other passages Thuc. uses the active to describe the selling of captives, e.g. v. 32, <math>\pi a \delta a s \delta \epsilon x a \gamma \mu v a \delta a s \delta \delta c a \nu$.

27. ἡ στάσις πολλὴ γενομένη—an English writer would have said, 'this was the end of this great struggle', but in Greek an accessory idea, as in this case of the height to which faction rose, is not as a rule expressed by an epithet but thrown into a predicative form.

ib. $\sigma \tau a \sigma s$ —the word used throughout of the Corcyrean revolution: so iii. 76, of Kepropala $\epsilon \sigma r a \sigma (a \delta \sigma \sigma)$. It is applied to any struggle between men of the same blood, even if rising to the importance of a civil war: thus in ch. 61, 6, to the war in Sicily.

28. ἐτελεύτησεν ἐς τοῦτο—so iii. 104, ἐτελεύτα ἐς τάδε τὰ ἐπη, 'ended with these verses': cf. i. 51, ή ναυμαχία ἐτελεύτα ἐς νύκτα, i.e. lasted till night and then ended: iii. 108, ή μάχη ἐτελεύτα ἕως ὀψέ. There is a similar use of μέχρι in i. 71, μέχρι τοῦδε ἀρίσθω ὑμῶν ή βραδυτής, 'let this be the limit of your inaction'.

ib. όσα γε κατά—'so far as relates to': so viii. 70, όσα πρός τούς θεούς: cf. ch. 16, 15, όσα μή. ό τι και άξιόλογον—so i. 15, δθεν τις και δύναμις παρεγένετο.

31. ^{[Va} $\pi\epsilon\rho$...^{[Jo} $\mu\eta\nu\tau\sigma$ —so ch. 74, 4, ^{Io}a $\pi\epsilon\rho$ ral $\tau\delta$ $\pi\rho\tilde{\omega}\tau\sigma\nu$ ^{[Joµ $\eta\tau\sigma$. $\epsilon\kappa\epsilon$ and $\epsilon\sigma\taua\vartheta\theta$ a are often similarly used with verbs of motion. Thuc. uses the perfect and plup. of $\delta\rho\mu\tilde{\alpha}\sigma\thetaa\iota$ to denote actual motion, as in these passages, or mental impulse, as in ch. 27, 24.}

32. ἐπολέμουν—by the use of the imperfect the historian leaves the Athenians engaged in their operations in Sicily and passes to another subject. Nothing further is said of Sicily till the convention at Gela next year (ch. 58).

 ol &ν τ₁ Ναυπάκτφ—for the order of the words cf. note on ch. 24, 1. The Athenians had a regular naval station at Naupactus. The Acarnanians had come to terms with the Ambrakiotes the year before (iii. 114). 5. ἐκπέμψαντες—a milder word than ἐκβαλόντες, probably implying the absence of a struggle: so v. 52, ἐξέπεμψαν, of an unsatisfactory governor: cf. Dem. Lept. 597, Θηβαίους ὑποσπόνδους ἀπεπέμψατε.

 οἰκήτορες ἀπὸ πάντων—predicate in agreement with the subject, like ch. 14, 31, και ἀπὸ πάντων ἤδη βεβοηθηκότες: some settlers came from every Acarnanian town. αὐτοί—' by themselves ' as opposed to the Athenians.

2. $d\rho\gamma\nu\rhoo\lambda\delta\gamma\omega\nu\nu\omega\nu$ "sent to collect arrears, or to exact extraordinary contributions. The regular $\phi\delta\rho\sigma\sigma$ appears to have been paid at Athens, at the great Dionysia' (Jowett, citing Böckh). The same word is used in (iii, 19) of a squadron of twelve ships despatched in 428. Six ships were also sent in 430 (ii. 69). The absence of the article with ' $A\theta\eta\nu al\omega\nu$ is to be noticed: see note on ch. 18, 11.

5. mapd $\beta a \sigma i \lambda \epsilon \omega s$ —from the Persian court. $\beta a \sigma i \lambda \epsilon \upsilon s$, without an article, is commonly used to denote the Persian sovereign: ii. 62, $o \delta \tau \epsilon \beta a \sigma i \lambda \epsilon \upsilon s$ $o \upsilon \delta \delta \epsilon \ell \delta r o s =$ neither the Persians nor any other nation; cf. i. 18 etc.

8. μεταγραψάμενοι—'having caused to be transcribed': we have the act. i. 132. μεταγράψαι τι, 'to make some alteration'. ἐκ τῶν 'Ασσυρίων γραμμάτων—'i.e. the cuneiform characters, which the Persians employed in their public inscriptions (Hdt. iv. 87), as here in a public document. They were, in various forms, the common alphabet of several languages' (Jowett). See also Poppo and Arnold. Here 'transcription' no doubt implies a translation.

11. $\pi \sigma \lambda \lambda \hat{\omega} \nu i \lambda \theta \delta \nu \tau \omega \nu$ —at the beginning of the war we find the Lacedacmonians preparing to send envoys to the Persians and other $\beta \delta \rho \beta a \rho \omega$ (ii. 7); and in 430 a body of Peloponnesian ambassadors on their way to Persia were seized in Thrace and given up to the Athenians (ii. 67).

12. $\sigma \alpha \phi \epsilon_s \lambda \epsilon_{\gamma \epsilon_i \nu}$ —so in vi. 21 the MSS. reading is $\dot{\alpha} \xi_{i \rho \nu}$ $\delta \rho \hat{\alpha} \nu$, where Arnold inserts τ_i .

13. $\pi \epsilon \mu \psi \alpha \iota$ they must send', as if $\kappa \epsilon \lambda \epsilon \delta \epsilon \nu \iota$ had gone before. A similar construction to that found in treaties etc.: cf. ch. 16, 5.

ib. $\dot{\omega}s a\dot{v}\tau\dot{\delta}v$ —referring to the primary subject, sc. $\beta a\sigma i\lambda fa$. When two subjects are expressed or implied, the former is often denoted by the oblique cases of $a\dot{v}\tau\dot{\delta}s$, when in Latin we should expect se. (Caesar frequently uses is in the same way, e.g. B. G. i. 5, Helvetii persuadent Rauracis ut una cum iis (=secum) proficiscantur.) In ii. 65 is a noticeable instance, $\dot{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\iota\rho\tilde{a}\tau\sigma$ roùs 'Aθηναίουs rŷs $\dot{\epsilon}\pi$ ' aὐrờν $\dot{\epsilon}\rho\gamma$ ŷs (= $\ddot{\eta}\nu$ $\dot{\epsilon}\pi$ ' aὐrờν $\dot{\epsilon}l\chi\sigma\nu$) παραλύειν: cf. ch. 71, 3. For this idiom see Poppo on i. 17, and the appendix to Buttmann's Meidias 'de formis aὐrởν et aὐrởν.'

CHAPTER LI

1. περιείλον—for force of περl in composition see note on ch. 12, 7, περιερρύη. The Chians took down the wall which surrounded their city.

2. κal ὑποπτευσάντων—the second participle gives the cause of the first: cf. note on ch. 97, 9.

 ¿s aὐroús—'against them' sc. the Athenians, with νεωτεριείν. Another possible reading is és aὐroύs, 'having formed some suspicion with regard to them' viz. the Chians. For ¿s cf. Ar. Plut. 361, σψ μηδέν εἰς ἕμ' ὑπονδει τοιουτονί.

ib. $\pi \circ i \eta \sigma \acute{a} \mu \epsilon v \circ i$ having effected for themselves' i.e. stipulated for. The sense is that, before dismantling their works, they obtained the strongest guarantees which they could that the Athenians would do them no injury. $\pi p \acute{o}s$ 'Aθηναίους—'in regard to the Athenians', i.e. between the Athenians and themselves. $\pi i \sigma \tau \epsilon i s \kappa a \beta \epsilon \beta a i \sigma \tau \tau - ' p ledges and security'.$

έκ τῶν δυνατῶν—' to the best of their power': ii. 3, ώs ἐκ τῶν δυνατῶν.

 τοῦ δ' ἐπιγιγνομένου θέρους—cf. note on ch. 1, 1. εὐθύς— 'at its very beginning'.

2. $\epsilon \kappa \lambda_i \pi \epsilon_5 \tau_i$ —apparently a partial eclipse; calculated to have happened on the 21st of March: cf. ii. 28, $\delta \tau_i \lambda_i os \xi \xi \epsilon_{\lambda_i} \pi \epsilon$. This took place $roupmu \epsilon_i \kappa ard s \epsilon_i h m m$, 'at the beginning of a lunar month', and Thuc. adds that this seems the only possible time.

 τοῦ αὐτοῦ μηνὸs ἰσταμένου—in the first 10 days of the same month, viz. Elaphebolion, which began in the latter half of March. For the variation and uncertainty of the Greek calendar see Jowett on ii. 1.

ib. ἕσεισεν- 'there was an earthquake': cf. ὕει, βροντậ, and the like, as we say, it rains, etc. ὁ θεόs is to be understood: Ar. Ach. 510, Ποσειδών...σείσας. We have the pass. of $\sigma \epsilon i\omega$ in ii. 8, (Δηλος) πρότερον οδπω σεισθείσα. Portents, such as earthquakes and eclipses, were especially frequent at the time of the Peloponnesian war (i. 23).

4. oi Muruhyvaluv $\phi u\gamma a\delta \epsilon s$ —the revolt of Mytilene and Lesbos is related in the earlier part of bk. iii.: the final reduction of the island in ch. 50.

5. ol $\pi \circ \lambda \circ l$ —partial apposition: cf. ch. 6, 4. $\epsilon \kappa \tau \epsilon - \tau \epsilon$ and κal couple II $\epsilon \lambda \circ \pi \circ r \circ \tau o \sigma o a a \dot{r} \circ \dot{\sigma} e r$, the two districts supplying the force, $\tau \epsilon$ being somewhat out of place, as in ch. 28, 21, $\epsilon \kappa \tau \epsilon A trov...\kappa al \delta \lambda \circ \delta e r$.

6. ἐπικουρικόν—' an auxiliary force': viii. 25, ξενικόν ἐπικουρικόν: 50 ἀπλιτικόν, ἰππικόν, ναυτικόν, etc.

7. 'Polτειον-cf. viii. 101, ές 'Polτειον ήδη τοῦ Ελλησπόντου.

8. $\lambda \alpha \beta \delta \nu \tau \epsilon_S$ —as ransom for the place. $\sigma \tau \alpha \tau \eta \rho \alpha_S$ —the Phocaean stater was worth somewhat less than the Attic stater, the value of which was about 16 shillings. $d\pi \ell \delta \sigma \alpha \nu \pi \delta \lambda \nu$ $\sigma \delta \delta \nu \delta \delta \kappa \eta \sigma \alpha \nu \tau \epsilon_S$ —' restored the town uninjured' (Jowett).

12. 'Astalas—so called because they were on the coast $(\dot{\alpha}\kappa\tau\dot{\eta})$ near Lesbos. In iii, 50 we read that the Athenians took possession of the towns on the mainland $\delta\sigma\omega\nu$ $M_{UTL}\lambda\eta\nu\alpha\hat{\alpha}\alpha$ $d\kappa\rho\hat{\alpha}\tau\nu$.

14. πάντων μάλιστα—this use of the neuter is to be noted. Poppo compares Mark xii. 28, πρώτη πάντων έντολή.

15. κρατυνάμενοι—construction in accordance with the sense, as if διενοοῦντο had preceded instead of ην ή διάνοια: cf. ch. 23, 13, note. The middle form of κρατύνω is found ch. 114, 13: also iii. 82, τὰs πίστεις ἐκρατύνωντο: the active occurs i. 69, etc.

ib. vaîs $\tau\epsilon$ yáp—this parenthetical sentence extends to $\pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{y}$, $\tau\epsilon$ and $\kappa a i$ coupling its two members vaîs and $\tau \hat{y}$ $\tilde{a} \lambda \lambda \eta$ mapa $\sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{y}$. Arnold however ends the parenthesis with $\epsilon \pi \kappa \epsilon \iota \epsilon \ell \epsilon v \kappa \epsilon$, and takes $\tau \hat{y}$ $\tilde{a} \lambda \lambda \eta$ mapa $\sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{y}$ with the following optimizerot.

16. αὐτόθεν—in sense may be joined with the words before or after it, and is probably connected with both.

17. τη άλλη παρασκευή—most probably dat. of the instrument, dependent by a change of construction on the sense derived from κρατυνάμενοι, sc. τη άλλη παρασκευή κρατύνεσθαι εσπορον ήν. Poppo proposes to read την άλλην παρασκευήν governed by ποιδσθαι. It has also been proposed to take the dative as dependent on εύπορία, 'there were facilities for' etc., or to alter the reading to $\tau \hat{\eta} s \tilde{\alpha} \lambda \eta s \pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta} s$, giving the same meaning. Arnold regards the text as a mixture of two constructions, connecting the dat. with what follows, as if the words ran ravel $\tau \epsilon$ (raŵs $\gamma a \rho \epsilon v \pi o \rho (a \eta r m o \epsilon \hat{c} \sigma \theta a \kappa \tau . \lambda.)$ kal $\tau \hat{\eta}$ $\tilde{\alpha} \lambda \eta \pi a \rho a \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta}$.

Instead of $\pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta}$ the manuscript authority is in favour of $\sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta}$, which is accordingly retained by Jowett. $\sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta}$ however appears used exclusively of dress and personal appointments, e.g. i. 6: vi. 31, $\tau \hat{\omega} \tau \pi \epsilon \rho l \tau \hat{\sigma} \sigma \hat{\omega} \mu a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\omega} r$: and though it would apply to fitting out men for an expedition, is not so appropriate to the fortifying of a stronghold: cf. i. 2, our $\mu \epsilon \gamma \ell \delta \epsilon \epsilon m \delta \lambda \epsilon \omega r \epsilon \delta \chi v or o v r \epsilon \tau \hat{\eta} \delta \lambda \eta \pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta}$.

18. oppuíperou-cf. ch. i. 8: constructed like sparurdueros above.

19. κακώσειν...χειρώσασθαι - construction and variation of tense as in ch. 28, 29.

 κal oi μέν—cf. note on imp. ἐπολέμουν, ch. 48, 32: the account of these operations is resumed in ch. 75.

 καl άγαγόντες—for this use of the participle see note on ch. 48, 18, παραιρήματα ποιοῦντες.

8. ἐπίκειται τῷ Λακωνικῷ—'it lies off the coast of Laconia': ch. 44, 28, ἐs τὰs ἐπικειμένας νήσους: ii. 27, with dat. τῷ Πελοπουνήσω ἐπίκειται. κατά—'opposite to': i. 46, ἡ κατὰ Κέρκυραν ἡπειρος.

ib. Λακεδαιμόνιοι δ' είσί—sc. ol Κυθήριοι, 'the people are Lacedaemonians of the class of Perioeci' (ch. 8, 3): Λακεδαιμόνιοι is pred. the subject being understood from $Ki\theta\eta\rho a$: cf. note on ch. 1, 4. For the gen. denoting a class see Madv. § 51 c.

9. Kuθηροδίκηs ἀρχή—an 'authority' or official with this title: so i. 96, Έλληνοταμίαι ἀρχή, a 'board' so called: see note on τὰ τέλη, ch. 15, 2. In both passages Cobet proposes to omit ἀρχή as being an explanatory gloss.

13. προσβολή—cf. ch. 1, 7: here it means a port or landing-place. Merchantmen from Egypt are mentioned again in viii. 35: they probably imported corn.

16. $\pi\hat{\alpha}\sigma_{3}$ yd, $dv\hat{\epsilon}\chi\epsilon_{i}$ —sc. either (1) $\dot{\eta}$ Aakwriki, meaning that the Laconian coast lay open to attack from the sea on the s.w. and s.E.; or (2) $\dot{\eta} r\hat{\eta}\sigma\sigma$; meaning that Cythera commanded the coast on both sides, and therefore protected the country. $d\nu \xi \epsilon - 'juts$ out, extends': i. 46, $\dot{\eta} \, \delta x \rho a \, d\nu \xi \chi \epsilon \iota$: so viii. 35, $\delta x \rho a \, \tau \hat{\eta} s \, K \nu \iota \delta l a s \, \pi \rho o \check{\nu} \chi o \upsilon \sigma a$. Grote (vol. iv. ch. 53) renders it, 'the whole Laconian coast is high projecting cliff where it fronts the Sicilian and Cretan seas', being therefore only assailable at Malea. This agrees with the fact of the want of harbours on the Laconian coast, but the use of $\dot{a}\nu \epsilon \chi \omega$ is against it. For $\pi \epsilon \lambda a \gamma o s$ cf. ch. 24, 22.

CHAPTER LIV

2. $\delta_{i\sigma\chi\iota\lambda}$ Classen suspects an error in the number, as so large a Milesian force seems improbable. Possibly $M_{i\lambda\eta\sigma}$ $\sigma l\omega\nu$ ought to be omitted. Scandeia seems to have been the chief fortress of the island, and would be attacked by the main body.

4. $\Sigma \kappa \acute{\alpha} v \delta \epsilon_{\alpha} v$ —Pausanias calls Scandeia the arsenal ($\acute{\epsilon} \pi t$ $r\epsilon_{\epsilon} \sigma v$) of Cythera, and says that it is ten stadia from the city of Cythera itself. The latter appears from Thucydides to have consisted of the harbour ($\acute{\eta} \acute{\epsilon} \pi l \ \partial a \lambda \acute{\alpha} \sigma \eta \ \pi \acute{\delta} \lambda s$, line 7) and the upper city ($\acute{\eta} \acute{\alpha} v \omega \ \pi \acute{\delta} \lambda s$, line 11).

9. ὑπέστησαν—'stood the attack': ch. 59, 12, κινδύνους ὑφίστασθαι: cf. note on ch. 28, 17. ξυνέβησαν—' they agreed', with ἐπιτρέψαι: so ch. 69, 22, ξυνέβησαν ἕκαστον ἀπολυθήναι.

13. ήσαν δέ τινες καl γενόμενοι—'and some communications had actually passed between Nicias and some of the inhabitants'.

15. ἐπιτηδειότερον—'on more favourable terms': i. 58, ουδὲν εὕροντο ἐπιτήδειον: i. 144, τοῖς Λακεδαιμονίοις ἐπιτηδείως, 'in the interests of'. τό τε παραυτίκα κ.τ.λ.—some MSS. read τὰ τῆς ὁμολογίας, but the best are without τά. τὸ παραυτίκα τῆς ὁμολογίας then means the terms now granted, and τὸ ἔπειτα the arrangements afterwards concluded by the Athenians (ch. 57).

 άνέστησαν γὰρ ἄν—' for otherwise the Athenians, etc.'
 i.e. but for the understanding with Nicias: so i. 102, βία γὰρ ầν είλον τὸ χωρίον, 'else they would have stormed the town'.

19. οὕτως ἐπικειμένης—referring to the situation of Cythera described in the previous chapter. This is the only instance in Thuc. of ἐπικεῖσθαι with ἐπι': Hdt. vii. 235, ἐπ' αὐτŷ νῆσος ἐπικειμένη.

 παραλαβόντες—' taking into their own hands': i. 19, ναῦς τῶν πόλεων παραλαβόντες. The Athenians occupied Scandeia completely and probably garrisoned other points in the island. 22. Is $\tau \epsilon - \tau \epsilon$ and kal here couple the two clauses of which $\epsilon \pi \lambda \epsilon \nu \sigma a \nu$ and $\epsilon \delta j \sigma \nu \nu$ are the verbs.

24. $ivau\lambda_i jointou...in - imperfect and opt. of repeated action. <math>\tau \hat{\omega} v \chi \omega \rho i \omega v$ - part. gen. after ov, 'on such spots as were favourable from time to time'. For kaipo's of place, cf. ch. 90, 14.

 άθρόα...τῦ δυνάμει—a prominent position of the predicate, not uncommon where emphasis is desired: cf. iii. 63, ούκ ίσην αύτοις τὴν χάριν ἀνταπέδοτε.

 φοβούμενοι...κατάστασιν—cf. ch. 41, 11. κατάστασιν the established order of things or 'constitution'. What the Lacedaemonians chiefly dreaded was revolt on the part of the Helots. The slavery in which they held these was the 'peculiar institution' of which they were jealous and apprehensive.

 έχομένης – 'was in the enemy's hands': ch. 108, 1, έχομένης δὲ τῆς 'Αμφιπόλεως. ταχέος και ἀπροφυλάκτου – because it was impossible to guard against the sudden descents of the Athenians on their coasts.

14. ἐς τὰ πολεμικά—' for warlike operations'. εἴπερ ποτέ so ch. 20, 1; here made more emphatic by the superlative μάλιστα δή, 'in the highest degree'. ἀκνηρότεροι—' more backward than ever'.

16. ξυνεστώτες—'being engaged': so ch. 96, 11, ξυνεστήκει, of an army in actual battle. παρὰ τὴν ὑπάρχουσαν ὑδίαν the 'existing form' of their force consisting almost entirely of heavy-armed infantry.

18. ols τδ μή ἐπιχειρούμενον—'with whom whatever they were not actually attempting was so much subtracted from their expectation of success': cf. i. 70, where the Corinthian envoys at Sparta enlarge on the ambition and activity of the Athenians, \mathring{a} μèν $\mathring{a}r$ ἐπινοήσαντες μὴ ἐξελθωσιν, οἰκεῖα στέρεσθαι ήγοῦνται κ.τ.λ.

19. τά τῆς τύχης-so τὸ τῆς τύχης, ch. 18, 12.

24. $\pi \hat{a} \nu \dots \hat{a} \mu a \rho \tau \eta \sigma \epsilon \sigma \theta a$.—they expected to fail in any active movement they made: for opt. cf. $\eta \chi \omega \rho \eta \sigma \epsilon \alpha \sigma$, ch. 32, 22. The neuter adj. is a cognate accusative following the verb: so iii. 47, 5 or $\hat{a} r$ sat rour duagrameter.

25. $dv \epsilon \chi \epsilon \gamma \gamma v o \nu$ —lit. 'affording no guarantee (of success)'. Their $\gamma \nu \omega \mu \eta$, or 'mental conviction', had lost its confidence, and they were, as we say, demoralized. Till the capture of Pylos the cvils of the war had in no sense been brought home to the Spartane.

CHAPTER LVI

1. $\tau \sigma \tau_s \delta' A \theta \eta valous - this dat. is dependent on <math>\eta \sigma i \chi a \sigma a \nu$, or rather is placed at the beginning of the sentence to denote what state of things the Athenians found resulting from the dispirited feeling of the Lacedaemonians: cf. note on ch. 10, 13, $\nu \pi \sigma \chi \omega \rho i \sigma \sigma a$. $\tau \delta \tau \epsilon - \epsilon' n \omega v$, at the time mentioned at the end of chapter 54.

ib. την παραθαλάσσιον—so ii. 26, της παραθαλασσίου έστιν ά έδήωσε.

6. ηπερ καl ημύνατο—'which did make a stand'. κal thus used implies an unexpected statement: ch. 11, 18, εt πη καl δοκοίη. περί Κοτύρταν καl 'Αφροδισίαν—places on the w. coast of Laconia near Cape Malea.

12. περιέπλευσαν—the Ath. now rounded Cape Malea and sailed upwards along the ε. coast of Laconia. Epidaurus Limera was a short distance N. from Malea. The name signifies 'the hungry' or 'the harbour-possessing' according as it comes from $\lambda \bar{\mu} \delta s$ or $\lambda \bar{\mu} \eta \nu$, both derivations being given.

14. η έστι μεν της—for gen. 'belonging to' cf. iii. 106, ούκετι 'Ακαρνανίας. Κυνοσουρίας—the form of the word which has the best authority here and in v. 14 and 41. Another form is Kuroupla (Hdt. viii. 73 etc.).

16. $\nu\epsilon\mu\dot{o}\mu\epsilon\nuoi$ possessing' or 'occupying : i. 2, $\nu\epsilon\mu\dot{o}\mu\epsilon\nuoi$ ra airŵr $\epsilon\kappaa\sigmaroi \delta\sigma\sigmara aros \tilde{\eta}\nu$. kww.oroborv.—the expulsion of the Aeginetans was in 431; some settled in Thyrea, some were scattered throughout Greece (ii. 27).

17. ὑπὸ τὸν σεισμόν—the great earthquake and the revolt of the Helots which took place in 464 (i. 101). Thucydides here repeats what he has already said, ii. 27.

19. 'Aθηναίων ὑπακούοντες—' though subject to Athens'. πρός...ἕστασαν—cf. vi. 34, πρός τὰ λεγόμενα al γνῶμαι Ιστανται: so Soph. Ant. 299, (φρένας) πρός alσχρὰ πράγματ' Ιστασθαι. ἐκείνων—the Lacedaemonians, as locally remote from Athens and Aegina; cf. note on ch. 37, 10.

CHAPTER LVII

3. τείχοs-'fort': ch. 11, 22, etc.

7. των περί την χώραν-cf. ch. 55, 5.

16. $i_{V} \chi_{ep\sigma}(-)$ in the fight': ch. 113, 7: cf. ch. 43, 9. $\ddot{\alpha}\gamma_{0VTes} \dot{\alpha}\phi(\kappa_{0VTO}-)$ we should say 'took with them'; the usual Greek expression is a verb with the partic. of $\dot{\alpha}\gamma\omega$.

22. καταθίσθαι ές τας νήσους—so iii. 28, κατατίθεται ές Τένεδον: iii. 72, κατέθεντο ές Αίγιναν. The middle voice is always used in this sense of depositing for safety: cf. note on έθεντο, ch. 18, 14.

23. και τοὺς ἄλλους...φέρειν—the grammatical subject is changed in this clause, the original construction being resumed in the next clause. In sense the subject is still the Athenians, the meaning being 'as for the rest to let them inhabit', etc.

26. del ποτε—' of old standing'; commonly used by Thue. with words implying friendship or enmity: i. 47, del ποτε φλου εlole, etc.: so ch. 78, 16: 103, 13: cf. i. 15, és τόν πάλαι ποτέ γενόμενον πόλεμον.

ib. παρά τοὺς ἄλλους — = παρά τοὺς ἄλλους ἀγαγώντες καταδήσαι παρ' αὐτοῖς, pregnant constr.: so τοὺς ἐν τῷ νήσῳ = those who had been captured in the island.

CHAPTER LVIII

The history now returns to affairs in Sicily, of which nothing has been recorded since the conclusion of the operations related in ch. 25.

1. Kaµapıvaíoış—Camarina, though Dorian, was opposed to Syracuse (iii. 86), while the neighbouring town of Gela, like the other Dorian colonies, took the Syracusan side. $\pi\rho\hat{\omega}rov$ $\pi\rho\delta s d\lambda\lambda\eta\lambdaovs$ —note the order. The force of the sentence is that the pacification of Sicily began with Camarina and Gela, that the first step was a cessation of hostilities, and that this was first concluded between the two states in question.

πρέσβεις—in apposition to οι άλλοι Σικελιώται: so ch.
 49, 6, οίκήτορες από πάντων. ἐς λόγους κατέστησαν—so iii. 8:
 iii. 70, ἐς λόγους καταστάντων: ἰ. 23, ἐς τὸν πόλεμον κατέστησαν, etc.

7. ἐπ' ἀμφότερα—ch. 17, 19; here it refers to counterarguments and claims, as is shown by ὡς ξκαστοι κ.τ.λ. διαφερομένων καὶ ἀξιούντων—'(the envoys) disputing and urging their respective claims'; gen. abs. without subject expressed. 8. iλaσσοῦσθαι- 'to be at a disadvantage', with cognate accus.: ef. ch. 59, 12.

9. 'Ερμοκράτης -the most eminent Syracusan of this time, and a man of singular energy and intelligence. His courage and wisdom undoubtedly saved his country from the Athenian invaders. The speeches which Thucydides puts in his mouth are marked by outspoken frankness and an unusual breadth of view. Their language is also striking in style, close and antithetical, and abounding in rhetorical mannerisms.

10. $\operatorname{\textit{\acute{o}\sigma\piep}}$ kal $\operatorname{\textit{\acute{e}net}\sigmae-this}$ refers to the effect of Hermocrates's counsel, ch. 65.

ib. $is \tau \delta \kappa o v \delta v$ —according to Classen 'for the general interest', as opposed to the private claims of individual states: so i. 91, $is \tau \delta \kappa o v \delta v$ footh $\delta v \delta v \delta v \delta v$. The state of the

11. τοιούτους δή—a variation from τοιάδε, with which speeches are commonly introduced, as in ch. 10 and 16. On the other hand, in vii. 78, τοιάδε παρακελευόμενος refers to a speech which has just been made.

CHAPTER LIX

1. $o \breve{v} \tau \epsilon \pi \delta \lambda \omega s$ —for the gen. Classen compares Hdt. vii. 101, $\sigma \vartheta \epsilon ls \pi \delta \lambda \iota os o \sigma \tau \epsilon \lambda a \chi (\sigma \tau \eta s o \vartheta \tau \star a \sigma \theta \epsilon \nu \epsilon \sigma \tau \star \eta s$. The order of the words in this vigorous sentence gives it a force which it would not have if precise grammatical sequence had been observed. $\pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \omega s$ is put early, in contrast with the following ϵs sour \u03c6, to show that the speaker is not urging state claims but general interests; while o \u03c6 \u03c6 e \u03c6 a \u03c6 u \u03c6 to \u03c6 n s much as he was the representative of a country which had less to dread than others.

2. τούς λόγους ποιήσομαι—the position of these words is in accordance with the manner of Thuc. who commonly separates two parallel expressions, such as obre $\ell\lambda\alpha\chi$ (σrys...obre πονουμένης, by an intermediate word or words belonging to both, e.g. i, 93, σιδήρω πρός αλλήλους τα έξωθεν καl μολύβδω δεδεμένοι.

ib. πονουμένης-so ii. 51, τον πονούμενον ψκτίζοντο, of sufferers from the plague.

3. is $\kappa_{0\nu}\omega' \omega'$ for common consideration' or 'for the common interest'-cf. ch. 58, 10. $\beta \epsilon \lambda \tau (\sigma \tau \eta \nu - to be connected with <math>\tau_D^{\alpha} \Sigma \iota \kappa \lambda l \alpha$. another on the commonly used with $\gamma \nu \omega \mu \eta \nu$, etc. of setting forth one's own views: so without acc. Plat. Placedr. 274 E. etc.

5. Kal $\pi\epsilon\rho$ l $\mu\epsilon\nu$ —the converse of this $\mu\epsilon\nu$ is $\delta\epsilon$ in line 13. Though there is no use in enlarging on the evils of war in general, it may be of service to shew the inexpediency of this particular war.

6. $\dot{\omega}_{S} \chi \alpha \lambda \epsilon \pi \dot{\omega} \nu - '$ what a grievons thing it is'. $\pi \dot{\alpha} \nu \tau \dot{\delta}$ $\dot{\epsilon} \nu \dot{\omega} \nu - '$ all that it involves', or ' all that is possible', sc. $\dot{\epsilon} \lambda \dot{\epsilon} - \gamma \epsilon \mu \tau$: so ii. 43, $\delta \sigma a \ \ell \nu \epsilon \sigma \tau \epsilon$, in a somewhat similar clause. $\dot{\epsilon} \lambda \dot{\epsilon} \gamma \omega \mu - ' \rho i \epsilon \lambda ing out', not = \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\epsilon} \alpha \gamma \rho \rho \epsilon \dot{\omega} \omega$. Only $\dot{\omega} \tau \ell$, $\pi \rho \dot{\epsilon}$, and $\dot{\epsilon} \pi \ell$ are compounded with $\lambda \dot{\epsilon} \gamma \omega$ in the sense of speaking. Other prepositions are compounded with $\dot{\alpha} \gamma \rho \rho \epsilon \dot{\omega} \omega$ or (poetically) $\dot{\omega} \delta \tilde{\omega}$ (R. s.). $\dot{\epsilon} \nu \epsilon \dot{\epsilon} \delta \sigma \tau - c f.$ ch. 17, 12, note. $\mu \alpha \kappa \rho \eta \gamma \rho \epsilon \dot{\epsilon} \nu - \dot{\epsilon}$, 63: ii. 36.

 δναγκάζεται—'is constrained': viii. 41, ἀναγκάζεται ύπο τῶν Κνιδίων παραινούντων. αὐτὸ δρῶν—to engage in war; cf. αὐτὰ ταῦτα, line 13: ch. 18, 7, ἐπάθομεν αὐτό.

10. $\xi \upsilon \mu \beta a \acute{\nu} \iota \iota$ the fact is', connected with $\tau o \hat{s} \mu \dot{e} r \dots$ $\phi a \acute{\nu} c \sigma \delta a r$ as construction goes, but in sense applying no less to the second clause with ol $\delta \dot{e}$: for constr. cf. Plat. Rep. 505 c, $\sigma \upsilon \mu \beta a \acute{\nu} r c a \acute{\nu} \tau o \hat{s} \dot{e} \omega \lambda o \gamma e \hat{\nu}$, 'the result is they admit', or 'they find themselves admitting'. $\tau o \hat{s} \mu \dot{\nu} \dots o \hat{s} \dot{\epsilon}$ —these two clauses apply generally to aggressive and defensive warfare. The definite $\tau \dot{a} \kappa e \rho \delta \eta$, $\tau o \dot{\nu} s \kappa \nu \delta \dot{\nu} \sigma v s$ refer to $\tau o \lambda e \mu e \hat{\nu}$, 'is gains, it dangers'.

11. έθθλυστν—'are ready', = dare: ii. 71, έθελησάντων ξυνάρασθαι τὸν κίνδυνον. πρὸ τοῦ αὐτίκα—'rather than suffer their rights to be infringed one jot': cf. ch. 58, 8: i. 77, ελασσούμενοι έν ταῖς δίκαις.

13. el $\mu\eta$ èv καιρ $\dot{\varphi}$ —èv has very slight MSS. authority and is omitted by Arnold. There is however no proof that $\kappa \alpha \iota \rho \dot{\varphi}$ by itself can mean 'in proper time'. Arnold quotes ii. 40, $\pi\lambda \omega i \tau \varphi$ $\epsilon \epsilon \rho \gamma o u \mu a \lambda \lambda o \kappa \alpha \iota \rho \dot{\varphi} \chi \nu \dot{\omega} u \epsilon \theta a$, which as his own note in loc. shews is in no way a case in point; while Krüger points ont that Soph. 0. T. 1516, $\pi \acute{\alpha} \tau \alpha \gamma \dot{\alpha} \rho \kappa \alpha \lambda \dot{\alpha}$, means 'by being scasonable'. $\epsilon \tau \kappa \alpha \iota \rho \dot{\varphi}$ occurs v. 61, etc.

15. δ kal $\eta_{\mu}\hat{\imath}\nu-\delta$, referring to what immediately precedes, is the belief that this is a time for union rather than strife. In constr. it is a cogn. acc. after $\pi\epsilon\iota\theta_{0\mu}\epsilon_{\nu\sigma\sigma}$ and supplies the subj. to $\delta\xi_{\iota\sigma\nu} \gamma\epsilon_{\nu}\alpha_{\tau\sigma}$. As Poppo says, 'pro $\pi\epsilon\iota\theta_{0\mu}\epsilon_{\nu\sigma\sigma}$ etiam $\pi\epsilon\ell\theta\epsilon\sigma\theta_{\alpha}$ scribi potuit', the sense being 'such a conviction on your part would now be invaluable'. 17. βουλευόμενοι δή —δή lays a sarcastic emphasis on βουλευόμενοι 'deliberating, forsooth'. There seems therefore no reason for Cobet's suggestion of βουλόμενοι, with which indeed δή would have no force. For inf. cf. vii. 60, έβουλεύσαντο τὰ reiχη έκλιπεῖν : Hdt. vi. 100, έβουλεύσαντο έκλιπεῖν τὴν πόλιν.

ib. $\theta \ell \sigma \theta a_1$ —with $\epsilon \tilde{v}$: ch. 17, 14. Krüger finds a difficulty in the separation of adverb and verb and proposes to omit $\theta \ell \sigma \theta a_1$ as a gloss, taking tôta as acc. after $\beta ou \lambda \epsilon v \delta \mu \epsilon v \sigma a_1$. The omission however, besides having no authority, spoils the rhythm of the sentence.

18. δι' ἀντιλογιῶν—' we are trying to settle our differences by mutual recriminations'. It seems simplest to understand this clause as ironical, implying that the envoys in their selfish eagerness for advantage are defeating their own objects. Otherwise ἀντιλογιῶν is simply 'discussions'. $\pi\epsilon_i\rho\omega\mu\epsilon\theta a$ is taken as subj. by Classen.

19. ην άρα—' if after all'; undoubtedly ironical, as such disappointment was inevitable. προχωρήση—cf. ch. 18, 24, note.

20. loov-' his just due', as opposed to thas or $\pi \lambda \ell o \nu$: v. 31, $\mu \eta$ loov there.

CHAPTER LX

1. καίτοι—the next chapter begins in a similar way. εί $\sigma \omega \phi \rho o v \circ \tilde{\nu}_{\mu e \nu}$ —cf. i. 40, $\delta \sigma \tau is \mu \eta$ τοις $\delta \epsilon \xi a \mu \ell \nu o is$, εί $\sigma \omega \phi \rho a \nu \circ \tilde{\nu} \sigma t$, $\pi \delta \lambda \epsilon \mu o \nu \pi o i \eta \sigma \epsilon t$. Such expressions are elliptical, = 'as will be the case if, etc.'

2. ή ξύνοδος—'our conference'; followed by a double construction, οὐ περι..., ἀλλ' εἰ: cf. ∇ . 88, ή μέντοι ξύνοδος και περι σωτηρίας ήδε πάρεστι.

3. ἐπιβουλευομένην—pass. as in ch. 61, 7, though the active takes the dat. in the sense of plotting against. $\tau \dot{\eta} \nu \dot{a} \pi \sigma \chi \dot{\omega} \rho \eta \sigma \iota \nu$ έπεβούλευον, iii. 109, means 'made arrangements for the with-drawal'.

5. $\delta\iotaa\lambda\lambdaa\kapparás-$ 'peacemakers': also in ch. 64, 21: Dem. de Symm. 189: Eur. Phoen. 468. $\dot{a}\nu a\gamma\kappa a\iotaorépous-$ 'more cogent'. The adj. being here used of a person has an active force=causing $\dot{a}\nu\dot{a}\gamma\kappa\eta$: so v. 105, $\dot{v}\pi\dot{v}$ $\dot{\phi}\dot{v}\sigma\omega s$ $\dot{a}\nu a\gamma\kappa alas,$ where $\phi\dot{v}\sigma\iota s$ is as it were personified. When used of a thing=such as $\dot{a}\kappa\dot{a}\gamma\kappa\eta$ compels: i. 61, $\xi\nu\mu\mu\alpha\chi la$ $\dot{a}\nu\alpha\gamma\kappa ala$: cf. note on ch. 32, 23.

8. Theorem 'are on the look-out for': ch. 27, 11.

10. $\tau \delta \phi \dot{\upsilon} \sigma \epsilon \pi \sigma \delta \dot{\epsilon} \mu c \upsilon \mu^{-\epsilon}$ are speciously ordering what is naturally hostile to them with a view to their own advantage'; i.e. are merely securing their own interests in dealing with those who are naturally enemies, though they may call them allies. According to this view $\tau \delta \pi \sigma h \dot{\epsilon} \mu \omega \sigma$ nearly equals $\tau \sigma \delta s \pi \sigma h \epsilon \mu \omega \sigma$: cf. i. 76, $\tau \delta s \pi \delta h \epsilon s \dot{\epsilon} \pi l \tau \delta \dot{\nu} \mu \omega \phi \dot{\epsilon} h \mu \sigma \kappa a \pi a \pi \sigma \tau \sigma \dot{\alpha} \mu \epsilon \omega c$: vi. 85, $\tau \dot{\omega} \theta \dot{\delta} \delta \epsilon \pi \rho \delta \tau \delta h \nu \sigma \tau \epsilon h \sigma \sigma \sigma \omega c$: cf. ch. 76, 33.

Classen takes $\tau \delta \phi \delta \sigma \epsilon \pi \sigma \lambda \ell \mu \iota \sigma \tau$ to mean the hostile and ambitious designs which the Athenians concealed under pretence of alliance; but this does not agree with $\kappa a \theta \delta \sigma \tau a \sigma \theta a \iota$, a word which implies political arrangements.

12. $\ell \pi \alpha \gamma o \mu \ell \nu \omega \nu$ —ch. 1, 4. $\ell \pi i \sigma \tau \rho \alpha \tau \epsilon \nu \omega \sigma \omega$ —with acc.: so ch. 92, 32. Here it scarcely means attacking, but rather sending troops to. In this passage we have a rhetorical effect of sound produced by three consecutive compounds of $\ell \pi \ell$.

16. τετρυχωμένους—'worn out': vii. 28, τ $\hat{\psi}$ πολέμ $\hat{\psi}$ τετρυχωμένοι. The present τρυχόω (=τρύχω) is not found in classical Greek.

ib. ποτέ-'some day': ch. 1, 9.

17. τάδε πάντα-'all we see', i.e. all Sicily.

ib. $\pi \epsilon_1 \rho \acute{a} \sigma a \sigma \theta a_1$ —aor. after $\epsilon_i \kappa \acute{b}_s$, as is common: see note on ch. 9, 22. Krüger remarks (on ii. 5) that Thuc. differs from other writers in preferring the middle aor. form of $\pi \epsilon_i$ pôpaa. We have $\pi \epsilon_i \rho a \theta \ell_i res$ in act. sense ii. 5, and 33: $\pi \epsilon_i \rho a \theta \acute{y}$, vi. 92: $\pi \epsilon_i \rho a \theta \ell_i$, pass. vi. 54.

 καίτοι τŷ ἐαυτῶν—if we must call in allies, let it be when we gain by it: dat. after ἐπικτωμένους 'gaining in addition to': i. 144, ἀρχήν ἐπικτῶσθαι.

 τά ἐτοῦμα βλάπτοντας—' spoiling what we have': so κτῶσθαί τι is contrasted with τὰ ἐτοῦμα βλάψαι, i. 70. The compound προσλαμβάνειν here means to take on yourselves: so v. 111: vi. 73, προσλαβεῖν: i. 144, προστίθεσθαι, etc. 8. κατά πόλεις—'while taking our several cities we are divided'; κατά, distributive, one city takes one side, one the other: cf. i. 15, διέστησαν ἐς ξυμμαχίαν ἐκατέρων,=took one side or the other.

11. παρεστάναι δέ—sc. χρή. The subject is changed in point of grammar, though in sense it remains the same, = 'none of us ought to think': ch. 95, 4, παραστζ δὲ μηδενί: Dem. Olynth. iii. 23, ταὐτὰ παρίσταταί μοι γιγνώσκειν.

ib. oi μèν Δωριῆς ήμῶν—'those of us who are Dorians': ch. 126, 17, τοῖς Μακεδόσιν ἀντῶν. τὸ δὲ Χαλκιδικόν—'the Chalcidian element', =ol Χαλκιδης. τῆ Ἰάδι ξυγγενεία—' from their Ionian tics of blood': so the Leontine allies appealed to Athens, δτι "Iwes ῆσαν, iii. 86; cf. vi. 3.

13. où ydp tois ë $\theta v \epsilon \sigma t$ —dat. with $\delta i \chi a \pi \epsilon \phi v \kappa \epsilon$, 'in respect of its races'. The prominent position of the words however causes them to affect 'the whole sentence, and gives a sense equivalent to 'it is not from a quarrel of races, etc.'

14. $\pi \acute{e} \phi \nu \kappa \epsilon$ —sc. $\dot{\eta} \Sigma \iota \kappa \epsilon \lambda \iota a$; so Poppo and Classen: cf. Plat. Rep. 503 B, $\delta \iota \epsilon \sigma \pi a \sigma \mu \acute{e} \tau \eta$ $\phi \acute{e} \tau a \iota$ (unless $\delta \iota \epsilon \sigma \pi a \sigma \mu \acute{e} \tau a$ should be read). Krüger and Donaldson take $\delta \theta \nu \epsilon \sigma \iota$ as governed by $\dot{\epsilon} \pi \iota a \sigma \iota$ and $\ell \theta \nu \eta$ as subject of $\pi \acute{e} \phi \nu \kappa \epsilon$, 'they do not invade our races because their origin is different, through hatred of one of them '.

ib. $i\pi la\sigma_i$ —like $i\pi_i\sigma_i\sigma_i\sigma_i$, ch. 60, 13, conveys the idea of armed intervention rather than actual hostility.

18. $a\dot{v}\tau o (- 'of themselves', contrasting the eagerness$ of the Athenians with the backwardness of their so-called allies. $<math>\tau \delta \delta (\kappa a \iota o v - what is justly due, meaning here the aid which$ $they had covenanted to render. <math>\tau \hat{\eta} s \xi v v \vartheta \eta \kappa \eta s$ -either with $\tau \delta \delta (\kappa a \iota o v, 'the due requirements of the covenant', or with$ $<math>\mu \hat{\alpha} \lambda \lambda o v, 'more than their covenant required', = \mu \hat{\alpha} \lambda \lambda o v \ddot{\eta} \kappa a \tau d$. Note the concluding alliteration, $\pi \rho o \vartheta \mu \omega s \pi a \rho t \sigma \chi o \tau \tau o$.

20. και τούς μέν—corresponds to ὅσοι δέ, line 25. πολλή ξυγγνώμη—'is fully excusable', with inf. clause: 80 v. 88, «Ικός και ξυγγνώμη.

23. έτοιμοτέροις- 'still more ready', than τοῖς ἄρχειν βουλομένοις: cf. ch. 18, 4, κυριωτεροι: so iii. 63, ἀξιώτεροι. ib. $\pi i \phi_{\rm UKC} \gamma i \phi_{\rm H}$ -for similar statements of the right of the strongest, cf. i. 76: v. 105. In the latter passage the Athenians say that they know that men always rule whatever they can, and they suppose that the deity does the same. Sub marrós. So v. 105.

27. εδ θέσθαι-cf. note on ch. 17, 14. αίτου- sc. τοῦ κοινῶς φοβεροῦ.

33. $e^{i\pi\rho e\pi\omega_s}$ ädixoi — note the antithetical balance of two sets of three words with which the sentence concludes. Each member begins with an adverb compounded with e^{i} , $e^{i\pi\rho e\pi\omega_s}$ 'with fair outside' corresponding to $e^{i\lambda}d\gamma\omega_s$ 'with good actual reason': ädixoi 'without justice' corresponds to ämparroi 'without success'; while $\ell\lambda\theta\delta$ are finds its converse in $a\pi lasor$. This sentence is a good example of the emphatic usage of adverbs, which is characteristic of Thucydides.

CHAPTER LXII

1. $\tau \delta \mu \delta \nu \pi \rho \delta s$ —either determinant accus. 'as concerns the Athenians' like the more usual plural (ch. 15, 10: ch. 85, 28, $\tau \delta \pi \rho \delta s' A \partial \eta \nu a lovs$); or, according to Poppo, subject to $\epsilon i \rho i \sigma \kappa \epsilon \tau a$. 'the (advantage we gain) in respect of the Athenians is found to be so great an advantage'. $\epsilon \delta \beta \sigma \nu \lambda \epsilon \nu a \sigma \epsilon' i f$ we take good counsel', dat. commodi, grammatically connected with either $d\gamma a \partial \delta r$ or $\epsilon \nu \rho l \sigma \kappa \epsilon \tau a$. $\epsilon \delta \rho \rho \kappa \epsilon \tau a - \epsilon'$ is found' by due consideration, =' proves to be': so iii. 47, $\tau \delta$ K $\lambda \ell \omega r o \ldots \sigma \nu \epsilon \nu \rho l \sigma \kappa \epsilon \tau a \delta r \sigma \delta r$.

 ε, ἀσθενέστερον γυνή ἀνδρός, cf. Madv. § 1 b, R. 4.

5. $\tilde{\eta}$ δοκείτε – this sentence is irregular in construction. Following δοκείτε we have two optatives with $\tilde{\omega}_{F}$ as if $\tilde{\delta}_{F1}$ had gone before, and then the inf. construction $\xi\chi\epsilon\iota_{F}$ τ η_{F} elpήνην dependent on δοκείτε. This last clause too is worded as if où δοκείτε had preceded, a sense which must be supplied from où χ ήσυχία μάλλον. For similar irregularities cf. i. 3, δοκεί δέ μοι οὐδὲ τοῦνομα τοῦτο ξύμπασά πω είχεν, ἀλλά...οὐδ είναι ή ἐπικλησις αῦτη. ib. et $\tau \varphi$ —i.e. $\tau \nu t$ —addressing the individual envoys as representatives of their states. $\tau \delta \mu \delta \nu$... $\tau \delta \delta t$ correspond to $\tau \delta \epsilon \mu \sigma \tau \delta t$ and $\delta \gamma a \delta \delta \nu$ respectively, the order being inverted by the grammatical figure called chiasnus.

 ξυνδιασώσαι - 'would help to preserve throughout': so vii. 57, ξυνδιασώσοντες, of the allies who helped to maintain the independence of Sicily: ii. 62, διασώσαντες.

9. ἐν μήκει λόγων—cf. v. 89, λόγων μήκος ἄπιστον. ὥσπερ περί τοῦ πολεμεῖν—referring to what he had already said, ch. 59, 6.

 ὑπεριδείν...προϊδείν—=despicere, prospicere. We have a similar play on sound in a subsequent speech of Hermocrates, vi. 76, οὐκ ἀξυνετωτέρου, κακοξυνετωτέρου δέ: so i. 33, προεπιβουλεύειν αὐτοῖς μάλλον ἢ ἀντεπιβουλεύειν: ii. 62, μὴ φρονήματι μόνον ἀλλὰ καὶ καταφρονήματι.

13. $\beta\epsilon\beta a(\omega\varsigma$ —usually connected with olera, 'is assured': cf. i. 132, morebranes $\beta\epsilon\beta a(\omega\varsigma: i. 134, \beta\epsilon\beta a(\omega\varsigma: \epsilon loores, etc.$ Krüger however joins the word with $\pi\rho d\xi\epsilon w$, quoting ch. 112, 10, $\beta\epsilon\beta a(\omega\varsigma: \epsilon h. 114, 2, \beta\epsilon\beta a(\omega\varsigma: \tau \eta s: \pi \delta)\epsilon \omega s: \epsilon \chi o \mu \epsilon v \eta s, and$ many similar instances.

ib. τ $\hat{\varphi}$ δικαί φ —'from the justice of his cause', dat. of the efficient cause (Madv. § 41). Krüger quotes Soph. O. C. 880, τοῦ τοι δικαίοις χώ βραχὺς νικậ μέγαν. For δίκαιον contrasted with βla, right as opposed to might, cf. i. 77, βιάζεσθαι οἶς αν έξη δικάζεσθαι οὐδὲν προσδέονται.

14. τ $\hat{\varphi}$ παρ' έλπίδα—' let him not be grievously disappointed if he fail': cf. vii. 66, τ $\hat{\varphi}$ παρ' έλπίδα σφαλλόμενοι.

 τιμωρίαις—dat. of the instrument. Krüger cites i. 34, πολέμω τὰ ἐγκλήματα μετελθείν: cf. also ch. 86, 21.

17. ξτεροι—' in other cases', in partial apposition with $π\lambda\epsilon$ foors: for a striking example of this construction cf. v. 96, $\tilde{a}ποικοι \deltaντes ol πολλοl κal <math>aποστ dντes τιν \epsilon s$, 'being colonists for the most part and having revolted in some cases'.

ib. ούχ ὅσον ούκ— ' not only failed to avenge their wrongs': so ii. 97, ούχ ὅτι. We have also μὴ ὅτι, ούχ ὅπως, etc. in a similar sense: see Madv. § 212. προσκαταλιπεΐν—'to leave behind them besides', i.e. to lose: in ii. 36 the word is used of those who bequeathed an accession of territory to their descendants.

22. ώς έπι πλεϊστον κρατεί — 'prevails to the utmost': Krüger quotes Soph. O. T. 977, άνθρωπος, ῷ τὰ τῆς τύχης κρατεί, πρόνοια δ' ἐστὶν οὐδενὸς σαφής.

CHAPTER LXIII

2. $\tau \circ \hat{v} d\phi avois$ —put first for the sake of emphasis and clearness. The two main reasons for union are the uncertainty of the future, and the actual presence of the Athenians. $dr'\epsilon \mu a \rho rov-used$ in Hdt. v. 92 (3) of an obscure oracle; from $r\epsilon \kappa \mu a \rho$, a fixed mark or limit, hence a sure sign.

 διά τό...παρόντας – a confusion between διά τό...παρείναι and διά τούς...παρόντας: 50 v. 7, διά τό...καθημένους. In viii.
 105 most manuscripts have διά τό...διώκοντες.

5. Tô $\ell\lambda\lambda i\pi \hat{\epsilon}s \tau\eta\hat{s} \gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta s$ —lit. 'the coming short of our plans', i.e. of the schemes of advantage which the several states had formed: cf. ch. 55, 18, $\ell\lambda\lambda i\pi \hat{\epsilon}s \tau\eta\hat{s} \delta\sigma\kappa\dot{\eta}\epsilon\omega\omega$. $\omega\nu$ —i.e. $\tau o \dot{\tau} \sigma \omega \nu$, dep. on $\tau \delta \ell\lambda\lambda i\pi \hat{\epsilon}s \tau\eta\hat{s} \gamma\nu\omega\mu\eta s$. Exact is also a well supported reading and gives a good sense.

7. $\epsilon lp \chi \theta \eta \nu \alpha \iota$ —with $\tau \delta \epsilon \lambda \lambda \iota \pi \delta s \tau \eta s \gamma \nu \omega \eta s$, lit. 'was restrained', i.e. was brought about by restraint. We should say, 'satisfied that the failure in our hopes had an adequate cause in these obstacles': cf. ch. 98, 22, $\kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon \iota \rho \gamma \delta \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma \nu$, 'done under constraint'.

It is also possible to take $\tau \delta \ \ell \lambda \lambda \pi \ell s$ as determinant accusative with $\epsilon l \rho \chi \theta \hat{\eta} \nu a$, understanding $\dot{\eta} \mu \epsilon \hat{\epsilon} s$ as the subject, 'in the failure of our plans convinced that we were sufficiently prevented'. In support of this construction Poppo cites Ar. Vesp. 333, $\tau is \ \epsilon \sigma \theta' \delta \tau a \hat{\upsilon} \tau a' \sigma' \epsilon l \rho \gamma \omega r$; ib. ἐφεστώτας—=instantes: Dem. de Cor. 287, τὸν ἐφεστηκότα κίνδυνον. ἀποπέμπωμεν—' dismiss': so Dem. Androt. 597, Θηβαίους ὑποσπόνδους ἀπεπέμψατε, of compelling an enemy to evacuate a district: cf. ch. 49, 5, ἐκπέμψαντες.

 μάλιστα μέν...εί δὲ μή—of the best and next best alternative: i. 32: ii. 72, etc. ἐs ἀίδιον—so ii. 64: cf. ch. 20, 5; where also we have the concurrence of sound ἀίδιον...lδίαν.

 έs αῦθις ἀναβαλώμεθα—cf. Plat. Symp. 174 Ε, εἰσαῦθις ἀναβαλοῦ: id. Euthyphr. 15 Ε, εἰσαῦθις τοίνυν. Thuc. has ἐs ἀεί, i. 22 and 129: ἐs ἔπειτα, i. 130.

ib. το ξύμπαν τε-adverbial: cf. i. 144, καθ' ξκαστά τε και το ξύμπαν.

14. ἀρετῷ—referring to εῦ as well as κακῶς δρῶντα, 'like true men' (Jowett): cf. ch. 19, 18, ἀνταποδοῦναι ἀρετήν. ἀμυνούμεθα—' requite': cf. i. 44, τοῦς ὀμοίοις ἡμῶς ἀμύνεσθαι.

15. οὐ περι τοῦ—sc. ở λόγος or ở ἀγῶν ἔσται, 'it will be no question of punishing another': cf. Dem. Androt. 607, οὐ περι πράξεως εἰσφορῶν ἐστίν: id. Tim. 701, περι αὐτοῦ τούτου νῦν ὑμῶν ἐστί.

16. και άγαν ει τύχοιμεν—' if we were ever so successful': iii. 39, τυχόντες μέν...σφαλέντες δέ: iii. 42, μή τυχών, opp. to πείσας: cf. ch. 22, 15.

17. $\phi(\lambda \alpha \mu \nu \alpha \nu - \text{the sentence begins as if the principal verb would be in the optative; instead of which by a change of construction <math>\alpha \nu$ is left without a verb and the second clause concludes with the present indicative $\gamma_1 \gamma \nu \delta_1 e \theta \alpha$. The sense thus given is 'we might indeed become friends with our deadly foes, but we are actually becoming at variance with our true friends'; the change of expression being a rhetorical device to arrest the attention.

We have a similar variation in Dem. Lept. 461, $\pi a\rho \delta$ $\dot{\nu}\mu\hat{\nu}a\,\dot{\alpha}\nu\,\lambda d\beta_B \tau is \xi_{\chi\epsilon\nu}\,\dot{\nu}\pi\,\hat{\eta}\rho\chi\epsilon\,\tau \partial\nu\,\gamma o\hat{\nu}\,\dot{\alpha}\lambda\lambda o\nu\,\chi\rho b \nu o\nu$, 'in your eity whatever a man has once received he used at any rate to be allowed to keep'. In this passage, in which the speaker is discussing a change of the laws for rewarding public services, he makes a sudden change of tense, and instead of saying $\xi_{\chi\epsilon\nu}$ $\dot{\nu}\pi d\rho_{\chi\epsilon}$, throws the sentence into an imperfect form.

CHAPTER LXIV

1. πόλιν...παρεχόμενος—παρέχεσθαι means to put forward as one's own, or on one's own part. Hence, applied to an envoy, it means either to represent, or to offer the alliance of the eity from which the speaker comes. The former view seems to give the better sense in the present passage and in ch. 85, 24, $\pi \delta \lambda \nu \, d\xi d\chi \rho \epsilon \omega \nu \, \pi a \rho \epsilon \chi o \mu \ell \nu o \nu s$: while the latter agrees better with such expressions as iii. 36, $\ell \sigma \tau \nu \, \sigma \, \pi a \rho \epsilon \chi \delta \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma$, 'making certain offers'.

 ξπιών τω—' more likely to be an assailant than to have to defend myself'; sing. because the speaker identifies himself with the state which he represents.

3. προειδόμενος...αὐτός—a correction adopted by all editors for the manuscript reading προειδομένους...αὐτούς, 'έγω μέγ...ἀξιῶ is clearly opposed to τους αλλους δικαιῶ ταὐτό μοι ποιῆσαι, and distinguishes what Hermocrates thinks should be done by others from what he was prepared to do himself' (Arnold). The augmented participle προειδόμενος is abnormal and open to question; on the other hand there seems to be no authority here for the regular form προϊδόμενος. In Dem. fals. leg. 413, προϊδόμενος is now read, but in Aesch. Timarch. 23, 71, προειδόμενος is still retained: see Veitch's Greek Verbs.

ib. προειδόμενος αὐτῶν—'taking thought beforehand for these things', i.e. for the interests which he has been urging: cf. note on αὐτό, ch. 18, 5. The gen. is to be explained like φυλασσομένους τῶν νεῶν, ch. 11, 19: elsewhere we have the accusative construction, with the sense of foreseeing.

6. μωρία φιλονεικών—'in a foolish spirit of contentionsness': v. 43, φροτήματι φιλονεικών.

δσον εἰκὸς ήσσασθαι—'to make all reasonable concessions': cf. ch. 19, 22.

9. $\dot{\upsilon}\phi'$ $\dot{\upsilon}\mu\dot{\omega}\nu$ $a\dot{\upsilon}\tau\dot{\omega}\nu$ —the manuscript reading, retained by most editors, to be taken with $\pi a\theta\epsilon\hat{v}\nu$. Arnold however approves of Dobree's correction $\dot{a}\phi'$ $\dot{\upsilon}\mu\dot{\omega}\nu$, connecting it with $\pi\alpha\hat{\eta}$ - $\sigma\alpha\iota$. $\tau\sigma\hat{\upsilon}\tau\sigma\sigma$ $\pi a\theta\epsilon\hat{v}\nu$ —sc. $\dot{\eta}\sigma\sigma\hat{\alpha}\sigma\alpha\iota$, which implies either to yield to friends or to be worsted by enemies.

12. $\tau \delta$ & $\xi \delta \mu \pi a \nu - \epsilon$ while we are all neighbours and joint possessors of one island home. In this clause the speaker passes from the individual ties of race to the universal bond of a common country. The accusatives correspond to the construction with $o\ell\delta \epsilon$ aloxpór with which the sentence begins. Instead of $\delta \epsilon$ Krüger reads $\gamma \epsilon$ and Classen $\tau \epsilon$, but neither correction is an improvement. This is not the place for a resumptive $\tau \epsilon$, and $\delta \epsilon$ is required to mark the opposition between the particular and the general obligations to mutual concession.

14. καl περιρρύτου—'and that an island'; a further reason for union. περloρυτοs is rare in prose: Hdt. iv. 42, $\Lambda_{i\beta}$ ίη δηλοΐ έωυτήν έοῦσα περίρρυτος. ὄνομα ἕν—cf. ii. 37, δνομα... δημοκρατία κέκληται: i. 122, το έναντίον δνομα ἀφροσύνη μετωνόμασται.

22. δυοΐν $d_{\gamma\alpha}$ there are two blessings of which we shall not rob Sicily'. où στερήσομεν is practically equivalent to a single expression : cf. ch. 106, 10; Eur. Or. 1151, ένδς γ αρού σφαλέντες έξομεν κλέος.

CHAPTER LXV

2. airol $\mu \ell \nu$ —opp. to ol $\delta \ell$ $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu$ ' $A \theta \eta \nu a l \omega \nu$, line 7: cf. ch. 49, 6. The Athenians were not communicated with till the Siceliots had settled their policy.

3. ξυνηνέχθησαν—'agreed, came to terms': vi. 13, καθ' aυτούs καl ξυμφέρεσθαι. γνώμη—' in a resolution', denoting the views which finally prevailed and the determination which was formed. ωστε—cf. ch. 37, 10.

4. έχοντες-so ch. 118, 15, έχοντες άπερ νῦν έχομεν.

5. Kaµapıvaíoış Mopyavτívηv—Morgantine was situated on the Symacthus between Syracuse and Catana on the east of Sicily, while Camarina was on the south coast. There seems therefore some error in one of the names. Possibly Kaτavaioıs should be read instead of Kaµapıvaioıs, unless indeed there was another Morgantine of which we do not know.

7. of $\delta \xi$... $\xi \psi \mu \mu \alpha \chi \circ \iota$ —they had of course taken part in the conference. The real opposition is therefore between the Sicilian convention and its effect on the Athenians: cf. note on ch. 24, 1, of $\ell \nu \tau \hat{\eta} \Sigma_{i} \kappa \lambda \lambda \hat{\eta} \Sigma_{j} \omega \alpha \lambda \hat{\sigma} \tau \circ \iota$.

15. χρήματα ἐπράξαντο—=έζημιωσαν χρήμασιν, ii. 65: cf. vi. 54, είκοστὴν πρασσόμενοι, of a tax: pass. viii. 5, πεπραγμένος φόρους.

17. τη παρούση—the manuscripts are in favour of τη τε παρούση: Bekker suggests τη τότε. ήξίουν—'expected'; with two constructions, μηδέν έναντιοῦσθαι and κατεργάζεσθαι: in i. 43 we have a converse change of subject, τὸ αἰτὸ ἀξιοῦμεν κομίζεσθαι, καὶ μη,...ήμῶς βλάψαι, sc. ὑμῶς, subj. to βλάψα.

21. alta S' $\eta \nu$ —the same construction as in ch. 26, 16. Classen points out that Thuc. elsewhere uses altrov: e.g. i. 11: altrov. $\eta \delta \lambda \iota \gamma a \tau \theta \rho \omega \pi l a$. 22. $\dot{\upsilon}\pi\sigma\tau\iota\theta\epsilon\iota\sigma a$ 'inspiring': i. 133, $\ell\lambda\pi\ell\delta a \dot{\eta}\nu \dot{\upsilon}\pi\epsilon\tau\ell\theta\epsilon\iota$: iii. 45, $\ell\lambda\pi\ells...\tau\dot{\eta}\nu \epsilon\dot{\upsilon}\pi\sigma\rho\ell a\nu \tau\dot{\eta}s \tau\dot{\upsilon}\chi\etas \dot{\upsilon}\pi\sigma\tau\ell\theta\epsilon\iota\sigma a$, 'giving hopes of'. $l\sigma\chi\dot{\upsilon}\nu \tau\dot{\eta}s \dot{\ell}\lambda\pi\ell\delta\sigma$ -cf. ii. 62, $\ell\lambda\pi\ell\delta\iota...\dot{\eta}s \dot{\epsilon}\nu \tau\phi \dot{a}\pi\delta\rho\phi \dot{\eta} l\sigma\chi\dot{\upsilon}s$, where hope is contrasted with judgment founded on actual resources ($\gamma\nu\dot{\omega}\mu\eta \dot{a}\pi\dot{\sigma} \tau\dot{\omega}\nu \dot{\upsilon}\pi\alpha\chi\dot{\sigma}\nu\nu$): so in v. 103, we have the Athenians denouncing the dangers of mere visionary hopes.

The ideas of the Athenians at this period may possibly have been extravagant, but there was certainly good reason for their indignation against Pythodorus, who had handled the fleet badly and lost Messene. We are not told that Eurymedon and Sophocles effected anything to improve the position of affairs; so that, although the generals might not have had it in their power to prevent the Sicilian convention, the displeasure with which they were received is not to be wondered at.

CHAPTER LXVI

3. κατά ξτος ξκαστον δ(s—cf. ii. 31, where we have the first invasion under Pericles in the autumn of 431. Plutarch (Per. ch. 30) records a decree that the strategi should swear to invade Megara twice a year, and speaks of the strong feeling of Pericles against the Megarians. In i. 67 and 139 reference is made to their exclusion from Attic ports and markets. For their starving condition vid. Ar. Ach. 535 and 729—818. This play was exhibited in Feb. 425.

5. $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu \, i\kappa \, \Pi \eta \gamma \hat{\omega} \nu$ —Pegae was the Megarian harbour on the gulf of Corinth; ch. 21, 14. We are not told before this of its occupation by the $\phi \nu \gamma \hat{a} \delta \epsilon$. They were possibly the same as those who were allowed to settle for a year or so in Plataeae, iii. 68. As the Athenians commanded Nisaea the hostility of Pegae was a serious evil.

6. στασιασάντων—cf. ch. 3, 8, ἀντιλεγόντων. ἐκπεσόντες— 'having been expelled': ἐκπίπτω is virtually pass. of ἐκβάλλω, and so constructed with ὑπό: cf. i. 131, ἐς τὴν εἰρκτὴν ἐσπίπτει ὑπὸ τῶν ἐφόρων, 'is thrown into prison'. The same constr. is common with ἀποθνήσκω, πληγὰς λαμβάνω, κακῶς ἀκούω, etc.

 τον θροῦν— 'the general talk': v. 7 and vili. 79 with αισθόμενος: v. 30, αισθόμενοι τον θροῦν καθεστώτα: v. 59, ἐς θροῦν καθίστατο.

 ήξίουν—' thought fit', i.e. felt themselves in a position to urge the question of recalling their friends. λόγου—the proposal for the restoration of the exiles. ἔχεσθαι—cf. v. 49, τοῦ αἰτοῦ λόγου είχοντο, ' held fast to, insisted on'. 12. οί τοῦ δήμου προστάται-cf. ch. 46, 17.

ἐνδοῦναι—so ch. 76, 15, Χαιρώνειαν ἐνεδίδοσαν: v. 62, ἐνεδίδοσαν τὰ πράγματα. For other uses of ἐνδίδωμι cf. ch. 35, 17; iii. 37, οίκτω ἐνδῶτε, 'concede': ii. 49, σπασμὸν ἐνδιδοῦσα, 'causing, bringing with it'.

19. κατελθείν-cf. περιπλείν, v. 53.

20. $\sqrt{\eta}v$ δt $\sigma\tau\alpha\delta(\omega\nu$ —gen. of measure. Xen. Anab. i. 2. 8, $\tau \delta \epsilon v \rho \sigma s \epsilon i \kappa \sigma v \kappa a t$ $\pi \epsilon \nu \tau \epsilon \ \pi \sigma \delta \tilde{\omega} v$: Madv. § 54. As regards the length of the walls Thucydides differs from Strabo, according to whom the distance to the port was 18 stades. These walls were constructed and garrisoned by the Athenians in 455, when Megara joined their alliance (i. 103).

21. την Νίσαιαν τόν—so ch. 46, 14, την νησον την Πτυχίαν: ch. 67, 7, τοῦ Δημοσθένους τοῦ: v. 46, περί τον Ξενάρη τον έφορον, etc.

24. $\beta\epsilon\beta\alpha\iota\dot{\sigma}\eta\tau\sigmas$ <code>ëveka-'in order to secure' with object. gen. Meydpwr. meipastal-sc. themselves; change of subject, as in ch. 65, 20.</code>

26. Εμελλον-sc. οι Μεγαρής.

CHAPTER LXVII

1. $d\pi \phi$ $\tau \epsilon \tau \omega \nu$ —lit. 'on the side of', i.e. 'so far as regards': cf. ii. 77, $d\pi \partial$ $\tau \omega \nu$ $\pi a \rho \phi \tau \omega \nu$ $\delta \epsilon \iota \nu \omega \nu$, 'with their present means of offence': vi. 102, $d\pi \partial$ $\tau \eta s$ $\pi a \rho \phi \sigma \eta s$ $\delta \nu \sigma d \mu \epsilon \omega s$: see also note on $d\pi \delta$, ch. 18, 8. $\pi a \rho \epsilon \sigma \kappa \epsilon^{i} a \sigma \tau o$, 'when their arrangements were complete'.

4. $\tau\eta\nu$ Μεγαρέων νήσον—so iii. 51, $\epsilon\pi l$ Μινώαν την νήσον ή κείται προ Μεγάρων. The definite article is used because the situation of the island was well known, or because it has been mentioned before. Minoa was occupied by the Athenians in 427, as a convenient station for maintaining the blockade against Megara (iii. 51).

6. $\delta\theta\epsilon\nu \ \ell\pi\lambda\ell\nu\theta\epsilon\nu\sigma\nu-$ from which they got bricks for the walls', i.e. clay to make them: so Hom. Od. xviii. 359, alµaσlas $\lambda\epsilon'\gamma\omega\nu$, 'picking (stones for) walls'. For $\ell\pi\lambda\ell\nu\theta\epsilon\nu\sigma\nu$ Classen suggests $\ell\pi\lambda\ell\nu\theta\epsilon\nu\sigma\mu$: the imperfect however gives a good sense, as repairs and additions were probably made from time to time.

ib. Kal $d\pi\epsilon_{\chi}\epsilon\nu$ —sc. from the walls: it was plainly on the main land. We should say 'and which was distant', and possibly δ is to be understood from $\delta\theta\epsilon\nu$. In Greek however the second clause in a relative construction is commonly thrown into a demonstrative form; cf. ii. 4, οίκημα, δ ην τοῦ τείχους, και al θύραι ἀνεφγμέναι ἐτυχον αὐτοῦ: Plat. Gorg. 452 D, τί ἐστι τοῦτο ὅ φης σὐ μέγιστον ἀγαθὸν ἐἶναι, καl σὲ δημιουγγὸν είναι αὐτοῦ. This seems also the simplest explanation of such sentences as the present, which are of common occurrence; e.g. i. 106, ῷ ἔτυχεν ὅρυγμα μέγα τεριεῖργον και οὐκ ήν ἔξοδος.

8. II $\lambda a \tau a \iota \eta s$ —of those who escaped to Athens, iii. 24. kal frepo: $\pi e \rho(\pi o \lambda o \iota)$ and besides them certain of the frontier guard'. The Athenians on attaining eighteen years of age were enrolled among the $\xi \phi \eta \beta \omega_i$, and after some preliminary training, served till the age of twenty in the $\pi e \rho(\pi o \lambda \omega c \sigma)$ national guard. It seems probable that their first term of service was in Athens itself, while during the second year they formed a moveable force, employed in garrisoning fortified places in Attica, and in the defence of any point which might be threatened. They were armed with the hoplite's spear and shield. On the present occasion they seem to have been employed on service beyond the frontier of Attica, or to have been stationed at Minoa. Some authorities therefore doubt if $\pi e \rho(\pi \sigma \lambda \omega$ is to be understood here in its usual sense: see Arnold's and Poppo's notes.

9. is to Evváluov—so Poppo, Krüger, etc. for the manuscript reading is the. The neuter δ which follows makes the correction imperative, otherwise $t\delta r$ might possibly be retained on the analogy of iii. 3, is $t\delta r$ makhes the $\xi \eta \lambda \theta \sigma r$, it the temple of (Apollo) Maloeis': Ar. Av. 619, is " $\lambda \mu \mu \sigma r$ ' it difference is an idea of worshipping or consulting the deity beyond the mere notion of locality, as is natural when the name of the god is used to designate his temple; vid. Arnold: cf. however ch. 118, 21, $\pi a \rho \lambda \tau \sigma \tilde{v}$ Nalov. The form 'Evváluor is neut. adj. sc. lepór.

10. Darrow $a\pi o \theta \epsilon \nu$ —nearer (than the brick pit) to the walls.

14. $ds \lambda \eta \sigma \tau a (-in iii. 51 we find that the Athenians hoped$ $by occupying Nissea to suffer less from <math>\lambda \eta \sigma \tau \hat{\omega}^* \epsilon \kappa \tau \sigma \mu \pi a d$ on the part of the Megarians. $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \pi \sigma \lambda \lambda \hat{\omega} \hat{\omega}^-$ for some time back', connected with both $\tau \epsilon \theta \epsilon \rho a \pi \epsilon u \delta \kappa \hat{\sigma} a \pi$, and opposed to $\kappa a i \tau \delta \tau \epsilon$, line 22: cf. ch. 103, 15. $\tau \epsilon \theta \epsilon \rho a \pi \epsilon u \delta \sigma \tau \hat{\sigma} \epsilon$, having managed, secured': v. 11, $\xi u \mu \mu a \chi \ell a \tau \theta \epsilon \rho a \pi \epsilon u \delta \sigma \tau \hat{\sigma} \epsilon$; vi. 61, $\theta \epsilon \rho a - \pi \epsilon u \sigma \tau \hat{\sigma} \epsilon$ ($\tau \partial \mu \eta \theta \delta \rho u \beta \hat{\epsilon} \hat{\nu}$. $\tau \hat{\omega} \tau \pi u \lambda \hat{\omega} \mu$ —at the end of the long walls. These gates, like Nisea itself, were held by the Peloponnesian garrison.

16. διὰ τῆς τάφρου—this seems to have been a dry trench outside the walls of Nisaea, extending from the long walls to the sea. Rutherford rejects the words, κατὰ τήν being Attic.

THUCYDIDES IV

19. is rd reixos—sc. within the long walls: so ch. 68, 2: 69, 9. $\delta\pi\omega s...d\phi\alpha v\eta s$ —i.e. that the Athenian garrison might not know what they had to look out against. For $d\phi\alpha u\eta s$ in the sense of uncertain and doubtful, cf. ii. 42, opp. to $\tau \delta \delta \rho \omega \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma \nu$: wiii. 92, opp. to a settled arrangement. $\delta \eta$ implies pretence: cf. ch. 23, 8.

22. καl τότε — 'so now', resuming the account of the actual attempt.

26. ξυγκλησθήναι—Bekker and Arnold have ξυγκληθήναι, but the aor. pass. seems always to have σ : vid. Poppo, and Veitch's Greek Verbs. All editors have ξυγκλησθέν, v. 72, and κατεκλήσθησαν, i. 117.

28. κώλυμα...προσθείναι—'a hindrance to shutting'; vid. Goodwin § 92, note 2. In i. 16 we have κωλύματα μη αύξηθηνα. Similarly κωλύω and other verbs of kindred meaning take an inf. with or without μή. προσθείναι—cf. Hdt. iii. 78, προσθείναι τὰς θύρας: in Ar. Vesp. 201 τῆ δοκῷ προσθείε possibly means 'shutting (the door) by means of the bar'.

ib. Kal autois—from its position virtually dat. commodi, though it may be connected grammatically with $\xi \nu \mu \pi \rho d\sigma$ $\sigma \rho \tau \epsilon \epsilon$: iii. 36, of autois two $\lambda \delta \eta \nu a l \omega \kappa \xi \nu \mu \pi \rho d\sigma \sigma \sigma \tau \epsilon \epsilon$. Kard take $\pi \nu \lambda a \kappa$ —there is good authority for the article, which however is omitted by many editors: cf. note on $\mu \ell \sigma \sigma \nu$, ch. 31, 9.

32. of viv rò rpomaîov—so v. 10, $\tilde{\eta}\pi\epsilon\rho$ viv rpomaîov $\epsilon\sigma\tau\eta\kappa\epsilon$. Jowett points out that although the Megarians re covered the walls and destroyed them (ch. 109), yet the trophy was not molested. $\tilde{\eta}\sigma\theta\sigma\nu\tau\sigma$ $\gamma a\rho$ —explains $\mu a\chi \delta\mu\epsilon\nu\sigma\iota$: notwithstanding the surprise the Athenians did not win the gates without fighting (Arnold).

35. δπλίταις-the troops under Hippocrates, supr. line 4.

δ άϵἰ ἐντὸς γιγνόμενος—as each got in: iii. 77, τὰs ἀϵἰ πληρουμένας (ναῦς) ἐξέπεμπον, sent out their ships as fast as they could man them.

4. $\tau\delta$ $\mu\delta\nu$ $\pi\rho\omega\tau\sigma\nu$ —this finds its corresponding clause in $\ddot{a}\mu a \delta' \delta\omega$, line 16, or perhaps in ot $\delta' \omega s$, line 13. The latter however seems rather to belong to the loosely-worded parenthetical sentences which describe the general panic. ib. ἀντισχόντες—'held out, made a stand': vi. 22, ὅπως πρός τὸ ἰππικὸν ἀντέχωσι: ii. 49, with dat., of the body holding out against disease: i. 65, abs. of supplies holding out. ἀλίγοι partial apposition: ch. 6, 4: 62, 17.

6. ἐς ψυγὴν κατέστησαν—so ch. 100, 22, and often. προσπεπτωκότων και νομίσαντες—two different constructions giving the reasons of the panic; the second clause having a subordinate parenthesis τῶν προδιδόντων ἀντιμαχομένων. σφάς the Peloponnesians, gov. by προδεδωκέναι.

10. $\xi vv\ell\pi\epsilon\sigma\epsilon$ —see note on $\xi \dot{\nu}\mu\pi\tau\omega\mu a$, ch. 36, 16: Hdt. viii. 15, $\sigma vv\ell\pi\epsilon\pi\tau\epsilon$ $\delta \dot{\epsilon}$ $\sigma\sigma\epsilon$ $\gamma i\gamma\epsilon\sigma\theta a\iota$, of two coincident events. $\dot{a}\phi'$ $\dot{\epsilon}avrov$ $\gamma v\dot{\omega}\mu\eta s$ —'of his own idea', an unusual expression, of which Poppo cites instances from Dio. Cass.: in iii. 92 we have $d\tau\delta$ $\tau\alpha\dot{a}\sigma\dot{\delta}\epsilon$ $\gamma\tau\dot{\omega}\mu\eta s$, 'with this idea': cf. Dem. de Cor. 281, $\dot{a}\pi\delta$ $\tau\eta\dot{\gamma}\epsilon\mu avrov \gamma\tau\dot{\omega}\mu\eta s$, 'from my own judgment'.

12. θησόμενον τὰ δπλα—to be taken with lérau, the inf. depending on κηρθξαι: so ch. 105, 12 : cf. ii. 2, ἀνείπεν ὀ κήρυξ, εί τις βούλεται ξυμμαχεῖν, τίθεσθαι παρ' αὐτοὺς τὰ ὅπλα. The phrase of course is not to be taken literally, but simply means 'to join the Athenians'; see note on ch. 44, 6.

 πολεμείσθαι—pers. 'that they were attacked': so i. 37, aυτοί ούκ είκότως πολεμοῦνται: or perhaps impers. like ch. 23, 12, τὰ περί Πύλον ἐπολεμείτο.

17. of $\pi p \delta \dots \pi p \delta \frac{1}{2} a v \tau \epsilon s$ 'those who had conducted the intrigue with the Athenians': i. 131, $\pi p \delta \sigma \sigma \omega r \pi \rho \delta s \tau \sigma \delta s \beta a \rho \beta \delta \rho \sigma s$. Instead of $\delta \lambda \lambda \omega$ Krüger and Classen read $\delta \lambda \lambda \sigma$ in agreement with $\pi \lambda \hat{\eta} \theta \sigma s$. The main body of the democratical party is denoted, the arrangement having been made by their $\pi \rho \sigma \sigma \tau \sigma a \epsilon$ (ch. 66).

20. ξυνέκειτο-see note on ch. 23, 4: for inf. cf. viii. 52, ξυγκείσθαι κρατεϊν βασιλέα.

ib. $\lambda l \pi a$ —so i. 6, $\lambda l \pi a i \lambda e l \psi a v r o$. $\lambda l \pi a$ is regarded as either (1) a dat. (= $\lambda l \pi a \iota$ or $\lambda l \pi a$) from an old noun $\lambda l \pi a$, or (2) an adv. or cogn. accus. from a supposed noun. $\lambda l \psi$. See Lidd. and Scott, and notes on Hom. Il. x. 577, $a \lambda e \iota \psi a \mu \ell r \omega$ $\lambda \pi \cdot \delta \lambda a l \psi$: Od. iii. 466, $\delta \chi \rho \iota \sigma e \lambda \pi \cdot \delta a l \psi$. It only occurs once in Homer without $\delta \lambda a \psi$, Od. vi. 227.

23. $d\lambda \epsilon (\psi c \sigma \theta a \text{ is constructed in accordance with the sense as if 'they agreed' had preceded. <math>d\delta \iota \kappa \hat{\omega} \nu \tau a \iota$ —harmed by their friends (the Athenians): the word implies unfair or wrongful injury.

ib. $d\sigma\phi d\lambda \epsilon a$ —' they could open the gates with more safety', because the main Athenian army was now at hand. Classen suspects that this sentence, as far as $\pi a \rho \eta \sigma a \nu$, is out of place, and ought to follow $\dot{\epsilon} \pi \epsilon \xi i \dot{\epsilon} \pi a \chi \eta \nu$, line 20. It certainly seems clear that by $\tau o \dot{\nu} s' A \theta \eta \nu a lovs$ (line 21) is denoted the force which came from Eleusis, and not the troops in possession of the long walls.

25. of $d\pi \phi$ —the def. article is explained by $\kappa a\tau \lambda \tau \delta \xi v \gamma$ - $\kappa \epsilon (\mu e \nu \sigma \nu$, though the arrangement has not been mentioned before. of $\tau \eta \nu \nu \delta \kappa \tau \pi \sigma \rho e \nu \phi \mu e \nu \sigma \tau$ those troops, that is, which were marching (or were to march) during the night', as opposed to those already in ambush at Megara. If the def. article be retained it is used to give a further definition, as in ch. 1, 19, $d\lambda \lambda a \epsilon d \pi \lambda \eta \rho o \mu e \nu a$. Most editors however reject of, which is absent from several manuscripts, and may have got into the text from the last syllable of $\delta \xi a \kappa \delta \sigma t o$.

30. Kal of-ef. note on ch. 33, 13. Here the demonstrative form scems required by the sense.

34. τ_{15} —a common usage in threats and warnings: cf. ch. 13, 21, $\hat{\eta}\nu$ $\dot{\epsilon}\sigma\pi\lambda\dot{\epsilon}\eta$ τ_{15} : iii. 2, $\epsilon l \ \mu\dot{\eta} \ \tau_{15} \ \pi\rho\sigma\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\lambda\dot{\eta}\psi\epsilon\tau\alpha\iota.$ $a\dot{\nu}\tau\sigma\dot{\nu}...\dot{\epsilon}\sigma\epsilon\sigma\vartheta\alpha\iota$ —sc. they threatened to fight it out on the spot.

36. ioxupliorto-'insisted': ch. 23, 6.

 εναντίωμα—only here in Thuc.: Dem. de Cor. 328, παρά τῆς τύχης τι συμβέβηκεν εναντίωμα. περιετείχιζον—imp., = began the circumvallation.

 σίδηρος—according to the scholiast the same as σιδήρια λιθουργά, ch. 4, 6.

9. $dp_{5}^{c}d\mu evol$ δ' —the construction of this sentence is loose and irregular; the chicf difficulty being with what verb $d\rho_{5}^{c}d_{\mu evol}$ and the following participles are to be connected. Krüger and Arnold refer them to the proceeding $\pi e \rho e ref \chi_{15}^{c}ov$: but the δe with $d\rho_{5}^{c}d\mu evol}$ is against this view, and marks the beginning of a new sentence. Accordingly Poppo connects all the participles with $d\pi e \sigma \tau a \omega \rho ov$ in line 14. This verb however does not contain the main idea of the sentence, but only describes a small part of the siege operations. There remains therefore the explanation suggested in Classen's critical note, that some general word such as $\pi e \rho e ref \chi_{1}^{c} \rho v$ was intended to follow $d\rho\xi d\mu\epsilon rot$, and must be understood with $d\pi'$ $\epsilon \kappa \epsilon (rov...N t \sigma a | a s a n d what follows. A similar view is taken by Jowett.$

ib. $d\pi\delta$ τοῦ τείχους—the long walls and the space enclosed, which had been taken at daybreak (ch. 66). For sing. τείχους cf. ch. 67, 19: also ii. 13, where τοῦ μακροῦ means the double wall to the Piraeus. διοικοδομήσαντς—' walling of', by a cross work, to prevent interruption from the city: cf. viii. 90, διωκοδόμησαν στοάν: so in iii. 34 and vii. 60 διατείχισμα means a separate space walled off, a separate fortified work.

10. $d\pi'$ ixeívou ixarípuðev—the Athenians extended their works on both sides, so as to enclose Nisaea from sea to sea. is dálagrav—sc. $\pi e \rho e r \epsilon l \chi i for,$ note on line 9. Nigralas dep. on ixarípuðer: ch. 31, 5, $\tau \hat{\eta}$ s rhou ixarípuðer.

11. $\tau \dot{\alpha} \dot{\phi} \rho \sigma v \dots \delta \iota \dot{\epsilon} \lambda \rho \mu \dot{\epsilon} \eta$ —the sentence, which began with of $\sigma \tau \rho a \tau \eta \gamma o \dot{\epsilon}$, has now expanded its subject, and applies to the whole Athenian force, with which the collective $\sigma \tau \rho a \tau \dot{\alpha}$ stands in apposition. For $\delta \iota \dot{\epsilon} \lambda \rho \mu \dot{\epsilon} \eta$ see note on ch. 11, 11: so v. 75, $\delta \iota \dot{\epsilon} \lambda \rho \mu \epsilon \rho \iota \tau \dot{\epsilon} \rho \iota \tau \epsilon (\chi \iota \dot{\epsilon} \rho v.$

12. $\pi poa \sigma \tau \epsilon low$ - 'an open space like the parks in London. partly planted with trees, and containing public walks, colonnades, temples, and the houses of some of the principal citizens. It was used as a ground for reviews of the army, and for public games '(Arnold).

13. καl κόπτοντες—most editors take this as a fresh sentence. Probably however as no finite verb has yet been expressed, though intended, the main sentence closes with dπεσταύρουν, although in sense this verb applies to the final clause alone. The clue has in fact been dropped in a maze of participles and parentheses. According to this view the καί which precedes κόπτοντες corresponds to the τε which follows έx in the previous line; otherwise $\delta n \epsilon \lambda 0 \mu \ell v \eta$ and $\chi p \dot{\omega} \mu \epsilon v \eta$ are connected by $(\tau \dot{\alpha} \phi \rho v)$ τε...(ℓx) τε.

14. $\tau d \delta \ell \nu \delta \rho a$ —esp. the fruit trees, which would be found in the $\pi \rho o \delta \sigma \tau \epsilon \iota o \nu$, mainly olives and figs: see Arnold on ii. 75. $\nu \lambda \eta \nu$ —.³ brushwood', for fascines and to interlace with the palisades. See the account of the siege of Plataeae, ii. 75, 76; where we find that $\xi \partial \lambda a$ is the word used for timber from forest trees, as in ch. 13, 3 and 52, 16: cf. Xen. Anab. i. 5, 1, el $\delta \epsilon \tau \iota \kappa a t$ $\delta \lambda \delta \epsilon \epsilon \nu \eta \nu \nu \lambda \eta s \eta \kappa a \lambda \delta \mu \omega \nu$ (shrub or plant)... $\delta \epsilon \nu \delta \rho \sigma v$ o' $\delta \delta \nu \delta \epsilon \epsilon \epsilon \nu \eta \nu$.

ib. et πη δέοιτό τι-'if at any point any part needed it';
 ii being the subject of the verb; so Poppo. Krüger proposes to read δέοι, as in ch. 4, 9, εί που δέοι. Classen and Jowett take $\delta \ell o t \sigma = \delta \ell o t$, citing Soph. O. C. 570, $\omega \sigma \tau \epsilon \beta \rho \alpha \chi \epsilon a \mu \alpha \delta \epsilon \tilde{\sigma} \sigma a \phi \rho \delta \sigma a$: Dem. de Cor. 276, $o v \delta \delta \epsilon \tau \cdots \epsilon \delta \sigma \delta \sigma \epsilon a$ avr ϕ . Veitch gives Plat. Meno 79 c, and Hdt. iv. 11, as instances in which $\delta \epsilon \tilde{\sigma} \sigma a \alpha$ and $\delta \epsilon \phi \mu \epsilon r o \tau$ 'may be thought to have rather an appearance of impersonality'. All these passages however can be explained without depriving $\delta \ell o \mu a \alpha$ of its usual meaning.

15. ἐπάλξεις λαμβάνουσαι—'with the addition of battlements': ch. 115, 3, απ' οἰκιῶν ἐπάλξεις ἐχουσῶν. In the same ch., line 14, we have λαβόν μεῖζαν ἄχθος: cf. Hdt. ix. 7, τὸ τεῖχος ...ἦδη ἐπάλξεις ἐλάμβανε. αὐταὶ ὑπῆρχον—'of themselves', cf. ch. 4, 15.

18. δσον οὐκ—'all but': i. 36, δσον οὐ παρόντα πόλεμον: ch. 125, 11, δσον οὕπω. σίτου τε—the first reason for their surrender; two others are then given with νομίζοντες and ηγούμενοι.

23. $\xi \kappa \alpha \sigma \tau \sigma \nu \dots \pi \alpha \rho \alpha \delta \delta \sigma \tau \alpha s$ —acc. because the subject of $\delta \pi \sigma \lambda \nu \theta \hat{\eta} \rho \alpha x$, is not identical with the subject of $\xi \nu \kappa \ell \theta \eta \sigma \alpha r$, but corresponds to $\xi \kappa \alpha \sigma \tau \rho r$ put collectively. The convention was made by the Lacedaemonian officers on behalf of the whole force. 'The $\delta \rho \chi \omega r$ here spoken of was the Spartan commander of the Peloponnesian garrison, like Tantalus at Thyrea, ch. 57; Pasitelidas at Torone, v. 3; Menedaeus and his colleagues in Acarnania, iii. 100' (Arnold).

25. χρήσθαι—so ii. 4, ξυνέβησαν παραδοῦναι σφῶs αὐτοὐs... χρήσασθαι ὅ τι ῶν βοῦλωνται. ἀπορρήξαντεs—by destroying a portion of the walls; thus securing their occupation of Nisaea, and the rest of the walls.

29. παραλαβόντες-ch. 54, 21.

CHAPTER LXX

1. Brasíčas δ T $\delta\lambda\lambda\delta$ os—Brasidas was spoken of in chapter 11 without any description; while here we have his country and father named, as in ii. 25. So Cleon is twice described in similar words, ch. 21, 10 note.

4. $\sigma\tau\rho \alpha\tau\epsilon(\alpha\nu)$ —so Poppo, etc. for $\sigma\tau\rho\alpha\tau\epsilon(d\nu)$, cf. ch. 74, 10. The two words are frequently confused in the manuscripts; see Krüger on i. 3, and Poppo and Classen on i. 9. Aristophanes undoubtedly uses $\sigma\tau\rho\alpha\tau\epsilon(d)$ for an expedition, e.g. Vesp. 354, but the usage is very doubtful in prose. In vii. 17 and viii. 108 $\sigma\tau\rho\alpha\tau\epsilon(d) \epsilon n\alpha\gamma\gamma\epsilon(\lambda)\epsilon\epsilon\nu$ is 'to require a military force'. 7. Is $\tau\epsilon$ rous—corresponds to sal airds, line 10, showing what Brasidas and the Boeotians were to do respectively. $\tau\epsilon$ is slightly out of place: cf. ch. 52, 6.

9. ovopa rouro-see note on ouros, ch. 41, 7.

 ξελθών—'having marched out', sc. to relieve Megara:

20. $\tau\hat{\varphi} \lambda \delta \gamma \varphi$ —his professed object was the recovery of Nisaea, and he might possibly really attempt it, but his main purpose was to enter the city and secure Megara itself against the democratical party. The definite article with $\lambda \delta \gamma \varphi$ shows that this motive was actually put forward, while it is absent with the merely hypothetical $\ell \rho \gamma \varphi$. $\tau \delta \mu \epsilon \gamma \iota \sigma \tau \sigma \tau \delta \lambda \epsilon \mu o \tau \tau \star \delta \lambda \epsilon \mu o \tau \delta \lambda t hat the the term of term o$

23. $\sigma\phi\hat{a}s$ —himself and his men: ch. 9, 21. $\epsilon\nu \ \epsilon \lambda\pi \ \delta\iota$ $\epsilon \ \epsilon \nu a.$ —so vii. 25, $\epsilon\nu \ \epsilon \lambda\pi \ \delta\iota \ \epsilon \ \epsilon \nu \ \epsilon \lambda\pi \ \delta\iota$. The aor. inf. follows in accordance with the general construction of such phrases; in vii. 46 however we have $\epsilon\nu \ \epsilon \lambda\pi \ \delta\iota \ \epsilon \ \nu \ a.$... $alphj\sigma\epsilon\iota\nu$, denoting a result not immediately looked for.

7. $\eta \sigma v \chi \acute{\alpha} \sigma \alpha \sigma \iota$ 'to stop their quarrel and await the issue': note the force of the aorist participle. $\pi \epsilon \rho \iota \widetilde{\alpha} \delta \iota \widetilde{\nu}$, which in the act. usually means 'to overlook', here means 'to look round for', i.e. await: this is the meaning of the mid. present, as in ch. 73, 6, $\pi \epsilon \rho \iota \rho \sigma \mu \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma v$: in vi. 93 and vii. 33, $\pi \epsilon \rho \iota \rho \sigma \mu \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma v$ standing aloof, waiting the event': cf. ch. 124, 29.

CHAPTER LXXII

1. $\pi a \rho \hat{\eta} \sigma a \nu$ —arrived at Tripodiscus. The rest of the sentence as far as $\dot{a} \pi \hat{\eta} \lambda \theta o \nu \pi \delta \lambda v$ is parenthetical, and relates to what passed before this: cf. iii. 2, $\beta o v \lambda \eta \partial \dot{\epsilon} \nu \tau \epsilon s$ $\mu \delta \nu \kappa n \lambda \lambda$. Survey $\mu \dot{\epsilon} v - \lambda the construction is slightly irregular, as the corresponding clause with <math>\delta \dot{\epsilon}$ has a finite verb $\dot{\epsilon} \rho \rho \dot{\sigma} \sigma \eta \sigma a \nu$, line 6; the participial and subordinate character of the parenthesis is in fact lost sight of.

3. ούκ άλλοτρίου-cf. note on ch. 6, 5, οίκεῖον.

6. ἐρρώσθησαν—'were ardent': ii. 8, ἔρρωντο ἐς τὸν πόλεμον: ib. ἔρρωτο πῶς with inf.: viii. 78, ἔρρωντο μῶλλον. ἀποστείλαντες—they despatched at once a large force to cooperate with Brasidas: the rest of their army was no longer required. This explains who were oi Bouoroi, line 1.

The phrase more commonly denotes extent of space rather than of time, while in such passages as the following its meaning is doubtful; i. 6, $\epsilon \pi l \ \pi \sigma \delta v \ \sigma \tau \eta \ \sigma sev \eta$ karéoxe: i. 7, $\delta u \ \tau \eta \lambda \eta \sigma rei av \ \delta r n \ \sigma \delta \sigma \sigma \sigma \sigma s$.

22. $\pi po\sigma\epsilon \lambda d\sigma av ras$ — a conjecture of Portus for $\pi po\sigma\epsilon \lambda d\sigma av res$, so Classen. The latter shows that the word is used of cavalry 'riding up' or 'pushing on'; vi. 63, $l\pi\pi \pi \beta s$, $\pi po\sigma\epsilon \lambda d\nu portes$, $\pi p \delta s$, $\sigma t \sigma \tau p d r a v i$. 65, ol $l\pi\pi \eta s$, $\pi po\sigma\epsilon \lambda d\nu av res$, It therefore applies exactly to the Boeotians, who pushed their advance as far as the walls of Nisaea. One manuscript has $\pi po\sigma\epsilon \lambda d\sigma av ra$, which might possibly be retained in agreement with $l\pi\pi a \rho x o \sigma$. The only objection to reading $\pi po\sigma \epsilon \lambda d\sigma av ras$.

Poppo retains $\pi\rho\sigma\sigma\epsilon\lambda\dot{a}\sigma\sigma\sigma\tau\epsilons$, which he considers may mean that the Athenians retired on Nisaea, so as to draw the enemy in that direction. Arnold, followed by Kröger, reads $\pi\rho\delta s\,\dot{a}\dot{v}\dot{\tau}\dot{y}$ $\tau\hat{y}$ Nisaea', under the walls of Nisaea', and explains $\pi\rho\sigma\sigma\epsilon\lambda\dot{a}$ rarres of the Athenians 'charging the enemy'.

25. où μέντοι — the general action however had no decisive result. ἐν τῷ παντὶ ἐργῷ is opposed to the success of the Athenians at a single point. βεβαίως—with τελευτήσαντες, 'certum pugnae eventum adepti', Poppo. If the text be right we must adopt this explanation. Classen takes τελευτήσαντες adverbially, 'in the end'; but I believe that the present participle only can be thus used. Krüger and others suspect an error in τελευτήσαντες.

26. $d\pi\epsilon\kappa\rho\ell\theta\eta\sigma a\nu$ —'separated'; so $\delta\epsilon\epsilon\kappa\rho\ell\theta\eta\sigma a\nu$, ch. 14, 24, etc. Lid. and Scott give no other instance of $d\pi\kappa\rho\ell ro\mu at$ thus used. In ii. 49 is $\tau\sigma\delta\tau\sigma$ $\pi\delta\tau\sigma$ $a\pi\epsilon\kappa\rho\ell\eta$ means 'all diseases ended in this alone'. $d\lambda\lambda'$ of $\mu\ell\nu$ —sc. $d\pi\epsilon\kappa\rho\ell\theta\eta\sigma a\nu$, neither side got the victory, but they retired to their respective camps. The disjunction is awkward, and the whole sentence somewhat unsatisfactory. It would seem as if $d\pi\epsilon\kappa\rho\ell\theta\eta\sigma a\nu$ ought to follow $d\lambda\lambda'$, some finite verb being lost in the first clause.

6. περιορωμένους-cf. ch. 71, 8, περιτδείν.

7. $d\mu\phi \delta\tau\epsilon\rho a$ —explained by the clauses with $d\mu a \mu \ell \nu$ and $\ell \nu \tau \phi a v \tau \phi \delta \ell$ line 12: cf. iii. 11. $d\mu a \mu \ell \nu \gamma \delta \rho$... $\ell \nu \tau \phi a v \tau \phi \delta \ell$ rat $\kappa.\tau.\lambda$. $\ell m \chi \epsilon \mu \rho \epsilon v$ mport $\rho v v z$ —both words used of taking the initiative in attack: ch. 29, 21, $\ell m'$ $\ell \kappa \epsilon \ell \nu o s \gamma \delta \rho a \nu \epsilon \ell \nu a \epsilon \tau \tau \eta \nu \ell m \zeta \epsilon \nu c \delta \tau c$

9. ἐπειδή γε—having shown that they were ready to defend themselves, there was no need to begin the attack. For nom. ἐτοῦμοι ὅντες cf. v. 72, ἐδειζαν περιγενόμενοι: i. 21, ὅ πόλεμος δηλώσει μείζων γεγενημένος: Soph. Ant. 20, δηλοῖς τι καλχαίνουσ' ἔπος: see Goodwin, § 113.

 κal aὐτοῖς—' and so the victory might be justly put down to them as it were without a struggle'. This is a parenthetical clause dependent on ἐνόμιζον. For aὐτοῖς cf. ch. 50, 13: so infr. line 18. ἀκονιτί—Dem. de Cor. 295, ταῦτα προεῖτο ἀκονιτί: cf. Hor. Ep. i. 1, 51, condicio dulcis sine pulvere palmae.

12. $\tau(\theta_{\epsilon\sigma}\theta_{a\iota}-\text{pass. in the sense of attributing or reckon$ $ing. Krüger and Classen regard this use of <math>\tau(\theta_{\epsilon\sigma}\theta_{a\iota}$ with suspicion, no instance of such a phrase as $\tau(\theta_{\epsilon\sigma}\theta_{a\iota} trive)$ $\nu(\pi\gamma\nu)$ being found. Krüger therefore reads $d\nu\alpha\tau(\theta_{\epsilon\sigma}\theta_{a\iota})$ for $d\nu \tau(\theta_{\epsilon\sigma}\theta_{a\iota})$ c. Dem. de Cor. 230, $\tau\dot{\alpha}$ $\pi\epsilon\pi\rho\alpha\gamma\mu\epsilon_{a}$ $\epsilon\alpha\tau\varphi_{a}$ $\dot{\alpha}\nu\pi(\theta_{cl})$ $\dot{\epsilon}\epsilon_{a\iota}$. Classen considers that in sense also the whole clause is out of place. It seems, he thinks, like an explanatory gloss of $d\mu\alpha\chi\epsilon_{d}$ $\vec{\omega}\nu$ $\vec{\epsilon}\nu\epsilon\kappa\alpha$ $\vec{\eta}, \theta_{0\nu}$, line 18, or a second clause in connexion with those words.

ib. ἐν τῷ αὐτῷ δέ—' and moreover as regards the Megareans things turned out well'. ὀρθῶς ξυμβαίνειν is a repetition of καλῶς ἔχειν, line 7, and in construction depends on ἐνόμιζον. Had strict regularity been observed the two clauses would run thus, καλῶς ἐνόμιζον ἀμφότερα ἔχειν, ἅμα μὲν τὸ μὴ ἐπιχειρεῖν κ.τ.λ., ἐν τῷ αὐτῷ δὲ τὸ πρὸς Μεγαρέας.

14. oùk $d\nu \, \ell\nu \, \tau \dot{\chi}_{\Pi}$ —i.e. they would not have had even a chance; 'non fuisse futurum ut res in aleam daretur', Poppo. $\ell\nu \, \tau \dot{\nu}_{\chi} \gamma \, (\gamma \nu \epsilon \sigma \theta a, \, \mathrm{sc. } \tau \dot{a} \, \pi \rho \dot{a} \gamma \mu a \tau a, \, \mathrm{is a very unusual phrase: it may be illustrated by such expressions as i. 137, <math>\ell\nu \, \tau \dot{\varphi} \, d\sigma \phi a \lambda \epsilon \dot{\ell} \, \mu \dot{e} \, \ell \mu ol \, (\ell\gamma / \gamma \nu \epsilon \tau o), 'I was in safety': vi. 60, oùk <math>\dot{\epsilon} \nu \, \pi a \dot{\omega} \lambda \eta \, \dot{\epsilon} \phi a \dot{\ell} \, \nu \epsilon \tau o, 'there was no sign of stopping'. Poppo explains in the same way iii. 33, oùk <math>\dot{\epsilon} \tau \, \kappa \, a \tau a \lambda \dot{\eta} \, \psi \epsilon \, \dot{\epsilon} \, da \ell \star \tau o, 'there seemed no hope of catching (the foe)': here however 'A \lambda \kappa l \delta a, who has been mentioned before, may be the subject of the verb.$

15. ὥσπερ ήσσηθέντων—gen. abs. sc. σφῶν: cf. v. 33, ἐs Παρρασίονς...ἐτικαλεσαμένων σφᾶς, sc. τῶν Παρρασίων: vi. 7, ol ᾿Αργεῖοι...ἐξελθόντων, sc. τῶν ᾿Αργείων. In all these passages we might have expected a nom. or acc. participle. Possibly the subject of ήσσηθέντων, 'after a defeat', is to be considered as not absolutely identical and co-extensive with the subject of ἐνδμιζον and στερηθήναι, though referring to the same side, and the other passages may be similarly explained.

18. περιγενέσθαι-of the accruing of advantage: cf. vi. 8, ην τι περιγένηται αυτοίς. 19. of yap Meyaphs—the subject of the main sentence. It is followed by a long parenthesis as far as line 32, and it is repeated in the words of two performer plass Meyaphs. $\mu\eta$ informer—sc. two Aakedauporker. Kal of ikelver otpathyol partial apposition: cf. note on ch. 6, 4.

23. $dv\tau(\pi\alpha\lambda\circ\nu)$ lit. 'equally matched': the Athenians reflected that they would risk more in a battle than their adversaries. $\ell\pi\epsilon\iota\delta\eta$ $\kappa\alpha\ell$. $\ell\pi\epsilon\iota\delta\eta$ $\kappa\tau.\lambda$. line 9. $\tau\lambda$ $\pi\lambda\epsilon\ell\omega$ —the capture of Nisaea and the long walls.

24. apţaou-sc. $\sigma\phi(\sigma_i)$ 'to begin' or 'if they began'. $\pi p \delta s \pi \lambda \epsilon (s \nu a s - t h e enemy had 6000 heavy-armed men, the$ Athenians 4600 (ch. 68, 4: 72, 25) besides the light-armed $Plataeans and <math>\pi \epsilon \rho (\pi \alpha \lambda \alpha)$.

For the 1st aor. form $\beta\lambda a\varphi\theta\eta\nu a\iota$ cf. ch. 87, 29: $\beta\lambda a\beta\eta\nu a\iota$ occurs i. 141. There is good authority for both aorists, but the second is the more common: see Veitch's Irregular Greek Verbs.

27. $\tau \sigma i s \delta \dot{t}$ —eth. dative, the construction of the sentence depending on $\lambda \sigma_{1} \delta \dot{t} \mu \sigma \sigma \sigma$: 'while on the side of the enemy each part of their whole force and of the troops on the field was naturally ready to dare to risk a battle'. This is Poppo's translation, and it gives a fairly satisfactory sense. The Peloponnesian army was composed of contingents from different states: each contingent was only a portion of the whole available military force ($\xi \nu \mu \pi a \sigma \eta s \tau \eta s$) and of the army now under Brasidas ($\tau \omega \pi \pi a \rho \delta \tau \sigma \mu$). Therefore a defeat would not cripple the Peloponnesian confederacy as a whole, while the several contingents might be willing to risk a battle with the chance of their neighbours suffering more than themselves. On the other hand any loss sustained by the Athenians would fall on the flower of their national troops.

μέρος ξκαστον, according to this view, is the subject of $\ell\theta\ell\lambda\epsilon\omega$, and κινδυνεύειν depends on τολμών. The redundancy of infinitives is certainly awkward: cf. however iii. 56, $\ell\theta\ell$ - λοντες δε τολμών μετά κινδύνων: v. 9, το εθέλειν και αισχύνεσθαι και τοις άρχουσι πείθεσθαι: 1. 71, βουλομένων προθύμων είναι.

It has been proposed to take $\mu \ell \rho os$ as the object of $\kappa i \nu$ δυνεύειν and $\ell \kappa a \sigma \tau o \nu$ as masc., 'each (commander) was naturally willing to hazard a portion', etc. But this use of $\kappa i \nu \delta v u \epsilon' v i s$ doubtful, being only supported by such phrases as vi. 57, $\pi \acute{a} \nu \tau a \ \acute{e} \kappa i \nu \delta \acute{v} \nu \epsilon v o \nu$, and the improvement in sense is not great.

For kal $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu \pi a \rho \hat{\omega} \tau \omega \nu$ Donaldson adopts the conjecture $\delta M \gamma \omega \nu \pi a \rho \hat{\omega} \tau \omega \nu$ gen. abs., which gives a good sense and construction, but does not seem necessary. Classen follows Göller in altering $\xi \kappa a \sigma \tau \omega$ into $\dot{\epsilon} \kappa d \sigma \tau \omega$ in agreement with $\pi a \rho \dot{\omega} \tau \omega$, giving the sense 'a portion of the several powers present on the field', i.e. represented by their contingents. We have then to supply a subject to $\dot{\epsilon} \partial \dot{\epsilon} \kappa \omega$ from the general sense, sc. the enemy, or else $\tau \alpha \hat{s} \delta \dot{\epsilon}$ must be changed into $\tau \alpha \dot{v} \hat{s} \delta \dot{\epsilon}$.

29. $\chi \rho \delta \nu \sigma \delta \delta \dots \kappa a l$ $\delta s \longrightarrow after they had waited some time,$ and since there was no sign of movement on either side'. For $<math>\dot{a}\phi' \dot{\epsilon} \kappa a \tau \dot{\epsilon} \rho \omega \nu$ we should have expected $o \dot{v} \delta \dot{\epsilon} \tau \dot{\epsilon} \rho \omega \nu$ or $o \dot{v} \delta' \dot{a} \phi' \dot{\epsilon} \tau \dot{\epsilon} \rho \omega \nu$.

32. out $\delta\eta'$ —' upon this, then at last'; 'introducing the apodosis after a long protasis' (Lid. and Scott); so ch. 75, 13. The subject of the sentence is again defined in the words of $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu \phi \epsilon \nu \gamma \hat{\omega} \tau \tau \omega \nu \phi l \lambda \omega M \epsilon \gamma a \rho \eta \hat{s}$, see line 19.

In viii. 99 there is a very similar seutence, where of $\Pi\epsilon\lambda\alpha\sigma\sigma\nu\nu\dot{\eta}\sigma\iota\sigma$ is the original subject, and after a series of clauses introduced by $\dot{\omega}s$, which take up more than half the chapter, we have $\sigma\sigma\omega\delta\dot{\eta}$ of $M\iota\dot{\sigma}\alpha\rho\sigmas...\epsilon\pi\lambda\epsilon\iota$.

ib. $\tau \hat{\varphi} \mu \hat{\epsilon} \nu$ Bpa $\sigma(\delta q$ —there is no corresponding clause with $\delta \ell$: some mention of receiving back the exiles was probably intended to follow.

CHAPTER LXXIV

1. $\delta_{\alpha\lambda\nu\theta\ell\nu\tau\omega\nu}$ —Classen points out that in all the fourteen instances in which this word is used of the separation of a confederate force the aor. pass. is the tense employed. $\kappa\alpha\tau\dot{\alpha}$ is distributive, 'to their several cities'.

4. Υνα περ-cf. ch. 48, 31.

6. όσοι μέν...οί δέ άλλοι-two coordinate divisions of el έν τŷ πόλει Μεγαρŷs: cf. i. 89, elstat al μέν πολλαλ...δλίγαι δέ. πραγμάτων-' dealings, intrigues', an unusual sense of the substantive, though common with the verb: cf. ch. 73, 83, τών πρός τούς 'Αθηναίους πραξάντων: also ch. 76, 6. For πρός τούς we might expect τῶν πρός, but in such constructions the article is sometimes omitted before a preposition, and πρός may also be regarded as belonging to the whole clause rather than to πραγμάτων alone.

8. $i\pi\epsilon_{j}\hat{\eta}\lambda\theta\sigma\nu$ —cf. vi. 51, of a defeated party, of $\tau d \tau \hat{\omega}\nu$ $\Sigma \nu \rho a \kappa \sigma t \omega \nu \phi \rho \sigma \sigma \hat{\nu} \tau \epsilon s \epsilon \ell \theta \delta s \ \ v \pi \epsilon \xi \tilde{\eta}\lambda \theta \sigma \nu$: in iii. 34 it takes the acc. $i\pi\epsilon\xi\epsilon\lambda\theta \delta \nu \tau \epsilon s \ \tau \sigma \delta \tau \sigma \upsilon s$: cf. constr. ch. 28, 14. We find 120 of these Megarians serving in the Athenian expedition to Sicily; vi. 43.

9. κατάγουσι-the regular word for restoring an exile: Aesch. Sept. 647, κατάξω δ' άνδρα τόνδε: cf. Ar. Run. 1165, φεύγων δ' άνήρ ήκει τε καί κατέρχεται.

10. δρκώσαντες—in viii. 75 we have cogn. acc. ώρκωσαν πάντας τούς στρατιώτας τους μεγίστους δρκους, ή μήν όμονοήσειν.

13. ἐξέτασιν ὅπλων—an inspection or review: vi. 96, ἐξέτασιν ὅπλων ἐποιοῦντο. This would give an opportunity of selecting and securing the disaffected, especially if, as Arnold supposes, the men had laid down their arms in order to listen to an address from their commanders. Hippias in a similar way seized his enemies, who appeared without their arms, olδμενοί τι ἐρεῦν αὐτῶν (vi. 58). διαστήσαντες τοὺς λόχους —the several divisions were apparently reviewed in different parts of the town.

17. ψήφον διενεγκείν— = διαψηφίσασθαι, διά implying a vote on this or that side: Eur. Or. 49, διοίσει ψήφον 'Αργείων πόλιs: in Hdt. iv. 138, οι διαφέροντες τήν ψήφον seems to mean those who differed in their vote. φανεράν—opp. κρύφα, ch. 88, 2.

ib. κατεγνώσθησαν—passive, though the active takes a genitive of the person. Lysias, de caede Erat. 94, has the act. with acc. τοῦτον καταγιγνώσκειν φόνου. Lid. and Scott give Dion H. xi. 22, καταγνωσθείς δειλίαν, 'found guilty of cowardice': and Hdt. vi. 2, καταγνωσθείς πρήσσειν, 'thought to be doing'. So too Andocides, de Myst. 2, has παρὰ τῶν κατηγορουμένων, 'from the accused'. In fact verbs which govern the genitive or dative are not uncommonly personally constructed in the passive, Greek being more elastic than Latin in this point.

19. πλείστον δή—so ch. 55, 15, μάλιστα δή: i. 1, κίνησις γὰρ αὐτη μεγίστη δὴ ἐγένετο. αὐτη...μετάστασις—'this was a change which', lit. 'this, though a change' or 'as a change', not 'this change', which would require the article: so in the passage cited above κίνησι is the predicate. 20. $i\pi' i\lambda \alpha \chi i \sigma \tau \omega \nu - i$ a few daring men effected the revolution, tacitly countenanced probably by the aristocratic party in general, who thought the worst oligarchy better than the ascendancy of the popular party. What Thucydides notices is the long duration of a government which owed its existence to a violent revolution effected by a very small number of active instruments' (Arnold).

ib. ἐκ στάσεως μετάστασις — a play on the sound of words: Classen compares ii. 62, μη φρονήματι μόνον άλλα καταφρονήματι: iii. 39, έπανέστησαν μάλλον ή άπέστησαν. μετάστασις is used of a political revolution in vi. 20 and viii. 86. For ξυνέμεινεν cf. viii. 73, ή άρχη ξυνέμεινεν: also i. 18, of the lasting of an alliance.

CHAPTER LXXV

2. $\ddot{\omega}\sigma\pi\epsilon\rho$ διενοοῦντο—' as (we saw) was their intention': see ch. 52. For the impf. cf. ch. 2, 8, $\ddot{\omega}\sigma\pi\epsilon\rho$ παρεσκευάζοντο. κατασκευάζω and κατασκευή are used especially of permanent appliances, such as walls, dockyards and arsenals, in the case of a fortress: so in vi. 17 of the plant and stock of farmers and settlers: in vi. 31 of the fittings of a ship: see Arnold on i, 10.

3. ἀργυρολόγων—either agreeing with ᾿Αθηναίων or with νεῶν understood. ναῦς is understood with $i \pi \pi a \gamma \omega \gamma \delta \varsigma$ in vi. 43; with πεντηκόντορος ib.: so with τριακόντορος ch. 9, 9.

 δεινόν μή—'reason to dread that': cf. iii. 102, δεινόν γάρ ην μή...ούκ άντίσχωσιν.

9. τd "Avata—iii. 32, and viii. 19: 'Avatt $\hat{\omega}\nu$, iii. 19. The Athenians foured that Antandros would be a standing menace to Lesbos as Anaea was to Samos. For $i\pi \iota \tau \hat{\gamma} \Sigma \acute{a}\mu\varphi$ cf. ch. 14, 32, $i\pi \iota \tau \hat{\gamma} \Pi \acute{a}\lambda\varphi$.

10. καταστάντες—' established themselves': iii. 86, καταστάντες ές 'Ρήγιον. ές τα ναυτικά—' for their fleets', or 'in naval matters', connected with both $\dot{\omega}\phi\epsilon\lambda ov\nu$ and $\kappa \nu\beta\epsilon\rho\nu\eta\tau$ as $\pi\epsilon\mu\pi\sigma\nu\tau\epsilons$.

17. ού πολύ ὕστερον—with ἀπόλλυσι, for Lamachus had already entered the Pontus, line 6. 'Ηρακλεώτιδι—the district of Heraclea on the coast of Bithynia; founded in the sixth contury by colonists from Megara and Tanagra. όρμήσαs, fr. όρμέω, 'having come to an anchor', is the better supported reading, and though $\delta\rho\mu\epsilon\hat{\nu}$ is constructed with $\delta\nu$ when it means lying at anchor (i. 52 etc.), the aorist might certainly take $\delta\tau$ with a pregnant idea of motion. The aor. form itself is however considered extremely doubtful by Classen, who (with Krüger) reads $\delta\rho\mu\sigma\sigma s$, sc. $r\delta\tau$ $r\sigma\hat{v}$.

19. $\delta\delta a \tau os \ \delta v \omega \theta \epsilon v$ —according to Poppo= $\delta\delta \omega p \ \delta \xi \ obpavov,$ ii. 77: Xen. Mem. Socr. iv. 3. 14, $\kappa \epsilon pauvos \ \delta r \omega \partial \epsilon r \ a \dot \phi \dot \epsilon cat.$ Arnold however believes the words to mean 'rain having fallen in the interior, in the upper country', quoting Hdt. viii 12, $\delta \gamma \dot{\epsilon} r c \sigma \delta' \ \delta \omega p \ a \pi \lambda \epsilon \tau ov \ \delta \dot a \ \pi \dot{a} \sigma \eta s \ \tau \gamma s \ v \kappa \tau \dot s,$ to show that the addition of $\delta \xi$ obpavov is not required to denote rain. May not the meaning be 'floods having come down from the upper country'? 'The river Calex, or Cales, is hardly more than a mountain torrent; or at least has its source in the mountains at so short a distance from the sea that its floods must be exceedingly sudden and violent; and, like the fiumare in Sicily, they would come down with such a body of water, sweeping trees and rocks along with them in their course, that vessels drawn up on the shore, just at the mouth of the river, might very easily have been swamped or dashed to pieces' (Arnold).

22. $\pi \epsilon \rho a \nu$ —from an European point of view. $\tau \eta \nu$ Meyapéan $d \pi o \kappa i a \nu$ —'that (well-known) colony'. Chalcedon, opposite Byzantium, was said to have been founded by the blind, 'quod priores illuc advecti, praevisa locorum utilitate, peiora legissent' (Tac. Ann. xii. 63): cf. Hdt. iv. 144.

CHAPTER LXXVI

6. $\pi p \dot{\alpha} \gamma \mu \alpha \tau a$ — 'public affairs, interests'; the whole phrase means that a plot was going on to betray Boeotia. $\pi p \dot{\alpha} \sigma \sigma \epsilon \nu$ is perpetually used of political intrigues; it is constructed with the dative, as in ch. 106, 12; ch. 110, 10: with $\pi \rho \delta s$, as in i. 128, $\pi \rho \delta s \beta \alpha \sigma i \lambda \epsilon a \pi \rho \dot{\alpha} \gamma \mu \alpha \pi a \pi \rho \dot{\alpha} \sigma \epsilon \iota r$: and even with $\dot{\epsilon} s$, as in i. 132, is rows Etharas $\pi \rho \dot{\alpha} \sigma \epsilon \iota r$ r.

ib. $d\pi\delta$ —'on the part of': i. 17, $i\pi\rho\dot{\alpha}\chi\theta\eta \ a\pi' \ a\partial\tau\omega\nu \ o\partial\delta\dot{e}\nu$ $\ell\rho\gamma\sigma\nu$. As distinguished from $i\pi\delta$, $a\pi\delta$ denotes the 'personal origin' of anything, not the agent. It is found especially with passive verbs of doing and saying (see Shilleto on i. 17); and in later Greek becomes more and more common with the passive generally.

 τὸν κόσμον—cf. vili. 48, ἐκ τοῦ παρόντος κόσμου τὴν πόλιν μεταστήσας: vili. 67, ἐκ τοῦ αὐτοῦ κόσμου. ὥσπερ οἰ 'Αθηvalot—sc. δημοκρατοῦνται: or perhaps referring to μετέστησαν οι ἔρχεψαν. 10. $\delta\sigma\eta\gamma\sigma\mu\mu\delta\nu\sigma\nu$ —'being the prime mover': with acc. iii. 20, $\delta\sigma\eta\gamma\eta\sigma\alpha\mu\delta\nu\sigma\nu$ $\tau\dot{\eta}\nu \pi\epsilon\hat{\iota}\rho\alpha\nu$: cf. vi. 90, $\pi\epsilon\rho l ~\dot{\omega}\nu ~\dot{\epsilon}\mu\sigma l ~\dot{\epsilon}\sigma\eta\gamma\eta\tau\delta\sigma\nu$: so generally of bringing forward proposals and the like, as in vii. 73. $a\dot{\upsilon}r\sigma\hat{\upsilon}s$ —either $=\pi\rho\delta s~a\dot{\upsilon}r\sigma\dot{\upsilon}s$ 'with them', sc. the Athenians, or ethical dat. referring to both sides, 'these were their schemes'. I have adopted Classen's punctuation, as $\tau d\delta e$ refers to what follows; otherwise we should have $ra\hat{\upsilon}ra$ as in line 22.

11. $\Sigma(\phi_{\alpha s} \mu \epsilon \nu$ —the three points selected would command three several sides of Boeotia; Siphae was on the south coast, Chaeronea on the north-west frontier, and Delium on the eastern coast.

Μινύειον-Hom. Il. ii. 511, οι δ' 'Ασπληδόν' έναιον ίδ' 14. Όρχομενόν Μινύειον: Theocr. xvi. 104, (Χάριτες) Μινύειον 'Opyouevor piléoigai: cf. Pind. Ol. xiv. 4. It was the capital of the ancient clan of the Minyae; see Class. Dict. There was another Orchomenos in Arcadia. Eurrelei- belongs to, is dependent on'. 'The Boeotian confederacy consisted of a number of free and sovereign states, each of which elected its Boeotarch, or member of the supreme executive government of Boeotia. The sovereign states had each a number of smaller states subject to their authority; as Chaeronea was dependent on Orchomenos; Leuctra and Siphae on Thespiae; Acraephia, Glisas, Therapne, and others, on Thebes. These smaller states were called Eúμμοροι, or Eυντελεîs, to the larger ones: and were obliged to furnish troops and money, to make up the contingent of the state to which they belonged, to the general confederacy of Boeotia' (Arnold).

15. ἐνεδίδοσαν—'were to give up'; the imperfect denoting what was intended by the conspirators: cf. ch. 7, 5, προδιδομένην: for ἐνδίδωμι see ch. 66, 17 note.

18. ἕσχατον—for neut. cf. i. 10, Μυκῆναι μικρὸν ῆν: i. 63, (Όλυνθος) ἐστὶ καταφανές: i. 138, ἐδόκει (Λάμψακος) πολυοινότατον τῶν τότε εἶναι. πρὸς Φανότιδι—' hard by the district of Phanoteus', see ch. 89, 12: the city was twenty stades from Chaeronca. μετέχον—' were in the plot'.

 ξυμβοηθήσωσιν—of joint action. The simple verb is to be understood in the following clause with ξκαστοι: cf. ii. 81, οῦτε ξυνεβοήθουν, ἐφύλασσόν τε τὰ αὐτῶν ξκαστοι. 26. βαδίως-this word affects the whole sentence generally, implying that the conspirators anticipated no difficulty in carrying ont their plans; it belongs however more particularly to καταστήσεις, line 33.

27. $\nu\epsilon\omega\tau\epsilon\rho(\xi_{0})$ -the reading adopted by almost all editors for $\nu\epsilon\omega\tau\epsilon\rho(\xi_{0})$, which is found in most manuscripts. Arnold thinks that $\dot{\eta}$ $\pi\epsilon\bar{\epsilon}\rhoa$ might be the nominative to $\nu\epsilon\omega\tau\epsilon\rho(\xi_{0})$ 'would effect a change', or else that the verb might be neuter in sense. It is however invariably transitive in Thuc. For the pass. cf. ch. 41, 14.

29. $i\kappa\dot{\alpha}\sigma\tau\sigma\iotas$ —the disaffected in different places, who would find a refuge at hand ($\delta\iota\dot{\alpha}\ \beta\rho\alpha\chi\epsilon\sigmas$) when the three points were occupied by the Athenians. For $\dot{\alpha}\pi\sigma\sigma\tau\rho\phi\eta$'s cf. viii. 75, $\dot{\alpha}\pi\sigma\sigma\tau\rho\phi\eta'$ $\sigma\sigma\tau\eta\rhotas$. The Athenians intended to carry out the system of establishing fortified positions in the enemy's territory, which had already proved so successful in annoying the Lacedaemonians. $\kappa\sigma\tau\dot{\alpha}\chi\omega\rho\alphav$ —cf. ch. 14, 32.

31. προσιόντων- 'joining': cf. ch. 85, 22, έμοι πρόσεωτ. ές τὸ ἐπιτηδειον-cf. ch. 54, 15, ἐπιτηδειότερον: ch. 60, 10, ἐς τὸ ξυμφέρον καθίστανται.

 δπότε καιρός εξη—opt. because of the past tense ξμελλε = δταν καιρός ÿ with present: see note on el τι πάσχοιεν, ch. 38, 11. ές τούς Bowτούς=into Boeotia; cf. ch. 78, 42: i. 108, ἐστράτευσαν ἐς Bowτούς: Hdt. iv. 28, ἐπελαύνουσιν ἐς τοὺς Σινδούς. In v. 49, φάσκεντες σφῶς ἐπ Φύρκον ὅπλα ἐπενεγκεῖν probably ought to be ἐς σφῶς (B. s.).

προαπέστειλε—' had sent in advance'; see the beginning of ch. 76: ταῖς τεσσαράκοντα ναυσίν are the ships there mentioned. ἐξ ἐκείνων τῶν χωρίων—Acarnania and its neighbourhood, where Demosthenes was well known since his campaign in 426 (iii. 94 etc.).

9. εξρητο-the usual word for instructions and arrangements: i. 129, τά τε άλλα έποίησεν, ώσπερ εξρητο. For έδει and ταῦτα cf. ch. 76, 20 and 22.

10. $\delta \mu k \Delta \eta \mu \sigma \theta k \eta s$ —the corresponding particle to $\mu k r$ is $\delta \ell$ at the beginning of the next chapter. Olvidoas $\delta \ell$ —there is an awkwardness about this $\delta \ell$ (one manuscript has $\tau \epsilon$); possibly it may be explained, like $\pi \sigma \lambda \epsilon \mu l a r \delta \ell$ obsar, ch. 7, 3, as denoting what was not looked for; for Oeniadae stood apart from the other Acarnanian towns in opposition to Athens, ii. 102; iii. 94. It was situated at the mouth of the Achelous and was surrounded by water in winter.

11. $\dot{\upsilon}\pi\dot{\upsilon}$ $\tau\epsilon...\kappa al$ $a\dot{\upsilon}\tau\dot{\upsilon}s$ —the connecting particles show what was effected by the Acarnanians and Demosthenes respectively, $\tau\epsilon$ being out of place: cf. 28, 21, $\epsilon\kappa$ $\tau\epsilon$ $A'\nu\sigma\upsilon...$ $<math>\kappa al$: ch. 70, 7, ϵ_s $\tau\epsilon$ $\tau \sigma\dot{\upsilon}s...\kappa al$. Such an irregularity of construction is especially common when the juxtaposition of $\delta\epsilon$ and $\tau\epsilon$ is thereby avoided; e.g. ch. 95, 2: i. 16, $\epsilon\pi\epsilon\gamma\epsilon\nu\epsilon\tau\sigma$ $\delta\epsilon$ $\lambda\lambda\sigma\iotas$ $\tau\epsilon$ $\kappa\omega\lambda\dot{\upsilon}\mu\alpha\tau$ κal Two: K $\dot{\nu}\rho\sigmas$ $\epsilon\pi\epsilon\sigma\tau\rho\dot{\sigma}\epsilon\sigma\sigma\epsilon$.

ib. κατηναγκασμένους is—'forced into'; masc. because the city is designated by the name of the inhabitants: so ii. 102: cf. vi. 3, μer' adrois, of the town of Leontini: see Poppo on i. 111, is Obvids.

13. $dva\sigma\tau\eta\sigma \sigma s$ —'having called to his standard', of summoning troops for an expedition: so ch. 90, 1: cf. ii. 68, airol $\tau \epsilon \ \kappa ai \ \tau \omega \nu \ \beta a \rho \beta \delta \rho \omega \nu \ \pi o \lambda \lambda \omega is \ dva\sigma \tau \eta \sigma d\nu \tau \epsilon s,$ etc. In ch. 93, 3, it is used of setting an army in motion.

14. $\Sigma a \lambda i v \theta \iota o v \kappa a \lambda' A \gamma p a lovs - mentioned in iii. 106 and 111$ as neighbours of the Acarnanians but friendly to the Peloponnesian interests. προσποιησάμενος - 'having reduced' or'brought over': i. 8. προσποιοῦντο ὑπηκόονς, etc. For the act.see ch. 47, 10. ἀπαντησόμενος - with ἐπι, of appearing at agiven place: cf. ch. 89, 6: so ch. 70, 8. An analogous usedenotes appearing at a trial, presenting one's self in court, seeLid. and Scott. The middle form of the future is classical;ἀπαντήσω is later, Polyb. Plut. etc.

The historian now passes to another point, concluding with an imperfect construction, as in ch. 48.

CHAPTER LXXVIII

From this point the fortunes of the war begin to turn against the Athenians, who seem to have been entirely unprepared for Brasidas' bold enterprise against their Thracian allies.

1. Bpar(bas $\delta \epsilon$ —in sense this sentence is descriptive enough. Brasidas begins his march—reaches Heraclea—is joined by friends whom he had previously sent to—continues his march. The wording however is awkward and involved. There are two subordinate clauses, $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \iota \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \gamma \epsilon \epsilon \sigma \eta$. There are two subordinate clauses, $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \iota \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \gamma \epsilon \epsilon \sigma \eta$ $\epsilon \tau \epsilon \delta \eta$. There are two subordinate clauses, $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \iota \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \gamma \epsilon \delta \eta$. There are two subordinate clauses, $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \iota \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \gamma \epsilon \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \sigma \epsilon \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \tau \sigma \epsilon \delta \eta$ $\epsilon \pi \sigma \rho \epsilon \delta \epsilon \tau \sigma$. πορενόμενος—' beginning his expedition'; he was last seen at Corinth, ch. 74, 3: the construction with ἐπειδή ἐγένετο somewhat resembles ὡs ἐγένοντο πλέοντες, κ.τ.λ. ch. 3, 1.

4. iv Hρaκλ*ia*—in 426 the Lacedaemonians established a colony and place of arms at Heraclea near Trachis, and began the construction of docks at Thermopylae, 40 stades distant (iii. 93, 94). Cf. Liv. xxvi. 22, sita est Heraclea in radicibus Octae montis: ipsa in campo arcem imminentem loco alto et undique praccipiti habet. The town or district of Trachis gives the name to the Trachiniae of Sophocles, and the whole neighbourhood was associated with the memory of Heracles.

ib. προπέμψαντος—parenthetical; Brasidas had already sent his messenger in advance. We find in ii, 22 that Pharsalus (ā) and Larissa like the other Thessalian towns were in alliance with Athens; oi ἐπιτήδειοι were therefore an oligarchical faction.

7. 'Axatas—Achaea Pthiotis, north of the Malian galf. For the limits of the district see Arnold's note.

14. καθεστήκει-cf. ch. 26, 29. all πότε-ch. 57, 26.

17. δυναστεία—a narrow oligarchy or πολυκέφαλος τυραννίς: iii, 62, έγγυτάτω δὲ τυράνου δυναστεία ἀνδρῶν όλίγων: so Aristotle Pol. iv. 5, 2 speaks of a δυναστεία as the counterpart of a tyranny, ὅταν ἀρχῦ μὴ ὁ νόμος ἀλλ' οἰ ἀρχοντες. It is opposed to a πολιτεία or constitutional government: cf. Tac. Ann. vi. 42, paucorum dominatio regiae libidini propior, 'borders on arbitrary monarchy'. The government in Thessaly was held by 'a class of rich proprietors distributed through the principal cities possessing most of the soil, and constituting separate oligarchies loosely hanging together': the rest of the inhabitants were in a condition somewhat resembling that of the Laconians and Helots; see Grote, vol. ii. ch. 3, on the state of Thessaly. Some at any rate of the dominant families were naturally not ill disposed to the oligarchy of Sparta. 18. Ισονομία—cf. iii. 82, where Ισονομία πολιτική is an euphemism for δημοκρατία: in iii. 62 we have δλιγαρχία Ισόνομος, i.e. constitutional. τδ έγχώριον—adverbial: so ch. 3, 22, τδ άρχαΐον.

20. βουλομένων—so ii. 79, τῶν οὐ ταῦτα βουλομένων, of political feeling. ἐπι τῷ Ἐννπεῖ—at his entrance into Thessaly proper; see Arnold's note on the line of march probably taken by Brasidas.

22. $\tilde{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\nu$ -without the consent or authority of: i. 128, $\tilde{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\nu$ $\Lambda \alpha\kappa\epsilon\delta\alpha\mu\rho\sigma\ell\omega\nu$ etc.: Soph. O. T. 1464, $\tilde{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\nu$ $\tau\sigma\delta\delta'$ dropos. $\tau\delta$ $\pi\dot{\alpha}\nu\tau\omega\nu$ kouvóv is the general confederacy of Thessaly. It had little cohesion, and though strong if united, seldom was.

26. $a\dot{v}\tau \hat{v}s$ —the people themselves. $\dot{v}...\dot{a}\xi\dot{v}vv=$ 'he called on them not to stop him': cf. the instances given on ch. 40, 5.

33. τὸ κωλῦσον—when the future participle is used to denote purpose or intention the article is usually prefixed. iii. 83, οὐ γὰρ ἦν ὁ διαλύσων οὕτε λόγος οὕτε ὅρκος =ὅστις δια λύσει: cf. Plat. Menex. 235 D, ἀγαθοῦ ἀν ῥήτορος δέοι τοῦ πείσοντος: Soph. Ant. 260, οὐδ ὁ κωλύσων παρῆν.

Brasidas seems to have marched northwards down the valley of the Enipeus as far as Pharsalus, and a little beyond, to its junction with the valley of the Apidanus. His troops probably did not enter Pharsalus. He then marched down the valley of the Apidanus, in a north-westerly direction as far as Phacium, which was at its lower extremity, where it joins the valley of the Peneus (Arnold).

37. is $\Pi \epsilon \rho a \beta (a \nu - between the Peneus and the Cambu$ nian mountains. Brasidas seems to have marched across thisdistrict leaving Tempe on his right and bearing towards Dium. $<math>a \pi \partial \tau \sigma v \sigma \nu - \sigma'$ from this point'.

40. κατέστησαν ἐs—' brought him to', or 'set him down at': so ch. 103, 19. Δίον—on the Thermaic gulf: there was another place so called in Chalcidice, ch. 109. Μακέδονίας— 'in, or belonging to Macedonia'. πρός Θεσσαλούς—' looking towards Thessaly', i.e. on the frontier.

CHAPTER LXXIX

4. ώς Περδίκκαν-Perdiccas is first mentioned in 432 as trying to get up a league against Athens, ξύμμαχος πρότερο καl φίλος ών (i. 57). He was alternately the nominal friend and the enemy of Athens. Some account of the rise and extent of the Macedonian kingdom is given in ii. 99.

6. of...dφεστώτες 'Αθηναίων-Chalcidians and Bottiaeans who joined in the revolt of Potidaea in 432 (i. 53).

7. $i\xi\eta\gamma\alpha\gamma\sigma\nu$ promoted the expedition': Arnold points out that $i\xi d\gamma\omega$ 'is applied with great propriety in the present case, for the getting the Peloponnesians to move out of Peloponnesus was the great difficulty'. For the force of the active see note on $\xi\nu\nu\epsilon\pi\alpha\gamma'\rho\tau\omega\nu$, ch. 1, 14: so infr. $\xi\nu\nu\epsilon\pi\eta'\rho\sigma\nu$.

10. πλησιόχωροι-apparently governs αὐτῶν, for the position of which word see note on ch. 5, 10: Ar. Vesp. 393, τὸν σαυτοῦ πλησιόχωρον.

13. $\delta_{ia}\phi_{opa}$ with gen. : so iii. 54, $\tau a \Theta_{\eta}\beta al \omega \nu \delta_{ia}\phi_{opa}$.

14. Δυγκηστών—cf. ii. 99, where we find that the kingdom of the Lyncestae was subordinate to Macedonia. Arrhibaeus seems to have defied his suzerain Perdiccas. παραστήσασθαι— 'to reduce, bring to terms': so παραστήναι means to yield or surrender: Dem. Androt. 597, τώ πολέμω παρέστησα».

 ξυνέβη—'opportune cecidit': in construction this sentence resembles ch. 47, 4, ξυνελάβοντο δέ...ώστε κ.τ.λ.

CHAPTER LXXX

1. $\xi\gamma\kappa\epsilon\mu\epsilon\nu\omega\nu$ —by the occupation of Pylos and Cythers; see ch. 55. For $d\pi\sigma\sigma\tau\rho\epsilon\psi\alpha\iota$ some manuscripts have $d\pi\sigma\tau\rho\epsilon\psi\alpha\iota$, the two words being easily confused: see ch. 97, 9. There is also some slight authority for $d\pi\sigma\tau\rho\epsilon\psi\epsilon\iota\tau$: the aor. construction however is quite regular.

4. el divimapalumoîev—this compound, which only occurs here, implies 'parallel (i.e. simultaneous) counter-annoyance': for mapalumô cf. ii. 51, allo mapelume oùder, i.e. nothing besides the plague. Classen gives a list of upwards of 40 compounds with divit which Thuc. only uses once; and concludes that this prefix was connected at pleasure with any following verb: cf. Plat. Gorg. 521 E, divit eù moieir...divit eù reiserat. 6. $\epsilon \tau \circ (\mu \omega \nu \ \tilde{o} \nu \tau \omega \nu - sc. \tau \omega \nu \xi \nu \mu \mu d \chi \omega \nu$: cf. note on gen. abs. ch. 73, 15. $\tau \rho \epsilon \phi \epsilon \iota \nu \tau \epsilon$ —the usual irregularity or 'trajection' of $\tau \epsilon$.

7. τῶν Εἰλώτων—partitive gen. with ἐκπέμψαι: i. 30, τῆς γῆς ἔτεμων: Xen. Hel. ii. 3, 14, τῶν φρούρων ξυμπέμποντος. βουλομένοις ἦν—cf. iii. 2, τῷ πλήθει οὐ βουλομένῷ ἦν: so ch. 28, 27, ἀσμένοις ἐγίγνετο: see Madvig 38 d. So in Latin we have volenti, volentibus esse, Liv. Tac. etc.

8. $i\pi n$ $\pi \rho o \phi a \sigma \epsilon \iota$ 'on a (good) pretext': like $\pi a \rho a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v \hat{\eta}$, ch. 27, 30. $\pi \rho o s$ τd $\pi a \rho o' \tau a$ -lit. 'looking to', i.e. in the present circumstances and in consequence of them; like $\pi \rho \delta s$ $r a \delta \tau a$, 'therefore', one of the many phases of meaning with $\pi \rho \delta s$ expressing relation between two things.

9. $i\pi\epsilon i$ —often thus used in elliptical expressions, where the context supplies the meaning; here the sense is 'it is plain that they always dreaded the Helots, for', etc.; cf. a similar use in ch. 78, 19, $i\pi\epsilon i$ rat $r\delta r\epsilon$.

10. τόδε ξπραξαν-probably 'they once did, or had done' at some time not stated, so Thirlwall. 'That this atrocity should have been committed at the very time when the Spartans were sending out a body of Helots on a foreign expedition is improbable in itself, and is contradicted by the words kal τότε κ.τ.λ. (line 22), which clearly imply that Thucydides is led by association to speak of what had occurred on some former occasion. Shortly after the expedition of Brasidas the Spartans changed their policy towards the Helots, and emancipated those of them who had served with him, v. 34. They had previously given promises of emancipation which were believed, and therefore probably fulfilled, to Helots conveying food into Sphacteria, ch. 26' (Jowett). Grote however (vol. iv. ch. 53) considers that the massacre took place immediately after the capture of Sphacteria, which was in July or August of the previous year, and that there was an interval of several months before the government formed the idea of employing the Helots on forcign service, an interval 'quite sufficient to give a full and distinct meaning to the expression $\kappa al \tau \delta \tau \epsilon'$.

ib. νεότητα—either abstract, 'their youth (and vigour)', as in vi. 17, $\dot{\eta} \, \epsilon \mu \dot{\eta} \, r \epsilon \circ \tau \eta s$: ib. 18, contrasted with $\gamma \dot{\eta} \rho a s$: or with a concrete meaning (iuventus = iuvenes), as in ii. 8, πολλ νεότηs: so ii. 21. In the latter case πλήθος means the general number, or the two words give a 'hendiadys' = τδ πλήθος τῶν νέων.

Instead of νεότητα some manuscripts have σκαιότητα, which is adopted among other editors by Classen. He understands it to mean the rash stupidity and wrong-headedness (stoliditas, importanitas), which would make bondsmen rise in insurrection, even with little prospect of success: cf. Soph. Ant. 1028, αύθαδία τοι σκαιότητ' όφλισκάνει: Hdt. vii. 9, ύπο άγνωμοσύνης και σκαιότητος.

11. del yap — the predicate of this sentence is $\tau \eta s \phi \nu \lambda \alpha \kappa \eta s$ $\pi \epsilon \rho n$, the sense being that 'most of the relations between the Lacedaemonians and the Helots always were of an eminently precautionary character'; not that 'most of the Lacedaemonian institutions were intended mainly to guard against the Helots'. This latter statement, besides not being true, would require a different wording: cf. Shilleto on i. 17, $\pi \rho \delta s$ $\pi \epsilon \rho \alpha \delta \kappa \sigma s \tau \delta s$ $a^{j} \tau \omega^{j} \epsilon k \alpha \sigma \tau \sigma s$, 'between each state and its neighbours': so i. 127, $\delta \alpha \beta \partial \lambda \eta^{j} \alpha d \tau \psi$ $\pi \rho \delta s \tau \eta \nu \pi \delta \lambda \nu$, 'prejudice between him and the city': cf. ch. 54, 14. Dem. Lept. § CS fin. is a parallel.

Arnold compares the situation of the Spartans to that of an army of occupation in a conquered country, perpetually on its guard to prevent the inhabitants from breaking out into insurrection.

14. $i\nu \tau \sigma \hat{s} \pi \sigma \lambda \epsilon \mu (\sigma s - probably masc., the preposition denoting the sphere of operation of the adjective = ' on the persons of, in dealing with 'etc.; Verg. Aen. ii. 540, talis in hoste fuit: Soph. Aj. 1092, <math>i\nu \tau \sigma \hat{s}$ darovar $i\beta pi \sigma \tau \hat{\eta} \hat{s}$ ib. 1315, $i\nu \tau \hat{s}$ darovar $i\beta pi \sigma \tau \hat{\eta} \hat{s}$ ib. 1315, $i\nu \tau \hat{s}$ darovar $i\beta pi \sigma \tau \hat{\eta} \hat{s}$ the line is the line of the line o

ib. κρίνεσθαι- 'should be selected', a common meaning of κρίνω in Homer: so Hdt. vi. 129, κρίνοι ἐκ πάντων.

16. ὑπὸ φρονήματος—' from their high spirit'; ὑπό expresses the cause, as in i. 49, ὑπὸ πλήθους και δχλου τῶν νεῶν : so possibly in v. 31, περιορώμενοι ὑπὸ Λακεδαιμονίων, 'looking about them (i.e. refusing to commit themselves) from Lacedae-monian influence' (m. s.); unless indeed τὰ ἀπὸ should be read. For φρόνημα cf. ii. 43, ἀνδρί γε φρόνημα έχοντι: v. 40, ἐν φρονήματα, ὅντες, 'proudly aspiring'.

17. και ήξίωσαν...και ἐπιθέσθαι—a good instance of καl with both clauses. πρώτος ἕκαστος—resolved sing. in apposition with plur. : Plato Gorg. 503 Ε, βλέποντες πρός τὸ αἰτῶν ἕργον ἕκαστος : 80 quisque.

18. καl προκρίναντε...οἰ μἐν...οἰ δέ—there is no difficulty in understanding this sentence; and an exact parallel to it occurs in iii. 34, ό δὲ (Paches) προκαλεσάμενος ἐς λόγους ἰπτίαν... ό μἐν (Hippias) ἐξῆλθε παρ' αὐτόν, ὁ δὲ (Paches) ἐκείνον ἐν $φνλακ \hat{g} ε i \chi ε ν$. Poppo compares Dem. in Callip. 1244, ούτωs ερρωμένος έστιν ώστε πέρνσί μαι λαχών τὴν δίκην...εγώ μέν... ούτος δὲ κ.τ.λ.: so Xen. Cyr. iv. 6. 3, etc. In all these sentences the 'anacoluthon' arises from stating in a primary clause with μέν a fact which is really accessory to the main subject of the sentence. Thus in the passage before us the sense is 'they chose out some 2000 Helots, and while they decked themselves with garlands on the strength of being set free, the Lacedaemonians etc.' This is an extension of the ordinary idiom of expressing the contrast between two things by coordinate clauses with μέν and δέ, the clause with μέν being in sense subordinate to that with δέ (έγω μὲν...σν δέ, 'although I ...,vet you', etc.]; see Madv. § 180.

ib. is Story thlows-cf. ch. 48, 2.

21. $ov\delta els$ $j_0\sigma \theta ero$ —Diodorus (1st cent. B.C.) says that the chief Spartans were commissioned to put them to death at their own homes, a mere guess. 'The government had now made the selection which it desired; presently every one among these newly enfranchised Helots was made away with no one knew how. A stratagem at once so perfidious in the contrivance, so murderous in the purpose, and so complete in the execution, stands without parallel in Greek history—we might almost say without a parallel in any history. The Ephors must have employed numerous instruments, apart from each other, for the performance of this bloody deed. Yet it appears that no certain knowledge could be obtained of the details—a striking proof of the mysterious efficiency of this Council of Five, surpassing even that of the Council of Ten at Venice—as well as of the utter absence of public inquiry or discussion' (Grote iv. ch. 53).

22. καl τότε— 'so now', resuming the account from line 9. τοὺς δ' άλλους—1000 in number, ch. 78, 2. μισθῷ πείθειν is the regular term for engaging mercenaries, as in i. 31 ; ii. 96.

CHAPTER LXXXI

1. προύθυμήθησαν δέ—sc. that Brasidas should be sent; a clause parenthetically inserted and not affecting the construction: προθυμέσμαι takes an acc. of the object, as v. 17, προύθυμήθη τὴν ξύμβασιν (so freq. neut. τι, τοῦτο, etc.); but this constr. does not extend to persons. Arnold compares vii. 86, roos ἄνδραs προύθυμήθη...ὅστε ἀφεθήναι, 'he was anxious with regard to the mcn...that they should be set free'.

2. δοκοῦντα- 'held, accounted', imperf. part. δραστήprov- 'a man of energy and enterprise': ii. 63, τδ δραστήριον. 5. $\tau \acute{o} \tau \epsilon \gamma \acute{a} \rho$ —corresponding to this $\tau \epsilon$ we have $\epsilon_s \tau \epsilon$, line 11, these particles connecting the two main divisions of the sentence.

8. $\xi \nu \mu \beta a(\nu \epsilon i \nu \tau \epsilon \beta o \nu \lambda o \mu \ell \nu o i s \dots$ this answers to kal $\tau o \tilde{\nu}$ $\pi o \lambda \ell \mu o \nu \kappa, \tau, \lambda$. When they wanted to come to terms they had places to offer in exchange, and as long as they continued the war it did not press so heavily upon Peloponnesus' (Jowett).

9. Some inolograv—sc. $\xi v r i \beta \eta \sigma ar$ 'made peace', in 421 (v. 17). Krüger suggests $i \pi \delta \theta \eta \sigma ar$, but $\delta \pi \epsilon \rho$, 'which in fact', agrees better with the reading of the text. $ar \pi a \pi \delta \delta \sigma \sigma r r$ kal $a \pi \sigma \delta \sigma \chi \eta v = \text{exchange}$.

τά ἐκ Σικελίας—so iii. 102, μετά τὰ ἐκ τῆς Airωλίας:
 viii. 2, τὴν ἐκ Σικελίας κακοτραγίαν: all these passages refer to a disastrous withdrawal. ἀρετή—probably generosity and humanity, as in ch. 19, 15, rather than valour.

15. $\pi p \hat{\omega} \tau os$ —to be taken with $\ell \xi \epsilon \lambda \theta \hat{\omega} r$, as both rhythm and sense clearly show. Brasidas was 'the first of a series of Lacedaemonian generals who, in accordance with a new policy, were regularly sent to the dependencies of Athens either that they might raise revolt or that they might govern a town already revolted (ch. 132, 21). $\pi \rho \hat{\omega} ros$ contrasts Brasidas not with Pausanias, Salaethus, etc. but with Astyochus, and the Harmosts, who were afterwards so notorious' (Jowett). Classen takes $\pi \rho \hat{\omega} ros$ with $\ell \gamma \kappa a \tau \ell \lambda m \epsilon$, 'he was the first who left behind him an assured hope'. But what were the grounds of the 'assured hope' if other generals had come before Brasidas and not proved equally good ?

16. Sógas—' having won the name, proved himself'. $\xi\gamma$ kar $(\lambda i\pi\epsilon)$ in the minds of the allies, or in the districts which he visited.

 τότε δ' οὖν-δ' οὖν, like ceterum, is perpetually used to resume the narrative after a digression, frequently after a very short one : i. 3, ol δ' οὖν ὡς ἐκαστοι Ἐλληνες.

3. ποιούνται-i. 28, φίλους ποιείσθαι: 50 ξυμμάχους etc.

4. $\pi a \rho \delta \delta o u$ —the same word is used ch. 108, 5: so in iii. 92 the situation of Heraclea was considered $\tau \hat{\eta} s \dot{\epsilon} \pi i \Theta \rho \dot{\alpha} \kappa \eta s$ $\pi a \rho \delta \delta o u \chi \rho \eta \sigma (\mu \omega s \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\epsilon} \omega s.$ Part of the route at any rate was a 'passage along' the coast.

 φυλακήν πλέονα—' a closer watch'; they do not appear to have despatched any fresh troops as yet; see ch. 108, 37.

CHAPTER LXXXIII

7. τη έσβολη της Λύγκου-for gen. cf. ch. 1, 7. For the description of the 'pass into Lyncus' see Arnold. The pass crossed a chain of mountains, and descended by a gorge and stream: cf. ch. 127, 17.

8. $\lambda \delta \gamma \sigma s$ -with $\pi \sigma i \eta \sigma a_i$, line 11. kal $\gamma \delta \rho \tau i$ kal-we have a somewhat similar order infr. line 16: so ch. 5, 4: 54, 13. For the force of $\epsilon \pi \epsilon \kappa \eta \rho \nu \kappa \epsilon \delta \epsilon \sigma$ see note on ch. 27, 14.

12. μέσφ δικαστη ἐπιτρέπειν—' to entrust the matter to the mediation of Brasidas'. μέσος δικαστής is an arbitrator, μέσος implying interposition as well as impartiality; see Arnold. ἐπιτρέπω is regularly used without an object expressed of referring a question to arbitration: i. 28, $f\theta\epsilon\lambda o\nu \ r\phi \ \epsilon\nu \ \Delta\epsilon\lambda$ φοίς μαντείψ ἐπιτρέπειν: so Dem. passim.

14. $\mu \eta$ $i \pi \epsilon \xi \epsilon \lambda \epsilon i \nu$ —' not to remove from (lit. for) Perdiccas his grounds of apprehension'; i.e. not to make his position too secure. $i \pi \epsilon \xi a \rho \hat{\omega}$ means to remove secretly or gradually, or to remove to begin with (ch. 4, 15, note); hence to clear from one's path: Plat. Rep. 519 B, $i \pi \epsilon \xi a \epsilon \rho \epsilon i \nu$ robraves $\delta \epsilon \hat{\epsilon}$ robr robraveov $\epsilon l \mu \epsilon \lambda \lambda \epsilon$ a $\delta \xi \epsilon \omega$.

19. $\kappa_{0i}\nu_{\Pi}^{2}\mu\hat{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\sigma\nu$ —(1) 'in a more impartial spirit' (Poppo, Classen, etc.). The adjective is not unusual with this meaning, e.g. iii. 53, $\mu\eta$ où $\kappa_{0i}\nu_{I}a\pi\sigma\beta\eta$ re, 'lest you should not prove impartial judges'. No instance is however given of this sense of the adverb. Arnold and Krüger therefore take it to mean (2) that Brasidas claimed 'a joint voice' in dealing with Arrhibaeus; whereas Perdiccas insisted that he was merely engaged to act as his auxiliary.

20. $\eta \xi(\omega \omega)$ felt himself entitled'. 'Perdiccas had promised to make his neighbours allies of the Lacedaemonians. This gave Brasidas a right to interfere. For, he would argue, you are not making an ally but an enemy of Arrhibaeus' (Jowett).

21. οὕτε—with τε line 23. καθαιρέτην—'to overthrow'; a common sense of καθαιρώ. The subst. is not found elsewhere in Attic Greek: it is used by Dio Cassius.

25. $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \,\delta\iota\alpha\phi\rho\rho\hat{a}s$ —probably 'after a quarrel', as in ch. 125, 6: v. 42, $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \,\delta\iota\alpha\phi\rho\rho\hat{a}s\,\pi\epsilon\rho l\,a\dot{v}ro\hat{o}$. Arnold however considers this to be one of the many adverbial expressions with $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa$, equivalent to 'in decided opposition to Perdiceas'. 29. $d\delta \kappa \epsilon i \sigma \theta a \iota$ —note the use of the present, lit. 'to be the victim of a wrong': the pres. of $d\delta \kappa \omega$ 'to be a wrong doer' is used in the same way as $\kappa \kappa \omega$, 'to be victorious', $\phi \epsilon \omega \gamma \omega$, 'to be in exile', etc.

The short account here given shows the broad and generous spirit of Brasidas, as well as the arrogance and fickleness of Perdiccas, who was always ready to quarrel with his allies.

CHAPTER LXXXIV

2. "Akavêov—Acanthus was situated on the Strymonian gulf, a short distance to the north of the point where the canal of Xerxes cut the peninsula of Athos. $\tau i p' A x \delta p(\omega x d \pi \omega \kappa t a \omega)$ —founded in the middle of the seventh century. The def. article probably means 'the (well-known) colony', as in ch. 67, 4, or it may be used to distinguish the town from others of the same name. Same, Stageirus, and Argilus were Andrian colonies in the same district. Andros itself had been colonized from Eretria.

 τρυγήτου—'vintage'; it was now late in the summer.
 τοῦ καρποῦ, line 7, therefore means the grapes, though by itself it more naturally denotes corn: cf. iii. 15, ἐν καρποῦ ξυγκομιδỹ. Note in these passages the collective use of καρπός, like κέραμος ch. 48, 13.

7. τοῦ καρποῦ τὸ δέος—a very uncommon construction for $\pi\epsilon\rho l$ τοῦ, see ch. 88, 5: δέος, like φόβος, usually takes gen. of the thing feared.

9. akoúvavras β ouλεύσασθαι—'to hear him before deciding': for plur. cf. 7, 34, $\delta \pi \epsilon j \delta s... \beta \epsilon \beta 0 \eta \theta \eta \kappa \delta \tau \epsilon s$, etc.: we should expect akoúvarres, but the acc. may be explained as referring to both parties and not only to the $\pi \lambda \eta \theta o s$: cf. ch. 69, 24.

10. καταστάς έπι τὸ πληθος—' presenting himself before the popular assembly': cf. ch. 97, 10.

ib. oild above of a bad speaker either', besides his other merits; oidé 'also not' as in ch. 48, 11. $\omega_5 \Lambda a\kappa\epsilon\delta a\mu \delta - \nu \omega_5$. 'for a Lacedaemonian'; i.e. taking that into account. This is (a) a limiting use of ω_5 , showing that the main statement is modified by reference to the condition which ω_5 introduces: Soph. O. C. 20, $\mu a\kappa\rho\delta\nu$ $\gamma\delta\rho$ $\omega_5 \gamma\epsilon\rho\rho\sigma\tau \tau$ $\pi\rhoo\delta\sigma\tau \Lambda\eta_5$ $\delta\delta\delta\nu$, 'you have come a long way (not absolutely, but) for an old man': so vi. 20, $\omega_5 \epsilon' \mu \mu \alpha' r \eta \omega_0$: Hdt, uses $\omega_5 \epsilon' \rho_a \mu$ and ω_5 άν είναι in the same way, see Lidd. and Scott. So in Lat., Cic. de Sen. 4. 12, multae, ut in homine Romano, literae : Liv. xxxii. 33, vir, ut inter Actolos, facundus.

This usage must not be confused with its converse (b) $\dot{\omega}s$ in the sense of 'as being', which introduces a general statement in accordance with a particular fact stated; Eur. Ion, 1190, $\dot{\delta}$ $\delta \dot{\epsilon}$, $\dot{\omega}s \ \dot{\epsilon}v \ i\epsilon\rho\hat{\varphi} \ \tau\rho a\phi\epsilon is$: so Cic. Tusc. i. 8. 15, Epicharmi, acuti nec insuli hominis, ut Siculi; intelligence and wit being characteristic of the Sicilian Greeks.

Both (a) and (b) come under a general head, the comparison of a particular statement with a general one introduced by $\dot{\omega s}$ or ut. In most instances the context shows to which division a passage should be assigned, but there is at times a doubt: thus Soph. O. T. 1078, $\phi\rho\sigma\iota\hat{\epsilon}$ $\gamma\dot{\alpha}\rho$ $\dot{\omega s}$ $\gamma\sigma\nu\dot{\eta}$ $\mu\dot{\epsilon}\gamma\alpha$, probably belongs to (b), 'she is proud, like a woman'; but possibly to (a), 'her thoughts are lofty for a woman': ib. 1118, $\pi\sigma\tau\dot{\sigma}s$ $\dot{\omega s}$ $\nu\rho\mu\epsilon\dot{\omega s}$, probably comes under (a), 'loyal, for a herdsman', i.e. in such things as a herdsman is capable of: see also cl. 14, 5.

Rhetorical speaking was not cultivated at Sparta, but rather a terse and pregnant form of expression; see note on ch. 17, 6: cf. i. 84, and Plat. Protag. 342 E. The speech here attributed to Brasidas is both forcible and politic: as Grote observes, it is especially interesting as a manifesto of the principles professed by Sparta.

CHAPTER LXXXV

1. ή μèν ἕκπεμψις—cf. i. 73, ή μèν πρέσβευσις...έγένετο. μέν finds its apodosis in line 6, or possibly in line 12, εl δὲ χρόν φ κ.τ.λ. in the latter case being parenthetical.

 την alτίαν—cf. Shilleto on i. 23, al ές τὸ φανερὸν λεγόμεναι alτίαι, which he renders 'the openly alleged recriminatory charges', alτία being not merely a cause, but a ground of complaint put forward as a cause: cf. ch. 86, 21, ἐγκλήμασι. ἐπαληθεύουτα—so viii. 52, τὸν λόγον ἐπηλήθευσεν.

 προείπομεν—ii. 8 (of the Lacedaemonians), προειπόντων δτι τὴν Ἐλλαδα ἐλευθεροῦσιν.

6. $\epsilon \pi \eta \lambda \theta_{0} \mu \epsilon \nu$ —'came to', not necessarily in a hostile sense: cf. $\epsilon \pi l \omega$, line 22.

7. $d\pi \delta$ —'arising from, grounded on'. \dot{y} —'in accordance with which, by which'.

9. $\mu\eta\delta\epsilon$ is $\mu\epsilon\mu\phi\theta\hat{\gamma}$ —for the mood and tense used in prohibitions, see Goodwin, § 86.

ότε παρέσχεν—impers. 'when a chance offered': i.

12. $\tau_{\Pi}^{2} d\pi \sigma \kappa \lambda_{\Pi}^{2} \sigma \epsilon_{1}$ — 'I wonder at', dat. with $\theta avu a_{I}^{2} \omega$ expressing the ground or cause, a very rare construction: in vii. 63, there is a dat. with the passive $i\theta avu a_{I}^{2} \sigma \theta \epsilon$, 'you were admired by reason of', but it is not an analogous instance, though so cited by editors. We have a better illustration in iii. 97, $\tau_{\Pi}^{2} \tau_{I}^{2} \chi_{I}^{2} \delta h \pi l \sigma a$. The gen. µou corresponds to the acc. with the verb = 'the exclusion of me from your gates': cf. vi. 101, a drows $d\pi \sigma \kappa \lambda_{I}^{2} \sigma \sigma \theta a$.

14. olóµevoí $\tau\epsilon$ —the sentence presents two irregularities of construction with $\tau\epsilon$. The first $\tau\epsilon$ and κal couple $\pi a\rho\delta$ §µµáχους $\tilde{\eta}\xi\epsilon\iota\nu$ and βουλοµένοις $\delta \tau \sigma \sigma \partial a_{\iota}$, 'we thought that you were our allies in feeling, and would welcome us when we came'. The second $\tau\epsilon$ connects $\kappa(\nu\delta\nu\nu\nu\nu\nu \, d\nu\epsilon\rho\rho[\psi aµe\nu$ with $\pi a\nu$ $\tau \partial \pi \rho \delta \partial \nu \mu o\nu$, the sense being 'we ran the risk of marching into Thrace, and are now showing all zeal on your behalf'. Sud $\tau \hat{\eta}$ s $d\lambda \Delta \sigma \rho (as l \delta \nu \tau es is explanatory of <math>\kappa l \nu \delta \nu \nu \sigma \nu$: after this the participial construction is continued and $\pi a\rho x \delta \mu e \nu \sigma$ written instead of $\pi a\rho e x \delta \mu e \theta a$. This explanation gives the most forcible sense, but it is of course a possible view that $\tau\epsilon$ and κal simply connect the two participles. $\tau\epsilon$ is bracketed by Poppo and Krüger and omitted by Classen.

 βουλομένοις έσεσθαι—se. our coming: for dat. cf. ch. 28, 27.

16. $dvepp(\psia\muev-ch. 95, 6: in v. 103 without an acc. <math>\tau o is$ $is d\pi av \tau \delta \psi \pi d \rho \chi o v d \mu a \rho \rho \pi \tau o \delta \sigma i$, 'those who stake their all on the cast': this is a metaphor from dice. In iii. 39, $a \psi \tau \eta$ $\tau o \psi s$ $\kappa v \delta \psi v \rho v s d \mu a \phi \ell \rho e_i$, is 'takes on herself the risks': and this may be the meaning of Aesch. Sept. 1028, $\kappa d \nu \delta \kappa i v \delta v v o \sigma \beta a \lambda \omega$. For pres. form $\beta \iota \pi \tau \ell \omega$ see Lid. and Scott.

18. $\pi \alpha \rho e_{\chi} \phi \mu e_{\nu} o_{\iota}$ - 'showing', on our part: see note on ch. 64, 2: cf. infr. line 24.

19. $iv v \hat{\omega} \xi \chi ere - v purpose, intend': ch. 8, 24. <math>\delta \epsilon u \delta v \tilde{\alpha} v \epsilon \eta$ -less direct than the ind.; the speaker hopes for better things.

21. où µόνον öτι—so Plat. Symp. 179 B, où µόνον öτι ἀνδρες $d\lambda\lambda \alpha \alpha \gamma vraîκες:$ in ii. 97 we have où χ öτι... $d\lambda\lambda'$ où $\delta \ell$. où χ öτωs... $d\lambda\lambda \dot{\alpha}$ is far more common. $\ell \pi \ell \omega$ does not here imply hostile approach, and we might expect the accusative rather than the dative: cf. v. 110, öσους µη Βρασίδας $\ell \pi \eta \lambda \theta \epsilon r_{\mu}$ 'if Brasidas failed to visit any'. 22. Surgrepts ποιούμενοι—' taking it ill', i.e. refusing to listen to us: cf. Surgrepalro: neither the adj. nor the verb is used elsewhere by Thucydides. In the next clause with ϵl , Brasidas quotes the objection which would be urged, 'that you refused to receive me'; cf. ch. 122, 21.

24. παρεχομένους-see ch. 64, 2.

25. $\tau \eta \nu \ a l\tau (a\nu - probably used with the same force as in line 3, the sense being 'I shall not be able to satisfy men that I am come, as I profess, to deliver them from Athens'. Others take it 'I shall not be able to give a credible reason for your rejection of me'. <math>\pi \iota \sigma \tau \eta \nu$ is of course pred. 'so as to gain belief'. $d\lambda\lambda' \eta' -$ either (1) 'but (I shall be thought) either etc.', where we must supply the sense from the context, or perhaps take $atr(a\nu \ \xi \omega \ again in a \ different \ connexion \ and meaning='I shall incur the imputation': or (2) after neg. <math>a\lambda\lambda' \eta'$ taken together='except', explaining $atr(a\nu, i.e. this will seem the only possible reason. This latter view necessitates taking <math>atr(a\nu \ in the second \ and less forcible of the two senses given above, and also does away with the parallelism <math>\eta' \ \epsilon \pi \iota \phi \epsilon \rho \epsilon u \eta \dots d \mu \delta \sigma t$

26. άδικον—'no true freedom'; this point is discussed in the following chapter. $\ell \pi \iota \phi \delta \rho \epsilon \iota v$ —lit. to bring to or upon, more than to proffer: so ch. 87, 10: iii. 56, in a bad sense, δουλείαν $\ell \pi \ell \phi \rho \rho e v$ ό βάρβαρος.

28. τα πρòs 'Aθηναίουs-acc. of ref. as in ch. 108, 7.

29. kalrou—Brasidas first rebuts the imputation of weakness. The Athenians had already refused to encounter him at Nisaea, and they could only send an inferior force now.

ib. $\sigma\tau\rho\alpha\tau\iota_n^2 \gamma\epsilon\tau_n^2\delta'$ —Poppo observes on the absence of the article with $\tau_n^2\delta\epsilon$ that it gives the pronoun an adverbial force, ='I have here an army which the Athenians refused to face': so ii. 74, $\epsilon\pi l \gamma \eta \nu \tau \eta \nu \delta\epsilon \eta \lambda \delta \rho \mu \epsilon \nu$, $\epsilon \nu \eta$, 'we now invade a land in which', etc. This statement, as well as the words $\pi\lambda \epsilon \rho \epsilon \delta \nu \tau \epsilon$ s, is untrue. Besides his own troops Brasidas had a large force of allies before Nisaea, and was superior in numbers to the Athenians; see note on ch. 73, 24.

31. $\overleftarrow{\omega}\sigma\tau\epsilon \ o\nu\kappa \ \epsilon k\kappa \delta s$ —instead of saying that the Athenians would certainly not attack Brasidas with an inferior force such as they could send by sea, the speaker says that such a force would not be equal to the army at Nisaea, leaving the hearers to draw the conclusion. ib. $\nu\eta$ try—adj. ii. 24, $\eta\nu$ $r\eta$ try $\sigma\tau\rho a\tau\hat{\varphi}$ $\epsilon\pi(\pi\lambda\epsilon\omega\sigma)$. Here one manuscript has $\sigma\tau\rho a\tau\hat{\varphi}$ before $a\dot{v}\tau o\dot{v}s$, which would give an identical construction, dat. of the force employed. If we do not adopt the transposition, $\sigma\tau\rho a\tau\hat{\varphi}$ or the like must be understood from what follows. Arnold proposes to omit the words $\tau\hat{\varphi}$ ϵr Nisola. So Rutherford, who reads $r\eta(\tau\eta\nu...\sigma\tau\rho a\tau\dot{v})$ isomaly.

CHAPTER LXXXVI

3. καταλαβών—i. 9, δρκοις κατειλημμένους: cf. ch. 19, 13. 'Not because Brasidas himself distrusted the Lacedaemonian magistrates as Grote supposes (vol. iv. ch. 52 fin.), but as a security to which he could appeal when addressing the allics' (Jowett). For τά τέλη see ch. 15, 3.

5. προσαγάγωμαι—'bring over, win to my side': ii. 30, προσηγάγοντο άνευ μάχης: vi. 94, προσαγαγόμενοι όμολογία : sometimes implying force 'reduce', i. 99, προσάγεσθαι rois άφισταμένους: so iii. 91. In these words Brasidas seems to hint at the Athenian practice of treating their so-called allies as subjects.

9. $\xi \nu \mu \mu \alpha \chi \eta \sigma \sigma \nu \tau \epsilon s$ —instead of $\xi \nu \mu \mu \alpha \chi \eta \sigma \omega \nu$, the plural being used after the intervening $t\nu' \xi \chi \omega \mu \epsilon \nu$.

10. ovr avrós—'Brasidas opposes one aspect of himself, i.e. his personal honesty, to another aspect not equally personal, his ability to help the Acanthians. My personal character ought not to be suspected by you, nor my power to assist you undervalued' (Jowett). Note the force of the aor. in $\theta \alpha \rho \sigma \eta \sigma \alpha \tau \sigma a$, 'you must take courage'.

12. καl et τ_{15} —a third point, Brasidas is not a partizan. For apa cf. ch. 8, 24. μή τισι προσθώ—'to this or that faction'; the people might not unnaturally fear that Brasidas would establish an oligarchy in the interests of Sparta. προστίθημι, 'to make over': iii. 92, 'Αθηναίοις προσθείναι σφάς αὐτούς, 'to join, surrender'.

15. $d\sigma a \phi \eta \dots \epsilon l$ —'doubtful, (as it would be) if' etc.; the freedom would be $d\sigma a \phi \eta s$ on the supposition which ϵl introduces. 'I am not minded to offer you a dim and doubtful liberty by making the many the slaves of the few, or the few of the many' (Arnold).

Analogous instances are not uncommon, e.g. iii. 11, μαρτυρίψ έχρῶντο μὴ αν τούς γε Ισοψήφους άκοντας, εἰ μή τι ἡδίκουν οἰς ἐπήεσαν ξυστρατεύειν: Dem. Con. 1266, οὐδέποτ' ἀν τὰ ψευδῆ μαρτυρεῖν ἡθέλησαν, εἰ μὴ ταῦθ' ἐώρων. There is there. fore no need to adopt the conjecture oùô' $a\nu \sigma a\phi \hat{\eta}$, or Classen's oùô' $a\sigma \pi a\sigma \tau \eta \nu$, 'welcome'.

16. $vo\mu l_{\lambda}^{\prime} \omega$ —according to Arnold = $vo\mu l_{\lambda}^{\prime} \omega \chi \rho \hat{\eta} v a \iota$, but there is no need for this view here; 'nor do I think the freedom I proffer you a vague one' gives an excellent sense.

ib. $\tau \delta \pi \delta \tau \rho \iota \sigma \nu \pi \alpha \rho \epsilon l s - \epsilon'$ disregarding (your) hereditary usage' or 'institutions'; not 'our usage', a statement which would be not only untrue, but incredible. $\pi \alpha \rho l \eta \mu$ is not uncommon in the sense of passing over or omitting: if Soph. O. T. 688, $\tau \circ \iota \mu \delta \nu \pi \alpha \rho \epsilon \ell s$, is rightly rendered 'setting aside all consideration for me', it gives an exact parallel: cf. Dem. Meid. 548, $\mu \eta \delta \mu \eta \pi \alpha \rho \epsilon \theta \eta \nu \alpha$, 'to be let go, left in peace'.

ib. $\tau \delta \pi \lambda \delta \nu$ —lit. 'the more numerous element', collective neuter. The 'many' and the 'few' have of course a political meaning.

18. χαλεπωτέρα—sc. such an ελευθερία: Krüger reads χαλεπώτερα, sc. such a state of things: for neut. plur. cf. 1, 7, πλωιμωτέρων δντων: so ch. 108, 10.

19. dvτl...dvτl—in two different senses 'in return for'... 'instead of', both derived from the original notion of setting one thing over against another.

21. ols ἐγκλήμασι—'the charges with which', i.e. on the ground of which; see the beginning of the speech.

23. $\dot{\upsilon}\pi\sigma\delta\epsilon\ell\xi as$ —the compound probably means starting with a display of virtue (ch. 4, 15 note), i.e. proclaiming a high-minded and generous policy. This the Lacedaemonians did; cf. i. 69, where the Corinthians say that of Sparta, $\tau\dot{\eta}\nu$ $\dot{a}\xi l\omega\sigma\nu \tau\dot{\eta}s \dot{a}\rho\epsilon\tau\dot{\eta}s \dot{s}s \dot{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\nu\theta\epsilon\rho\omega\nu \tau\dot{\eta}v$ 'EAAdda $\phi\epsilon\rho\epsilon\tau a.$ On the other hand the Athenians professed a cynical contempt for all principles but the right of the strongest; see i. 76.

κατακτώμενοι—corresponds alliteratively to καταπολεμοῦμεν: the sense is, this is all that we should secure for ourselves.

25. το μέν γάρ—the neuters denote the two principles. δικαιώσει—'plea, justification'. $\ell \pi \ell \rho \chi \epsilon \tau a_1$ - 'makes its attack', or encroachment; a common meaning of $\ell \pi t$ in composition.

27. περιωπήν—'circumspection': elsewhere used in a literal sense, chiefly in Homer, e.g. Od. x. 146, ἀνήιον ἐς περιωπήν, 'I went up to (a place commanding) a view round'.

CHAPTER LXXXVII

3. $\vec{\eta}$ cls—'than you get from men whose deeds looked at in the light of their words necessitate a conviction that their interests really correspond to their professions'. σ s is eth. dat.='from those in whose case'. $dva\theta\rho\omega$ —a rare word, Eur. Hec. 808, and Plat. For $\delta\sigma\kappa\eta\sigma \tau v$ cf. ii. 84, $\delta\sigma\kappa\eta\sigma\tau \tau a\rho\epsilon$ - $\chi\sigma\tau es$, with fut. inf. 'causing an expectation': also ch. 55, 19.

6. προϊσχομένου—' putting forward' (mid. = on onc's own part): so i. 26, ξυγγένειαν προϊσχόμενοι. It therefore seems strictly to denote 'professions' rather than 'offers', which would be expressed by παρεχομένου. One meaning would however naturally pass into the other.

7. διωθείσθαι—'to reject': so ch. 108, 27: lit. ii. 84, τοῖς κοντοῖς διωθοῦντο, of keeping ships from collision.

8. $i\mu$ iv—the best manuscripts here read $i\mu$ iv, but it is not possible to explain it satisfactorily, either as referring to the Lacedaemonians or as a mixture of direct and indirect expression. The two pronouns are often confused by copyists.

9. φαίνεσθαι—dependent on φήσετε, or the general sense of the passage. και δυνατόν...και ἐπιφέρειν—so ch. 80, 17. προσαναγκάζειν—' to force into' acceptance of such freedom: iii. 61, ἐπειδὴ προσημαγκάζοντο: v. 42, τοὺς μὴ δεχομένους τὰς σπονδάς προσαμαγκάζειν.

μάρτυρας—cf. ii. 74, where Archidamus solemnly appeals to the gods and heroes of Platacae, when he is about to attack the city: also ii. 71, where Arnold has an interesting note on the local and particular powers and sympathies which the Greeks attributed to gods and heroes.

14. $\xi \tau_1$ after this'; when a fair appeal has been rejected, force is no longer (our $\xi \tau_1$) a violation of justice.

ib. $\pi po\sigma(ival \delta \ell - \pi p \delta \sigma(i\mu) = to be added': not only is Brasidas not acting unjustly, but also he is obliged to act as be does. <math>\tau_{i}$, 'in a measure', may be considered either as determinant acc. (Classen) or as a predicate in agreement with $\tau \delta c \delta \lambda \sigma \gamma o r$. In either case it is a 'litotes' which really strengthens the sense, so $\mu \ell \rho o \tau_{i}$, $\mu \alpha \lambda \delta \sigma \tau_{i}$, etc.

15. καιὰ δύο ἀνάγκας—' for two cogent reasons': the first reason is the good of Sparta, expressed by gen. τῶν μèν Δακέδαιμονίων, dependent on ἀνάγκη, 'the necessity of (i.e. imposed by) the Lacedaemonians': the second reason is the general interest expressed by a change of construction oi $\delta t^* Ελληνες$ ίνα κ.τ.λ 16. τῶ ὑμετέρω εὕνω—somewhat ironical in sense: in constr. dat. of the instrument or cause; vi. 16, τῶ ἐμῶ διαπρεπεῖ. τοῖς χρήμασι is a second dat. of the nearer instrument or cause.

18. $\phi e \rho o \mu \ell v o i s$ —Classen and Poppo explain the position of the parter, in accordance with the principle noted on ch. 5, 10. Surely however the words $\phi e \rho o \mu \ell v o s$ may 'Admalovs have a most forcible predicative sense; 'that the Lacedaemonians may not be injured by Athens receiving your revenues', lit. 'by your revenues being paid to the Athenians': cf. iii. 20, $\tau \phi$ $d \tau \phi$ $d \pi \iota h i h \sigma v \tau$ $\ell \pi \iota \ell \sigma v \sigma$, they suffered from failure of the corn. $\phi \ell \rho \omega$ is the regular word for payment of tribute to a ruling state.

20. oi ydp $\delta \eta$ eixó $\tau \omega s$ —Arnold has an excellent note on the connexion of thought in this passage. Brasidas urges that his second motive—the deliverance of Greece—is what actuates him most of all. And it is this, and no selfish ambition of Sparta, which justifies him in refusing to tolerate the neutrality of Acanthus.

The natural meaning of $\tau \alpha \delta \epsilon$ is 'what we are now doing': Classen therefore follows Dobree in writing $\epsilon m \rho \Delta \sigma \sigma \sigma \mu \epsilon \nu$ for $\pi \rho \Delta \sigma \sigma \sigma \iota \mu \epsilon \nu$, giving the sense 'otherwise we should not be now acting with good reason' (but we are) This would be an instance of unfulfilled condition, see Goodwin, § 49. 2.

The optative however presents no difficulty if we give $\tau d\delta \epsilon$ a more general sense, sc. 'our coercion of neutrals (in any supposed case) would not be right': this agrees with the general character ($\tau o\delta s \ \mu \eta \ \beta o \nu \lambda o \mu \epsilon \nu o v o s$) of the rest of the sentence, and is better than to take $\tau d\delta \epsilon \ as = \tau \delta \ \delta \eta o \delta \nu \ \tau \eta \nu \ \gamma \eta \nu$, or $\tau \delta \ \epsilon \omega \lambda \delta \epsilon \sigma \delta a \tau \sigma \delta^*$ "Elliptication of the sen-

26. περιδοιμεν—sc. so to oppose it. πρός ταῦτα—cf. i. 71, πρὸς τάδε βουλεύεσθε εἶ κ.τ.λ. the concluding words of the speech made by the Corinthians at Sparta.

28. ἀρξαι πρῶτοι—so ii. 36, ἀρξομαι πρῶτον: ii. 68, ἡρξατο πρῶτον: v. 71, ἡγεῖται τῆς αἰτίας, 'begins the cause'. καταθἰσθαι—'to secure', lit. 'to lay up for yoursclves': ch. 20, 9. For the jingle ἀίδιον...ίδια see ch. 20, 5.

29. καl αὐτοί—this corresponds to τοῖς τε Ἐλλησιν. τὸ κάλλιστον ὄνομα, as Jowett suggests, possibly means the title of free; otherwise how does the sense differ from ἀtδιον δόξων καταθέσθαι? For constr. cf. vi. 89, ἐμοὶ δὲ ἀτιμίαν περιέθετε.

CHAPTER LXXXVIII (B.C. 424)

CHAPTER LXXXVIII

2. $t \pi' d\mu \phi \delta \tau \epsilon \rho a$ —ch. 53, 7. κρύφα—by ballot, κρύβδην 18 more common in this sense. For the force of the compound διαψηφίσασθαι see note on ch. 74, 17, ψηφον φανεράν διενεγκείν. At Acanthus secret voting permitted freedom of choice.

4. ἐπαγωγά—ν. 85, ἐπαγωγὰ καὶ ἀνελεγκτά: vi. 8, ἐπαγωγὰ καὶ οὐκ ἀληθῆ. οἱ πλείους—partial apposition; we may render 'by a majority'.

6. πιστώσαντες—Lid. and Scott give no other instance of the active. The middle occurs Soph. O. C. 650, $\dot{\psi}\phi'\delta\rho\kappa\sigma\nu\sigma\epsilon\pi\sigma$ rώσομαι, 'I will bind you to myself': more usually in a reflexivesense, as Hom. Il. vi. 233, πιστώσαντο, they exchanged mutualpledges. The pass.='to be pledged', Hom. Od. xv. 436, δρκψ $πιστωθήραι: Eur. Iph. A. 66, <math>\dot{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\dot{\epsilon}\delta'\dot{\epsilon}\pi\kappa\sigma\pi\delta\eta\sigma\sigma\alphar$.

7. τὰ τέλη—see note on ch. 15, 2: ἀμόσαντα agrees with τὰ τέλη and not with αὐτόν, as seems plain from ch. 86, 3; the position of αὐτόν however is awkward. οὕτω—'on these terms', or 'after this'; iii. 96, τάλλα καταστρεψάμενος οὕτως...στρατεῦσα.

Grote points out (vol. iv. ch. 53) that it is clear that the Acaathians had no great reason to complain of the rule of Athens. They did not welcome Brasidas as a deliverer, but only joined him under compulsion. So in the other towns of Thrace, while a party was in favour of Sparta, the main bulk of the people seem to have been well satisfied to be subject allies of Athens. It follows that the empire of the Athenians could not have been so harsh and burdensome as it was often represented.

With regard to the scrrender of Acanthus, Grote remarks that 'Grecian political r.sson and morality' appear to unusual advantage in the free discussion, the care to protect individual independence of judgment, and the established respect to the vote of the majority, which the citizens observed. It would be more difficult to praise the reason and morality of the decision itself, which is rather an instance of the political untrustworthiness of a democracy, and its readiness to adopt any change however momentous. The Acanthians revolted from Athens, not because they were dissatisfied or oppressed, but 'because Brasidas said what was attractive, and from fear for their fruit'.

CHAPTER LXXXIX

The account of the Boeotian plot is now resumed from chs. 76 and 77; many of the words and phrases there used being repeated in this chapter.

ἐνεδίδοτο—'was to be given up', according to arrangement: cf. ch. 76, 15, ἐνεδίδοσαν. For the meaning and construction of ἀπαντήσαι cf. ch. 77, 16.

7. $\delta_{ia\mu a \rho \tau (as \tau \hat{\omega} v \dot{\eta} \mu \epsilon \rho \hat{\omega} v - this might easily arise as each state had its own calendar: cf. ch. 119, 3. is äs—the prep. denotes an appointment made for some future day: Plat. IIip. ma. 286 B. <math>\mu \epsilon \lambda \lambda \omega \epsilon^{2} \epsilon n \delta \epsilon \epsilon v \epsilon v s \tau \rho (\tau \eta v \dot{\eta} \mu \epsilon \rho a v: Cic. Ep. Att. xvi. 16, admonuit ut pecunian ad diem solverent.$

15. $\pi \alpha \rho \epsilon \lambda \dot{\upsilon} \pi \epsilon_{-}$ of harassing by a simultaneous attack; as we say 'effecting a diversion': cf. ch. 80, 4, $\epsilon l \, d \pi \iota \pi \alpha \rho \alpha \lambda \upsilon \pi \sigma \delta \epsilon_{-}$. $\pi \rho \kappa \alpha \pi \alpha \lambda \alpha \mu \beta \dot{\alpha} \nu \sigma \tau \alpha \iota_{-}$ 'is secured, or occupied beforehand': ch. 1, 4.

CHAPTER XC

3. TO'S $\mu\epsilon\tauoi\kappaovs$ —the $\mu\ell\tauoi\kappaoi$ are mentioned as serving on board the Athenian fleets, i. 143; iii. 16, etc. Some of them too were heavy-armed men, ii. 13, kal $\mu\epsilon\tauoi\kappa\omega \sigma\sigmaoi \sigma\pi\lambda rai \eta\sigma ar$. It appears from i. 121 and 143 that the navy was partly manned by hired $\xi\ell\nuoi$: but Classen observes that no other instance is recorded of impressing 'all the foreigners in Athens' into military service.

4. $5\sigma\tau\epsilon\rhoos$ —not simply the converse of $\pi\rho\delta\tau\epsilon\rhoo\nu$, ch. 89, 8, but implying that Hippocrates came too late to help, as the plot was discovered.

7. $\tau \delta$ is $\rho \delta \nu \tau \sigma \delta$ 'A $\pi \delta \lambda \lambda \omega \nu \sigma s$ —with regard to these words, which have somewhat the appearance of an explanatory note which has crept into the text, Poppo points out that Thue. often repeats a description which he has already given (ch. 76, 22), and often separates an appositional construction by intervening words, e.g. ii. 12, $M \epsilon \lambda \eta \sigma i \pi \pi \sigma \nu \pi \rho \omega \tau \sigma \tau \epsilon \lambda \lambda \epsilon i \ \epsilon s \tau \Delta s$ 'A $\theta \eta \nu a \tau \delta \nu \Delta i a \kappa \rho i \tau \sigma \nu$.

8. $\tau \delta$ is $\rho \delta \nu$ kal $\tau \delta \nu$ vec ν -so ν . 18, $\tau \delta$ δ' is $\rho \delta \nu$ kal $\tau \delta \nu$ rec ν $\tau \delta \nu$ $\delta \epsilon \lambda \phi \sigma \delta s$: cf. Hdt. vi. 19. When the words are thus distinguished, rec δs denotes the actual temple or shrine; while $\epsilon \rho \delta \nu$ is a more general term, which might be applied for example to all the precincts and surroundings of a convent, or of the colleges in Oxford and Cambridge. 9. $d\nu\ell\beta\alpha\lambda\lambda\nu\nu\ldots\pi\alpha\rho\alpha\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\pi\eta'\gamma\nu\nu\nu\tau\epsilons$ —'a rampart was made, consisting chiefly of the earth thrown up from the ditch, with a palisade set along it; but they threw in besides other materials, such as brushwood obtained from the vines which grew round the temple, and stones and bricks procured by pulling down the adjacent houses. That the vines were used in building the wall appears from ch. 100, 16, and their use appears to have been to form a sort of wattling to keep the earth together; as at Plataeae the clay for the besiegers' mound was rammed into flat cases or frames of reeds ($\ell r \pi\alpha\rho\sigma\sigma$; $\kappa\alpha\lambda d\mu ou \ell re(\lambda\lambda\sigma\tau\epsilons)$, and as the earth was enclosed besides in a wooden frame, $\delta\pi\omega s \mu\eta$ $\deltaia \chi \ell or c \ell \pi t \sigma où \tau \delta \chi \omega \mu_a$, ii. 75, 76' (Arnold).

ið. ἀνέβαλλον—rare in this lit. sense: Xen. An. v. 2. 5, τάφρος ην εύρεῖα ἀναβεβλημένη και σκόλοπες ἐπὶ τῆς ἀναβολῆς. Comparing ii. 76 we see that χοῦς is the material of which a χῶμα or mound was made: cf. Hdt. vii. 23, παρεδίδοσαν τὸν ἀcl ἔζορυσσόμενον χοῦν.

 τῷ κεράμφ.

11. $\kappa \acute{o}\pi \tau \circ \tau \star a \theta a_1 \rho \circ \acute{v} \tau \cdot s$ —imperfect, corresponding to the verbs: cf. ch. 48, 18, where we have the same tense and the same participial use. We should say 'they threw in vine-wood cut down from the precincts of the temple, and stones taken from the houses around'. $\circ t \kappa \acute{o} \pi \cdot \delta a$ —'home-steads'; the word means either the site of a house, or the site with its buildings.

14. ή καιρός ήν-ch. 54, 25, ου καιρός είη. ύπηρχεν-ch. 4, 15. στσά-a cloister or colonnade.

17. τρίτη ώς = εξ ου, Lat. ut. Poppo compares i. 6, ού πολύς χρόνος έπειδή: i. 13, έτη τριακόσια...δτε.

19. to $\mu \lambda \nu$ στρατόπεδον—cor. to $I\pi\pi\sigma\sigma\kappa\rho d\tau\eta s$ δέ. In the morning of the fifth day the works were nearly finished. The main body of the Athenians accordingly started for Attica, and while the heavy armed men took up a position near Delium, the light troops mostly (ol $\pi\lambda\epsilon i\sigma\sigma a$) continued their march. Hippocrates himself had not yet left the fortress. The imperfects $\eta\sigma\chi_a$ or and $\kappa a \delta i\sigma \tau a \tau a$ leave the narrative at this point, and the writer turns to the movements of the Boeotians.

24. $\tau \dot{\alpha} \pi \epsilon \rho (- \cdot what belonged to'. The <math>\pi \rho \sigma \tau \epsilon (\chi \iota \sigma \mu a \text{ or } \circ \sigma \tau \epsilon)$ ontwork' is apparently the rampart and ditch before described.

CHAPTER XCI

1. ξυνελέγοντο-the imperfect refers to the whole time that the Athenians had been in Boeotia. We must render 'had been gathering together'.

7. μάλιστα—' about', here of approximate situation, more commonly of number or time: the lit. meaning is that a thing is 'most nearly' as stated. $r\eta s' \Omega \rho \omega \pi los -$ the district of Oropus, a frequent ground of dispute, was at this time subject to Athens: ii. 23, νέμονται 'Ωρώπιοι' Αθηναίων ὑπήκοοι.

11. τὴν μάχην ποιῆσαι—to bring on, or order: ii. 86, στρατηγοί βουλόμενοι τὴν μάχην ποιῆσαι: 'activum de ducibus ponitur, qui auctores sunt ut pugna fiat' (Poppo).

13. $5\pi\omega_5 \mu\dot{\eta} d\theta\rho\delta \omega$ —Arnold points out that this illustrates the practice of the Greek soldiers attending the speeches of their general without their arms; see notes on ch. 44, 6 and 74, 13. In iii. 1 etc., $\tau \dot{a} \delta \pi \lambda a$ means the camp or place of arms, and this may possibly be the meaning here.

CHAPTER XCII

Speech of Pagondas. It is right as a general principle to attack an invader at once, wherever we encounter him.

1. μηδ' ἐς ἐπίνοιαν—' none of us ought even to have conceived the iden'; τινὰ ἡμῶν is the subject of ἐλθεῖν : cf. iii. 46, ὅπως μηδ' ἐς ἐπίνοιαν τούτου ἴωσι. διὰ μάχης ἐλθεῖν—ii. 11, ἐλθεῖν ἡμῶν διὰ μάχης. ένοικοδομησάμενοι—the Athenians had 'built for themselves' a stronghold in Boeotia: so iii. 85: this is probably the meaning of vi. 90, τàs δὲ (τῶν πόλεων) ἐντειχισάμενοι, 'reducing some of the states by establishing strongholds in the country'.

8. $i_V \phi \tau \epsilon \, a_V \dots \epsilon \delta \rho a \sigma a_V \longrightarrow in whatever place they may have$ been caught and wherever they came from to attack us'. The $latter clause might have been <math>\delta \partial e_V \phi \epsilon \, t \epsilon \hbar \partial \omega \sigma \iota \, \omega \sigma \tau \epsilon \, \tau a \, \pi o \hbar \epsilon \mu \mu a \\ \delta \rho \delta \sigma a_I$, but the construction is changed to the indicative because $\delta \delta \rho a \sigma a_V$ denotes definite acts of hostility undoubtedly committed. Cob. $e_V \delta \tau_V \phi \delta \tau_V$. $\delta \partial e_V$, omitting $\tau \epsilon$ and κa .

9. «ť τφ—see note on ch. 63, 34, «l μή τις. As this clause is in opposition to the opening words $\chi \rho \bar{\eta} \nu \mu \ell \nu \kappa. \tau. \lambda$, καί seems to emphasize dσφαλέστερον έδοξε, not simply dσφαλέστερον, 'if any one did think it safer'. ἀσφαλέστερον—sc. τὸ μὴ διὰ μάχης έλθεῖν.

10. où yap rò $\pi poun\theta is$ —'for forethought, in the case of such as are invaded by foes, does not admit of calculation, when their own land is in danger, in the same way as when a man is in possession of his own but chooses to attack another from desire of more'. Prudence itself teaches men to repel an invader at once without reflection, though it may be prudent to reflect before invading another country.

ib. $\tau \delta \pi \rho \rho \mu \eta \theta \epsilon s$ —prudence and forethought, in a good sense: iii. 82, $\mu \epsilon \lambda \lambda \eta \sigma \iota s \pi \rho \rho \mu \eta \theta \eta s$ opposed to $\tau \delta \lambda \mu a \dot{a} \dot{\Delta} \delta \gamma \iota \sigma \tau \sigma s$. With ols $\tilde{a} \nu$ and $\delta \sigma \tau \iota s$ are to be supplied $\tau o \dot{\iota} \tau \sigma c s$, $\tau o \dot{\iota} \tau \varphi$, eth. dat. 'for, in the case of'.

11. $\pi\epsilon\rho l \tau \eta s \sigma \phi \epsilon \epsilon \rho a s \dots s c. \gamma \eta s$: the pron. refers to what is in sense the subject of the sentence, viz. those who have been invaded by others.

12. $\ell\nu\delta\ell\chi$ era: $\lambda\circ\gamma\iota\sigma\mu\delta\nu$ —so ch. 10, 7. kal $\delta\sigma\tau\iotas$ —with $\delta\mu\sigma\ell\omegas$, 'as in the case of one who'. The constr. passes to the indic. as in line 9: here too it may be meant to denote the actual conduct of the Athenians; $\delta\sigma\tau\iotas$, the rel. of a class, often referring to a definite antecedent as possessing the characteristics of that class. There is a similar change of construction in ii. 44, $\tau\delta$ $\delta\epsilon$ e $\ell\tau\nu\chi\epsilon$, of $a\nu$ $\tau\eta$ s e $\ell\tau\rho\epsilon\pi\sigma\tau\alpha\tau\eta$ s $\lambda\delta\chi\omega\sigma\eta$, kal ofs... $\xi ure \mu erp f \eta = cf. 18, 13.$

16. 'Aθηναίους δέ—the speaker now passes to the particular need of repelling an Athenian invasion. $d\mu i \nu \epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota$ is to be supplied with $\delta \epsilon \iota$.

17. $\pi\rho \delta_{\sigma\tau} \epsilon_{\gamma} \delta_{\rho}$ in the relations of neighbours freedom is always ($\pi \delta \alpha_i$) ensured by a manful spirit of resistance'. The subject is $\tau \delta_{\alpha\tau}(\pi \alpha \lambda o\nu, \cdot being a match for' one's adversary,$ $i.e. being able and determined to resist him: <math>\kappa al \delta_{\lambda} \epsilon' \theta \epsilon_{\rho} o\nu$ is the predicate. 19. of $\kappa al \mu \eta'$ —Poppo, with Haack, seems right in taking $\mu \eta'$ for $\mu \eta \, \delta \tau \iota$, 'ne dicam'; the sense required being 'not only', or 'not to say only': no other instance however is given of $\mu \eta$ thus standing alone. The restless and aggressive spirit of the Athenians is often spoken of; cf. ch. 55, 17.

21. έπι το έσχατον άγῶνος—in illustration of this gen. Classen cites i. 49, ές τοῦτο ἀνάγκης: i. 118, ἐπι μέγα δυνάμεως, etc.

22. παράδειγμα δέ—so iii. 39, of a warning example, παρά δειγμα δ' αὐτοῖs...ἐγένοντο κ.τ.λ.: vi. 77, ξχοντες παραδείγματα τῶν Ἐλλήνων, ὡς ἐδουλώθησαν. ἀντιπέραs—' across the water', Euboea being right opposite the Boeotian coast, and in full view. The island was entirely subdued by Pericles in 445 (i. 114).

23. $\dot{\omega}_{5}$ a $\dot{\nu}\tau \sigma \hat{i}_{5}$ Siaketrat—'in what relations it stands to them', i.e. regards them with hostility, and is always in danger from their ambition. This rendering gives a more satisfactory sense than 'how it is disposed towards them', and does no violence to the meaning of $\delta_i d\kappa \epsilon_i \mu a_i$, which denotes 'being in a certain condition', of mind, body, or circumstances. It has also been proposed to render the words 'how it has been treated, to what condition it is reduced, by them': or to take $\delta_i d\kappa \epsilon_i \tau a_i$ impersonally and $a\dot{\nu}\tau \sigma \hat{i}_5$ to refer to the Euboeans and Greeks, 'how things stand as regards them'. In support of this last view Krüger cites Xen. Anab. vii. 3. 17, $\check{a}\mu\epsilon u \nu \sigma \dot{\nu} \mu \hat{\nu}$ $\delta_{akelorta}$.

Other instances of διάκειμαι in Thuc. are vii. 77, ώς διάκειμαι ὑπὸ τῆς νόσου, 'to what state I am reduced': i. 75, τοῖς Ἐλλησιν ἐπιφθόνως διακεῖσθαι, 'to be regarded with jealousy by': viii. 68, ὑπόπτως τῷ πλήθει διακείμενος.

26. is $\pi \hat{a} \sigma a \nu$ —'extending to and including our whole country': the following are somewhat similar uses of $\hat{\epsilon}s$: iii. 82, $\hat{\epsilon}s \tau \hat{a} \eta \hat{\delta} o \nu \hat{h} \nu \mathcal{E}_{o} \nu \hat{o} \rho \hat{l}_{o} \sigma \nu \tau \hat{\epsilon}s$, 'making their pleasure the limit'; v. 103, $\hat{\epsilon}s \tilde{a} \pi a \nu \tau \hat{o} \tilde{\nu} \pi \hat{a} \rho \chi o \nu \tilde{a} \nu a \rho \rho i \pi \tau \hat{o} \sigma \hat{\sigma}$, 'throwing the die so as to include their all in the risk'. où d $\nu \tau \hat{O} \kappa \kappa \tau o s$ —' not to be gainsaid'; there will be no more boundary disputes.

28. $i\tau \epsilon \rho \omega \nu$ —i.e. $\eta \tau \eta \nu \epsilon \tau \epsilon \rho \omega \nu$: see Madvig, § 90. mapof- $\kappa \eta \sigma \iota \nu$ —elsewhere only found in the Septuagint, according to Lidd. and Scott. mapow ω occurs i. 71, etc. The proverb 'Arrwiss mapowos, of a restless and dangerous neighbour, is cited by Ar. Rihet. ii. 21. 12.

29. elώθασί τε—a warlike spirit is the best security against aggression, and has always proved so. tσχύος θράσει—Soph. Phil. 104, οῦτως ἔχει τι δεινόν Ισχύος θράσος: cf. ch. 86, 25, lσχύος δικαιώσει. προαπαντῶντα—i. 69, πρότερον ή προαπαντήσαι, in the same sense, of anticipating an invader.

34. $\kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon' \chi \epsilon u - \text{probably 'to hold down', i.e. oppress, over$ $bear; as in i. 103, <math>\pi \circ \lambda \epsilon' \mu \varphi \ \kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon i \chi \circ r$. Several editors give the meaning 'to withstand', sustinere; but the sense is not satisfactory, as a notion of aggression is required, nor is it plain that $\kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon' \chi \omega$ will bear this meaning. The present and imp. are by no means identical in use with the aorist; though the tenses are hopelessly mixed in dictionaries and commentaries.

35. $a\dot{v}\tau o\hat{v}$ —'of this'; see note on ch. 18, 7, $\dot{\epsilon}\pi d\theta_{0\mu}\epsilon\nu$ $a\dot{v}\tau \delta$. is $\tau o\dot{v}\sigma\delta\epsilon$ —for instances of the use of $\dot{\epsilon}s$ see note on ch. 28, 2.

ib. iv Kopuvela—in 447 (i. 113). The Athenians had been dominant in Bosotia for eight or nine years, but after the battle of Coronea they entirely evacuated the country ($\dot{\epsilon}\xi\delta\lambda\iota\pi\sigma\sigma\pi\ddot{\alpha}\sigma\sigma$), cf. iii. 62 fin. For $\dot{\epsilon}r = 'at'$ see note on ch. 5, 5.

37. κατέσχον--· over-ran', or 'got the mastery': vii. 66, $\tau \hat{\varphi}$ ναυτικ $\hat{\varphi}$ ψπερ πάντα κατέσχον.

33. ήμâs—in apposition with this we have two clauses, τούs τε...τούs τε.

39. δμοιωθήναι—to come np to, not to degenerate from. Persons are here compared with things: in i. 71 we have the opposite, ἀρχαιότροπα ὑμῶν τὰ ἐπιτηδεύματα πρὸς αὐτούς ἐστιν.

41. τὰς προσηκούσας ἀρετάς—προσηκούσας denotes the virtues which are as it were the heirloom or belongings of the race or family: cf. iii. 64, ǎ ποτε χρηστοί ἐγένεσθε, οὐ προσήκοντα νῶν ἐπεδείξατε, 'the good service you once did you now shew was not natural to you', but due to accident: so iii. 67, referring to the παλαιαὶ ἀρεταί of the Plataeans, οὐκ ἐκ προσηκον ἀμαρτώνουσι, i.e. we have a right to expect different conduct: cf. Cope on Ar. Rhet. i. 9. 31, ὅσα κατὰ τὸ προσήκον, oloν εἰ ἀξια τῶν προγόνων καὶ τῶν προϋπηργμένων, 'worthy of a man's ancestors and his own previous acquisitions or possessions—a stock of previous good, noble, great deels'.

42. προς ήμων ξσεσθαι-explanatory of πιστεύσαντας τώ θεώ: for πρός, 'on our side', cf. ii. 86, προς εκείνων, 'in their favour'. νέμονται-'occupy': so ενοικείν, ch. 97, 9.

44. $\theta_{v\sigma a\mu \ell vois...}\phi_a \ell_{veral}$ —the aor. participle denotes a sacrifice performed and complete, though possibly only just completed; the pres. $\phi_a \ell_{veral}$ gives the still remaining result: we found, when we sacrificed, that the omens are in our favour. Sacrifices were always offered before a battle. The mid. θ_{veral} is used of the army, or commander: the act. of the priest who actually slew the victim. $\kappa \alpha \lambda \dot{\alpha}$ —of favourable omens; only here in Thuc.: Xen. Anab. iv. 3. 9, etc.

45. $\delta\mu\delta\sigma\epsilon \chi\omega\rho\eta\sigma a$.—ch. 10, 5. $\delta\epsilon\iota\xi a\iota \delta\tau\iota...\kappa\tau a\sigma\ell\omega\sigma av$ not a case of $\delta\tau\iota$ with orat. direct. like ch. 38, 19, but rather a rhetorical change of construction—'let them win' instead of 'they may win'—which gives force and abruptness to the speaker's words. yevalov—according to the Schol.= $\pi\dot{a}\tau\rho_{IO}v$ kal $d\pi\delta\gamma ferous$: so Hom. II. v. 253, où $\gamma\dot{a}\rho$ µoι $\gamma ervalor \dot{a}\lambda v\sigma\kappa\dot{a}$ $jor \tau\iota$ µ $\dot{a}\chi e\sigma\theta a\iota$, the only passage in which the word occurs in Homer. Paley there takes the meaning to be 'consistent with honour, worthy of one well born'; and such a sense is quite applicable to the present passage, in which Pagondas is extolling the noble spirit of the Boeotians.

3. avaothoas-ch. 77, 13.

5. προσέμιξεν—of a near approach: so viii. 71, ω_5 δ προσέμιζε τε έγγν. In ch. 33, 9 and 96, 7 the word is used of coming to close quarters with the enemy: cf. v. 72, φθάσαι τŷ προσμίζει.

6. $\kappa \alpha \theta (\sigma \alpha s - s c. \tau \partial \nu \sigma \tau \rho \alpha \tau \delta \nu$, line 3; to be supplied also with $\xi \tau \alpha \sigma \sigma \epsilon$.

8. $\tau \hat{\omega} \delta \hat{\epsilon} 'I \pi \pi \sigma \kappa \rho \alpha \tau \epsilon \ldots \hat{\omega} \hat{s} \alpha \dot{\sigma} \tau \hat{\omega}$ —the redundancy is probably to be explained as a confusion of construction, $a\dot{\sigma} \hat{\omega}$ being added as if $\delta \delta \hat{\epsilon} 'I \pi \pi \sigma \kappa \rho \alpha \tau \eta \hat{s}$ had gone before. Hippocrates had remained behind at Delium, ch. 90 fin.

14. $i\pi \gamma i \nu o \nu \tau o$ —as a reserve force, $i\pi i$ implying sequence: see notes on ch. 26, 14 and 36, 14. $\tau o \nu s d \mu \nu \nu o \nu \mu i \nu o \nu s$ —for the use of the article cf. note on ch. 78, 33.

18. $\ddot{\omega}\sigma\pi\epsilon\rho$ $\ddot{\epsilon}\mu\epsilon\lambda\delta\nu$ —sc. $\tau d\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma\theta a$: the contingents were already in the order which they intended to keep in the battle.

21. $\delta\epsilon\xi\omega\nu$ μèν κέρας—the article is omitted, as noted on ch. 18, 11. of ξύμμοροι αὐτοῖς—see note on ξυντελεῖ, ch. 76, 15. τὴν λίμνην—Copais.

28. διάκοσμος—a word only found elsewhere in later Greek.

 'Αθηναίοι δὲ οἱ μέν—the varieties of appositional construction throughout this chapter are to be noticed. πῶν τὸ στρατόπεδον—in apposition with οἰ ὅπλῖται.

 έκ παρασκευῆς ώπλισμένοι—' regularly armed' as light infantry. ἐκ παρασκευῆς denotes the result of set purpose: so
 y. 56, μάχη οὐδεμία ἐγένετο ἐκ παρασκευῆς.

 ασπλοι—of hastily and imperfectly armed troops, as in ch. 9, 13. πολλοί—partial apposition; possibly of πολλοί, 'for the most part', should be read.

 πανστρατιάς—elsewhere in classical Greek only found in the adverbial dative, as in ch. 66, 4. ού παρεγένοντο—' did not appear' or 'fall in'.

12. ἐπιπαριών— 'passing along', secundum ordines exercitus procedens (Poppo): vi. 67, κατὰ έθνη ἐπιπαριών ἐκαστα: so vii. 76. In v. 10 with dat. ἐπιπαριών τῷ δεξιῷ means 'passing along to attack the right wing': see also ch. 108, 19.

 δι' όλίγου—of time: i. 76, δι' όλίγου ήγησάμενοι: ii. 85, opposed to έκ πολλοῦ: iii. 43, δι' όλίγου σκοπούντων, 'taking a hasty view', opposed to περαιτέρω προυοοῦντας.

2. $\tau \delta$ ($\sigma o v \dots \delta \delta v a \tau a \iota - a$ short speech is as good as a long one when addressed ($\pi \rho \delta s \tau \epsilon$) to brave men and consisting of ($\kappa a \iota \xi_{\chi} \epsilon_{\iota}$) admonition rather than exhortation. $\tau \epsilon$ and $\kappa a \iota$ connect the two ideas of the quality of the men and the character of the speech; the finite verb $\ell_{\chi} \epsilon_{\iota}$ being brought in, like $\pi \rho o \tau \eta \gamma a \gamma o r$ in ch. 100, 8, instead of a subordinate construction, or $\tau \epsilon$ being simply out of place as noted on ch. 77, 11. Krüger and Classen follow Reiske in reading $\pi \rho \delta s \gamma \epsilon$ rośr instead of $\pi \rho \delta s \tau \epsilon$, but the alteration does not seem required.

3. $\dot{\upsilon}\pi\dot{\sigma}\mu\nu\eta\sigma\upsilon$... $\xi\chi\epsilon\iota$ —sc. $\dot{\eta}$ π apalvesis. Note the use of similar words in the speech of Brasidas, ch. 126.

 ψμεῖς ἀν οὐ χρεὼν ἄρχοιτε, 'you must be wrong in holding your empire'.

6. For ἀναρριπτοῦμεν cf. ch. 85, 16. ἐν τῦ τούτων— Hippocrates seems to speak generally as the leader of an invasion; for the present position of the Athenians was admitted by the Boeotians to be beyond their border, ch. 91, 6; 90, 7. 8. où $\mu\eta' \pi \sigma \tau \epsilon ... \epsilon \sigma \beta a \lambda \omega \sigma \tau \nu$ —this and v. 49 are the only instances of this construction in Thucydides. $\epsilon \kappa \epsilon \epsilon \nu \eta \nu$ —'yon land of ours', cf. note on ch. 37, 10. Note the graphic use of the present tense in this sentence.

11. $\chi \omega \rho \eta \sigma \sigma \tau \epsilon \dots \epsilon s$ a $\omega \tau \sigma v s - a$ curious phrase to denote an attack: so Xen. Anab. iii. 2. 16, $\epsilon \tau \sigma \lambda \mu \eta \sigma \sigma \tau \epsilon$ lévat eis a $\omega \tau \sigma v s$. The use of $\sigma \tau \rho a \tau \epsilon v \epsilon r$, ch. 77, 2, is not analogous (see note). Note the separation of the words by the position of $d \xi \iota \omega s$: cf. note on ch. 90, 7.

12. $\xi_{\chi\omega\nu...\dot{\alpha}\gamma\dot{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\epsilon\tau\alpha\iota}$ a participial construction, which is common with other verbs expressing joy or grief: in ii. 63 we have the dative, $\dot{\phi}\pi\epsilon\rho \ \dot{\alpha}\gamma\dot{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$: in iii. 82 a preposition, $\dot{\epsilon}\pi l$ $\delta\dot{\epsilon} \ \tau\dot{\varphi} \ \dot{\alpha}\gamma\dot{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\sigma\tau\alpha\iota$.

14. κρατοῦντες—' being victorious over'; the pres. and imperf. of $r_{i\kappa}$, $d\delta_{i\kappa}$, $\phi_{e\dot{v}\gamma\omega}$ (to be in exile), etc. are used in the same way; e.g. i. 14, Kapχηδονίους ένίκων ναυμαχοῦντες. The victory of Oenophyta (456) gave the Athenians the mastery of Boeotia for some years (i. 108); see note on ch. 92, 35.

CHAPTER XCVI

3. $\tau \delta \delta t \pi \lambda \dot{\epsilon} o \nu$ —either determinant acc. or governed by $\dot{\epsilon} \pi \epsilon \lambda \theta \dot{\epsilon} \nu$ or $\dot{\epsilon} \pi \epsilon \lambda \theta \dot{\delta} \nu \tau o s$, which must be supplied with $\phi \theta \dot{a} \sigma a \nu \tau o s$.

άς διὰ ταχίων—as well as the short time allowed: so ch. 125, 26. και ἐνταῦθα—besides the harangue at Tanagra, ch. 92.

τὰ ἔσχατα—' the ends'. ῥύακεs—ravines or torrents;
 116, ὁ ῥύαξ τοῦ πυρός, of the eruption of Aetna.

10. τδ δὲ άλλο...ξυνεστήκει—cetera vero acies consistebat acriter pugnans et clipeis se (mutuo) propellens (Poppo). For τδ άλλο cf. i. 48, where it is opposed to τδ δεξιόν κέρα: see also note on ch. 19, 22. The ώθισμός άσπίδων is a common feature of the closely-fought battles described by Livy and Tacitus. μέχρι μέσου—'as far as the centre of the line', to be connected with the article before εδώνυμον.

14. αὐτοῖs—ethical dative; as in iii. 98, ὁ ἡγεμῶν aὐτοῖs ἐτύγχανε τεθνηκώs: cf. ch. 10, 13. κυκλωθέντων—sc. the Thespians; 'those posted near them' were the men of Tanagra and Orchomenos.

 κατά βραχύ τρεψάμενα seems to mean defeating small sections of the enemy one after another. ἐκ τοῦ ἀφανοῦς—ch.
 36, 7.

30. παραρρηγνύντων—' breaking their ranks'; because one man was forced from his position beside another: v. 73, παρερρήγνυντο ήδη. φυγή καθειστήκει=a decided ront began.

37. ἐπιλαβούσης τὸ ἔργον—cf. ch. 27, 5; and for έργον ch. 25, 9. τὸ πλῆθος—'the bulk', so ch. 100, 25.

CHAPTER XCVII

7. Int rows veryou's—' for the dead', i.e. to ask permission to remove them. anorrpé vas kal elmév—the second participle gives the reason for turning the Athenian herald back: we have a similar order in ch. 51, 2: so i. 1, $d\rho\xi d\mu evo...kal$ $\lambda \pi loas:$ so i. 109, $\xi\eta \rho dv as \tau h \delta u \delta \rho v \alpha kal π a \rho a \tau \rho \epsilon \psi as <math>d\lambda \eta \tau \delta$ $v \delta \omega \rho$. Karaords $\ell \pi \ell$ —so ch. 84, 10.

13. πάσι γαρ είναι—the construction changes to the infinitive with the change of subject: cf. ch. 46, 22, δτι...είη...μέλλειν γαρ δή. καθεστηκός—' an established custom': i, 98, παρα τό καθεστηκός.

15. ἐνοικέν—' were living in it' like an ordinary town: ii. 17, διὰ τὴν παράνομον ἐνοίκησιν. βεβήλφ—a tragic word: other words in this chapter, such as άψαυστοs and χέρνιψ, are poetical, and possibly characteristic of Boeotian speech.

 3 ήν άψανστον σφίσι='which we forbore to touch'. χέρνιβι χρήσθαι—the inf. construction is explanatory of πρόs τὰ ἰερά.

20. τούς όμωχέτας δαίμονας-cf. iii. 59, θεούς τούς όμοβωμίους έπιβοώμενοι.

CHAPTER XCVIII

3. $\tau o \tilde{v} \mu \delta v$ ispo \tilde{v} —'as regards the temple'; the first point in the Athenian reply; the second and third are $\tau \delta v \delta \delta v \delta \mu o v$, line 8, and $\tilde{v} \delta \omega \rho \tau \epsilon$, line 18. In construction $\tau o \tilde{v}$ is po \tilde{v} depends on $o \delta \delta \epsilon v$.

4. dδικῆσα...βλάψων—' wrong...harm'. Poppo considers that the contrast is rather between the force of the tenses than the meaning of the words: there seems however this distinction, that döικῶ implies damage which could be justly complained of; cf. ch. 68, 23.

5. τοῦ λοιποῦ—'for the future'; partitive gen.: ch. 1, 1. οὐδὲ γάρ—'neither had they to begin with entered it with this object'; οὐδέ='also not', its more common meaning. τὴν ἀρχήν, a well-known adverbial accusative, occurs ii. 74 and vi. 50. It is only used in negative sentences. 7. $\mu \hat{\alpha} \lambda \lambda \sigma \nu$ -i.e. if there was any wrong-doing in the case it was on the other side.

9. βραχυτέρας—Thucydides often uses βραχόs in the general sense of small : e.g. i. 14, βραχέα (ναυτικά) έκέκτηντο, opp. to άξιόλογα: i. 130, ἕργοις βραχέσι, 'by small actions', opp. to μειζόνως.

10. $\tau\rho\delta\pi\sigma\iotas$ $\theta\epsilon\rhoa\pi\epsilon\iota\delta\mu\epsilon\nua...\delta\iota\nu\omega\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ —the sense is clear, that the victorious invader satisfies the demands of Grecian law if he maintains to the best of his power the usual religious observances of the temple which he has seized. There seems however a difficulty in the words $\pi\rho\delta \sigma\iotas$ $\epsilon\iota\omega\theta\delta\sigma\iota$. $\pi\rho\delta$ s means 'in addition to', and we should rather expect some expression implying shortcoming or variation, such as $\pi\alpha\rho\dot{a}$ $\tau\dot{a}$ $\epsilon\iota\omega\theta\delta\sigma\alpha$. $\pi\rho\delta$ $\epsilon\iota\omega\theta\delta\sigma\alpha$, 'hitherto usual', Stahl.

11. καl δύνωνται—Poppo and Classen take lepá as nom. to δύνωνται, sc. $θepa\pie \acute{v}e\sigma \theta a\iota$, and Classen adds that the plural verb, implying different occasions, is rightly used with lepáafter the words $\dot{a}el \gamma l \gamma ve\sigma \theta a\iota$. Such a phrase however as $lep \dot{o}v$ δύναται $\theta epa\pie \acute{v}e\sigma \theta a\iota$ is decidedly strange; and a nom. to δύνωνται ($\theta epa\pie \acute{v}ew$) is easily supplied from roύτων in line 10.

12. καl γἀρ Βοιωτούς—ef. i. 12, 'sixty years after the taking of Troy the present Boeotians settled in the country which is now called Boeotia but was formerly called the Cadmean land'. οἰκεῖα—pred., 'as their own'.

15. εἰ...δυνηθῆναι—=εἰ ἰδυνήθησαν: cf. i. 91, ὅσα...βουλεύεσθαι: ii. 102, ὅτε δὴ ἀλᾶσθαι αὐτόν. With εἰ this construction is a peculiarity of Herodotus; see Madvig, § 169 b: Goodwin, § 92. 2. τοῦτ ἀν ἔχειν—lit. 'this they would (now) be holding '.

17. $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \dot{\epsilon}\nu \tau \epsilon \bar{\epsilon}\nu \alpha \iota$ — a much stronger expression than $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \dot{\epsilon}\nu \tau \epsilon \bar{\epsilon}$ $\dot{\epsilon}\kappa \dot{\omega}\nu \epsilon \bar{\epsilon}\nu \alpha \iota$, lit. 'so far as will goes', i.e. (not) if I can avoid it.

19. $\eta \nu \dots \pi \rho o \sigma \theta \epsilon \sigma \theta a \dots$ which they had not brought on themselves by insolent pride': cf. i. 78, $\mu \eta \, d\lambda \lambda or p lass \gamma \nu \omega \mu a us$ $kal <math>\epsilon \gamma \kappa \lambda \eta \mu a or \pi \epsilon \iota \sigma \theta \epsilon r r s o k \kappa c i \sigma r \pi \rho o \sigma \eta \eta \sigma \theta \epsilon : i. 144, \kappa \iota \nu \delta \iota \nu o us$ $a v \theta a \iota \rho \epsilon r o \sigma \tau (\theta \epsilon \sigma \theta a ... In the following clause <math>\beta \iota a \xi \epsilon \sigma \theta a$... is passive, and the accusatives are governed by $a \mu \nu \nu \delta \mu \nu \sigma \iota c \cdot \ell n \tau \eta \nu$ $\sigma \phi \epsilon r \epsilon \rho a \nu$ —Delium is meant, as in line 32, $\epsilon \nu \eta \delta o \rho l \epsilon \kappa \tau \eta \sigma a r \sigma$.

21. $\pi \hat{\alpha} \nu \kappa \alpha \tau \epsilon_{0} \gamma \phi \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma \nu$ everything (i.e. anything) when (if) done under stress of the war may reasonably claim some indulgence even from the god'. For this predicative use of the participle cf. Plat. Phaedr. 328 B, $\lambda \epsilon \chi \partial \dot{\epsilon} \nu \dots \pi \hat{\alpha} \dots \sigma a \phi \dot{\epsilon} \sigma \epsilon \rho \sigma \nu$, 'every proposition is clearer when stated'; and for the meaning 'done under constraint' cf. ch. 63, 7, $\epsilon \ell \rho \chi \partial \dot{\rho} \mu a$. There seems no need for the alteration $\pi \hat{a} \nu \tau \hat{\sigma} \pi \sigma \lambda \hat{\epsilon} \mu \varphi$, nor for the reading adopted by Classen, $\tau \hat{\varphi}$...κατειργομέν φ (masc.).

22. $\xi_{\eta\gamma\gamma\nu\omega\mu\sigma\nu}$ admitting of excuse or indulgence': iii. 40, $\xi_{\eta\gamma\gamma\nu\omega\mu\sigma\nu}\delta'$ $\delta\sigma\tau i$ $\tau\delta$ axous or. This passive meaning of the neuter is in accordance with the principle noted on ch. 32, 22. When applied to a person $\xi_{\nu\gamma\gamma\nu\omega\mu\nu\sigma}$ has the active force of 'regarding with indulgence, making allowance' etc.

23. και πρός τοῦ θεοῦ—Apollo, whose temple Delium was. For πρός cf. i. 71, ἄδικον οὐδὲν οὕτε πρὸς θεῶν οὕτε πρὸς ἀνθρώπων, 'regarded as unjust by'.

24. παρανομίαν όνομασθηναι—' lawlessness is a term applied ' etc.

 τούς τε νεκρούς—' as regards the dead', grammatically dependent on άποδιδύναι: cf. line 3. The form μειζόνως occurs ch. 19, 19 and i. 130.

29. ispois... Kouiler at -- 'to get back by the medium of sacred things what it is not seemly (so to recover)'; to barter a temple for corpses was profanation and gross impiety. In construction ispois is the instrumental dative.

30. $\sigma a\phi \hat{\omega}s \tau \epsilon$ —to be taken with $\epsilon i \pi \epsilon i r$; the Athenians demand a plain proffer of what was just and usual, viz. that they might remove their dead not 'on condition of evacuating Boeotian territory', but under the usual terms of truce. In construction $\mu \eta$ goes with $\epsilon i \pi \epsilon i r$ and $d \pi \iota \omega \omega \sigma u v$ and $\sigma \pi \epsilon v \delta \omega \sigma v r$ are in agreement with $\sigma \sigma \delta \sigma v$.

31. έν τη έκείνων-see note on ch. 37, 10.

32. δορl ἐκτήσαντο—so i. 128, δορl ἐλών, in a letter from Pausanias to the Persian king.

33. $\sigma \pi \ell \nu \delta \sigma \sigma \tau \nu$ —if the reading is right the active of $\sigma \pi \ell \nu \delta \omega$ seems here used in the sense of 'making a truce', for which the middle is elsewhere used. Poppo suggests $\sigma \pi \epsilon \delta \delta \sigma \sigma \epsilon \nu$, which however has little or no meaning. Others explain $\sigma \pi \ell \nu \delta \sigma \sigma \epsilon \nu$ as used in its proper meaning of 'making libations', i.e. doing their part in the joint act which would be denoted by $\sigma \pi \ell \nu \delta \epsilon \sigma \theta a$ (see B. and C. and Rutherford).

CHAPTER XCIX.

3. $i\kappa$ $\tau\eta$ s $i\alpha v\tau\vartheta v$ —the pronouns in this chapter are used with a freedom which is scarcely reducible to any rule; the meaning however is clear from the context. The words which refer to the primary subject of Boword are the following: $i\kappa$ $\tau\eta$ s $i\alpha v\tau\vartheta v$...volijovres... βi_{α} $\sigma \phi \vartheta v$... $i\kappa$ $\tau\eta$ s $i\alpha v \vartheta v$: the following refer to the secondary subject $d\pi v \vartheta v \tau s$ (sc. the Athenians): τὰ σφέτερα...έν τῆ ἐκείνων...αὐτούς γιγνώσκειν...οὐκ ἀν αὐτούς... ὑπὲρ τῆς ἐκείνων.

5. aὐτοὺς γιγνώσκειν—'they must judge for themselves'; the infinitives in this chapter follow $d\pi\epsilon\kappa\rho l \nu a\nu\tau \sigma$, as $d\nu a \iota\rho\epsilon \hat{\iota}\sigma \partial a \iota$ follows $\epsilon l \pi\epsilon \hat{\iota} \nu$ in ch. 98, 33.

ib. $vo\mu(zovres \tau \eta)v \mu \ell v$ —the corresponding 'apodosis' is $\tau \delta$ $\delta \ell$ line 10; $\kappa a \iota o \iota \kappa a \nu v h e ng an additional clause with <math>vo\mu \ell$ jovres, and $o \iota \delta' a \iota \ell \sigma \pi \ell v \delta o v \tau o$ being parenthetical in construction. The original idea of the sentence seems to have been 'the Boeotians thought that the dead were really lying on Athenian ground, but that still they might plausibly refuse to let the Athenians remove them till they evacuated Delium'.

7. κατὰ τὸ ὑπήκοον—'as being subject to them': i. 95, κατὰ τὸ ξυγγενές. καὶ οὐκ ἄν—'and (yet) they could not': καὶ has a somewhat similar adversative force in ii. 90, ἄκων καὶ κατὰ σπουδήν : et is at times similarly used, especially in late Latin.

9. oùô' aŭ έσπένδοντο—'nor again would they make a truce': for this use of the imp. cf. ch. 4, 11, $\eta\pi\epsilon i\gamma\sigma v\tau \sigma$: ch. 76, 15, iveôlôoσav. δηθεν, like δή, gives the alleged reason; it sometimes stands before the words which it particularly affects; e.g. i. 127, τοῦτο τὸ ἀγος ἐλαύνειν ἐκέλευον δηθεν τῷ θεῷ πρῶτον τιμωροῦντες.

10. $\tau\delta$ $\delta\epsilon$ —'but (considering) that the reply, Let them evacuate our land and then take back what they ask for, was a plausible answer to give'. 'They considered it a fair diplomatio way of meeting the alternative raised by the Athenian herald' (Grote). The substantive of $\tau\delta$ is formed by the quoted words. The harsh break in the citation is intended to emphasize the phrase $\epsilon\kappa \tau \eta s \epsilon av \tau \rho v$ as the main point in the answer, to which the term $\epsilon i \pi \rho \epsilon \pi \epsilon s$ especially belongs. We have a somewhat similar order in the concluding sentence of ch. 98.

The Boeotian answer was in fact a second demand for the evacuation of Delium couched in different terms. Comparing line 3 with ch. 97 line 21 we see that $i\kappa \tau \eta s \, \epsilon a u \tau \omega \nu$ is simply substituted for $i\kappa \tau \sigma \vartheta \, \iota \rho \omega \vartheta$. Originally they had called on the Athenians to leave the temple which they profaned; now they bid them leave the territory of Boeotia. The demand seems at first to refer to the district of Oropus, where the dead were lying; but no Athenians were left there (ch. 96 fin.) nor could there be any reason for the Athenians insisting on its occupation. Delium, on the other hand, they claimed to be their own by right of conquest; and the Boeotians, who held Oropia, turn against them their own unlucky argument of de facto possession. Greek feeling, as Grote points out, was violated by the Boeotians in thus refusing to restore the dead, nor is it likely that they could have persisted in their refusal. On the other hand they might reasonably complain of the occupation of a temple as an advanced hostile post; which was a very different thing from conquering a country and taking over the temples as well.

ib. einpenés—to be taken with an orplaada. Kal anohafeiv—tlet them also take back', i.e. then, on that condition.

12. 6 St knovE-'so the herald' etc.: ch. 71, 12.

CHAPTER C

1. $\xi\kappa \tau\epsilon - \tau\epsilon$ and kal connect the two sets of auxiliary forces, the light-armed troops from the Melian gulf and the heavy-armed men from Corinth and Nisaea: cf. ch. 28, 21, $\xi\kappa$ $\tau\epsilon A frow \kappa.\tau.\lambda$.

3. καl βεβοηθηκότων αὐτοῖs—' and having been reinforced by' etc.: for the change of participial construction cf. the beginning of ch. 29.

 Κορινθίων—possibly a portion of the force which marched with Brasidas to Megara, ch. 70, 11. των έκ Νισαίας -ch. 69, 23.

7. $\pi \rho \sigma \epsilon' \beta a \lambda \sigma v$ —the manuscript reading; Classen alters it to $\pi \rho \sigma \epsilon' \beta a \lambda \lambda \sigma v$, the 'preliminary' imperfect, which is followed by the details of the attack. Note the irregularity of the finite verb $\pi \rho \sigma \sigma' \gamma a \gamma \sigma v$ in the following line.

9. $\eta\pi\epsilon\rho$ éller airó-' which in fact took the place'; Classen cites ii. 77, al $\mu\eta\chi$ aral oùdèr $\dot{\omega}\phi\epsilon$ hour, to shew that Krüger's correction, $\dot{\eta}\pi\epsilon\rho$ ellor, is not necessary.

ib. κεραίαν—a beam or spar: ii. 76: vii. 41. ἀκριβώς— 'exactly, nicely'. ἐπ' ἀκραν—adj. agreeing with κεραίαν.

12. $d\kappa \rho o \phi \dot{\upsilon} \sigma o \upsilon - \dot{\alpha}$ nozzle', from $d\kappa \rho o \sigma a$. is avrov vecov—either to be taken separately, 'curving into the cauldron' or with $\kappa u \theta \epsilon i \tau o$, 'was bent down in a curve into the cauldron': for $\kappa a \theta \epsilon i \tau o$, demissum erat, cf. ch. 103, 21.

14. iπl μέγα-'a large part of the wood as well': cf. note on ch. 3, 13, iπl πολύ. The use of μλλos where we should say 'besides' is well known. έκ πολλοῦ—of distance. ἦ...ῷκοδόμητο—see ch. 90;
 the definite articles point to the materials there described.

16. $\delta \pi \delta \tau \epsilon \epsilon \eta$ —the frequentative optative shews that more than one attempt was made. $\sigma \tau \epsilon \gamma \alpha \nu \hat{\omega} s$ —through the closed pipe.

 ἐπτακαιδεκάτη—the same form occurs vii. 28; elsewhere πέμπτος καl δέκατος (ii. 2), etc.

10. $\pi \circ \lambda \dot{\circ}_s \dot{d} \rho_1 \theta_{\mu} \dot{o}_s$ —possibly including stragglers who were cut off by the cavalry, cf. ch. 94, 10. We learn from Plato that Socrates fought among the hoplites at Delium, and preserved his life by his steadiness in the retreat. Alcibiades also was with the cavalry. The defeat of the Athenians was great and decisive, and the material and moral loss seems to have crippled the power of the city.

12. τότε-ch. 89, 8, Δημοσθένης...άπρακτος γίγνεται.

15. $\tau \epsilon \tau \rho a \kappa o \sigma \ell o v s \delta \pi \lambda \ell \tau a s$ —Arnold considers that these were the marines of the forty ships under Demosthenes (ch. 76, 2); cf. note on ch. 9, 13.

22. $d\pi/\theta av\epsilon...\Sigma\iota\tau d\lambda\kappa\eta s$ —the most obvious meaning is that Sitalces was slain in the expedition. There is however an intimation in a letter of Philip that he fell by the hand of an assassin. This may have taken place when he returned after his defeat. The dominions and power of Sitalces are described at length in ii. 95—101.

23. $\tau \sigma \tilde{s} \, \epsilon \pi l \, \Delta \eta \lambda \omega$ —neut.: we have the same construction ch. 129, 6. Tpi $\beta a \lambda \lambda \sigma s$ —mentioned in ii. 96, as an independent nation, on the north-west of the Odrysian Thracians.

24. Σεύθης—we learn from ii. 101 that Seuthes married the daughter of Perdiccas king of Macedonia. $\ell\beta$ ασίλευσεν— 'became king': i. 14, Περσῶν $\ell\beta$ ασίλευσε.

 ήσπερ καί—i. 14, αίσπερ και έναυμάχησαν: i. 74, ώσπερ και άλλοι.

CHAPTER CII

The disastrous defeat of Delium is now followed by the still more serious loss of Amphipolis on the Strymon, the key of the Threeian dependencies.

6. 'Αρισταγόρας—his attempt and failure to establish himself in 'the Edonian Myrcinus' are related by Herodotus v. 11 and 124—6. The date is 497, or according to Krüger 499: see Jowett on i. 103.

8. ξεκρούσθη—80 ch. 7, 7. ξπειτα...οί 'Αθηναίοι—in 465 or 467: cf. i. 100, πέμψαντες μυρίους οἰκήτορας αὐτῶν καὶ τῶν ξυμμάχων, which words shew how the slightly irregular clause with τε and καί is to be understood here.

11. iv Δραβήσκφ-between the Strymon and Philippi; see Poppo on i. 100.

12. aδθις—in 437 or 439. okuστου—predicate. After the death of Brasidas the Amphipolitans made him their 'oekist' instead of Hagnon, and thus honoured him as their tutelary hero (v. 11).

15. ὅπερ...ἐκαλοῦντο-cf. i. 10, Μυκῆναι μικρόν ῆν. ἡν αὐτολ είχον-since 467; note on ch. 7, 2.

19. 'Aµ $\phi(\pi \circ \lambda \iota \nu \dot{\omega} \nu \dot{\phi} \mu \sigma \sigma \epsilon \nu \ddot{\sigma} \tau$ —Amphipolis means a surrounded city, or a city looking both ways or all round. Poppo notes that, regarding the order of the words, the reason for the name is given in the final clause $\pi \epsilon \rho_i \phi_a \nu \tau_j^2$... $\ddot{\phi}_i \kappa \sigma \sigma \epsilon, \prime$ because its position was conspicuous seawards and landwards'. The similarity of sound however in 'Aµ $\phi(\pi \circ \lambda)$ s and $\dot{\epsilon}\pi' \dot{\epsilon}\mu\phi \phi \sigma \epsilon_{Pa}$ must be intended to bear upon the name. In fact the whole sentence deals with it. The town was called Amphipolis because it was virtually surrounded by the river, and was an insulated for tress visible on all sides.

20. $\epsilon \pi^{\prime}$ άμφότερα περιβρέοντος—the city stands on a hill round which the river sweeps in a semicircle towards the west, forming a peninsula. $\epsilon \pi^{\prime}$ άμφότερα therefore means, both above and below the city.

ib. Std $\tau \delta$ περιέχειν αὐτήν—most editors take this to mean 'for the sake of enclosing it', i.e. in order to do so; a sense which διά with the acc. sometimes has, at any rate with substantives, as noted on ch. 40, 9. Classen however brackets the words, believing them to be a mere explanatory note, 'because it surrounds it', identical in meaning with the words which immediately precede, and doubting if δια τ6 with inf. can mean 'in order to'.

22. περιφανή—predicate. For the word cf. the Homeric use of περιφαινόμενος. The topography of Amphipolis causes some difficulty: see the Appendix to Arnold's second volume.

CHAPTER CIII

1. it 'Apv ωv -unknown. 'Bromiscus is the traditional scene of the death of Euripides. The Arethusa convallis et statio, in qua visitur Euripidis sepulcrum, of Ammianus Marcellinus is evidently the Aulon and Bromiscus of Thucydides; the very name Aulon being descriptive of the place, a valley through which the lake Bolbe discharges itself into the sea' (Arnold).

5. ἐξίησιν—trans. 'discharges' sc. its waters: so ii. 102, ἐs θάλασσαν ἐξιείs: in i. 46 ἕξεισι is the better supported reading, though some manuscripts have ἐξίησι.

6. χειμών—stormy weather, as in ch. 6, 7. $\frac{1}{7}$ καl μάλλον —cf. ch. 1, 17. $\frac{i\pi\epsilon}{i\pi\epsilon}$ νειφεν—cf. iii. 23, $\frac{1}{7}$ νέξ $\frac{i\pi}{i\pi}$ νειφομένη. In both passages Classen, on Cobet's authority, reads $\frac{i}{i\pi}$ νικρ. though $\frac{i}{i\pi}$ νειφ. is the reading of the best manuscripts.

9. 'Αργ(λιοι-Argilus was a short way s. E. of Amphipolis. πειθόμενοι- 'instigated by' (Jowett).

13. ἀεί ποτε-ch. 57, 26. ὕποπτοι with dat. implies a footing of mutual suspicion, as in ch. 104, 5.

14. $i\pi\epsilon\iota\delta\eta...\eta\lambda\theta\epsilon\nu$ —it is possible to understand these words of the arrival of Brasidas in Thrace, but I think that they rather refer to his actual appearance near Amphipolis, and are closely connected with the following Kal ráre Sefáµενοι. The next clause $i\pi\rhoafáv$ rε is then parenthetical in sense, 'as they had from the first intrigued...so now': cf. ch. 32, 27, ró τε πρωτον...έπενδει και έν τῷ ἕργῳ ἕταξεν: so vii. 55, rá τε πρὸ αὐτῶν ἡπόρουν και ἐπειδή γε κ.r.λ.

In all these sentences the clause with $\tau \epsilon$ refers to a time before that with which the main part of the sentence deals. We have a somewhat similar construction with $\mu \epsilon \nu$ at the beginning of ch. 7, 2.

 Bekker and Classen read πρό έω, but on very slight authority.

20. $d\pi \epsilon \chi \epsilon \dots \pi \lambda \epsilon ov$ —probably 'is some distance from the crossing', $\pi \lambda \epsilon ov$ being a general comparison like $\epsilon x \pi \lambda \epsilon \delta ov os$ in line 15, and $\delta \iota a \beta d \sigma \epsilon w s$ being governed by $d\pi \epsilon \chi \epsilon \epsilon$. Arnold however makes it depend on $\pi \lambda \epsilon ov$, 'the city is further off than the crossing', i.e. when you had crossed the river you had not yet reached the city.

21. où καθείτο τείχη—'there were no walls extending down' to connect the bridge with the city. For $\beta \rho \alpha \chi \epsilon i \alpha$ see note on ch. 98, 9.

24. ἀπροσδόκητος—passive; as in viii. 23, ἀπροσδόκητοι κατασχώντες. Possibly ἀπροσδοκήτοιs should be read in both passages, since the word is more commonly active when used of a person, as in ch. 72, 14. τὰ ξξω—cf. ii. 5, ἐπεβούλευση τοῖς ξξω τῆς πόλεως τῶν Πλαταιῶν. χωρίον here means the district belonging to the city, as opposed to the πόλισμα or πόλις itself.

 αὐτοῦ—seemingly subjective gen.; 'his crossing'; or can it refer to ποταμοῦ? Note the force of the imperfect participles in the following clause.

8. Sokeiv av $i\lambda eiv$ —dependent on $\lambda e_{\gamma erai}$, Bpaslav being the subject to δ_{oxeiv} , which is imperfect, 'they say that it was thought that he might have taken it' (el $\eta \partial e_{\lambda \eta \sigma e...el\lambda ev}$ av).

12. τω πλήθει-dative of the instrument, 'by reason of'.

μετὰ Εὐκλέους — 'in concert with, with the consent of':
 44, οὐ μετ' Ἀθηναίων πραχθεῖσαν ξυμμαχίαν. We have the converse in ch. 78, 22, άνευ τοῦ κοινοῦ.

16. $\tau \hat{\omega}_{\nu} \notin \pi l \; \Theta \rho \hat{\kappa} \eta_S$ —there is some authority for $\tau \delta_{\nu}$, but $\tau \hat{\omega}_{\nu}$ gives the better sense. Both commanders were probably jointly responsible for 'the Thraceward regions'. For the responsibility of Thucydides for the loss of Amphipolis see Appendix.

19. $\eta\mu$ (recs $\eta\mu$ épas—the better supported reading: cf. ch. 83, 23: Hdt. iv. 15, κατὰ μέσον $\eta\mu$ έρηs. Bekker and Classen read $\eta\mu$ ισείas, which Poppo calls 'grammaticorum manifestam correctionem'. Such a construction is no doubt more usual. 22. μάλιστα μέν οὖν...εί δὲ μή—so iii. 101, πρῶτον μὲν οὖν ...Επειτα. For the alternative expression cf. ch. 63, 9. The addition of οὖν is very unusual. πρίν τι ἐνδοῦναι: so ii. 12, εί τι μᾶλλον ἐνδοῖεν. προκαταλαβών (ch. 89, 16) is to be taken with φθάσαι.

CHAPTER CV

2. Sedudes kal $\tau \eta' \nu$ —either kal is to be considered as out of place, or there is an irregularity in the next clause caused by the introduction of a second participle $\pi \nu \nu \theta a \nu \delta \mu \epsilon \nu s c$. (ii. 67, $\dot{a} \mu \dot{\nu} \sigma x \epsilon o \dot{\nu} \kappa a l \tau \hat{\varphi} \nu \delta \mu \varphi \ldots \kappa a l \eta \hat{\mu} \hat{\nu} \sigma \dot{\tau} \sigma \pi \delta \delta \delta \sigma \epsilon \chi \dot{\alpha} \rho \nu$, where Poppo cites other instances.

4. κτήσιν...ipγaσ(as—'a right of working': the gen. defines what the κτήσιε or 'property' consisted of.

5. ἀπ' αὐτοῦ-- 'from this'. ἐν τοῦς πρώτοις-masc.: 80 ch. 132, 13: cf. 108, 41. The influence and connexions of Thucydides in the Thraceward district probably caused him to be chosen for the command.

15. πέντε τμερών- ' within five days'.

 άλλοιότεροι--- 'more changed' or 'somewhat changed': cf. ii. 59, ήλλοίωντο τὰς γνώμας. In the following clause the subject of πολλοί is divided by partial apposition into two sections βραχὑ μἐν...τὸ δὲ πλεῖον: for neut. cf. ch. 61, 12, τὸ Χαλκῶικῶν. πρός τον φόβον—' in their fear', lit. 'looking at', or 'measuring it by': cf. ch. 39, 9, πρός την έξουσίαν.

ib. $i\lambda\dot{\alpha}\mu\beta\alpha\nu\sigma\nu$ —the better supported reading, for which some manuscripts have $\dot{\sigma}\kappa\lambda\dot{\alpha}\mu\beta\alpha\nu\sigma\nu$. There are sufficient instances in which $\lambda\alpha\mu\beta\dot{\alpha}\nu\omega$ means 'to take' in the sense of regarding (accipere in aliquam partem); e.g. ii. 42, $\pi\sigma\theta\epsilon\nu\sigma\tau\dot{\epsilon}-\rho\alpha\nu\lambda\alpha\beta\dot{\nu}\tau\epsilons$: iii. 33, $\pi\iota\sigma\tau\dot{\sigma}\tau\epsilon\rho\sigma\nu\lambda\alpha\beta\dot{\nu}\tau\epsilons$: vi. 53, $\pi\dot{\alpha}\tau\alpha\dot{\sigma}\dot{\tau}\sigma\dot{\sigma}\dot{\tau}\dot{\tau}\omega\dot{s}\dot{\epsilon}\lambda\dot{\alpha}\mu\beta\alpha\nu\sigma\nu$. Here however the reading is more doubtful, because of the infinitive construction, which is not found elsewhere with the uncompounded verb.

8. où k iv $\delta\mu\sigma\ell\omega$ —this seems an instance of $\mu\epsilon\ell\omega\sigma\iota\imath$ (ch. 13, 22), the sense being that the Athenians thought that they were in greater danger than the rest of the inhabitants: so vi. 11, $\mu\eta$ iv $\tau\tilde{\varphi}$ $\delta\mu\sigma\ell\varphi$ kal $\pi\rholv$ interpret in a worse position than before the attempt'. Classen takes the meaning to be that the Athenians thought that they would incur less danger by accepting the terms which Brasidas offered; but this does not agree so well with the context, especially considering the emphatic position of $\sigma\phi\ell\sigma\iota$ and the statement that the Athenians thought to ensure that the Athenians the glad to depart'.

10. $\ell v \tau \hat{\varphi}$ $\ell \sigma \varphi$ —Poppo 'acque atque antea'; others 'on equal terms'. Classen however seems right in taking the phrase as connecting the two following participial clauses, 'at the same time' they both retained ($o\dot{v} \sigma \tau \epsilon \rho \sigma \kappa \delta \mu \epsilon r o c$) their rights as citizens and were freed from danger. The present (or imperfect) participles denote what was sure to be secured by the capitulation. For $o\dot{v} \sigma \tau \epsilon \rho \sigma \kappa \delta \mu \epsilon r o c'$ 'undeprived of' cf. ch. 64, 22.

12. διαδικαιούντων—' advocating', not found elsewhere before Dio Cassius. avrá, in the general sense of 'this', denotes the claims of Brasidas, or the acceptance of his terms: ef, note on ch. 18, 7. προσεδέζαντο—sc. Brasidas, or his terms

18. $\kappa \alpha \tau \ell \pi \lambda \omega \nu$ —the use of the imperfect is to be remarked Even as the ships 'were sailing in' Brasidas was in possession of Amphipolis and preparing an attack on Eion. Note the promptitude and energy with which this really great soldier followed up his success.

20. παρά νύκτα—'he came within a night of taking Eion': cf. viii. 76, παρ έλάχιστον ηλθε...άφελέσθαι, 'came within a very little of taking away': viii. 34, παρά τοσοῦτον ἐγένετο αὐτῷ μη περιπεσεῦν τοῖς 'Αθηναίοις, 'such a narrow escape had he of encountering the Athenians': ii. 89, ησσηθέντας παρὰ πολύ. Hence we get the phrase παρὰ τοσοῦτον ἐλθεῦν κινδύνου of a narrow escape from danger (iii. 49 and vii. 2).

CHAPTER CVII

2. $\tau \vartheta$ air(κa ... $\tau \vartheta$ ë $\pi \epsilon \iota \tau a$ —probably adverbial, Eion or $\tau \vartheta \epsilon \nu$ $\tau \vartheta$ 'Hibu being the subject of $\xi \xi \epsilon \iota$: cf. however ch. 54, 16. ävw $\theta \epsilon \nu$ —from Amphipolis, which was inland and up the river.

6. κατά τόν ποταμόν—' by the river', as opposed to κατά $\gamma \hat{\eta} \nu$: cf. ch. 25, 32. The words themselves may doubtless mean 'secundo flumine', as in Hdt. iii. 13, but this is sufficiently expressed by καταπλεύσαs.

 άποπειράσας— 'having made an attempt': cf. ch. 43, 24, έπι την Σολύγειαν πειράσειν. ἐξηρτύετο—of material appliances generally: i. 13, ναυτικά έξηρτύετο: so act. ii. 3, τάλλα ἐξήρτυον.

16. $\Pi \epsilon \rho \delta(\kappa \kappa \alpha s - in spite of his difference with Brasidas (ch. 83), Perdiccas came at once to share in his success, and to look after his own interests.$

CHAPTER CVIII

This important chapter, a typical example of the writer's style, deals with the political situation after the capture of Amphipolis.

4. καl ὅτι...γεγενῆσθαι—the cause of Athenian alarm was that the capture of Amphipolis had removed the obstacles which had hitherto prevented the advance of the Spartans beyond the Strymon. This is stated in the final clause, τότε δ ℓ , κ , τ , λ , the preceding part of the sentence being subordinate in sense though co-ordinate in form : cf. note on ch. 80, 18.

It is to be noticed that there are two clauses with $\delta \ell$, $\tau \eta \mathfrak{s} \delta \ell$ yeépúpas line 7, and $\tau \delta \tau \epsilon \delta \ell$ line 10. The sense is equivalent to $\pi \rho \delta \tau \epsilon \rho \delta \nu$ $\mu \ell \nu$ $(\mu \ell \chi \rho \iota \ \mu \ell \nu \dots \tau \eta \mathfrak{s} \ \delta \ell) \dots \tau \delta \tau \epsilon$. The repeated $\mu \ell \nu$ would however have been stiff and clumsy and is therefore avoided. For other instances of $\mu \ell \nu$ followed by $\delta \ell \dots \delta \ell$, see Shilleto on i. 142.

5. $\mu \epsilon \chi_{\rho_1} \mu \epsilon \nu \dots \pi \rho_{\rho_{\sigma_1}}$ these words refer to the state of things before Amplipolis was taken. In themselves they are a good illustration of co-ordinate construction with $\mu \epsilon \nu$ and $\delta \epsilon$:

• though (hitherto) the Lacedaemonians might have got as far as the Strymon, yet they could have advanced no further without the command of the bridge'.

ib. πάροδος...ch. 82, 4. Θεσταλών διαγόντων...' if the Thessalians guided them' or 'gave them a passage': cf. ch. 77, 6 and 12.

7. $\mu\eta$ κρατούντων—'but if they were not masters of the bridge, seeing that above the town the river formed a great lake, while on the side toward Eion they were watched by the enemy's triremes, they could not have pushed their advance'. The gen. abs. κρατούντων and τηρουμένων refer to the Lacedae-monians, and supply the subject to δύraσθa. προσελθείν—the reading of the best manuscripts, 'to get at' the city or the allies. Most editors have προελθείν, 'to advance'. The words are prepentally confused.

10. oix av Súvar θ at—the original construction with $\delta \tau \tau$ is now lost sight of, the inf. depending on the idea which is implied of what the Athenians said or thought.

ib. $\tau \acute{o}\tau \epsilon \ \delta \acute{\ell}$ —now that Amphipolis was lost. The reading $\dot{\rho} \acute{a} \delta \iota a$ is undoubtedly to be preferred to $\dot{\rho} a \delta \iota a$ (sc. $\dot{\eta} \pi \acute{a} \rho o \delta o s$), for the $\pi \acute{a} \rho o \delta o s$ had been open all along. For the neut. plural cf. viii. 55, $\dot{e} \acute{v} \phi v \lambda a \kappa \acute{o} \tau e \rho a \dot{e} \gamma (\gamma e \tau o \cdot iii. 16, a \pi o \rho a v o \mu / c o \tau \tau e s \cdot o \rho \mu / c \sigma \tau e s \cdot o \mu / c \sigma \cdot v o \mu / c \sigma \tau e s \cdot o \mu / c \sigma \cdot v \sigma \cdot v o \mu / c \sigma \cdot v o$

17. $d \pi a \rho i \chi \epsilon \tau a \iota - \iota'$ the terms (or advantages) which (Brasidas) offers': see note on ch. 64, 1. There is some awkwardness in making Brasidas the subject of $\pi a \rho i \chi \epsilon \tau a$, which however is lessened by the fact that $\tilde{a} \lambda \sigma \tau \sigma$ is an active word = ι' his taking'. For the use of the following i kelvov cf. note on ch. 37, 10.

19. ἐπεκηρυκεύοντο—' made overtures': ch. 27, 14. ἐπιπαριέναι—lit. 'to pass along to'. For κελεύοντες following πόλεις cf. ch. 2, 15. For the order αὐτοὶ ἕκαστοι cf. i. 105, ἐνόμισαν αὐτοὶ ἐκάτεροι οὐκ ἑλασσον ἐχειν.

22. èdeuspévois—lit. 'being deceived in (their estimate of) the Athenian power to as great an extent as that power proved great on trial'. The meaning is that they grossly underrated the power which Athens proved to possess; but this is expressed in a confused way, som being written (instead of osor \muelgowar $<math>\eta$ doors or the like) as if où rosairny roulfour had gone before. Suedarn—' proved on trial'; i. 18, raûra µéyusra δuedarn: vi. 17, δuedarnar rosoîro bres. 24. $\kappa \rho (vov\tau \epsilon_{s}$ —the construction is changed to the nom., as in ch. 52, 15: cf. ch. 23, 13. Note the alliteration in $d\sigma a \varphi \epsilon_{...}$ $d\sigma \varphi a \lambda \epsilon_{.}$

ib. $\epsilon l\omega\theta \delta\tau \epsilon s$ of $\delta\nu\theta\rho\omega\pi\sigma\iota$ —'men being accustomed'; lit. 'being accustomed, that is to say, men (being accustomed)': the subject of the sentence, viz. the Athenian allies, is by expanded apposition extended to human beings in general. It is the exact converse of a partial apposition like $\delta\epsilon\delta\iota\delta\tau\epsilon s$ of $\sigma\tau\rho\sigma\tau\eta\gamma ol$, i. 49.

25. οἶ μἐν ἐπιθυμοῦσιν—' to commit what they desire to unreflecting hope, but to reject what they do not like by arbitrary reasoning'. ἐλπίδι διδόναι, sc. τοῦτο, may be compared with ii. 42, ἐλπίδι τὸ ἀφανὲs ἐπιτρέψαντες: the scholiast however understands ἐαυτούς.

26. δ $\delta \ell$ $\mu \eta' - \mu \eta'$ implies 'such as': ch. 32, 25. For $\pi \rho o \sigma (\epsilon \nu \tau a \iota c f. ch. 38, 3: and for <math>\delta \iota \omega \theta \epsilon i \sigma \theta a \iota, ch. 87, 7.$

28. ℓv roîs Bouvroîs—'in Boeotia': as $\dot{\epsilon}s$ roùs Bouvrois (ch. 77, 4) means into Boeotia. $\pi\epsilon\pi\lambda\eta\gamma\mu\ell\nu\omega\nu$ —of a defeat: so viii. 38: iii. 18, $\pi\lambda\eta\gamma\ell\nu\tau\epsilons$ $\dot{\sigma}\pi\delta$: the aor. and perf. passive only are thus used.

29. $\dot{\epsilon}\phi \alpha \lambda \kappa \dot{\alpha}$ — in act. sense 'attractive', like $\dot{\epsilon}\pi \alpha \gamma \omega \gamma \dot{\alpha}$, ch. 88, 4: so Plat. Rep. 521 p, $\dot{\alpha}\lambda \kappa \dot{\alpha}s$ 'tending to draw'. In Ar. Vesp. 263 $\dot{\epsilon}\phi \alpha \lambda \kappa \dot{\alpha}s$ has the middle or passive sense of 'lagging behind'.

ib. $\delta s \ a v \tau \widehat{\varphi} \dots \xi u \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widetilde{v}$ —this sentence corresponds closely to the words of Brasidas in his speech at Acanthus, ch. 85, fn. The construction however is not so clear, and seems to require the addition of $\beta \sigma \eta \theta \sigma \sigma \pi \tau$. As the sentence stands, $a v \tau \widehat{\varphi}$ is governed directly by $\xi v \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widehat{v}$, and $\ell \pi l$ N($\sigma a \iota a v$ might be connected with $\eta \theta \ell \lambda \eta \sigma a \tau \xi v \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widehat{v}$, and $\ell \pi l$ N($\sigma a \iota a v$ might be connected with $\eta \theta \ell \lambda \eta \sigma a \tau \xi v \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widehat{v}$, and $\ell \pi l$ N($\sigma a \iota a v$ might be connected with $\eta \theta \ell \lambda \eta \sigma a \tau \xi v \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widehat{v}$, and $\ell \pi l$ N($\sigma a \iota a v$ might be connected with $\eta \theta \ell \lambda \eta \sigma a \tau \xi v \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widehat{v}$, and $\ell \pi l$ N($\sigma a \iota a v \mu \beta a \lambda \epsilon \widehat{v}$, proaching Nisaea. There is however the objection that it was Brasidas, not the Athenians, who approached Nisaea (ch. 69— 73); and though this difficulty would be removed by adopting the correction $\ell \pi l$ N($\sigma a \ell a$, the words $\tau \widehat{\eta} \dots \sigma p a \tau \iota \widehat{q}$, dat. of ' the force which' Brasidas had with him, stand most awkwardly without a participle.

inl σφάς βοηθήσαι—sc. to reduce them to obedience;
 cf. ch. 25, 35.

33. δια τό ήδονήν ξχον—=' because of the pleasure involved at the moment': for $\xi_{\chi\omega} = '$ to cause, bring', cf. note on ch. 1, 7. The use of neuter participles to express abstract ideas is characteristic of Thucydides: see the instances cited by commentators on i. 30, τό μέν δεδιός... τό δὲ θαρσῦν. τό πρώτον'for the first time'. Classen takes the phrase as meaning quam primum; but the stress of the sentence falls on $\delta \rho \gamma \dot{\omega} \tau \omega \nu$, 'with their hearts in it'; i.e. the allies were elated because now for the first time they felt that Sparta was taking up their cause with energy: cf. viii. 2, 2, $\delta \rho \gamma \hat{\omega} r \epsilon s \rho lrear r d r p \dot{\alpha} \mu a r a$, i.e. with excitement or enthusiasm: so ii. S5, $\delta \rho \gamma \hat{p} \dot{a} \pi \epsilon \sigma r \epsilon \lambda \omega \nu$.

33. $i\phi\iota\mu\epsilon\nuos$ —either (1) 'sending instructions' or despatches; a rendering which gives good sense, but is open to the objection that 'to enjoin' is a meaning of $i\phi\iota\mu\alpha\iota$ which appears confined to poetry: or (2) 'eagerly desiring' i.e. urgently. In the latter case $is \tau \eta r \Lambda \alpha \kappa \epsilon \delta \alpha i \mu \sigma r \alpha$ must be taken with $i\kappa\epsilon\Lambda\epsilon\nu\epsilon$.

ib. στρατιάν τε...και αὐτός—cf. ch. 77, 11, ὑπό τε...και αὐτός.

41. τὰ μέν...τὰ δέ—i. 18, τὰ μέν πολεμοῦντες τὰ δὲ σπενδόμενοι. φθόνω ἀπό— from jealousy on the part of the leading men'. τοὺς ἄνδρας...κομίσασθαι—cf. ch. 41, fin.

CHAPTER CIX

1. Meyapris $\tau \epsilon \tau \dot{a}$ —the manuscripts have $\tau \dot{a} \tau \epsilon$, but as the particles connect the respective operations of the Megarians and of Brasidas, Krüger and others adopt the transposition suggested by Haacke; see note on ch. 77, 11.

2. $\hat{a} \sigma \phi \hat{\omega} v$ —the pronoun is placed in the relative clause: so ii. 45, $\pi a \omega \sigma$, $\delta \sigma o \tau \hat{\omega} \sigma \delta \epsilon \pi d \rho \sigma \sigma \epsilon$, where Poppo cites several instances. For the Athenian occupation of the walls, see ch. 69.

5. 'Artýv-($dx\tau \eta$, properly a headland or peninsula; see Liddell and Scott) the most easterly peninsula of Chalcidice. It is about 40 miles in length, and averages 4 in width: it is mountainous and rugged, especially towards Mount Athos. The latter name was often applied to the whole peninsula, which is joined to the mainland near Acanthus by a low and narrow isthmus. The following is the description given by Herodotus (vii. 22), $\delta \gamma d\rho$ 'Alws éorl $\delta \rho os \mu \ell \gamma a$ τε καl ούνομαστον έs θάλασσαr κατήκον οἰκημένον ὑπό ἀνθρώπων. τη δ è τελευτή έs την ήπειρον το δρος, χερσονησοείδε τι έστι καl ἰσθμός ώς δώδεκα σταδίων' πεδίον δε τοῦτο. 6. τοῦ βασιλέως διορύγματος—the canal made by Xerxes; cf. Hdt. vii. 22 etc. Distinct traces of it remain. ἔσω προὕχουσα must mean 'jutting out inwards', i.e. into the sea; or according to Haack 'intra Chersonesum'. Herodotus calls the towns of the peninsula al ἐντος Σάνης. Krüger suggests έξω.

7. "Atas avr η s... $\tau\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\nu\tau\hat{\eta}$ --avr $\hat{\eta}$ s is either geographical gen. 'situated in, belonging to it'; or is governed by $\tau\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\nu\tau\hat{\eta}$, as in iii. 104, $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\nu\tau a \tau o\hat{v}$ $\epsilon\pi alvov$ ϵs $\tau d\delta\epsilon \tau a$ $\epsilon\pi\eta$, 'he ended his panegyric with these verses'. Mount Athos 'forms the extremity of' the peninsula, rising abruptly from the sea to a height of more than 6000 feet. The phrase $\tau\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\nu\tau\hat{a}\nu$ ϵ s occurs ch. 48, 27.

10. ἐς τὸ πρὸς Εὕβοιαν-Sane is on the isthmus and looks south : see Hdt. vii. 22, where the same list of six towns is given, Sane being distinguished as πόλις Ἐλλάς.

13. διγλάσσων—speaking Greek besides their own tongue: viii. 85, Κάρα δίγλωσσον.

14. Πελασγικόν—See Grote Vol. ii., ch. 2 and 22; and the authorities cited by Poppo and Classen. A $\hat{\eta}\mu\nu\sigma\nu$ κal 'A $\theta\hat{\eta}\mu\sigma$ -see the account in Hdt. vii. 137—140. For the position of oknown of. note on ch. 5, 10.

CHAPTER CX

2. Τορώνην—the chief city in Sithonia, the middle Chalcidic peninsula; it was near its southern extremity.

6. περί δρθρον—at the first glimmering of dawn: so iii. 112, αμα δρθρφ followed by νυκτός έτι οδσης: cf. Plat. Protag. init.

10. καl προσελθόντες—' and some few of them having indeed gone over to him', i.e. to arrange terms, etc., a parenthetical statement of what had been done before: cf. ch. 72, 1. There is also good authority for $\pi \rho o \epsilon \lambda \theta \delta \rho r cs$ 'having advanced to meet him'. If this reading be adopted the comma may be removed after $\delta \lambda \gamma \rho a$, and the order taken $\kappa a l... \epsilon \tau \eta \rho o v ... \kappa a l$ ξ σ κομίζουστ. τυξε δλίγοι—partial apposition.

18. τούς...φρουρούς—governed by διέφθειραν. ἀνώτατα this is the only passage in which Thucydides has the superlative of ἅνω, κάτω or πρόσω. ἀνώτατα etc. are found in Herodotus, though not invariably, and in the tragedians: in later Attic prose ανωτάτω etc. (Krüger). Thucydides has έγγύτατα v. 74, έγγυτάτω iii. 38. φυλακτηρίου—'a guard-post': ch. 31, 7.

19. $\pi p \circ s \lambda \phi o v - c against (on the slope of) a hill'.$

20. κατά Καναστραίον—'over against Canastraeum', the extreme point of the (western) peninsula of Pallene: Hdt. vii. 103. Note the difference of tense in διάφθαραν and διάρουν, the assailants cut down the guard and then 'set to work to force' the postern. διαιρῶ, 'to break through', is used of forcing an entrance through a $\pi v \lambda i_s$ in vi. 51: cf. ch. 43, 12: when used of a wall it means to make a breach, as in ii. 75 (with partitive gen.).

CHAPTER CXI

3. $\delta\pi\delta\tau\epsilon...\delta\nuoix\lambda\theta\epsiloni\epsilon\nu$ —this corresponds to $\delta\pi\delta\tau ar$ $aroix\lambda\theta\omega\sigma$ or with present tense; so ch. 32, 22, \tilde{y} xup/recear. $\tau\delta\sigma\eta\mu\epsiloni\sigma\nu$ cf. ch. 42, 23. $\xi\nu\nu\epsilon\kappa\epsilon\tau\sigma$ =pass. of $\xi\nu\nu\taul\thetae\sigma\thetaa$, as in ch. 23, 4. Kriiger quotes Ar. Eccles. 6, $\delta\rho\mu a \phi\lambda\sigma\gamma\delta s \sigma\eta\mu\epsilonia \tau \delta \xi\nu\gamma\kappa elpera.$

5. ἐγγιγνομένου—so i. 113, χρόνου ἐγγενομένου. The gen. absolute is connected by κal with a nom. participle, as in i. 65: cf. ch. 29, 1, etc. The tenses are to be noticed; the imperfect participle giving the 'side-view' (Clyde) of what went on for some time, the acrists the 'end-view' of the concluded fact that 'little by little they had got close up to the city'.

7. οἰ τῶν Τορωναίων κ.τ.λ.—we have a similar order in i. 126, οἰ τῶν ᾿Αθηναίων ἐπιτετραμμένοι τὴν φυλακήν: so iii. 22 etc. παρασκευάζοντες = οἰ πράσσοντες ch. 110.

9. aurois—usually taken as 'by them', sc. rois $\epsilon loc \lambda \eta \lambda v$ boot. From its position however it seems rather the ethical dative, 'when they (the conspirators) saw the postern forced', or 'when they (the forlorn hope) had got the postern open'.

ib. ai κατά τὴν ἀγοράν—from what follows we see that 'the market-gate' was on the land side, opposite the 'postern'. τοῦ μοχλοῦ—the wooden bar which went across the gates on the inside; it was secured by inserting a pin (βάλανος): cf. ii. 4; and comm. on Ar. Vesp. 200, τὴν βάλανον ξμβαλλε πάλιν ἐς τὸν μοχλόν.

11. περιαγαγόντες—outside the walls; έσεκόμισαν—going with κατά την πυλίδα.

15. dvéσχον—so iii. 22, παρανίσχον φρυκτούs. Classen reads ἀνίσχον in the present passage, but here the aorist gives the better sense, referring to lighting one particular beacon.

 τδ ξύνθημα—the signal agreed upon, =τδ ξυγκείμενον: so Hdt. viii. 7: often a watchword, as in vii. 44. ξθει δρόμφ so ch. 67, 25.

3. $\epsilon\mu\beta\circ\eta\sigma avra = \delta \epsilon^{\nu}\epsilon\beta\circ\eta\sigma\epsilon$: Jowett compares ii. 68, ^{*}Aργοs την άλλην έκτισε... Άργοs όνομάσαs: cf. Poppo on i. 18. άθρόν is in agreement with στρατόν: cf. ch. 34, 11: the word is generally used by Thucydides as a predicative adjective. Krüger points out that such constructions as $d\theta\rho\delta\sigma\nu \epsilon\mu\beta\circ\eta$ σαντες (Heliodorus), which are found in later Greek, may have come from misunderstanding the Thucydidean construction.

5. ἐσέπιπτον—so ch. 68, 21, of an enemy rushing in: Hdt. v. 15, ἐσπίπτουσι ἐς τὰς πόλιας. κατὰ δοκοὺς τετραγώνους —'i.e. planks, which formed an inclined plane from the ground to the top of the broken wall, for the purpose of drawing up stones. Thus queen Nitocris laid ξύλα τετράγωνα, or planks across the piers of her bridge at Babylon (Hdt. i. 186), ἐπ' ὦν τὴν διάβασιν ἐποιεῦντο ol Βαβυλώνεαι' (Arnold).

7. $dvo\lambda\kappa\eta v$ —not found elsewhere in classical Greek. $\pi \rho o \sigma \kappa \epsilon (\mu \epsilon v \alpha \iota)^{-1} put against', = perf. pass. of <math>\pi \rho o \sigma \tau (\theta \eta \mu)$.

8. kal tò $\pi\lambda\eta\theta_{05}$ — 'with the bulk of his troops' (ch. 100, 25), the construction of participle and verb referring to Brasidas alone. int tà $\mu\epsilon\tau\ell\omega\rhoa$ —so iii. 72: cf. ch. 32, 15.

10. $\kappa \alpha \tau' \, \check{\alpha} \kappa \rho a s$ —' from top to bottom', i.e. utterly: Hdt. vi. 18, $al \rho \epsilon o v \sigma \iota \, \kappa \alpha \tau' \, \check{\alpha} \kappa \rho \eta s$: Hom. etc., see Lid. and Scott. 'An expression borrowed from the seizure of the citadel, always situated in ancient towns in the highest part of the city, and the consequent easy reduction of the whole place' (Arnold). Thucydides uses the phrase in this passage only, where the literal and metaphorical meanings are both applicable.

CHAPTER CXIII

3. ols ταῦτα ἤρεσκε—Classen reads ταὐτά, on the ground that there is nothing sufficiently definite for ταῦτα to refer to. In line 5 he alters καθεύδοντες into ἐκκαθεύδοντες, 'sleeping out of their quarters', i.e. stationed as a watch; a word which is found only in Xen. Hel. ii. 4. 24.

7. autow-with ol $\mu \epsilon \nu \tau i \nu \epsilon s$: there is a similar order in i. 21, $\tau d \pi \sigma \lambda \lambda d \dot{\nu} \pi \delta \chi \rho \delta \nu \sigma v a \dot{\nu} \tau \omega \nu$, $\kappa \tau \cdot \lambda$. al $\epsilon \phi \rho \sigma \delta \nu \sigma \omega \delta \delta \delta \omega$ the numeral is put predicatively in the relative clause; so vii. 43, $\tau d \sigma \tau \rho a r \delta \pi \epsilon \delta a d \dot{\tau} \nu \epsilon \pi v \lambda \delta \nu \tau \tau \delta \nu \tau \epsilon \delta r \epsilon \delta r \epsilon \delta \epsilon$. As construction of $\sigma \phi \omega \nu$ in ch. 109. 2: $\delta \sigma a u \tau \omega \nu \tau \sigma \nu \tau \epsilon \delta r \epsilon \delta \tau \sigma v$, i. 8. 9. ἐς τὴν Λήκυθον τὸ ἀρούριον—similar instances of the article are noted on ch. 66, 21. αὐτοί—emphatic, as in ch. 66, 23, ἐν ἢ αὐτοί μόνοι ἐφρούρουν.

10. καταλαβόντες—probably to be taken with $\epsilon l \chi or$, 'which they had occupied and held': ἄκρον is then in apposition with Λήκυθον. In Poppo's edition there is a comma after airol, and άκρον is governed directly by καταλαβόντες.

11. $d\kappa\rho\sigma\nu$ —a promontory or 'end' of the city. is rip $\theta d\lambda a \sigma \sigma a \nu d\pi \epsilon \lambda \eta \mu \rho (\nu \sigma)$ projecting into the sea and cut off by a narrow isthmus': for $d\pi \circ \lambda a \mu \beta a \nu \omega$ cf. ch. 45, 9. is seems to designate the physical point at or in which the cutting off from the mainland was effected: cf. ch. 120, 18.

13. is airois—here 'to join them': the preposition is in fact used of approach in any form: see note on ch. 95, 11. $\sigma\phi/\sigma r$ refers to the main subject of the sentence, the Athenians; so vii. 70, $\pi \alpha r \pi \alpha \chi \delta \delta \epsilon r \sigma \phi \sigma \alpha \ldots \delta \pi \alpha \phi \epsilon \rho \omega \ell r \omega r$, where the pronoun refers to the subject of the sentence before.

CHAPTER CXIV

4. μετά τῶν 'Αθηναίων...καταπεφευγόσι—'who had taken refuge with': cf. ch. 16, 8. The position of the participle is in accordance with examples noted on ch. 5, 10.

10. σπείσασθαι—σπένδομαι here takes dat. of the person and acc. of the thing granted: cf. iii. 109, ἀναχώρησιν οὐκ έσπένδοντο ἅπασιν: so iii. 114.

ἐκρατύνατο—ch. 52, 15: the aor. implies the completion of his works. τὰ σφέτερα—their position.

14. ξύλλογον ποιήσας—the usual phrase for convening an assembly: i. 67: ii. 59. Classen notes on i. 71 that $k_{\lambda} \epsilon_{\xi} \epsilon$ as used by Thucydides implies a set speech.

ib. τοῖς ἐν τῦ ᾿Ακάνθῳ—sc. λεχθείσι: cf. ch. 85—88. Here too Brasidas disclaims all partizanship, and declares that the Spartans only desire the general good of Greece: cf. ch. 108, 14, πανταχοῦ ἐδήλου ὡς ἐλευθερώσων τὴν Ἐλλάδα ἐκπεμφθείη.

16. πράξαντας...τὴν λῆψιν—so iii. 75, ξύμβασιν ξπρασσε: cf. ch. 76, 6. The word has its usual meaning of political arrangements or intrigue. χείρους—iii. 9, χείρους ἡγοῦνται.

17. o'δê γàp...o'δé-not to be confused with ovre...o're, neither ... nor, particles which connect two corresponding ib. ἐπὶ δουλεία—'to enslave their country': ii. 71, ἐπὶ δουλεία τŷ ἡμετέρα ἤκετε. μετασχόντας—so ch. 76, μετείχον, without an object expressed.

24. $oi\delta' a'v =$ nor when you have made trial of us Lacodaemonians do I think you will be less friendly to us'. a'vbelongs to $\gamma\epsilon\nu\epsilon\sigma\thetaa$ and is repeated later on : see note on ch. 18, 18. $a\nu\tau\sigma\sigma\dot{s}$ is the subject of $\delta\sigma\kappa\epsilon\tau\nu$. The whole sentence is somewhat awkward, the order being complicated by the insertion of the semi-parenthetical words $a\lambda\lambda\dot{a}$ $\pi\sigma\lambda\lambda\dot{\phi}...\pi\rho\dot{a\sigma} \sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma\sigma\nu$.

25. $\tau \hat{\omega} \gamma \Lambda \alpha \kappa \epsilon \delta \alpha \mu o \nu \ell \omega \gamma - so i. 144, <math>\sigma \phi \ell \sigma \iota \tau \sigma \hat{s} \Lambda \alpha \kappa \epsilon \delta \alpha \mu o \nu \ell \sigma s$: Hdt. i. 4, $\sigma \phi \ell \alpha s$ $\tau \sigma \delta s$ $\ell \kappa \tau \hat{\eta} s$ ' $\Lambda \sigma \ell \eta s$, etc. The construction is used to emphasize the contrast between two sets of people. Sometimes indeed, as in viii. 46, such appositional words look like a marginal note which has got into the text. But this cannot be the case when we have them in oratio directa, as in ii. 72, $\dot{\eta} \mu \tilde{r} \tau \sigma \hat{s} \Lambda \alpha \kappa \delta \alpha \mu \omega r \ell \omega s$.

28. $\tau \circ i \circ \tau \epsilon \pi a \cdot v \tau a \circ \cdots \circ s$ now he called upon the whole body', whatever their individual sympathies might have been hitherto. $\tau \epsilon$ sums up and concludes.

30. $\tau \partial d\pi \partial \tau \circ \hat{v} \delta \epsilon$ —'henceforward'; so ii. 46. $\eta \delta \eta$ emphasizes the speaker's significant warning, 'from this moment you will be held responsible for any misconduct'. For alt/av $\xi_{\chi \epsilon \nu} cf$, i. 83, $\tau \partial \pi \lambda \hat{\epsilon} \sigma \tau \hat{\eta} s$ alt/as $\xi_{\zeta \rho \mu \epsilon \nu}$.

31. $\sigma\phi\epsilon s$ —not $\sigma\phi\hat{a}s$, as in ch. 36, 3, because Brasidas represents the Lacedaemonian nation: cf. v. 55: viii. 76.

ξυγγνώμην είναι—so viii. 50 with inf.: in nom. without έστι, i. 32, ξυγγνώμη εί: v. 88, with inf.: cf. ch. 61, 21.

CHAPTER CXV

2. τἀς προσβολἀς ἐποιεῖτο—'began his assault'. The aorists which follow give an 'end-view' of the result of the first day's action.

4. $\eta\mu\nu\nu\sigma\tau\sigma\tau\epsilon$ —either $\tau\epsilon$ connects the following substantives and is out of place, as ch. 9, 7; or it joins $\eta\mu\nu\sigma\sigma\tau\sigma$ with $d\pi\epsilon\kappa\rho\sigma\nu\sigma\sigma\tau\sigma$, the latter word being originally intended to end the sentence.

7. προσάξεσθαι—pass.: so Aesch. Ag. 1632, άξει (2nd. sing.): Plat. Rep. 458 p. άξονται. In chapter 87, 17 we have προσαχθήσεσθε. Neither future is common, as will be seen by referring to Veitch's Greek Verbs.

ib. $d\pi \partial \tau \hat{\omega} \nu \dot{\epsilon} \nu a \nu \tau (\omega \nu - \cdot on the part of, from the side of the enemy': cf. ch. 76, 6 note. <math>\dot{\epsilon} \nu \eta \sigma \epsilon \nu - \tau u t$. as in ch. 121, 5. Krüger on i. 27, $\dot{\epsilon} \delta \epsilon \eta \partial \eta \sigma a r \dots \xi \nu \mu \pi \rho \sigma \pi \ell \mu \psi \epsilon \nu$, gives several instances of similar construction.

 vii. 25, of a ship, πύργους τε ξυλίνους έχουσα καl παραφράγματα:
 Plat. Rep. 514 B, of a screen for a puppet-show.

9. ή...μάλιστα-cf. ch. 9, 19: and for έπίμαχος ch. 4, 13.

14. λαβόν-ch. 69, 16.

17. $\partial \lambda i \pi \eta \sigma \epsilon$ —vexed or annoyed. Classen points out that Grote's statement, 'some of these men were hurt', does not agree with the context. διà πλείστου—'furthest off': ch. 14, 5, διà βραχέσs: ii. 29, διà τοσούτου, 'such a (short) distance off'.

18. ταύτη-'at this point'; cf. line 9, ή ψοντο κ.τ.λ.

CHAPTER CXVI

1. ώς $ilde{\eta}\sigma\theta\epsilon\tauo...\delta\rho\omega\nu-\delta\rho\omega\nu=\omega$ ς έωρα: cf. notes on i. 1, τεκμαιρόμενος δτι ἀκμάζοντές τε ήσαν...καὶ ὀρών=ὅτι ἐώρα. τε and καί connect the two actual things with which the sentence deals: cf. ch. 28, 21.

3. ἐπιφερόμενος-iii. 23, αύτοις έπεφέροντο.

6. τοις πλοίοις-the merchant vessels in the harbour.

9. προσβάλλειν—so Poppo, Krüger, etc. Most manuscripts have β άλλειν, which may possibly mean 'to throw (fire)', from the machine spoken of in ch. 115, 6. πρώτω is joined with a participle, like reλευταΐος, ch. 38, 17. 13. $\dot{a}π \epsilon \delta \omega \kappa \epsilon v$ —'paid', as being due: see note on this force of $\dot{a}π \delta$ in composition, ch. 39, 15. $\dot{\epsilon}s \tau \delta i \epsilon \rho \delta v$ —in usum fani (Poppo).

14. dvao $\kappa\epsilon v a \sigma as$ —the converse of $\kappa a \tau a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v a \sigma as$. After dismantling ($\kappa a \partial \epsilon \lambda d \nu$) the fortifications, Brasidas cleared away the remains of the military and secular occupation of the place. Göller understands it of removing the furniture of the houses. In i. 18, $d \nu a \sigma \kappa \epsilon v a \sigma d \mu e \nu a$ is used of the Athenians who dismantled their abodes when invaded by the Persians.

ib. τέμενος ἀνῆκεν—'dedicated it all as sacred ground'. ἀνίημι, to leave untilled, give up as sacred: Isocr. Plat. 302 τὴν χώραν ἀνεῖναι μηλόβοτον, of the soil of Plataeae: Hdt. ii. Gö, ἀνεῖraι τὰ ἰρά. Note ἅπαν in agreement with τέμενος.

CHAPTER CXVII

A truce is now concluded for one year. The serious losses of the Athenians in Boeotia and Thrace disposed them to listen to terms; while the Lacedaemonians were more anxious to recover their men than to encourage Brasidas to attempt further conquests.

3. νομίσαντες 'Αθηναΐοι μέν—cf. ch. 1, 5, ἕπραξαν δὲ οἰ μὲν …ol δέ κ.τ.λ. οὐκ ἀν ἔτι προσαποστήσαι—'could win over no more (πρός) of their possessions after this'; in other words, they thought that a truce would give them time to secure the rest of their dependencies. ἀφίστημι, in the sense of 'causing to revolt', occurs i. 81: the intransitive tenses are much more common.

5. πριν παρασκευάσαιντο—the regular construction after a negative with a past tense; Goodwin, § 67. 1.

7. Kal $\xi \nu \mu \beta \hat{\eta} \nu a_1$ —the sense required is 'thinking that they might make peace', or 'wishing or designing to make peace'. It seems possible that the original participle $\nu \rho \mu t \sigma a \nu \tau e \tau$ is lost sight of, while the infinitive is governed by the idea of wishing or intending supplied from what has gone before. According to Poppo however $\xi \nu \mu \beta \hat{\eta} \nu a_1$ depends directly on $\nu \rho \mu t - \sigma a \nu \tau e \tau$, which in this second clause is to be understood in a different sense, $\nu \rho \mu t \omega$ sometimes being equivalent to cogito, in animo habeo: see note on ch. 86, 16: and for the whole construction cf. ch. 3, 21. Krüger proposes $\kappa \delta \tau \xi \nu \mu \beta \hat{\eta} \omega a_1$.

ib. $\tau \dot{\alpha} \pi \lambda \epsilon i \omega$ —cognate accusative, 'to make a more general peace': cf. ch. 30, 23.

 ταῦτα ἄπερ ξδεισαν—i.e. the loss of more towns, which would revolt to Brasidas, if the Athenians had not time for due preparation; see line 5.

 σνακωχής—a Thucydidean word, which has this form on the invariable authority of the manuscripts; though according to analogy and derivation it should be ανοκωχή: see Lid. and Scott, and Poppo on i. 40.

10. $\pi \epsilon_{ipa\sigmaa\mu\ell\nuovs}$ —after they had once tasted the blessings of peace. is $\tau \delta \nu \pi \lambda \epsilon (\omega \chi \rho \delta \nu o \nu \dots s \circ \nu$. 15, $\pi \epsilon \rho l \tau o \hat{\nu} \pi \lambda \epsilon (o \nu o s \chi \rho \delta \nu o \nu)$ contrasted with a year's armistice. The comparative is to be explained as noted on ch. 17, 17: it 'means the period of several years, generally stipulated in a treaty of peace, as opposed to the brief interval of a mere truce' (Arnold).

ib. $\pi\epsilon\rho l \pi\lambda\epsilon lovos$ —if the reading $\omega s \ \ell \pi is right, the meaning seems to be, 'they were more anxious to recover their men,$ as (because) Brasidas was still successful', i.e. they now saw achance of concluding negotiations with Athens, and this increased their anxiety to get the men back. So we read in v. 16,that the party desirous of peace 'became much more eager' $(<math>\pi o \lambda \lambda \hat{\rho} \ \delta \hat{\rho} \ \mu \hat{\rho} \lambda \lambda or \pi \rho o \theta \nu \mu \hat{o} \tilde{v} \tau o$), when they saw a prospect of it. This view agrees with what is said in v. 15, that the Spartans increased their efforts to obtain terms, as soon as the Athenians had been defeated at Delium.

Some editors regard is $\xi \tau_i$ as equivalent to dum, a very questionable interpretation, cf. ch. 76, 6: others read $\xi \omega_{\pi}$, in accordance with the scholiast on Ar. Pax, 475, where the passage is cited with $\xi \omega_{\pi}$ of τ_{π} . In either case $\pi \epsilon \rho t \pi \lambda \epsilon ioros$ is explained by what follows, the sense being that the Lacedaemonians attached greater importance to the immediate recovery of the captives while Brasidas was still successful, than to the possibility of future conquests with the risk of losing their men; cf. ch. 108, 42, $\tau d \delta \epsilon \kappa al \beta out \delta \mu \epsilon rot \mu a \lambda \lambda or$ $<math>\kappa.\tau.\lambda$. For the phrase $\pi \epsilon \rho i \pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma rot i \sigma \delta a$, 'to esteem of greater value', cf. ii. 89, $\pi \epsilon \rho l \pi \lambda \epsilon i \sigma rot \eta \epsilon i \sigma \delta \epsilon$: Hdt. i. 73, $\pi \epsilon \rho l$ $\pi \delta \lambda \lambda \delta \sigma \sigma u \epsilon \delta \mu \epsilon rot a variable.$

14. καl ξμελλον—'and they were likely, if he carried his successes further, and placed the contending parties on equal terms, to lose their citizens who had been taken at Sphacteria, though they might be finally victorious in the struggle with Athens'. See the following notes for discussion of details.

15. έπι μείζον-cf. i. 17. έπι πλείστον έχώρηταν δυνάμεως: i. 118, έπι μέγα έχώρησαν δυνάμεως. αντίπαλα καταστήσανros-lit. 'if he made things equally balanced': cf. vii. 13. έπειδή ές άντίπαλα καθεστήκαμεν: neut. plur. as in ch. 108. It would seem that the Lacedaemonians did not consider that Brasidas was yet on terms of equality with the enemy in Thrace notwithstanding his great successes. Possibly they did not appreciate the importance of his conquests; at any rate we have already seen that their leading men were not desirous of forwarding his enterprise (ch. 108 fin.). Grote supposes the words to mean 'if he should put himself and his newly-acquired gains in battle-front against the enemy', i.e. if he should risk losing his conquests by attempting more: but though the sense may be good it is not to be found in the Greek. Moreover, though any further success on the part of Brasidas would put the Spartans in a better position to dictate terms in general, it would certainly interfere with the immediate recovery of the captives, which was the thing they now had most at heart.

16. $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu \mu \hat{\nu} \sigma \tau \hat{\epsilon} \rho \epsilon \sigma \theta a - either 'to remain deprived of them' for an indefinite time (Jowett); or 'to be deprived of them' by their being put to death. The Athenians had determined to kill the captives in case of any invasion of Attica (ch. 41, 5); and there was therefore reason to fear that they might kill them in exasperation at their losses in Thrace.$

ib. $\tau \circ \hat{s} \delta \hat{t}$ —cither (1) to be taken as instrumental dative with $d\mu\nu\nu\phi\mu\nu\sigma$, 'defending themselves, keeping up the struggle, with the others', i.e. with the rest of their forces as opposed to the captives: so i. 69, $\tau_{\hat{t}}$ $\delta\nu\nu\phi\mu\nu\sigma$ $i\mu\epsilon\sigma\sigma$: vi. 82, $\delta\nu'\mu\mu\nu\sigma''_{\hat{t}}$ $d\mu\nu\nu\sigma\dot{\mu}\mu\epsilon\sigma$: or (2) 'as for the Athenians', i.e. in the contest against them; an ethical dative like ch. 10, 13, $\nu\pi\sigma\chi\omega\rho\dot{\eta}\sigma\sigma\sigma\tau$: ch. 56, 1, $\tau \circ \hat{s}$ 'Adyra(os: ch. 73, 27, $\tau \circ \hat{s} \delta \hat{t}$. In (1) two parts of the Spartan forces are contrasted with $\mu\dot{\epsilon}\nu$ and $\delta\dot{\epsilon}$: while (2) contrasts their captured friends with their enemies.

17. κινδυνεύειν και κρατήσειν—As these words stand they must mean 'to have a chance of future victory'; lit. 'to be likely also to prove victorious'. This force of κινδυνεύω however, which is common in Plato and Xenophon, is not found elsewhere in Thucydides, except perhaps in vi. 87, $\mu\eta$ addees elvan κινδυνεύειν. In other passages the meaning with the inf. is 'to be in danger of', e.g. vii. 40, τοῦ παντδs κινδυνεῦσαι διαφθαρῆνα.. The rendering 'to be in danger of losing final victory' is good in sense, but does not lie in the words. καί 'also' emphasizes κρατήσειν,=actually, eventually. For the future cf. ch. 126, 34, ἐκφοβήσειν.

It will be seen that it is possible to give a fairly satisfactory sense to the words as they stand in the text. There is however a difficulty in the final clauses $\tau \hat{\omega} \nu \mu \hat{\nu} \dots \tau \hat{\omega} \hat{s} \delta \hat{\ell}$. The sense required is clearly, 'though they might be finally victorions, they were certain to lose their men'. We should therefore expect $\tau \hat{\omega} s \mu \hat{\nu} \dots \kappa \mu a \tau \eta \sigma \epsilon v \tau \hat{\omega} r \delta \hat{\ell} \sigma \tau \hat{\ell} \rho \epsilon \sigma \theta a$, the clause with $\mu \ell r$ being subordinate in sense to that with $\delta \hat{\ell}$. Here however the order is reversed. Jowett compares ii. 42, $\tau \hat{\omega} s \mu \hat{\ell} r \tau \mu \omega \rho \hat{\epsilon} \sigma \theta a$, $\tau \hat{\omega} r \delta \hat{\ell} \ell \rho (\epsilon \sigma \theta a$. 'The emphasis', he says, 'is on $\tau \hat{\omega} r \mu \hat{\ell} r$ $\sigma \tau \ell \rho \epsilon \sigma \theta a$.: the antithetical form has got the better of the logical point of the sentence'. In ch. 121, 19 we have a somewhat similar inversion.

To obviate the difficulty arising from the order of $\mu \epsilon \nu$ and $\delta \epsilon$, as well as from the doubtful meaning which the text obliges us to attach to $\kappa \nu \delta \nu \nu \epsilon \delta \epsilon \nu$, it has been proposed to read $\mu \eta$ $\kappa \rho a \tau \eta \sigma \epsilon \nu \delta \sigma \delta a \epsilon$ (passive) instead of $\kappa \rho a \tau \eta \sigma \epsilon \nu$. We thus get the sense 'they were sure to lose their men, and would be in danger of final defeat besides'.

It remains to notice the view of the whole passage which was suggested by Herbst, and is adopted by Classen. It is that Thucydides is giving in his own words the ideas, not of the Lacedaemonians, but of the Athenians; in fact explaining the words $\delta \tau \epsilon_{P}$ becaus in line 8. The Athenians thought that the Lacedaemonians were now likely to offer acceptable terms, and they were not unwilling to listen to their offers; for if Brasidas pursued his victorious career, the opportunity would be lost, and the chance was that the Lacedaemonians, though they lost their captives, might prove victorious in the end.

Herbst and Classen attach particular force to $\dot{\omega}_{S}$ in Bpasidas eiri $\dot{\chi}_{ei}$, to which they give the meaning 'with his present limit of success', i.e. before his conquests gave the Spartans an overwhelming advantage. At present they valued the recovery of the men more highly (mepl alcoves) than might be the case hereafter, when they could insist on terms. (See Appendix.)

CHAPTER CXVIII

Terms of the truce for one year. It appears to have been drawn up and agreed to at Sparta, and then sent to Athens for ratification there: see Arnold's note. The main provisions of the treaty concern (1) the temple at Delphi: (2) the retaining by both sides of possessions and conquests: (3) rights at see: (4) arrangements for further negotiation, arbitration, etc.

1. $\pi\epsilon\rhol \ \mu \epsilon\nu \ \tau\sigma\hat{\nu}$ is $\rho\sigma\hat{\nu}$ —'a concession to Athens, as the Delphians were always so strongly attached to Lacedaemon, that the Athenians would find it difficult during the war to have access to the temple at all' (Arnold).

2. Soket $\dot{\eta}\mu \hat{\nu} - i$. e. this is what we are ready to agree to, and offer for your acceptance.

ib. $\chi \rho \eta \sigma \theta a t$ —so i. 126, without case, $\chi \rho \omega \mu \ell \nu \omega \ell \nu \Delta \epsilon \lambda \phi \rho \hat{\alpha}$ s, 'consulting the oracle': here the word contains also the idea of access in general.

7. $\pi\epsilon\rho l \ \delta t \ \tau \ \delta v \ \chi \rho \eta \mu \ a \ \tau \ w v - e ditors agree that this is a general provision, not referring to any particular misuse of the sacred treasures that had lately taken place. In 432 we find the Corinthian envoys proposing to borrow the money at Delphi and Olympia for war purposes (i. 121); and this article may be directed against such appropriation, though if so it is very vaguely expressed.$

14. $i dv \sigma \pi \sigma v \delta a s$ —i.e. if the Athenians shall agree. Krüger suggests $i \sigma \tau' a v$, till a more general treaty be made.

16. $\xi_{\chi ovtas} \stackrel{c}{a}\pi\epsilon_{\rho}$ —so i. 140, $\epsilon_{l\rho\eta\mu}\epsilon_{\nu\sigma}$ $\epsilon_{\chi\epsilon_{l\nu}}$ $\epsilon_{\kappa\sigma}\epsilon_{\sigma}$ $\epsilon_{\lambda\sigma}\epsilon_{\nu}$. Kopvpar(φ —the Spartan name for Pylos, ch. 3, 16. These clauses refer to the positions in Peloponnesus which were occupied by Athenian garrisons.

17. iντοs τη̂s Βουφράδοs κ.τ.λ.—apparently points on the coast: nothing certain seems known of them.

18. ἐν Κυθήροις—ch. 54. μή ἐπιμισγομένους—'should hold no intercourse with any part of the territory of the Peloponnesian confederacy' (Arnold): i. 13, παρ' ἀλλήλους ἐπιμισγώντων: so ii. 1, ἐπιμίγνυντο παρ' ἀλλήλους: i. 2, ἐπιμίγνυντες ἀλλήλοις. ή ξυμμαχία—either the allies or their territory: so v. 33.

20. ἐν Νισαία—ch. 69. παρὰ τοῦ Νίσου—i.e. from the temple or statue of Nisus: cf. note on ch. 67, 9. ἀπὸ τοῦ Nισαίον (neut.) is also read. Dobree suggests παρὰ τὸ Νίσου. 'by the temple of Nisus', comparing Ar. Lys. 835, $\pi a p d \tau d \tau \eta s$ X $\lambda \delta \eta s$. For Nisus, a mythical king of Megara, see Class. Dict.

23. εὐθὺς ἐπὶ τὴν γέφυραν—'straight to the bridge'. This bridge crossed the shallow lagoon (τέπαγος) which separated Minoa from the main land, cf. iii. 51. Βy τὴν νῆσον is meant Minoa, which the Athenians had taken in 427.

27. $\tau d \, i \nu \, \text{Tpoi}_{\gamma} \tau_{\nu}$ —sc. $\ell_{\chi o \nu \tau a s}$, referring to the Athenian occupation of Methone, ch. 45. It was 'in the neighbourhood or district of 'Troezen : for which use of $\ell \nu$ cf. ch. 5, δ , $\ell \nu$ rais 'Ad/vai ω' . The subject of $\xi \nu \epsilon \delta e r c$ is apparently the people of Troezen, and we must suppose that they had made some arrangement with the Athenian garrison. Arnold originally considered that $\ell \kappa a \tau \ell \rho o \nu s \ell \epsilon \tau r a$ is 'Ad/vai, and that ola $\xi \nu \tau \delta e \epsilon r s$ the Lacedaemonians, and denotes the terms of the thirty years peace of 445, by which they recovered possession of Troezen (i. 115). The meaning would then be that the Athenians should keep the peninsula of Methone, and the Peloponnesians the rest of the district.

29. τη θαλάσση χρωμένους—to be connected with what follows, 'as for access to the sea, the Lacedaemonians may sail' etc. ὅσα άν—with subj. implied, 'so far as they may (sail)'. Krüger omits άr, comparing ch. 48, 28; but in a limiting clause like this, referring to future time, it seems decidedly in place.

31. $d\lambda\lambda\phi$ & κωπήρει πλοί $\omega - d\lambda\lambda\phi$ 'other' than a rais $\mu arphi$. A further restriction is enacted, that only rowing vessels be allowed, and the size of these is strictly limited. Arnold considers that the intention of the Athenians was not only to secure their naval supremacy, but also 'to stop the commerce of Peloponnesus, and particularly their trading voyages eastward to Egypt and Phoenicia, which could only be performed in $\partial_{\lambda}d\partial_{\delta}$ worked by sails'.

32. is πεντακόσια—'up to (i.e. not exceeding) five hundred talents burden'. 'As to the amount of tonnage, the word µérpa would seem to shew that it was calculated according to the form and dimensions of the vessel, as with us. If mere weight were meant, five hundred talents would be about twelve tons' (Arnold). We have a ship's burden expressed in similar terms Hdt. ii. 96, áγει ενια πολλάς χιλιάδας ταλάντων: id. i. 194, τὰ µέγιστα πεντακισχιλίων ταλάντων γόμον έχει. In vii. 25 a ναῶς μυριοφόρος is mentioned, meaning probably one of 10,000 talents burden. In Latin the burden was calculated in ampliorae.

39. δίκας διδόναι—'to submit to judgment or arbitration': i. 28, δίκας $\ddot{\eta}\theta\epsilon$ λον δοῦναι: i. 85 etc. τά ἀμφίλογα—so v. 79: cf. i. 78, τὰ διάφορα δίκη λύεσθαι.

45. ἀποστήσονται—' will hang back from', i.e. decline, refuse; more usually of giving up or renouncing.

46. $\tau \ell \lambda os \ \ell \chi o \tau \tau cs$ —'with full powers'; $\tau \ell \lambda os$ here is the power of concluding terms: in v. 41 $\tau \ell \lambda os \ \ell \chi \epsilon \iota \nu$ means to be finally arranged. From these and the following words it appears that communications had already passed between Athens and Lacedaemon: probably commissioners from Athens had been present in Sparta, and had taken part in drawing up the treaty, though they were not authorized to complete the settlement.

49. $\xi \delta o \xi \epsilon \tau \hat{\varphi} \delta \eta \mu \varphi$ —the formal resolution of the $\delta \eta \mu os$ in the $\epsilon \kappa \lambda \eta \sigma la$, preceded by the names of the $\pi \rho \nu \tau a \nu \epsilon \dot{\nu} o \lambda \dot{\eta}$, the clerk, and the president of the day. So in the preamble of a law cited by Andocides de Myst. 13 (48), $\xi \delta o \xi \epsilon \tau_1^2 \beta o \nu \lambda \eta$ κal $\tau \hat{\varphi} \delta \eta \mu \varphi$. Alarts $\epsilon \pi \rho \nu \tau a \nu \epsilon \psi$, $K \lambda \epsilon o \gamma \epsilon \nu \eta s \epsilon \gamma \rho a \mu \mu a \tau \epsilon \psi$, Boydès termine the solution of the

51. $\epsilon l\pi \epsilon$ -'moved', with inf., the usual phrase. $\tau \nu' \chi \eta$ $\dot{a}\gamma \alpha \theta \hat{\eta}$ -the usual form of invoking good fortune, see Lid. and Scott: cf. Cic. Div. i. 45. 102, maiores...omnibus rebus agendis quod bonum faustum felix fortunatumque esset praefabantur.

57. τούς λόγους—ποιείσθαι λόγους='to confer, negotiate, make proposals'; the definite article implies conducting the stipulated or necessary negotiations for concluding peace.

59. τούς στρατηγούς—they had the right to call $(\pi \sigma \iota \epsilon \hat{\iota} \nu)$ extraordinary meetings of the assembly: so ii. 59, of Pericles, ξύλλογον ποιήσας, ξτι δ' έστρατήγει: cf. the decree eited Dem. de Cor. 249, ἐκκλησία σύγκλητος ὑπό στρατηγῶν: where also the strategi and prytanes are named together as conducting public business.

In construction this clause scems defective, no verb following: cf. ch. 40, 6, $\frac{d\pi}{d\pi}\sigma\tau\sigma\hat{v}r\dot{s}\tau\epsilon$ κ . τ . λ . Classen however considers that $\tau\sigma\dot{s}$ ' $A\theta\eta\nu alows$ stands in apposition to $\tau\sigma\dot{v}s$ $\sigma\tau\rho a\tau\eta\gamma\sigma\dot{v}s$ κal $\tau\sigma\dot{v}s$ $\pi\rho v\tau\dot{a}vcs$, 8 in ch. 108, 25.

60. καθ' δ τι äν έσίη-as the reading stands, I believe that it can only mean 'in whatever way the embassy may be introduced': cf. leg. ap. Dem. Timoer. 715, xab' o ri ar dory, 'in whatever way shall seem fit'. βουλεύσασθαι then stands absolutely, and the sense is that the final decision (about the treaty) shall rest with the public assembly, whether the envoys be brought before that assembly or whatever arrangements be made. As however $\kappa a \theta' \delta \tau_i$ is perpetually used in the language of decrees for making provision 'as to how' something is to be done, we should expect that here too it would introduce a relative clause dependent on Bouleisastas 'the Athenians to decide in what way' etc. According to the regular and common construction it would then be followed by the future indicative. as in line 56. Poppo suggests the deliberative toly without ar, or évier av, which would be nearly equivalent to a future indicative. He points out however that av is at times added to δπωs in similar sentences (e.g. Plat. Protag. 326 A, έπιμελοῦνται δπωs ar μηδέr κακουργώσι), and retains 'verba omnium membranarum consensu stabilita'.

62. $\sigma \pi \epsilon i \sigma \sigma \sigma \sigma a_1$ —' do hereby agree': the aor. denotes the arrangement as concluded at once, as is further expressed by airixa μάλα. έμμενείν έν—Krüger proposes to omit έr, as έμμενω in the aense of 'abiding by' an agreement takes the simple dative elsewhere in Thucydides. We have however, Plat. Legg. 844 c, έμμενων έν τŷ τάξει, 'abiding by the arrangement', and, according to Poppo, the preposition is added in inscriptions and in later Greek. In ii. 23 we have έμμείναντες έν τŷ Άττικŷ.

63. $\tau \dot{o} v \dot{\epsilon} v a v \tau \dot{o} v - for the stipulated year, even if no further peace were made.$

 καl ώμοσαν—if the order is right the meaning is 'and the allies also swore to it'. Some manuscripts however have και ώμοσαν Λακεδαιμόνιο. Κrüger reads ταῦτα ξυνέθεντο Λακεδαιμόνιοι και οι ξύμμαχοι...και ώμοσαν Λακεδαιμόνιοι και οι ξύμμαχοι. ώμολόγησαν is also read instead of ώμοσαν.

3. $\mu\eta\nu\delta\dots\delta\omega\delta\kappa\alpha\tau\eta$ —'it appears that this truce was signed two days later in the month at Athens than at Lacedaemon; and the peace concluded two years afterwards was signed two days later at Lacedaemon than at Athens (v. 19). Further the Spartan month Gerastius here corresponds with the Attic month Elaphebolion, but there we find that Elaphebolion corresponds with the Spartan Artemisius'. This is from Arnold's note. He considers that owing to the system of intercalation, the details of which varied in different places, the same months at Athens and Sparta might no longer correspond with each other after an interval of two years. Grote supposes, with Poppo, that the fourteenth of Elaphebolion and the twelfth of Gerastius designate the same day. In any case $\frac{1}{2}\sqrt{\Delta a_k \epsilon \delta a_{(\mu o \nu)}}$ is to be joined with $\mu mp \delta r \epsilon_{cagarlov}$.

4. Evertileuro $\delta \ell$ —the imperfect, as in v. 19, $\delta \mu \nu v o \nu \delta \ell$ cal $\ell \sigma \pi \ell \nu \delta o r \tau o$, gives the details of executing the treaty, as opposed to the concluded fact designated by the aorist in lines I and 14. The treaty was signed on the one hand by representatives of Sparta, Corinth, Sicyon, Megara and Epidaurus; on the other hand by three of the Athenian strategi.

5. Taûpos 'Exerulída—Krüger points out that in public documents the article never precedes the genitive: Dem. de Cor. 235, $\Delta\eta\mu\sigma\sigma\theta\epsilon\etas\Delta\eta\mu\sigma\sigma\theta\epsilonrovs$ Halareds $\epsilon In \epsilon r$: but $K\lambda\epsilon\omega v$ of $K\lambda\epsilon au\epsilon\epsilon rov, B\rhoastãs of T\epsilon\lambda\lambda tôs, in historical description. Note$ the Doric gen. of the first declements in <math>a = vv.

6. 'Epuξi $\delta at \delta a$ -'corrige 'Epuξi $\lambda at \delta a$ pro absurdo nomine' (Cobet). Alvéas-the same form occurs in the Acts of the Apostles, ix. 33: in Xen. Anab. iv. 7. 13, Alvélas is read; and the scholiast on Ar. Eq. 791, citing the present passage, so spells the name. According to Poppo both forms are right.

13. αὕτη—predicate, 'on the aforesaid terms : iii. 23, ή ζύμβασις αὕτη έγένετο.

CHAPTER CXX

1. als $\ell\pi\eta\gamma\chi\sigma\sigma$ —'were going to and fro, communicating with each other'. Cohet regards these words as part of an 'insulsa annotatiuncula' incorporated with the text, (the remaining words of) the scholiast's note being $\epsilon is \lambda\lambda\lambda\eta\omega s \, kx are$ pot. The imperfect of $\ell\rho\chi\sigma\mu a$ and its compounds is rarely, if ever, found in Attic Greek, and is considered quite inadmissible in prose by many critics. Some editors accordingly would substitute $\ell\pi\eta\sigma\alpha\nu$. Herbst suggests that $\ell\pi\eta\chi\sigma\nu\sigma\sigma$ comes from $\ell\pi\alpha\beta\chi\sigma\mu a$ and means 'making offerings in ratifcation of the treaty', $\ell\pi i$ implying 'one after the other'. This view is adopted by Classen. A similar difficulty occurs in ch. 121, 9. The article on $\ell\rho\chi\sigma\mu a$ in Veitch's Greek Verbs should be carefully studied.

4. Πελληνής—Pellene was the most easterly city in Achaia, not far from Sicyon. The Πελληνής are mentioned in ii. 9 as allies of Sparta: cf. v. 58.

7. olknoal-the aorist=' settled, took up their sbode'.

9. $\tau \rho_1 \eta \rho_2$ —dative 'of accompaniment', like $\delta \rho_{as} \sigma \tau \rho_{a\tau} \hat{\varphi}$. Brasidas seems to have crossed from Torone. $\delta \pi \sigma \theta \epsilon_{r}$ —'at some distance': many manuscripts have $\delta \pi \omega \theta \epsilon_{r}$, the older form (see Lid. and Scott).

12. $\dot{\alpha}\mu\dot{\nu}\nu\eta$ —the subj. is the best-supported reading: so vii. 4, $\ddot{\sigma}\pi\omega s$ ol 'A $\theta\eta\nu\alpha\dot{\omega}\alpha$, $\epsilon l \mu\dot{\eta} \delta\dot{\nu}\alpha\mu\nu\sigma\kappa\lambda\dot{\nu}\sigma\alpha$, $\mu\eta\kappa\epsilon\tau$, $olol \tau\epsilon$ $\dot{\omega}\sigma\mu$ $\dot{\alpha}\pi\sigma\tau\epsilon\chi\dot{\omega}\alpha\iota$: cf. note on ch. 1, 13. $a\dot{\nu}\tau\ddot{\phi}$ means the $\kappa\epsilon\lambda\eta$, but the pronoun is doubtful, and ought perhaps to be omitted. Most manuscripts have $a\dot{\nu}\tau\dot{\eta}$, which is plainly wrong; nor is the proposed $a\dot{\nu}\tau\dot{\eta}$ 'of itself' or 'by its mere appearance' much more satisfactory.

ib. $dv\tau i\pi a\lambda ou - c$ of eqnal strength'. Note the change of construction in the latter part of the sentence. After the gen. abs., instead of a clause corresponding to $\delta \pi \omega \tau d\mu \omega \tau \tau$, the participle $vo\mu(\tau \omega \tau)$ is introduced, in a somewhat similar way to $\delta \mu \omega \tau$, ch. 116, 3: the subject of $\tau p \ell \psi c \sigma \theta a i$ is to be supplied from the gen. abs. : while the original subject, Brasidas, is the subject of $\delta a \sigma \omega \sigma \epsilon v$.

17. $\phi \dot{\alpha} \sigma \kappa \omega v$ —this participle comes in awkwardly, corresponding to $\ddot{\alpha}$ re in the previous clause: the awkwardness is however lessened by the fact that $\epsilon h \epsilon \gamma \epsilon$ is not simply 'said', but 'began a set speech': ch. 114, 14.

 οἰδὲν ἄλλο η̈—ch. 14, 20.

22. $\pi \rho \sigma \sigma \gamma \epsilon v \epsilon \sigma \theta a \iota$ —here ' to be applied, brought to bear', not 'to be added'. Compare the language of Brasidas at Acanthus, ch. 87.

25. el rettjøreral—if their political wishes can be carried out: ef. eð ríðesðau etc. Krüger and Classen read el re rettjøøreral, connecting this clause with what follows. For kard vov= ex sententia, cf. Soph. O. C. 1763: kard vóv is not uncommon in Herodotus: cf. Dem. Ol. i. 14, kard γrώμηr.

CHAPTER CXXI

5. προθύμως είσειν—' to bear cheerfully, take part in with alacrity': Hdt. ix. 18, προθύμως φέρετε τον πόλεμον τοῦτον: ib. 40, προθύμως έφερον τον πόλεμον. For the future cf. ch. 115, 8.

 εταινίουν—bound his head with a ταινία or fillet, as an emblem of victory: Plat. Symp. 212 E, εστεφανωμένον...και ταινίας έχοντα έπι τῆς κεφαλῆς.

9. προσήρχοντο—see note on ch. 120, 1, $\epsilon \pi \eta \rho \chi \rho \nu \tau o$. If this word comes from προσέρχομαι, it means 'came up to', i, e. greeted and congratulated. We should however expect προσήραν, which Cobet would restore to the text. Herbst and Classen take it from προσάρχομαι, 'to offer', meaning that they decked Brasidas with flowers and chaplets : cf. Plat. Theaet. 168 c, προσηρξάμην...σμικρά από σμικρών.

The whole passage is imitated by Plutarch, Peric. 28, καταβαίνοντα δὲ αὐτὸν...ἐδεξιοῦντο καὶ στεφάνοις ἀνέδουν καὶ ταινίαις ὥσπερ ἀθλητὴν νικηφορον.

11. ἐπεραίωσε—here 'took across': so Plut. and Polyb.: in classical Greek usually 'to cross', as in ii. 67, τὸν Ἐλλήσποντον περαιώσειν. Compare the twofold use of traicio.

13. αποπειρασαι-ch. 135, 1: mid. ch. 24, 8.

14. $ds is v \eta \sigma ov$ —the Athenians were especially jealous of their sovereign rights over the islanders, and regarded revolt on their part as inexcusable; cf. Cleon's speech iii. 39.

15. $\kappa \alpha (\tau_1 \alpha \dot{\tau} \tau_2 ... \dot{\epsilon}_5 -... \dot{\epsilon}_5 -...$

CHAPTER CXXII

1. ἐγχειρήσειν — ἐγχειρῶ is used by Xenophon with the dat. in the sense of attacking, but not elsewhere in Thucydides: Krüger proposes ἐπιχειρήσειν, as in vi. 90.

3. περιαγγελλοντes- ' carrying round notice of the armistice'.

6. $\eta \mu \epsilon v \sigma \tau \rho \alpha \tau i \alpha$ —Brasidas at once sent back the army (ch. 121, 11) to Torone, while he himself remained in the city with the Lacedaemonian garrison. The next clause implies that he accepted an official notice of the armistice.

7. $d\nu\eta\gamma\epsilon\lambda\omega - d\nu\eta\gamma\epsilon\lambda\omega$ is properly to 'take back word'; Classen therefore takes its meaning to be that the envoys who had already announced the truce to Brasidas, came again to report the general acceptance of the arrangement $(\tau\eta\nu$ $\xi\nu\nu\theta\eta\kappa\eta\nu$). The words of the text scarcely warrant this view; and it is not necessary to press the meaning of $d\nu\eta\gamma\epsilon\lambda\omega$. There is however a slight awkwardness in the arrangement of the clauses.

18. ἀντεποιοῦντο—'claimed', as against the Athenians. δίκη κρίνεσθαι—of persons, 'to have their claims legally decided', i.e. to submit to arbitration: cf. i. 28, $\epsilon l \ \delta \epsilon \ \tau \iota \ dr \tau \iota$ ποιοῦνται, δίκας ἦθελος δοῦναι.

21. ὀργήν ποιούμενοι-Hdt. iii. 25, δργήν ποιησάμενος. For el='that' cf. ch. 85, 23: here of course it gives the actual reason, but less positively and directly than $\delta \tau \iota$: see Lid. and Scott.

22. $i_1^{\prime}\delta\eta$ —to be taken with $\dot{a}\xi\omega\hat{a}\omega$. The word stands out of place for the sake of emphasis, the idea being that there is indeed cause for indignation if the spirit of revolt has now reached even the islanders. Possibly however $\delta\nu\tau\epsilon\epsilon$ ought to be omitted.

24. $\dot{a}\nu\omega\phi\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\hat{i}$ -predicate, = $\dot{a}\nu\omega\phi\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\hat{i}$ of $\sigma\eta$, 'useless as it was'.

ib. είχε-with adv. of manner y. έδικαίουν-'maintained', 'claimed': v. 26, εί τις μη άξιώσει...ούκ δρθώς δικαιώσει.

27. Kλέωνος γνώμη πεισθέντες —πεισθέντες is absent from one manuscript, and possibly ought to be omitted, $\Theta \epsilon \mu \iota \sigma \tau \sigma \kappa \lambda \dot{\epsilon} \sigma v \gamma \nu \dot{\omega} \mu \eta$ (i. 90) = 'on the motion of Themistocles', being the usual form of expression. In i. 78 however we have $a'\lambda\lambda \delta \tau \rho laus \gamma \nu \dot{\omega}$ µaus κal $\dot{\epsilon} \gamma \kappa \lambda \dot{\eta} \mu a \sigma ι \pi \epsilon \iota \sigma \theta \dot{\epsilon} \nu r \epsilon s$.

28. έξελειν-'to take': ch. 69, 6.

CHAPTER CXXIII

4. $\delta\tau_1$ 'in that', to be taken with $d\delta\iota\kappa\epsilon\iota\nu$. The sense is excellently given by Jowett: 'Brasidas felt justified in receiving the Mendeans, although when they came to him the peace had unmistakably been declared, because there were certain points in which he too charged the Athenians with violating the treaty'. fort yap $\tilde{\alpha}$ —cognate or determinant acc. with mapa- $\beta alve\iota\nu$: cf. ch. 16, 18.

7. $\tau\eta\nu \tau\epsilon$ —corresponding to this is the gen. abs. construction kal $\ddot{\alpha}\mu \alpha \kappa. \tau. \lambda$. $\tau\epsilon\kappa\mu\alpha\mu\rho\dot{\rho}\mu\epsilon\nu\sigma\iota$ —'drawing their conclusion also from the fact that he would not give up Scione'. This is subordinate to $\dot{\rho}\hat{\omega}\nu\tau\epsilons$ and partly explanatory of it: so in i. 1. $\tau\epsilon\kappa\mu\alpha\mu\dot{\rho}\dot{\mu}\epsilon\nu\sigma s$ is subordinate to $\dot{\epsilon}\lambda\pi\dot{\epsilon}\sigma\sigma s$. For $\dot{\alpha}\pi\dot{\sigma}$ cf. Ar. Vesp. 76, $\dot{\alpha}\phi'$ abroû $\tau\dot{\eta}\nu$ $\nu\dot{\sigma}\sigma\sigma\nu$ $\tau\epsilon\kappa\mu\alpha\dot{\mu}\rho\epsilon\tau\alpha t$.

9. Kal äµa K. τ . λ .—four genitives absolute follow, co-ordinate in construction, but scarcely so in meaning. The sense is equivalent to ' and moreover the conspirators, who were few in number, did not relinquish their design, but in their fear of detection constrained the wishes of their countrymen'. See Poppo, who cites other instances of co-ordinate clauses thus strung together.

10. $\sigma\phi(\sigma\iota\nu$ —'on their part', among them. $\dot{\omega}_5 \tau \dot{\sigma}\tau \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\mu} \ell \lambda$ $\lambda \eta \sigma a \nu$ —'when they had once formed the intention': i. 134, $\dot{\epsilon}_{\mu} \ell \lambda \lambda \eta \sigma a \nu \mu \dot{\epsilon} \nu$... $\dot{\epsilon} \pi \epsilon i \tau a$, 'they had intended'. $\tau \dot{\sigma} \tau \epsilon =$ as related, see ch. 121, fin.

13. παρά γνώμην-- 'contrary to their wishes', or 'their judgment'; see 128, 25.

17. ὑπεκκομίζει—used in the middle by Hdt. and Xen. of bestowing one's own property in safe hiding: cf. i. 137. d ὑπεξέκειτο: viii. 31, ὅσα ὑπεξέκειτο.

 τὸ δεύτερον—cf. ch. 83. Μακεδόνων—'the Macedonians are here plainly distinguished from the Greeks, as in ch. 126, 17, they are even classed among barbarians. The royal family were of Hellenian and Dorian blood, but not the people' (Arnold). The "Ελληνες here spoken of may have been the inhabitants of maritime towns such as Therma and Pydna.

5. $\pi \rho \delta s \tau o s a v \tau o s - Brasidas had originally 1700 Peloponnesian men at arms (ch. 78). He had despatched 500 to Mende and Scione, and others were probably in garrison elsewhere; while some may have been lost in the course of the campaign, <math>a v \tau o s - c$ on the spot, i.e. with him.

7. τῶν ἄλλων—sc. ὅπλίτας ($\eta\gamma$ εν). ἐκάστων is not governed by δύναμιν, but agrees with τῶν άλλων.

8. $\xi \dot{\nu} \mu \pi a \nu \delta \dot{\epsilon}$ -note the appositional construction of this clause and the next, which may be compared with the beginning of ch. 94.

 ⁱλίγου—ⁱ nearlyⁱ, sc. δέοντες: viii. 35, δλίγου είλον, ⁱthey all but tookⁱ: Ar. Ach. 331, δλίγου ἀπωλόμην. Here the manuscript reading is δλίγφ, but all editors adopt δλίγου.

14. $\tau \hat{\omega} v \pi \epsilon \hat{\zeta} \hat{\omega} v$ —the opposing infantry forces. The infantry on each side is $\dot{\sigma} \epsilon \epsilon \hat{c} \dot{\sigma}$ (ch. 25, 49); the plural designates more bodies than one. So vavixá is 'fleets', not 'a fleet': and in Ar. Eth. Nic. iii. 7 (10), 9, $\tau \dot{\alpha} \pi \sigma \lambda \tau i \kappa \dot{\alpha}$ means 'national forces' in general, not 'a national force'.

πεδίου—predicate: Krüger quotes Dem. Cal. 1274,
 ὄντος. ἀμφοτέρων—' on both sides', governed by Ιππης.

25. έτυχον...μθλοντες—cf. ch. 132, 7. For μισθοῦ ήξειν cf. Xen. Mem. ii. 8. 2, μισθοῦ ἐργάζεσθαι.

28. καθήσθαι—so v. 7, έν τῷ αὐτῷ καθημένους, of Cleon's army. περιορώμενος—here='anxious about', with gen., like φυλασσομένους τῶν νεῶν, ch. 11, 15.

CHAPTER CXXV

2. μετ' 'Αρριβαίου γεγένηνται—so Xen. Hel. iv. 8. 16, μετὰ Λακεδαμονίων γενέσθαι: cf. ch. 113, 4, μετὰ τῶν...ήσαν. ῶστε refers to the whole following sentence, and is grammatically connected with έχώρουν, line 12. 6. κυρωθέν δ' σύδέν—a noticeable instance of the acc. absolute personally constructed (=σὐδενδς κυρωθέντος) without ώς: see Madvig § 182, R. 2: Goodwin § 110, 2: cf. Hdt. ii. 66, ταῦτα δὲ γιγνόμενα, πένθεα μεγάλα τοὺς Αίγυπτίους καταλαμβάνει: Ar. Plut. 277, λαχὸν τὸ γράμμα: Plat. Phaedr. 265 D δ ἔστιν, όρισθέν. Here possibly the construction is assimilated to the preceding δοκοῦν, which itself is very rare, though analogous to ξέρν, προσῆκον, etc.

ib. έκ της διαφοράς-' in consequence of the quarrel'.

9. $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho \ \phi\iota\lambda\epsilon ... \epsilon\kappa\pi\lambda\gamma\gamma\nu\sigma\theta\iota$ -instead of $\pi o\iota\epsilon i\nu$, which might be expected, as in i. 65, $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho \ \phi\iota\lambda\epsilon \delta \ \delta\mu\iota\Lambda os \ \pi o\iota\epsilon \nu$, an infinitive is added explanatory of $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho$: so vi. 33, $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho \ \kappa al$ $\lambda\theta\eta\nu\alpha io...,\eta \xi\eta\theta\eta\sigma\alpha\nu$: cf. Dem. Androt. 593, $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho \ Eiver\gamma\mu\omega\nu$... $\delta\epsilon\tau\alpha\iota \ \delta\epsilon \nu$. The sense in these cases is given by rendering $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho$ 'just as'. In vii. 80, in a description of a similar panic, we have of or $\phi\iota\lambda\epsilon c...\phi\delta\betao\iota \ \epsilon\gamma\gamma l\gamma\nu\epsilon\sigma\theta a\iota$. $\delta\sigma\alpha\varphi\omega_{S}$ -- 'without visible cause'. $\epsilon\kappa\pi\lambda\gamma\eta\nu\nu\sigma\theta a\iota$ is an exceptional form for $\epsilon\kappa\pi\lambda\eta\sigma$ $\sigma\epsilon\sigma\theta a\iota$.

11. σσον ούπω—so vi. 34: viii. 96, σσον ούκ ήδη ένόμιζον αὐτούς παρείναι.

 iv. 5. 16: see ch. 127, 6, έκδρομαι: ch. 34, 3, δξέως ἐπεκθεῖν.

23. τελευταίος—connected with υποχωρών, as πρώτοις is with προσκεισομένοις: cf. ch. 38, 17. ώς δια ταχέων—ch. 96, 4.

CHAPTER CXXVI

2. $\tau \hat{\omega} \tau \epsilon$ —dat. of the efficient cause, answered by a clause with $\delta \tau i$. $\mu \epsilon \mu o \nu \hat{\omega} \sigma \theta a i$ —cf. ii. 80, $\mu \epsilon \mu o \nu \omega \mu \epsilon \nu \omega \nu \epsilon l \kappa \rho a \tau \eta \sigma \epsilon i a \nu$: also with gen. 'deserted by', 'bereft of'.

3. $\xi_{\kappa\pi\lambda\eta\xi\nu}$ $\xi_{\chi\epsilon\nu}$ —this particular phrase is not used elsewhere: $\xi_{\chi\omega}$ in the sense of entertaining a feeling is not uncommon with such words as $\ell\lambda\pi\ell\delta a$, $\mu\hat{c}\sigma\sigmas$, etc.

4. $\delta\mu o l \omega s$ —'in the same way' that I now do: 'I should think only of encouraging and not of instructing you' (Jowett). $\tau \hat{\eta}$ —'my', the article implying that an encouraging speech was regular and expected: cf. the opening sentence of the speech in ch. 95: see also ii. 88, a chapter which in many expressions resembles the present one.

 άγαθοις...προσήκει -- 'valour in war is to be expected from you': cf. note on ch. 92, 41, τὰς προσηκούσας ἀρετάς. μηδέν πλήθος πεφοβήσθαι -- cf. ii. 88, μηδένα δχλον ὑποχωρεῖν.

11. οι γε μηδέ—' for also you do not come', etc. ös γε = quippe qui; like öστιs it is followed by μή: viii. 76, ol γε μήτε κ.τ.λ.

12. iv als où $\pi o\lambda \lambda oi$ —the general sense is plain, but there is great awkwardness in the mode of expression. It has therefore been suggested to omit où or the preceding $\mu\eta\delta i$: or else to read ir $ois=d\lambda\lambda$ ir $i\mu a\lambda$. Words of denying however are commonly followed by a redundant and untranslatable negative, and possibly this sentence comes under the same head. The speaker forgets that he has already cast his statement in a negative form; he passes on to the character of the constitutions which he has in his mind, and in the clause with oi insists on the denial which has been already made. Arnold compares ii. 62, where $\mu a\lambda \lambda or \eta$ oi follows a negative and is equivalent to 'rather than'. See the Appendix to Buttmann's Meidias 'de abundantia negationis'.

Krüger and others connect the negative force of $\mu\eta\delta\epsilon$ solely with roworraw, and refer the latter to what has gone before, 'not such'as those in which men fear a multitude. So Jowett, 'you come from cities of another kind, and in those cities etc.' This explanation, as Poppo points out, is not without harshness, 'cum roworraw als inter se cohaerere nemo non suspicari debeat'. In vi. 63 we have oux is rarplic, it is not without harshmay be explained as $= ir r_1^2 \ \mu \eta$ rarplic, or $d\lambda\lambda d ir rawry might$ $be understood before <math>i\xi \ \eta's$, as indeed, $d\lambda\lambda d ir rawr might$ be supplied in the present passage. Classen cites other instances in which a negative is put before a preposition, e.g. $ii. 67, <math>\mu\eta\delta$ $\mu\epsilon\theta'$ ir form.

15. βapβápous-note the emphatic position of the word, and the absence of the article; 'as for barbarians, etc.'

16. $\xi \delta v \tau \leftarrow \cdot from the struggle you have already had$ with those of them who are Macedonians'. The Lyncestaeare meant, who had just been easily defeated. For the con $struction of <math>a \dot{v} \sigma \dot{\omega} c$ f. ch. 61, 11. Kal $d \dot{\phi} \delta v$ -Donaldson points out that the difference between $\dot{a} \sigma \dot{\delta}$ and $\xi \xi$, signifying respectively motion from the surface of an object and motion from within an object, is illustrated by this passage, 'where $\xi \xi$ denotes the experience, and $\dot{a} \pi \delta$ the testimonies, which are more external'. 17. $\epsilon l\kappa d\zeta \omega$ - the manuscripts are in favour of $\epsilon l\kappa d\zeta \omega r$, but a word implying mere conjecture can not well be connected with $\ell \pi (\sigma \tau \alpha \mu \alpha t)$, but stands in contrast to it: cf. vi. 92, $\tau \alpha$ $\mu \ell r$...olda, $\tau \alpha \delta \ell$... $\pi \kappa a \zeta \omega r$: see other instances in Poppo's critical note. $\delta \kappa o \eta$ on the other hand is not uncommonly joined with words of knowing: i. 4, $\delta \omega r \delta \kappa o \eta \ell \sigma \mu \nu r$: vi. 65, $\epsilon l \delta \omega s \delta \kappa o \eta$ $\delta \kappa \rho \beta \delta \sigma \tau \epsilon \rho \sigma r$. ($\ell \pi l \sigma \tau \alpha \mu \alpha t$ is used by Hdt. of mere belief.)

19. $\sigma\sigma \alpha \mu \ell \nu \dots ols \delta \ell$ —here, as in ch. 117, 16, there seems an inversion of the usual order of clauses with $\mu \ell \nu$ and $\delta \ell$. The sense is 'true information about a really weak enemy emboldens the assailant; though, no doubt, one might attack a really strong foe more boldly if in ignorance of his strength'. There is a somewhat similar inversion in line 37, and again the last sentence of this chapter.

ib. ὅσα...τῶν πολεμίων—nearly equivalent to ὅσοι πολέμιοι, but less definite. The next clause is constructed as if ὅσα were equivalent to εί τινα : of. Poppo on i. 22.

20. δόκησιν—'impression', aestimatio. $\xi \chi \epsilon \iota$ is therefore to be understood in the sense noted on ch. 1, 7: cf. ch. 87, 4, δόκησιν παρέχεται.

24. την μέλλησιν—what they are going to do, or threaten to do: i. 69, ου τη δυνάμει αλλά τη μελλήσει άμυνόμενοι.

25. πλήθει ὄψεως—lit. 'from magnitude of appearance', i.e. from the imposing effect of their numbers.

ib. οῦτε γάρ—' they have not that feeling of military honour which comes from regular order'. For similar sentences see Krüger on i. 12, ὥστε μὴ ἡσυχάσασαν αὐξηθῆναι, 'so that it could not settle down and grow': so i. 84, οὐδὲν μᾶλλον ἀχθεσθέντε ἀνεπείσθημεν.

29. $\chi\omega\rho a\nu - of$ a soldier's post: ii. 87. $\chi\omega\rho a\nu \mu\eta$ $\pi\rho o\lambda\epsilon$ $\pi o \nu res:$ cf. Tac. Germ. 6, cedere loco, duminodo rursus instee. consilii quam formidinis arbitrantur. See other passages cited by Poppo from Tacitus and Caesar, descriptive of the irregular warfare of barbarians.

31. ἀνεξέλεγκτον—used in i. 21, of mythical stories, the truth of which 'can not be tested'. αὐτοκράτωρ—here 'independent': of. ch. 108, 27. πρεπόντως—'oreditably', without dishonour.

34. $\tau \delta$ èkc $\phi \sigma \beta \eta \sigma \epsilon \nu$ —see Goodwin § 27, on the fut. infinitive. The sense is 'the chance of frightening, the attempt to frighten'. $\epsilon \kappa \epsilon i \nu \omega \gamma d\rho \quad \tilde{\alpha} \nu$ —'for otherwise' etc.: cf. ch. 54, 17.

36. τὸ προϋπάρχον δεινόν—i.e. numbers, threatening demonstrations etc., as explained before; δεινόν being generally that which there is reason to dread. With the construction with ἀπό may be compared vi. 86, τὴν ὑπάρχουσαν ἀπ' ἀλλήλων ἀμφοτέροιs (σωτηρίαν): cf. metus ab, spes ab, etc.

38. κατασπέρχον—cf. Ar. Ach. 1188, κατασπέρχων δορί, where the word is said on the authority of Hesychius to be equivalent to καταπλήσσων. It is very rare: $\epsilon f \star ch$. 12, 2, $\ell \pi \epsilon - \sigma \pi \epsilon \rho \chi \epsilon$. The Homeric $\sigma \pi \epsilon \rho \chi \omega$ is only used intransitively.

ib. $i\pi_i\phi_{ip}\phi_{ip}\epsilon_{vov}$ —predicate, answered by $\delta\tau ar$ $\kappa a_i\rho\delta s$ $\frac{1}{2}$: Brasidas calls on his men to withstand the first onshaught, and make good their retreat when the enemy draws off. $i\pi a\gamma a$ - $\gamma \phi \tau s s$ —'retreating': v. 10, $i\pi a \gamma \epsilon_{ir} i \pi i \tau \hat{\eta} s$ 'Hidros: transitive in the first line of ch. 127.

44. of δ' αν «ξωσιν-- though, when men have once given way'. κατά πόδας--of following closely: v. 64, lέναι κατά πόδαs aὐτῶν: cf. iii. 98. Here κατὰ πόδαs is contrasted with άποθεν, and the remaining words are antithetically balanced against the corresponding clause.

CHAPTER CXXVII

5. διαφθείρειν—possibly διαφθερεῖν should be read; otherwise roulgarres is to be supplied in a different sense: see note on ch. 117, 7.

ib. airoîs—grammatically dependent on $a\pi\eta r \sigma w$, but in sense connected with all the following clauses as far as line 10, = 'when they found themselves met' etc.

6. ἐκδρομαί—cf. ch. 125, 21, ἐκδρόμους ἐταξε. Here the abstract substantive denotes either the sallies made by these soldiers, or the actual bodies of ἐκδρομαι, = ol τεταγμένοι πρόs τὸ ἐκτρέχειν. Arnold compares ch. 128, 6: also viii. 102, τῷ φιλίψ ἐτίπλψ, 'the fleet of their friends who were $t_{riπ} \lambda \delta \rho \sigma res$.

7. ἐπικειμένους—sc. αὐτούς, 'when they pressed on him': Hdt. v. 81, ἐπικειμένων Βοιωτοῖσι: cf. ἕγκειμαι and πρόσκειμαι, which are common in Thucydides. This chapter is rich in words of attack and defence.

8. παρd γνώμην—contrary to what the barbarians expected. αντέστησαν—sc. Brasidas and his picked men.

13. $\pi \rho \sigma \sigma \beta \alpha \lambda \lambda \epsilon \nu$ —inf. to be explained as in ch. 36, 5.

17. ές την 'Αρριβαίου—part of the main description is thrown into the relative clause: cf. note on ch. 113, 8, at έφρούρουν δύο. Brasidas apparently had to ascend a narrow gorge, which the barbarians occupied in advance by moving along the sides; see Arnold, and note on ch. 83, 7. τὸ ἄπορον—probably a part where the pass narrowed, and possibly ascended steeply.

CHAPTER CXXVIII

1. δν...τῶν λόφων—the λόφοι are the sides of the pass; one of which was more accessible than the other. The subject of $\epsilon \lambda \epsilon \tilde{\nu}$ is of course Brasidas. πρός αὐτόν—answers to the relative, as in ch. 126, 21.

5. $\epsilon \pi \delta \nu \tau as$ —the manuscript reading is $\epsilon \pi \iota \delta \nu \tau as$, which may be explained as meaning either 'advancing to occupy the height', or 'advancing to attack the Lacedaemonians'. But $\epsilon \pi \delta \nu \tau as$ agrees better with the context, especially with $\epsilon \kappa \rho a \delta \sigma a$ and the subsequent words $\epsilon \kappa \rho a \tau \eta \sigma a \nu \tau \omega \nu \epsilon \pi l \tau o \omega \lambda \delta \phi o \nu$: see ch. 131, 6, where the same question arises.

6. $\pi p \log \pi p \circ \sigma \mu \xi a \ldots i.e.$ before the whole barbarian force could come up to hem them in. $\sigma \phi \hat{\omega} v$ is governed by the active word $\kappa \hat{\omega} \kappa \lambda \omega \sigma \omega v$: cf. ch. 35, 12 and 131, 4.

9. πρός αὐτόν—sc. τόν λόφον. The Greeks having now cleared one side of the pass would easily gain the head, which may have been level and open.

11. airois—'finding their men dislodged on this point from the height' (Arnold): for dat. cf. ch. 10, 13 etc.

14. αντελάβετο-lit. 'laid hold of', i.e. gained or reached: iii. 22, with τοῦ ἀσφαλοῦs: vii. 77, with φιλίας χώρας.

16. "Αρνισσαν—mentioned by Ptolemy (2nd cent. A.D.), but otherwise unknown. πρώτον is adverbial, and does not govern τῆs ἀρχῆs: cf. ch. 78, 41. 17. αὐτο(--- ' of themselves', without any orders. ζεύγεσι βοεικοîs-carts with oxen: Xen. Anab. vii. 5. 2. σκεύει refers to baggage generally. φοβερậ-hurried, in a panic.

 οἰκείωσιν ἐποιοῦντο—' appropriated': Classen notes the semi-comic effect of this unusual periphrasis. οἰκειοῦσθαι is less uncommon in the same sense.

25. $\tau_{\Pi}^{2} \mu t \gamma \nu \omega \mu_{\Pi}$ - 'not congenial to his judgment'. $\gamma r \omega u \eta$ here is the 'mind or judgment', or else the 'opinion' of what was expedient, which had hitherto determined Perdiceas. The meaning is further explained by $\delta i' \lambda \delta \eta \nu a low.$ It was fear of Athens which had made it his 'habitual principle' to court the Spartan alliance; but now his injuries made him forget his interests. The opposition with $\mu t r$ and δt is between the dictates of political conviction and of personal feeling.

26. $\tau \hat{\omega} v \delta t dva\gamma \kappa a L \omega v -- t departing from his urgent (necessary) interests'. The compound <math>\delta \iota ava \sigma \tau d s$, as Classen notes, expresses very well the idea of a new and divergent policy. It is not found elsewhere in Attic Greek: $\delta u \sigma \tau a \sigma \theta a u$ is more common.

CHAPTER CXXIX

6. ὑπὸ γάρ—explanatory of καταλαμβάνει 'Αθηναίους κ.τ.λ. For the force of the imperf. παρεσκευάζοντο cf. note on ch. 2, 7: see ch. 123, 15.

14. $\sigma \chi \delta \nu \tau \epsilon s \kappa a \tau \dot{a}$ -'landing at, or over against': so i. 110: vi. 97: more commonly with ϵs or the dat. as noted on ch. 3, 6. Posidonium, or Posideum, seems to have been a point facing south-west, not far from Mende, which was situated about half way along the western side of the isthmus of Pallene.

 τρευματιζόμενος—i.e. his troops received wounds: so 63, βαλλήμενος και χαλεπώς. Had Nicias himself been meant, we should have τραυματισθείς.

26. et πλείονοs-of space, 'from further off', i.e. by a longer way.

CHAPTER CXXX

1. $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota\pi\lambda\epsilon \acute{v}\sigma av\tau\epsilons$ —the Athenians had hitherto made their attack from the side towards Potidaea. They now sailed round the headland of Posidonium and landed between it and the extreme point of Pallene. Scione was just round this point. For $\pi\rho\delta_S \Sigma\kappa i\omega r\eta_S$ cf. ch. 31, 6.

4. $\eta \nu \tau \iota \kappa a \ell$ —so ch. 28, 26, $\tau \iota \kappa a l \gamma \ell \lambda \omega \tau o s$. $\sigma \tau a \sigma \iota a \sigma \mu o \tilde{\nu}$ viii. 94, $\pi \rho \delta s \tau \delta \nu \pi a \rho \delta \nu \tau a \sigma \tau a \sigma \iota a \sigma \mu \delta \nu$: a rare word. We have seen (ch. 123) that the revolutionary party in Mende was small. The Scioneans probably departed to defend their own territory.

 άμα—this word seems intended to connect the operations of the two commanders: Krüger however takes it simply with προϊών, 'as he advanced he laid waste the land'.

16. κατά τὸ στασιωτικόν—either generally 'in the spirit of party', or particularly referring to the στάσις prevailing in the town.

17. ovôl δέοιτο πολεμεῖν—'and that he (the speaker) did not wish for war'. There is no necessity to take δέοιτο here as impersonal: see note on ch. 69, 14. Poppo says 'malis δέοι', and Krüger suggests δέοιντο, making the speaker say ούδιν δεόμεθα: cf. Xen. Hel. ii. 4. 35, λέγοντες δτι ούδιν δέονται τοῖς ἐν τῷ Πειραιεῖ πολεμεῖν. The optative joined with the indicative is one of innumerable instances. Here, the indicative refers to a particular point of time, while the optative is more general; but though such an explanation may often be found, this is by no means always the case, and the variation seems merely due to the Greek dislike of rigid uniformity.

 ⁱπισπασθέντος—the commander seized the man, to drag him away or drag him on to the gate. θορυβηθέντος implies rough handling, not mere interruption: of. ch. 129, 28.

27. avrol-cf. ch. 113, 10.

29. $\epsilon_5 \tau_1^{\gamma} M \epsilon v \delta_{\gamma \nu} \pi \delta \lambda v$ —the manuscript reading. Dobree and others omit $M \epsilon v \delta_{\gamma \nu}$ as being a marginal note which has got into the text. The order of words is like $\kappa \alpha \tau \lambda \tau \sigma v A \kappa \epsilon \sigma (\nu \eta \nu) \pi \sigma \tau \alpha \mu \delta \nu$ ch. 25, 33. Classen omits ϵ_5 , and connects the accusative with the words which follow, comparing ch. 63, 21 etc., where $\epsilon \sigma \pi (\pi \tau \epsilon \omega)$ alone means to force an entrance. $\epsilon \sigma \pi (\pi \tau \epsilon \omega)$ ϵ_5 however is quite common, as in ii. 4.

38. $i\pi\kappa\alpha\theta l\sigma\tau\alpha\nu\tau\sigma$ —I have adopted the emendation which Poppo and Krüger approve, two inferior manuscripts having $i\pi\kappa\alpha\theta l\sigma\tau\alpha\nu\tau\sigma$. Most manuscripts however have $i\pi\kappa\kappa\alpha\theta l\sigma\alpha\nu\tau\sigma$, aor. mid. in transitive sense, 'established for themselves'. The word is unusual, and the form suspicious, as Thucydides elsewhere writes not $i\kappa\alpha\theta \sigma\alpha$, as in vi. 66.

In Dem. Apatur. 897, $\pi a \rho \epsilon \kappa a \theta i \sigma a r o$ is read; but apart from this instance $\epsilon \kappa a \theta \iota \sigma a$ and $\epsilon \kappa a \theta \iota \sigma a \mu \mu$ have scarcely any authority, as may be seen from Veitch's Greek Verbs. $\epsilon \kappa a \theta \epsilon j \delta \mu \eta \nu$ and $\epsilon \kappa a \theta \eta \mu \nu$ on the other hand are quite common.

CHAPTER CXXXI

4. oùr iyiquero—'they could not be walled round': cf. ch. 9, 26. The clause represents what the men of Scione thought $(\hat{\eta}\nu \ \mu \hat{\eta} \ \ell \lambda \omega \sigma \iota...où \gamma i \gamma \nu \epsilon \tau \iota \ \hat{\eta} \mu \hat{\omega} \nu \ \kappa. \tau. \lambda.)$. For $\sigma \phi \hat{\omega} \nu$ cf. ch. 128, 7 etc.

6. ἐπόντας-so one us., the rest have ἐπιδντας: cf. ch. 128.

 oi ἐκ—such uses of the preposition are common enough; here however the additional πολιορκούμενοι is noticeable.

CHAPTER CXXXII

4. δια την ξχθραν—see ch. 128, 24. The original quarrel, described in ch. 83, can not be meant, as some commentators hold. For then there was no retreat $i\kappa \tau \eta s \Lambda \dot{\nu} \kappa \kappa \omega$, as Brasidas did not enter the country: besides, Thucydides expressly says and τούτου πρώτον κ.τ.λ. in ch. 128.

6. καl ἐτύγχανε γdρ...δ δέ—Arnold seems right in regarding this as a case of δέ 'in apodosis' resuming the narration after a parenthesis, 'so Perdiccas' etc. the main verb being διεκώλυνε: see i. 11; vii. 33, etc. Krüger follows Dobree in omitting δέ: cf. iii. 70, καl, $\tilde{\eta}\nu$ γάρ Πειθίαs..., ὑτάγουσιν αὐτόν κ.τ.δ.

10. ἕνδηλόν τι ποιείν—to give some proof of his friendship. The fickle character of Perdiccas naturally made Nicias wish to commit him to the Athenian side by some overt act. παρασκευάσας—iii. 36, παρασκευάσας τους έν τέλει. χρώμενος—see ch. 78, 11, for the influence of Perdiccas with the Thessalian chiefs.

19. $a\delta\tau\omega\nu$ -partitive gen. dependent on $\eta\beta\omega\nu\tau\omega\nu$ which in its turn depends on $\delta\nu\delta\rho as$, 'certain men'. $\pi a\rho a\nu\delta\mu\omega s$ -'contrary to (Spartan) usage' (cf. $\nu\delta\mu\varphi$), which was to send men of mature age on political missions. The $\eta\beta\omega\nu\tau es$, as Grote points out, were probably men of military age. This is the first germ of the institution of Harmosts; see Arnold's note. The word $\delta\mu\omega\rho\sigma\tau hs$ is used for the first time in viii. 5 (n.c. 413).

20. τοῖς ἐντυχοῦσιν—'to any that came in their way': Dem. Meid. 543 and 573, of 'coming in one's way, crossing one's path': cf. also note on ch. 40, 13. ol τυχόντει is the more usual Attic expression for 'such as chance, any casual or ordinary person'.

22. Πασιτελίδαν—the manuscripts have Έπιτελίδαν, but Pasitelidas is mentioned three times in v. 3 as governor of Torone.

CHAPTER CXXXIII

1. τείχος περιείλον—ch. 51, 1. ἐπικαλέσαντες—v. 59, εί τι ἐπικαλοῦσιν 'Αργείοις: so i. 139. βουλόμενοι...παρεστηκός imperf. part., 'they had been desirous all along', connected with acc. absolute. παρεστηκός requires the sense of an opportunity 'presenting itself'; and several editors propose παρεσχηκός, comparing ch. 85, 10: i. 120, εῦ παρασχόν. However in Hdt. i. 23 we have $\tau \hat{\varphi} \delta \eta^{\lambda} \lambda \ell \gamma o v \sigma i \theta \omega \hat{v} \mu a \mu \ell \gamma i \sigma \tau \sigma \nu \pi a \rho a \sigma \tau \eta \nu a i,$ and the sound of $\pi a \rho \epsilon \sigma \chi \eta \kappa \delta s$ is certainly not in its favour. For the general use of $\pi a \rho \delta \sigma a \sigma \theta a i$ in Thucydides cf. ch. 61, 11.

3. $iv \tau \hat{n} \dots \mu \alpha \chi \eta$ —see ch. 96, 14, where we find that the Thespians bore the brunt of the Athenian attack.

4. $\delta \tau \iota \tilde{\eta} \nu$ —Cobet would read $\delta \tau i \pi \epsilon \rho$ as the proper form: so Plat. Rep. 492 E, $\delta \tau i \pi \epsilon \rho ~ \tilde{a} \nu ~ \sigma \omega \delta \tilde{g}$. $\delta \nu \delta \sigma_s$ is not found elsewhere in this sense in Attic prose: Aesch. Prom. 420, 'Apaβias åpetor $\tilde{u} \delta \sigma_s$: Pers. 59 etc.: cf. flos, which is common.

6. $& \text{ "Apyee-the temple was between Argos and the ruins of Mycenae, and nearer to the latter; so that <math>& \text{ is used of the neighbourhood, as noted on ch. 5, 5, or "Apyos is to be understood of the district generally.$

14. $i\pi\partial_{\alpha}\beta\omega$ —'attained to'; lit. 'caught up'. $i\kappa \ \mu\delta\sigma\sigma\nu$ —'midway': for this adverbial use of $i\kappa$ cf. v. 20, $i\xi \ \eta\mu\omega\sigma\epsilon las$, 'in halves'. The Argives reckoned by the priestess's year of office; and we find that at the beginning of the war Chrysis had held office forty-eight years (ii. 2).

15. Σκιώνη...περιστστείχιστο — Scione held out till the summer of 421. Its fate is related in v. 32.

CHAPTER CXXXIV

1. τὰ μέν...ήσύχαζε-cf. ch. 23, 11, τὰ περί Πύλον έπολεμείτο.

5. $\tau \eta s$ 'Operflixes—'in the territory of 'Operflixes': v. 64, $\ell \chi \omega \rho our \delta \ell \delta s$ 'Operflixes Marallas. Pausanias says that the town of Oresthasium, which is probably the same place, was on the way leading from Megalopolis to Pallantium and Tegea. The battle seems to have been fought in the valley of the Alpheus, near where Megalopolis was afterwards built; see Arnold.

ib. νίκη-Poppo suggests ή νίκη. ἀμφιδήριτος is used by Polybius, but only here in classical Greek.

 ἐπηυλίσαντο—as being masters of the field: iii. 5, ούτε ἐπηυλίσαντο ούτε ἐπίστευσαν σφίσιν αὐτοῖς.

CHAPTER CXXXV

1. δ Bpasibas—the singular order of the words in this sentence seems due to a wish to bring in the subject of the verb. The concluding sentence of iii. 90 is very similar.

πρός έαρ—ν. 56, τελευτώντος τοῦ χειμώνος πρός έαρ ήδη :
 ν. 17, πρός τὸ έαρ ήδη.

4. μέχρι μέν τούτου—sc. τοῦ κλίμακα προσθείναι. Krüger suggests μέχρι μέν του, 'to a certain point', citing Dem. i. Olynth. 11 etc.

ib. $\kappa\omega\delta\omega\nu\sigmas$ —here the bell was passed by each sentry in turn to the next in order. Another practice was for an officer to go on his rounds with a bell, as noted in Ar. Av. 842, $\kappa\omega\delta\omega \nu\sigma\phi\sigma\rho\hat{\omega}\nu$ $\pi\epsilon\rho\tau\rho\epsilon\chi\epsilon$. $\tau\delta\delta\omega\kappa\epsilon\nu\sigma\nu$ is explained by $\pi\rho\lambda\nu$ imavideiv, i.e. before the sentry who was then carrying the bell on could return to his regular post.

8. alotopévev-gen. abs. as in ch. 3, 8. $\pi \rho o \sigma \beta \hat{\eta} v at$ implies not merely approach, but 'getting at' or 'getting on' the ramparts: so iii. 22, $\delta \pi \omega \sigma \pi \rho o \sigma \beta a t v o \epsilon v$, of the Plataean attempt to force the enemy's lines.

ελάσσοτι τὸν σῖτον αὐτοῦ—Dr Fennell, of Jesus College, suggests that the realing should be ελάσσοτι τὸν σῖτον τῶν aὐτοῦ, 'for a smaller number than those actually there'. τῶν might have been dropped, by the error of a copyist, after the last syllable in σῖτον, while for the phrase of αὐτοῦ we may compare vii. 16, 1, τῶν αὐτοῦ ἐκεῖ δύο προσείλοντο, and v. 10, 9, of αὐτοῦ ξυστραφέντες ὑπλῖται ἐπὶ τὸν λόφον. where αὐτοῦ seems undoubtedly the adverb: so ch. 124, 5.

Some support for taking αὐτοῦ with ἐστέμπεω seems at first to be derived from vili. 28 fin. ἐς τὴν ΜΩητον αὐτοῦ ΦΩιπτον καθιστῶσι, but there the prominent idea is that of permanent 'establishment in Miletus': so Ar. Eccl. 512, καταθέσθαι αὐτοῦ.

Ch. lxxxi. 1-4.

As the text stands the last clause in this sentence refers to the subsequent career of Brasidas, and the aorist participle $\gamma \epsilon \nu \delta \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma \nu$ has to bear the meaning 'who (afterwards) proved'. But grammatically the word must be taken closely with $d \pi \epsilon \sigma \tau \epsilon \iota \lambda a \nu$, and it can then only mean 'who had (already) proved'. This of course is nonsense. Dr Rutherford accordingly rejects the whole clause $d \nu \delta \rho a \ldots \gamma \epsilon \nu \delta \mu \epsilon \nu \sigma \sigma$ as an 'adscript' which has got into the text.

Ch. cii-cviii.

The loss of Amphipolis was followed by the exile of Thucydides. The only authentic information which we have about this is contained in the historian's own words in v. 25, Euréan noi debyeir the Enautou Etn elkosi netà the és 'Auditolue στρατηγίαν. These words prove nothing, for φεύγειν might be used even of a voluntary exile. It is however likely enough that Thucydides was condemned to banishment, and not unlikely that Cleon instigated the decree. Such is the statement of the biography which bears the name of Marcellinus: while Cicero (de Or. ii. 13. 56), and Pliny (N. H. vii. 30), speak of his banishment as a fact. These statements have little historical value, but the temper of the Athenian people makes them probable. Three years before they had banished Pythodorus and Sophocles for a failure less exasperating and far less disastrous; in the present depression and alarm they would not spare a general who had lost the key of Thrace.

How far Thucydides was guilty of culpable negligence we cannot determine. We do not know when he was despatched from Athens—possibly he had only just arrived at Thasos. He was commander of the 'Thraceward districts' in conjunction with Eucles. His possessions and influence in these regions probably led to his appointment. The words user a the is 'Auplnohis orparmylas merely refer to the attempt to relieve Amphipolis, and certainly do not, as Grote supposes, 'plainly prove that he was sent out as general not to Thasos, but to Amphipolis'. Thasos was undoubtedly within the limits of his command. It was prone to disaffection, and rich in mines like the neighbouring mainland. Thucydides may have felt the necessity of securing Thasos, or he may have visited it to raise troops, as seems probable from ch. 105. Eucles meanwhile was in charge of Amphipolis. Both commanders seem to have been entirely surprised by the rapidity of Brasidas' approach. The bridge was only defended by a triffing guardpost, and the side towards Eion was not watched by Athenian ships. All that can be said is that Thucydides showed promp. titude and energy in securing Eion. 'This is a presumption that he was not guilty of any gross carelessness with regard to Amphipolis'. See Jowett's note on v. 26. Grote etc.; also Shilleto's Thucydides or Grote for a full discussion of the classical authorities hearing on the question.

τοὺς γὰρ δη ἀνδρας...κρατήσειν—it has been pointed out to me that 'Herbst's and Classen's view seems strongly supported by δή, but $\epsilon \tau \iota$ in the next line does not seem to anticipate a continuance of success, but rather a possible check or reverse'.

Messrs Barton and Chavasse, in their Edition of Book iv, connect kal ξ_{μ} (λor ... $\kappa_{\mu}ar\dot{\gamma}\sigma\epsilon_{\mu}$ with $\dot{\omega}_{s}$, and render 'for the men, be it observed ($\delta \gamma_{1}$), they thought it specially important to recover when Brasidas still was prospering, and when, after his unparalleled progress and trimming of the balance, they might remain without them, and yet by retaliating fairly with the rest have a steady chance of finally prevailing'. These editors' notes on the whole of this difficult passage should be consulted.
